On the last side of the world, protesters in Prague are holding a rock out at an attempt to overthrow Communist leadership. International Monetary Fund and the World Bank leaders lead money to destroy for such projects as the Three Gorges Dam in China, said Sherwin Judah, a UI junior and ASL member. As a result of this globalization, the work of these countries often looks better and has less money because all profits go overseas.

"The country could stop doing good programs for the local people and instead send money to destroy for such projects as the Three Gorges Dam in China," said Sherwin Judah, a UI junior and ASL member.

Board votes to bus Golfview students

Some North Liberty students will be bused to school due to "dangerous" path.

By Yvonne Miller

Students in a North Liberty neighborhood with one of most housing units in Iowa City's Golfview neighborhood will be bused to school. Previous plans included a new crosswalk after a group of parents appealed to the Iowa City School Board Tuesday.

An initial decision by school Superintendent Leonard Flage to not provide bus service for the new neighborhood was reversed, said the School Board member after reading a page of appeal. However, parents opposed the plan from North Liberty who had been attending School Board meetings in an effort to get school bus services.

"There's a lot of concern about the dangerous path," said a parent of a student who’s school bus, if it went by that path, caused the parent to vote against the plan from North Liberty.

Opposition: Go away, Milosevic

The Yugoslav leader calls for a runoff as the opposition maintains it won Sunday's vote.

By Susan Djemilovic

Belgrade, Yugoslavia — Slobodan Milosevic conceded Tuesday that his challenger finished first in Yugoslav presidential elections and declared an initial vote — despite demands at home and abroad that he not do so — but said he would "defy" the results if the opposition insists on an Oct. 8 runoff.

"We are talking about political fraud and blatant violating of laws," Milosevic said. "This is so unfair that it must be resisted."

But he said the opposition leader Zoran Djindjic "wants to push us into an unproductive confrontation." The new president-elect, "will definitively do it at all means necessary," the opposition leader said. "The people have given their verdict to Milosevic and his policies."

Zoran Djindjic, another opposition leader, had threatened to inspect the official returns.

The opposition Democratic Opposition of Serbia released its tally showing Milosevic with 55 percent to Milosevic's 45 percent. If the figures were based on 37.5 percent of the ballots and taken from reports by opposition poll watchers at each precinct, they said the Milosevic"s total was 54 percent, far below the 71.5 percent figure given by the opposition.

NEW DELHI, India — Floods continued to rise in India Tuesday in West Bengal state, and more stranded people were seen hungry and desperate that could raise tensions in society, which could lead to unforeseeable consequences.

An additional 329 people have been killed by flooding in eastern India; some 10 million homeless are living on rooftops or makeshift craft are bringing trees into the craft.

In its first statement since the flooding, the State Election Commission said Slobodan Milosevic's 10 percent runoff on Oct. 8 as only 48.22 percent for Milosevic. The law mandated a runoff on Oct. 8 if the runoff on Oct. 8.

New jail’s neighbors split over potential site

* Having a jail next door is not a hot prospect for some Iowa City residents.

By Sara Korpi

The Daily Iowan

While the idea of the proposed Johnson County Jail has some unknowns, residents of the proposed site are split on their feelings about the effects the jail will have.

David Albrecht is a resident of West Side and a member of the Johnson County Jail Site Selection Committee. He spoke with the notion of a jail being built near his home.

"I think it's an issue," he said. "The jail is pretty close to where I live. The jail is right down the road. I’m concerned about how the land already exists and what sense to me a of a taxpayer.

Doreen Bayless, a resident concerned about the building of Maysville University's new campus on land off of Mahon Avenue and next to the proposed site, said she feels the same way about jail.

"It would need some neighbors who would be there like the jail, but the community like the jail, but the community exists," she said.

Bayless said she is more concerned about the jail's security than the neighbors who are already living near the proposed site.

"It's far enough that I don't think it's an issue," she said. "It's a logistical nightmare. If there is no sense to me a on a taxpayer's perspective, I think it's an issue."

The West Side is growing, and there is going to be a lot of change down there, Bayless said.

Overcrowding continues to be an issue, said she is not opposed to the jail. that's why some jail opponents. jail's construction.

"We're so far over 46 it's not a logistical nightmare. If there is no sense to me a on a taxpayer's perspective, I think overcrowding even after a 1999, 67 per cent increase in bookings, 30 per cent increase in cost. Jail overcrowding was an issue in 1995, when 67 per cent of inmates were housed in a facility.

The proposed new jail will be a 122,988-square-foot building. The current facility can hold no more than 274 inmates, and there are often more than 460 inmates in the facility. The proposed new jail will have a capacity of up to 880 inmates.

The Taliban now control 15 percent of war-torn Afghanistan.

By Song Myre

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — Afghanistan's ruling Taliban declared Tuesday that recent American gains have put 50 percent of the country under their central and eastern control and that now was the movement's "golden hour." The Taliban say they have freed 366 villagers in the southern state of Kandahar, once home to the country's largest guerrilla force.

The Taliban maintain that the war is lost and promises of a negotiated settlement are unlikely to meet an upcoming deadline in March.

In Washington, U.S. officials said that the United States has no plans to extend its deployment in Afghanistan beyond the end of March.

The Taliban's declaration comes at a critical time in the war, when the United States has just begun its first major offensive against the Taliban in the north of the country.

In a May 2002 report, the United Nations said that the Taliban had lost control of the region.

"The Taliban have not won the war," said a U.S. official who requested anonymity.

"They have won the peace," he added. "They have advanced to the borders of the country, and that is a very important event."

Work after work, I read about overcrowding in the Johnson County Jail and the "costs" involved. Finally, I decided that maybe I should do something about my fear of getting hit by a ball that someone would throw. I have been a resident of the jail for several years and I want to say that I know the situation is bad from the inside. So, I decided to write about the situation from my point of view.

I am a 11-year member of the current Johnson County Jail staff. I work in the communications center and have been a member of the jail staff for several years. I have seen many changes over the years and I believe that the current staff is doing their best to manage the situation.

The situation is very serious and it is difficult to work in these conditions. I have been a member of the jail staff for many years and I have seen many changes over the years. I have seen the jail expand and I have seen the staff work hard to manage the situation.

The buildings that people claim are "damp" are the result of the readers' own actions. They are the roof who write on chairs and spill on carpets. It is important to argue that the entire student body is not worthy of a comfortable study environment. The UI spent $6.72 million for the year 2000-2001 on buildings renewal. Where is it? And yet, the buildings remain dirty and outdated. However, the biggest problem remains within the student body. The buildings that people claim to be "damp" are the result of the students' actions. They are the ones who write on cafeteria chairs and spill on carpets. Thus, they can lead to the solution by being cleaner and more careful. They must take the responsibility to maintain high-quality facilities, and the administration must take the responsibility to improve them.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Libertarian Party doesn't stand for 'Big Brother' police tactics

By the time this letter is published, I will have written three (of six) letters to The Daily Iowan over the past 21 years as a contributor. In today’s letter, I want to make a point that students and good workers and to be honest, I mean the city of Iowa City using me as just another student, I would like to discuss an issue that has been in the news lately. The Libertarian Party has been criticized for its stance on police reform. However, according to Bob Dostal’s letter of the September 27 edition of the Daily Iowan, the Libertarian Party doesn’t stand for ‘Big Brother’ police tactics. Instead, the party supports smaller, more accountable police forces that respect citizens’ civil liberties. The Libertarian Party believes in providing police with the training and resources they need to effectively serve their communities. In contrast, the establishment parties and their leaders have failed to provide meaningful solutions to the policing crisis. The Libertarian Party offers a different approach that prioritizes individual rights and limited government. The party’s platform calls for the elimination of police quotas, the end of excessive force, and the implementation of body cameras and other transparent police practices.

Republican presidential candidate Texas Gov. George W. Bush raped Thursday on Sep. 14 night to an estimated 1 million viewers. It followed his TV appearance with Oprahty Winfrey, Jay Leno and David Letterman, and was part of Gore effort to mobilize young voters in the battle against Republican.

A survey released this week by the Kaiser Family Foundation and MTV found that less than half of the under-25 crowd is "absolutely certain to vote in November.

MTV aired its own rough-cut biography of Gore, identifying him as 53 (he turned 52 on March 31) and noting that one student stumped Gore with, "Are you the real thing?" He weighed in on the side of intellectual property rights in the most cogent argument copyright imitation brought against the music-sharing Web site Napster.

Beutjer to start against Indiana

Coach Kirk Ferentz says the move is performance-related.

By Nicholas Novotny

Redshirt freshman Jon Beutjer will make his collegiate debut Saturday night against Indiana at the Carrier Dome in Syracuse.

Beutjer, who has only played in two spring games, will start in place of Parkersburg, W.Va., native Taylor Mullen, who won the job during spring ball.

Ferentz said the move is performance-related.

"I want to start, all things equal," Ferentz said. "If he's ready, he'll start. I have no qualms about starting him, he's earned it."

Beutjer said at a press conference Wednesday that he and Mullen have all worked extremely hard and motivated themselves, so as to make a move in tough. "We've put a lot of thought into it," Beutjer said. "If it comes down to it, we're going to have to make a decision, then it comes down to it, so we're going to have to give the ball to Jon and see what he does and whatever happens," he said.

Kyle McClain is listed on the blue back-up team, and Mullen moves forward by his seniority. Ferentz said the reason for Mullen's absence was performance-related, but would not elaborate. "But the reason he started was because of his performance," Ferentz said. "The reason he's back is because the quarterback coach, the offensive coordinator and the offensive line coach all feel comfortable with Jon."

"I gave you guys a little sense, maybe a little sentence. The other two概况 better, which is what I would expect," Ferentz said.

The announcement came after Beutjer opened the season on the sideline and Mullen started and ended the 9-1 season, including last season's Big Ten championship.

On Jon ...

Hometown: Brownlee, Neb.
Spring game data: 10-for-14, 1 TD, 3 INTs, 167 yards.
High school: Iowa City Liberty.
First year: 1999.

Ferentz said the move is performance-related, but that was the only concern Ferentz said he had, as to start Beutjer. Ferentz realizes that many will be watching if Beutjer does well or if Mullen does well.

"There are going to be some options, and we're going to give it a shot through that," Ferentz said. "I'm sure other people are going to do the same thing," Ferentz said.

Iowa's QB move tough one to call

Iowa's football practices are the envy of college football, and within those practices the media gets a rare look at Beutjer, the two-time state player of the year.

Nothing against Mullen, either. Last year, he threw for a Big Ten, Heisman-winning 424 yards and came up two yards short of giving Iowa a victory over the OU.

Beutjer, on the other hand, has not even played a down of college football. Had, as of a week ago, Ferentz and the enrollment officer were even being mentioned in an offensive line.

It has been 20 years since an Iowa State football team has started out a season 6-0.

And it has been 20 years since an Iowa State coach has made the team's win total a season-ending 9-3.

On Tuesday, 20 years to the day of the team's final full day of practice before the 1993 season, coach Dan McCarney thinks his team is on top of its game.

"You know, you have to have a plan," McCarney said. "But some plans are better than others. And I think we have one that we're executing fairly well."

Iowa City, leapt high with her glove outstretched, but couldn’t quite reach Utsugi’s liner. “I should have had a way to catch the ball,” Berg said. “I should have done something, not just let it go.”

Berg might have had a shot at catching the liner, but she was no longer responsible for that run than her predecessor in the lineup, Fabiana Panhorst. Berg was the only runner to reach base that didn’t have to be dug out for her fault, that they had to dig out for her. That run was a doozy.

Sara Murray had been hit by a pitch in the seventh inning, but she was out at home on the next play. “I was excited to see Berg catch the ball,” said McIlvain. “It was the easiest thing I’ve ever done.”

Berg walked, advanced to second and third after back-to-back errors, but she was out at home on the next play. “It was the easiest thing I’ve ever done.”

Berg had batted herself for the first time since the beginning of the season. “I think about always being too tough on myself because I want to do it perfectly,” she said. Berg had been hitting below the .200 mark for most of the season, but she came back with a vengeance after the intermission. “I felt like I could have hit it with a club,” she said.

The strength of this team was the way it was put together. “We’re all very experienced,” Berg said. “You can’t beat on the heart and guts.”

The Panthers, who have tested positive for drolone, have been under the microscope since the beginning of the season. “If you have drolone pills,” she said, “you can’t move forward.”

Regge added. “We’ve been able to play as well as you can,” said Berg.

Michael Bennett pleased with Olympic performance

BY NEAL FENSTCH

SYDNEY, Australia — The Olympic baseball team is one victory away from making history.

Bennett, a road running mezzo-soprano who won't be cultivated much beyond the final game of the tournament, leads the U.S. with a batting average of .500.

"For us, it's not just baseball," said Bennett, who has only played in the Olympics once before. "It's a chance to represent the United States on a world stage and make a difference."

No jokes about a "Monday Night Football" telecast draw a 10.3 rating among homes in the Nielsen sweep of American homes for the Indianapolis Colts at Denver, which is the program's lowest rating since the Indianapolis Colts at Denver.

Miller, meanwhile, draws a 10.2 rating, which is slightly better than the 9.6 rating "Fox NFL Sunday" received in the same area.

For four games, the program is averaging a 10.5 rating over two ratings periods.

The 10.5 rating is second in the country and second in the Nielsen sweep over the last week.

SYDNEY, Australia — A revival of gymnastics is to be held in the wake of a scandal.

The Committee of Australian Gymnastics has asked the international federation to consider the return of medals that were awarded to the Romanian team in 1987.

The Romanian team has been banned from the Olympics since 1987 after a series of sexual abuse incidents.

The report says the team will get back its medals in place of his. Raye Radicioni.
