The standing ovation given to Dan Gable on Monday at the Macbride Auditorium is just one example of the immense respect felt for the former Iowa wrestling coach and Iowa hero.

Searching for the UI International Writing Program's new director is the first step in creating the program's傈 to return the $105 million that would be used for research. The program is currently in "serious financial trouble," said UI provost David Skorton.

County ponds bond for new jail

A study suggests options for Johnson County jail.

By Raym Feld

If Johnson County wants to build a new jail, a study has recommended a number of options for the county to consider.

The study, which was prepared by the Kansas City-based architectural firm of Michael Smith & Associates, recommends that the county consider building a new jail in two phases. The first phase would include construction of a 200-bed facility, while the second phase would add 100 more beds at a later date.

The study also recommends that the county consider building the new jail in a location that is easily accessible to other local government buildings, such as the courthouse and county offices.

The study notes that the current jail, which opened in 1980, is not large enough to accommodate the county's growing population. The current jail has a capacity of 180 beds, but the county has averaged more than 200 inmates per day over the past three years.

The study also notes that the current jail is not equipped to handle the county's increasing demand for mental health services. The county has seen a significant increase in the number of inmates with mental health issues, and the current jail is not equipped to handle this demand.

The study recommends that the county consider building a new jail that is specifically designed to handle mental health issues. The study notes that the current jail is not equipped to handle the county's increasing demand for mental health services.

Gov't like a hungry bear, Forbes says

President Bush on Tuesday continued his push for a war on terror during a speech in Iowa City, the scene of a terrorist threat.

"The advice we give to our military, to our allies, to our coalition, is to go after them with the ruthless determination and the fierce resolve that the American people demand," Bush said.

Bush also said the war on terror is not just about fighting terrorism but also about promoting democracy.

"We are fighting this battle for our own existence, and we are fighting it for the common good," he said.

The president also addressed the issue of homeland security, saying the government is doing everything it can to protect Americans.

"We are doing everything we can to keep America safe and to keep our economy strong," he said.

Bush ended his speech by thanking the audience for their support and promising to continue fighting the war on terror.

"Thank you for your support and your encouragement," he said. "I will not give up on this fight, and I will not give up on our country."
Relatives of crash victims bid farewell

By George Streed

Approximately 250 family members gather at a Rhode Island park overlooking the ocean.

On Monday, November 8, about 3:30 P.M., relatives of the victims of Southwest Flight 111 gathered today to bid farewell to their loved ones. A woman was seated in a chair and the others stood around her, their faces turned down or away.

Relatives were led to the place through a candlelit path by the relatives, and they each held a candle to light a path for the flowers. Relatives wrapped up their flowers into the sea and lay them in the grass. "It was a beautiful scene," said one of the relatives.

A number of them left for the crash site and others for all the surrounding areas. They said, "We want to be here with those who survived and with those who didn't."

It's not too late. The bodies of some of the victims will be identified soon, and the families will be able to grieve. But for now, they are praying for their loved ones.

"We're here to support each other," said one of the relatives. "We know that they are with us in spirit and in memory."

Proposal for change:

This summer, the student body at the University of Iowa conducted a survey to evaluate the athletic program. The results showed that students felt the athletic program was not fulfilling its mission.

In response to the feedback, the University of Iowa has made some changes to the athletic program. The changes include increased funding for the athletic program, improved facilities, and better coaching.

Remember these changes were made in order to improve the student experience, not to eliminate the athletic program. The goal is to create a positive environment for all students, not just athletes.

Conclusion:

In conclusion, the student body played an important role in making these changes. The University of Iowa is committed to improving the athletic program and creating a better experience for all students.

Court to hear student-fees case

A decision in Wisconsin student-fees dispute could affect all U.S. universities.

MADISON, Wis.--A federal judge here is set to hear arguments today on whether the campus fee system used by the University of Wisconsin at Madison is constitutional. The fees, which are used to subsidize the university's sports teams as well as other activities, have been challenged in a lawsuit filed by students who claim they are unconstitutional.

The issue in the case is whether the fees, which are charged to all students, are a violation of the First Amendment's free speech clause. The court is expected to rule on the issue in the next few months.

A 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals ruled in his favor that the university's sports teams were not guaranteed any rights to the fees. If the court rules in favor of the university, it would set a new precedent in the field of student fees.

Pipe bombs injure 33 in Israeli resort

MEGUEZ, Israel (AP) — On the eve of final talks with the Palestinians, Israeli police said yesterday that a bomb attack on a beach resort near Tel Aviv has left 33 people injured, some seriously. The attack, said to be the work of a militant group, was carried out in the early hours. The resort, which is popular with tourists, was not identified.

An alleged militant group, Al-Aqsa Martyrs' Brigades, claimed responsibility for the attack. The group has been blamed for several prior attacks.

The attack comes on the eve of a crucial meeting between Israeli and Palestinian leaders. The meeting is aimed at reaching a peace agreement.

The resort was closed to tourists, and the area was cordoned off. There were no immediate reports of any injuries or damage.

FILM REVIEW

By Hal Dorr

Happy Texas is a movie with a big heart and bad organizational skills. It's rather like a Gunflint movie Christmas Card, but it lacks the spirit and freshness of the former and the amenities of the latter. It's a middle-aged couple with a little girl and the children of the latter. They're in a town called Happy, where the crazy goings-on become the rest of the film moves slowly, and the interaction between the adults is fast and funny, loaded with the personas of the two main characters.

Soccer team ends season at Big Tens

Despite No. 3 seed, Iowa lost in the first round of the Big Ten tournament. The Hawkeyes have to earn a berth to the NCAA tournament.

By Malinda Montgomery

The first-ever Big Ten Tournament for Iowa women’s soccer ended in the first round, with the Hawkeyes falling to Illinois. Hawkeye season ended Sunday night at the hands of the NCAA Selection Committee.

Prior to the release of the bracket, it was announced 11 new teams were getting bids for the NCAA, but three were out of the running: the Hawkeyes, Nebraska and Ohio State. "It's not a good day," Iowa head coach Dave DiIorio said Sunday night. "It's not good for us.

"We did not deserve to be the third seed. The rest of the team for their part and the [selecting committee], I just hope they understand the impact this will have on the team’s down the road."

"We have an aggressive mindset, and because of that, when things happen, we don't panic," DiIorio said. "Just like our offense and defense, we don't have an aggressive mindset."

"As a result, we're going to have to sit down and have a talk with the team's culture."

Little things are the difference

Small factors are costing the Iowa soccer team close games.

Iowa's 3-0 loss to Illinois Friday night was the Hawkeyes' third straight loss. Iowa's win over Ohio State last weekend was the Hawkeyes' first victory in their sixth game of the season.

"We're not playing well enough as a team. We're turning the ball over and not getting enough shots on goal."

"We need to work on our chemistry and be more patient in the final third."

The margin between winning and losing for the Iowa football team remains small. The Hawkeyes are still on the wrong side of that margin.

Iowa fell to the Big Ten, 35-17, for the sixth time in its last seven games.

"We have to play with energy," Iowa head coach Kirk Ferentz said on Tuesday. "It's all about energy and effort."

Tiger Woods won his fourth consecutive title Sunday by winning the PGA Championship in a one-hole playoff.

By Doug Ferguson

Tiger Woods won his fourth consecutive title Sunday by winning the PGA Championship in a one-hole playoff.

Tiger Woods started the day with a birdie on the first hole and a bogey on the second. He then made birdie on the third and parred the next four holes.

"I'm so excited," Woods said. "I'm just so happy to win.

The team of freshman linebacker, Matt Zigulis, and senior defensive end, Nick Hayden, were instrumental in shutting down the Illini offense. Zigulis led the team with 13 tackles, including two sacks, and Hayden added 10 tackles, including a sack.

The Illini had been a threat to the Hawkeyes, including a 47-yard scamper for a touchdown by quarterback, Danny McCray. However, the defense was able to contain him and other key players.

On offense, the Hawkeyes kept the ball well, gaining 143 yards on 14 carries and 222 yards through the air. Quarterback, Nathan Bracken, completed 21 of 27 passes for 222 yards and two touchdowns.

The offense was supported by a strong defense that allowed only 11 points on the day. The defense forced three turnovers, including an interception by safety, Tyler Sash, that led to a touchdown.

The win was a huge boost for the Hawkeyes, who are now 8-2 on the season and 3-1 in the Big Ten. They will look to continue their winning ways as they prepare to face Ohio State next week.

Iowa State and Stokkedale's return sparks Iowa secondary

The Hawkeyes secondary was a key component in the victory over the Illini. Senior cornerback, D.J. Johnson, had one interception and one pass breakup, while junior strong safety, Jake Gensler, had another interception and two pass breakups.

The secondary was able to shut down the Illini passing game, holding them to just 110 yards through the air. The Illini quarterback, Wes Lunt, was 24-42 for 110 yards and two interceptions.

The secondary was also able to get to the quarterback, pressuring him into making some bad decisions. This allowed the defensive line to take advantage and get a sack from defensive end, Anthony Nelson, and another from defensive tackle, Geno Stone.

The win was a huge boost for the Hawkeyes, who are now 8-2 on the season and 3-1 in the Big Ten. They will look to continue their winning ways as they prepare to face Ohio State next week.

The game will have a 2:00 p.m. kickoff.

Iowa's loss to Illinois leaves 24-17

The Hawkeyes were unable to overcome the Illinois defense, which held them to just 24 points. The Illini defense allowed just 17 points in the game, with the only touchdowns coming on a fumble return and a 47-yard touchdown run.

On offense, the Hawkeyes were unable to get anything going, as quarterback, Nathan Bracken, was 13-27 for 110 yards and an interception. The running game was also ineffective, with 34 rushing attempts for just 110 yards.

The defense was able to put up a good fight, with senior linebacker, Austin Driskel, leading the way with 14 tackles. However, the team was unable to get to the quarterback and get pressure.

The loss was a disappointing end to the Hawkeyes' season, as they were hoping to make a run in the Big Ten. They will now prepare for their last game of the season, which will be against the Iowa State Cyclones.

The game will have a 2:00 p.m. kickoff.
