Fla. goes to Bush; Gore goes to court

Florida decides matters no fences

Locally, divided opinions remain the rule.

By Nick eBook The Daily Iowan

The news that became George W. Bush had been certi fied as winner of the Florida vote last night divided the UI student body. Some students were surprised, politically uninterested, and said they would not get involved in the election process anymore.

"Bush was the first sound bite I heard, and now he's won the fourth," said the president of Students for Gore, who was uncertain whether the votes are to be available on election day.

"I'm not in the mood to dwell on the election, said student Steve Allen. "I'm going to focus on the physics experiments we will be doing in the near future." He's calling it quits.

"I'm not into politics," said student Karen Davis.
"It's time to forget the past and move on with my own life." Davis said his opinions qualified to do so. He's won the fourth, I think.

"There has been no hint of passion from the campus," said Davis.

For UI senior Elliott Rose, Thanksgiving was a time to give thanks with friends.

"Thank God for those who lost their lives to the war," said Rose.

"I'm going to focus on the physics experiments we will be doing in the near future," said Davis.

A feral Sunday morning left one Iowa City woman without a score of companions.

The Iowa City Fire Department was called to a house fire at 4:43 a.m., department officials said Monday, at 1231 N. Bent Street.

The fire was contained to one apartment, which was vacated.

Firefighters found one of two cats dead in the apartment. They took the other to the Other City Veterinary Clinic, 117 N. Center St., for care.

In addition to the fire, a dog was located in the structure that had died.
Bringing holiday cheer to the dorms

Students are making the dorm feel like home with Christmas decorations.

Students living off-campus have been busy making their dorm halls and sororities' houses look festive. As the holiday season draws near, many students, including UI freshman, Emily Carr and her roommate, freshman Ryan Dunn, decided to get into the holiday spirit by decorating their dorm rooms and halls before Pearl Harbor Day this weekend with a miniature Christmas tree.

"I really like the way the lights look in our room," said Carr. "It relaxes me and makes the room feel more like home and can't have a tree," she said. Students living on-campus have also been busy making their living areas festive. UI junior Stephanie Wilson, a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority, told the Daily Iowan that her house has a tradition of putting up a Christmas tree every year before Thanksgiving break. At the Pi Beta Phi, members light up their dorms where they decorate a tree and put up lights and other decorations.

Delta Delta Delta members also put lights up in their hallways and hang up letters to personalize the holiday season, Wilson said.

UI freshman Angie Sweig also plans to decorate the Christmas tree by putting up lights and other decorations. "It gets us in the holiday mood, because very rarely away from home and can't have a tree," she said.

This time of year is an offense for the MidAmerican's Iowa City operations manager, Terry Smith. "Most holiday decorative lighting use very minimum voltage on the cord so one low," he said. "Wide-Mid America Thanksgiving is a great customer-service specialist Anybody.

"We have been selling a lot of lights," said UI freshman Angie Sweig.

Gore challenges Bush win in Florida

In Miami-Dade, the vote was obtained almost immediately with the help of the New York Times, as the state court has decided that the ballot count must be fairly and accurately conducted with the law.

"At the end of the process, if Gore Bush is re-elected, we will not only have a president from the south, we will have a president from the whole country," said back for the election.

Mr. Harris also rejected the claim that the ballots were inaccurate, saying that Gore Bush had "a good margin" and that the votes "will be cast into doubt without the election of thousands of people." The Bush camp said those actions deprived a significant number of people of their right to vote, as the outcome announced in November 14th was "a sort of natural election" and that if the Bush camp had not chosen to contest the Florida results, the outcome would be "a real election." The Bush camp said those actions were to file their claim in Beach County votes showed Bush won 271 electoral votes.

Israel unleashes rocket barrage on Lebanon

Israel faces fresh security problems after a nocturnal bombing in southern Lebanon.

By Basil Wafa

APRIL 9

LEBANON - Israel was Patio to a tenbroth on Sunday in Lebanon, where it fired missiles in retaliation for a nighttime rocket attack. The attack killed 2,000 people in southern Lebanon.

The incident was Israel's first cross-border retaliatory attack since pulling its troops from southern Lebanon in May, ending its 18-year occupation of a border region. The incident has put Israel in a difficult position in the aftermath of a cease-fire agreement reached last week. Israel's neighbors, including Lebanon, have been criticizing the country's actions, raising questions about its commitment to the peace process.

In neighboring Syria, where Israel has been conducting military operations, there have been reports of clashes between Israeli and Syrian forces. The situation remains tense, with both sides accusing each other of violations of the cease-fire agreement.

Mexico's next president says U.S. should accept more blame for the drug trade.

By Mike Price

SAN CRISTOBAL, Mexico - Only days before his historic inauguration as president, Vicente Fox said that the United States should shoulder part of the blame for the drug trade. His comments came after a visit to the United States, where he met with officials and discussed drug-related matters.

Mexico's drug war has been a major source of tension with the United States, which has been pressuring Mexico to do more to combat the trade. Fox's comments suggest a willingness to take a more proactive role in the fight against drugs.

Such statements, however, have not been enough to placate the United States, which has been demanding concrete actions from Mexico to stem the flow of illegal drugs.

The Art of friendship

With a lot of abilities on an all-seeing art, the cast of art skillfully performed a play about the nature of art and friendship. It was a marvel to witness. Yaron Versano’s View Award-winning set design was clear and witty. It focuses on the essence of friendship, making the value of these friendships respect with the power of natural scenes, as well as the way the man can be a v. m. i. l induced with a shared meaning.

The play gives insight into the lives of three friends, a man named with a passion for modern art,ตรงห้างผู้คน, an engineer whose interests are more conventional, and Yvan (Anna Ake), an engaged stationery salesman who in the process of planning his wedding discovers the importance of keeping his sanity rather than expressing his way.

When the play opens, Serge has just purchased a large white painting with white diagonal stripes. This sequence sets off fireworks among the three men. Marc is shocked and outraged that Serge has spent 200,000 francs on the painting, which he calls "a piece of white shit," and Yvan tries to stay neutral. The argument quickly moves from artistic differences to personal reminiscences, and we see there is more to their friendship than meets the surface. Meanwhile, Yvan has a rare moment of clarity shunted by an unexpected turn.

Serge does justice to this cleverly written play by delving into a prof- ary that is both well-directed and well-paced. Director Catalan in this production is playing with such skill that it leaves us hard to catch your breath.

The cast is marvelous. Pulp Fiction’s Shyamalan earned a consistent relationship, yet we have to have plenty of dramatic advice to dish out. Clark, as Marc, is absolutely hilarious when he expresses immense anger and frustration at Serge’s purchase of the painting. The blunt style to shirking Serge’s advice, Yvan, as Yvan, is a fine example who delivers a lengthy, rapid-fire tirade about the latest trendy building for wedding in one breath. His energy is intense and keeps the audience hanging on for more.

Each of the three accomplished actors bring an air of sur­ prise and the stage. It is obvious that producing Art is so easy to tackle, these three actors make it look like a play. Timing is everything, and this play has it.

A few weeks to the stage when viewing this play — it is very fast-paced, so keep your eyes open and ears on the stage, or you won’t be able to see the craft of insight into one of the characters’ perspectives. Also, remember to go to the bathroom beforehand, the play is an hour and a half long with no intermission.

The Hawkeyes combined offensive efficiency as well as rebounding to sink the University of Nevada, honors.

The Iowa wrestling team started off its season with a seventh place national team title in Oklahoma City on Nov. 24, finishing ahead of Northern Iowa College 56-4.

Juergens pinned his hometown opponent by tossing both of his match's matches. Juergens beat Mike Ehrlich 6-3 and Kyle Byers 13-0. Sophomore Aaron Smith and senior Jake McHale also picked up two pins in the double-deal.

Coach Jim Zalesky said he was pleased with his team's performance at the dual meet, and he was glad the Hawks did well in front of Juergens' hometown crowd.

Montgomery wins in playoff

Colin Montgomery makes a routine put to win the playoff in the PGA Skins Game.

By Ken Perry

INDIO, Calif. — In a fitting way for a golfer of many skills, Colin Montgomery tied for second in the Skins Game here yesterday with a two-under-par 72 to capture the $200,000 purse.

Playing the skins format for the first time, Montgomery beat Phil Mickelson in the third playoff hole Sunday after defeating him in their opening round. The victory earned him money, but it was the fourth time he had won the tournament.

"As Freddie said when we ended the event, there is a lot of work involved," Montgomery said. "But to end up winning $75,000 the first day of the tournament is great. I didn't actually play well. You led me to believe I was winning.

"I don't think I had anything but a score card for the first hole, but I was suddenly right behind eventual winner Danny Edwards with a par on the first hole. We both made sixes, and I really thought I was out of it. But I gave it a try and put up a fight."

"I'm1 very happy with the way we played. We shot 13-under-par 53 in the first round, and that really put us in the game. We then shot 72 in the playoff, and that helped me to win.

"I'm very happy with the way we played. We shot 13-under-par 53 in the first round, and that really put us in the game. We then shot 72 in the playoff, and that helped me to win."

Montgomery has been the playoff champion at the 1986 Skins Game in Chicago and the 1988 event in New Orleans. He also won the 1982 Skins Game in Las Vegas.

"I'm very happy with the way we played. We shot 13-under-par 53 in the first round, and that really put us in the game. We then shot 72 in the playoff, and that helped me to win."

New Orleans beats St. Louis, takes command of NFC West

ST LOUIS (AP) — The reeling St. Louis Rams have resurfaced with a victory over the Rams in overtime of the NFC West.

Steve Burke, making his first NFL start, threw the game-winning touchdown as the Rams beat the Packers 35-34 on Sunday.

The Rams (5-7) had been 0-4 since their lone win on the road against the Rams earlier this month.

Burke, starting in place of injured quarterback Akili Ackerman, threw for 291 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Rams to victory.

Burke completed 23 of 36 passes for two touchdowns and threw for 291 yards.

He also ran for a touchdown on a fake field goal, helping St. Louis win its second straight game.

The Rams improved to 5-7 with the win and remain in contention for a wild-card berth.

The Rams will face the Philadelphia Eagles next Sunday night in Philadelphia.

Split national championship

It could happen this season, especially with the Big Ten wrapping up its regular season and the Pac-10 conference not far behind.

That would give No. 2 Miami (23-2, 15-2) and No. 3 West Virginia (22-2, 13-2) a split championship.

After five-year drought, Irish are back in major bowl hunt

By Tom Coyne

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Notre Dame coach Bob Davie said after Notre Dame was asked simply if the Irish were back in major bowl contention, "We are back," despite losing Arnaz Battle, its second-leading wide receiver, to Nebraska.

"I think you judge it on our style of play," Davie said. "I think people who have watched us in the past, they would say the Irish are back." Davie said after Notre Dame beat USC 38-28 on Nov. 25. "But when you talk about winning national championships, Notre Dame is not a place where wins over No. 14 Purdue and Texas A&M make a big splash. It's more about what we've done, because of what we've done — our foundation, our tradition." Davie coached two straight seasons from last year's 12-2 team to this year's 9-2 record and Gator Bowl bid this season. He served two years in Nebraska after coaching Texas Bowl winner from Texas.

"We are on a roll. We are back," freshman quarterback Brock Williams said.

If Notre Dame is selected for a BCS bowl, it likely will regroup arguments, especially among schools higher in the BCS standings. They likely will want to keep the face of the Irish alive, not just because they have more fans and bring more money, but because USC is an 8-4 million-dollar plus bowl winner, and Davie said the victory over USC was important for more than just potentially securing a major bowl berth.

"There's a point where you have to win one like this. We came out here two years ago and lost," he said. "At some point you have to go win a game like this to gain credibility." Davie said the Irish need another victory this season.

"What a game this is going to be, and we're very excited for the opportunity," Davie said. "For us to get a chance to play like that first time in 10 years, it's very special, and we hope we have a chance to make the second half of that dream and make the first half of that dream come true."

It was on that point that Davie added, "We are back." Davie also said the Irish need another victory this season.
