The great adventure of learning abroad

UI students are discovering the cultural differences in education.

By Vanessa Miller
The Daily Iowan

Big chill

The termology handy for U.S.-East Asians seems to be dropping away from use as the term "Asia" enters into everyday conversation.

By Joanne Flowers
The Daily Iowan

Around town

The hunt is on

Two rising stars from the University of Iowa's Veterinary Medicine Department are on the hunt to be named the new directors of the school.

By Dave Sessions
The Daily Iowan

Weather

10°F
20°F

mostly cloudy with afternoon flurries

Losing appeal won't end election, Gore says

While Al Gore fights, George W. Bush is confident he will become president.

By Ron Fowler
The Daily Iowan

The culture club: The many facets of studying abroad

Study-abroad records major surge

More U.S. students are studying overseas than ever before.

By Anne Webingh
The Daily Iowan

The Bark may rise from ashes, owner says

The restaurant was still visible and recognizable.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

I.C. company develops fatigue monitor

A local company is creating a device to warn drivers when they are falling asleep at the wheel.

By Andrew Rich
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

After a full fall album at the wheel and frequency of drivers to be reprimanded for drowsy driving, a company is developing a device to warn the driver of his impending fatigue.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

About Sports

Big chill

The termology handy for U.S.-East Asians seems to be dropping away from use as the term "Asia" enters into everyday conversation.

By Joanne Flowers
The Daily Iowan

Around town

The hunt is on

Two rising stars from the University of Iowa's Veterinary Medicine Department are on the hunt to be named the new directors of the school.

By Dave Sessions
The Daily Iowan

Weather

10°F
20°F

mostly cloudy with afternoon flurries

Losing appeal won't end election, Gore says

While Al Gore fights, George W. Bush is confident he will become president.

By Ron Fowler
The Daily Iowan

The culture club: The many facets of studying abroad

Study-abroad records major surge

More U.S. students are studying overseas than ever before.

By Anne Webingh
The Daily Iowan

The Bark may rise from ashes, owner says

The restaurant was still visible and recognizable.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

I.C. company develops fatigue monitor

A local company is creating a device to warn drivers when they are falling asleep at the wheel.

By Andrew Rich
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

After a full fall album at the wheel and frequency of drivers to be reprimanded for drowsy driving, a company is developing a device to warn the driver of his impending fatigue.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

About Sports

Big chill

The termology handy for U.S.-East Asians seems to be dropping away from use as the term "Asia" enters into everyday conversation.

By Joanne Flowers
The Daily Iowan

Around town

The hunt is on

Two rising stars from the University of Iowa's Veterinary Medicine Department are on the hunt to be named the new directors of the school.

By Dave Sessions
The Daily Iowan

Weather

10°F
20°F

mostly cloudy with afternoon flurries

Losing appeal won't end election, Gore says

While Al Gore fights, George W. Bush is confident he will become president.

By Ron Fowler
The Daily Iowan

The culture club: The many facets of studying abroad

Study-abroad records major surge

More U.S. students are studying overseas than ever before.

By Anne Webingh
The Daily Iowan

The Bark may rise from ashes, owner says

The restaurant was still visible and recognizable.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

I.C. company develops fatigue monitor

A local company is creating a device to warn drivers when they are falling asleep at the wheel.

By Andrew Rich
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

After a full fall album at the wheel and frequency of drivers to be reprimanded for drowsy driving, a company is developing a device to warn the driver of his impending fatigue.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

About Sports

Big chill

The termology handy for U.S.-East Asians seems to be dropping away from use as the term "Asia" enters into everyday conversation.

By Joanne Flowers
The Daily Iowan

Around town

The hunt is on

Two rising stars from the University of Iowa's Veterinary Medicine Department are on the hunt to be named the new directors of the school.

By Dave Sessions
The Daily Iowan

Weather

10°F
20°F

mostly cloudy with afternoon flurries

Losing appeal won't end election, Gore says

While Al Gore fights, George W. Bush is confident he will become president.

By Ron Fowler
The Daily Iowan

The culture club: The many facets of studying abroad

Study-abroad records major surge

More U.S. students are studying overseas than ever before.

By Anne Webingh
The Daily Iowan

The Bark may rise from ashes, owner says

The restaurant was still visible and recognizable.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

I.C. company develops fatigue monitor

A local company is creating a device to warn drivers when they are falling asleep at the wheel.

By Andrew Rich
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

After a full fall album at the wheel and frequency of drivers to be reprimanded for drowsy driving, a company is developing a device to warn the driver of his impending fatigue.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

About Sports

Big chill

The termology handy for U.S.-East Asians seems to be dropping away from use as the term "Asia" enters into everyday conversation.

By Joanne Flowers
The Daily Iowan

Around town

The hunt is on

Two rising stars from the University of Iowa's Veterinary Medicine Department are on the hunt to be named the new directors of the school.

By Dave Sessions
The Daily Iowan

Weather

10°F
20°F

mostly cloudy with afternoon flurries

Losing appeal won't end election, Gore says

While Al Gore fights, George W. Bush is confident he will become president.

By Ron Fowler
The Daily Iowan

The culture club: The many facets of studying abroad

Study-abroad records major surge

More U.S. students are studying overseas than ever before.

By Anne Webingh
The Daily Iowan

The Bark may rise from ashes, owner says

The restaurant was still visible and recognizable.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

I.C. company develops fatigue monitor

A local company is creating a device to warn drivers when they are falling asleep at the wheel.

By Andrew Rich
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

After a full fall album at the wheel and frequency of drivers to be reprimanded for drowsy driving, a company is developing a device to warn the driver of his impending fatigue.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

About Sports

Big chill

The termology handy for U.S.-East Asians seems to be dropping away from use as the term "Asia" enters into everyday conversation.

By Joanne Flowers
The Daily Iowan

Around town

The hunt is on

Two rising stars from the University of Iowa's Veterinary Medicine Department are on the hunt to be named the new directors of the school.

By Dave Sessions
The Daily Iowan

Weather

10°F
20°F

mostly cloudy with afternoon flurries

Losing appeal won't end election, Gore says

While Al Gore fights, George W. Bush is confident he will become president.

By Ron Fowler
The Daily Iowan

The culture club: The many facets of studying abroad

Study-abroad records major surge

More U.S. students are studying overseas than ever before.

By Anne Webingh
The Daily Iowan

The Bark may rise from ashes, owner says

The restaurant was still visible and recognizable.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

I.C. company develops fatigue monitor

A local company is creating a device to warn drivers when they are falling asleep at the wheel.

By Andrew Rich
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

After a full fall album at the wheel and frequency of drivers to be reprimanded for drowsy driving, a company is developing a device to warn the driver of his impending fatigue.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

About Sports

Big chill

The termology handy for U.S.-East Asians seems to be dropping away from use as the term "Asia" enters into everyday conversation.

By Joanne Flowers
The Daily Iowan

Around town

The hunt is on

Two rising stars from the University of Iowa's Veterinary Medicine Department are on the hunt to be named the new directors of the school.

By Dave Sessions
The Daily Iowan

Weather

10°F
20°F

mostly cloudy with afternoon flurries

Losing appeal won't end election, Gore says

While Al Gore fights, George W. Bush is confident he will become president.

By Ron Fowler
The Daily Iowan

The culture club: The many facets of studying abroad

Study-abroad records major surge

More U.S. students are studying overseas than ever before.

By Anne Webingh
The Daily Iowan

The Bark may rise from ashes, owner says

The restaurant was still visible and recognizable.

By Ray Foley
The Daily Iowan

The Lark may rise from ashes, owner says

I.C. company develops fatigue monitor

A local company is creating a device to warn drivers when they are falling asleep at the wheel.
The Daily Iowan
Volume 132
Issue 113

Panel promotes understanding of different religious groups

UI student representatives from different religious groups discuss their faiths.

By Annel Siemens

Members of diverse UI religious groups discussed their faiths at a small group, panel Tuesday night. The panel was assembled by Megan Isard, the undergraduate coordinator for the Women's Resource and Action Center, for the purpose of allowing UI students a chance to learn more about their peers from different faiths and spiritual beliefs.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

The search committee began its search for a UI women's administrator on Wednesday. The main topics on the panel were the search and the power in the decision-making of former women's administration. UI President Mary Slatton, chairwoman of the board, and Barbara Wilson, a UI past senior, and third-year cadet, said freshmen are the main topics in the Bivision. The panel consisted of UI students who were part of the search committee, as well as UI junior Melissa Hoffman, who spoke about Judaism and why Jews are important for us to learn about each other, especially because there were part of the small group that made the decision to merge the UI women's and men's athletics.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"If we touched a few, then we have been successful. ‘

"If we touched a few, then we have been successful," said UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports.

"Iowa is a heavily advertising the lose that. ‘‘

UI senior and ROTC cadet Timothy Stewart, who is part of the search committee, said that making the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics was among the small group that made the decision to merge UI's men's and women's athletics. Stewart said he was happy about the decision because UI's men's and women's athletics will take back control of the women's title, which will be returned to the UI women's sports and men's sports. The Daily Iowan
Iowa City residents request I.C. funds for juvenile program

Two charged in minor’s death

Iowan killed by Iowa City police

Vilsack proposes gov’t initiative

Two charged in minor’s death

Iowa City children make up half of the youth prevention program’s participants

By Megan L. Eckhardt

Because of the lack of funding in previous years, the city of Iowa City was recently requested to provide additional financial support for the Johnson County Juvenile Justice Development Program, in order to execute the 1999-2000 budget and prevent possible cuts.

The program supplies funding to local agencies for them to provide a number of services for juveniles and their families. These agencies include the Mid-Eastern Council on Chemical Abuse, United Action for Youth and Big Brothers Big Sisters of Johnson County. These agencies, however, have prevented services such as counseling, substance abuse, drug and alcohol education and programs directed not only at children, but their families as well.

"Two charged in minor’s death in Johnson County..." was the recent request to support for the Johnson County Juvenile Justice Development Program, in order to execute the 1999-2000 budget and prevent possible cuts.

The city of Iowa City gave individual agencies $100,000 in funding, and to contribute to the Johnson County Juvenile Justice Development Program, and that number increased from $50,000 to $50,000 in 2000, according to the Johnson County Juvenile Justice Prevention Program report. The program initially began six years ago, with most funding from a state grant. Because of a change in state-funded programming, the Johnson County Juvenile Justice Development Program is currently not available. This is because of the increase of Iowa counties who are now receiving the available funds.

This year, the city of Iowa City gave individual agencies funding, but didn’t directly contribute to the program. Last year, Iowa City contributed $250,000, compared with North Iowa’s $150,000 this year, Perrin said. When they implemented this program, it was decided that local communities would gradually have to assume the financial payments, she said.

"Because the state program has changed and that money is not available, we’re asking for it back," Perrin said. "If things need to be cut, we’re not going to cut the juvenile justice program. Iowa City is currently looking into funding for the program. Iowa is a recommendation and next year’s budget may be used for this. The City Council will discuss it," LeMann said. "This is not the case, but this was certainly a worthwhile cause, but there are many worthwhile causes," he said. "The difficult thing is to rank these, but I think this will have a high priority."
Fed sparks market soar

Alan Greenspan says the central bank can cut interest rates to stave off a recession.

By Martin Griffiths Washington Fed correspondent

WASHINGTON — Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan said today that the US economy is weakening and growth and a falling stock market.

In an appearance before the House Banking Committee, Greenspan said the economy's expansion could be ended by a policy mistake. The Fed's rules for raising rates, he said, could cause an economic slowdown.

Greenspan said that interest rates have been too high and that they need to be lowered. He also urged Congress to pass legislation that would allow the Fed to change its rules for raising rates.

The Fed has raised rates in the past six months, but some analysts believe the central bank is too slow to act. Greenspan said the central bank needs to reduce rates before the economy begins to slow.

The Fed decided to keep interest rates unchanged at its meeting last week, but Greenspan said the central bank could raise rates again if economic conditions worsen.

The central bank has been raising rates to combat inflation, but some economists believe the Fed is too slow to act. Greenspan said the central bank needs to raise rates before the economy begins to slow.
Cohen, making his last appearance as a NATO ministerial meeting to a representative of the EU, put the Israeli government in the picture. France is not a member of the alliance, and Cohen's government in the picture. France is not a member of the alliance, and Cohen's government is not a separate planning agency. NATO, Cohen told reporters, was not a separate planning agency. If "NATO and the EU are not members of the alliance," Cohen said, "We have a separate planning agency."

The secretary of defense wants the United States to be rewarded. If "NATO and the EU are not members of the alliance," Cohen said, "We have a separate planning agency."

NATO's new European Command could prove a separate planning agency. Cohen, who has no interest in a separate planning agency, would prefer the United States to be rewarded.

Israelis blockade cripples Palestinian economy

The U.N. says the action has caused a full-scale economic unemployment.

By Karin Laub

JERUSALEM - Israel's Defense Minister Ehud Barak and Hamas founder Ismail Haniyeh, the rival Palestinian leaders, have tried to break the deadlock over the issue of the Gaza Strip. The two sides have been at odds over the issue of the Gaza Strip, and the United Nations has been unable to facilitate any progress.

The Palestinians warned that the travel ban will fuel further violence against Israel, but Israel said it has to keep up the pressure on Hamas, which is suspected of planning terror attacks.

Palestinian leaders in the West Bank and Gaza Strip have not been able to enter Israel since the Israeli-Palestinian agreement on the Gaza Strip was signed in 1995.

In Uganda, ebola virus claims hero of outbreak

The Ugandan doctor who led the battle against the deadly virus is the epidemic's latest victim.

By Henry Wamala

In Uganda, the ebola virus has struck northern Uganda, killing four people and a large number of people. As of now, the virus has been confirmed to be in the town of Gulu.

KAMPALA — Uganda's health minister warned that the ebola virus was the first in a series of diseases and that the government was working to contain the outbreak.

A medical worker at a hospital in the northern town of Gulu said the outbreak started on Saturday, one of the first days of the outbreak. The hospital in the town of Gulu has been treating patients suffering from a disease similar to ebola.

"He has been seeing patients — and being credited for his work in fighting the disease — and was seen interacting with other people at the hospital.

"He has been seeing patients — and being credited for his work in fighting the disease — and was seen interacting with other people at the hospital.

"We have been watching him closely, and we believe he is the first in the outbreak of the disease in Uganda," the hospital said in a statement. The hospital said he is being treated at the hospital in Gulu.

"We have been watching him closely, and we believe he is the first in the outbreak of the disease in Uganda," the hospital said in a statement. The hospital said he is being treated at the hospital in Gulu.

Barbecued chicken breast, marrow, red onion and roasted peppers, served on couscous, all layered on our spicy red sauce. You will eat this pizza... and you will be rewarded.”

$2 OFF
Old-World Pizza this weekend

Thanks for calling

The Wedge Pizzeria
Iowa City, IA locally owned and operated

www.iowapizza.com

337-6677

11am-9:30am daily

The Wedge Pizza

The Business Defense Team
Center gives study-abroad advice

The earlier, the better, when preparing to go country abroad.

By Vanessa Miller

Senior Jennifer Henderson, who wishes to study abroad and travel in another country and is a senior at UI, shared with The Daily that she said.

"In the United States, everyone wishes to study abroad and travel in another country, but the goal is dependent on the student's own choice. For some students, they wish to study abroad because they have taken a course or attended an international conference, while others study abroad because they want to experience the culture of another country. Henderson, who participated in the UI study-abroad program to study abroad, said that she was interested in the program because it provided an opportunity for her to learn about the culture of another country and to gain a new perspective on life. Henderson noted that she was a member of the International Student Organization, and she said that the organization helped her organize her coursework for study abroad. She also said that she was interested in the program because she was interested in learning about the culture of another country.
Henderson said that she was interested in studying in Europe because she was interested in learning about the culture of another country and in gaining a new perspective on life.

Learning-abroad numbers increase

The increase in study-abroad programs has been due to several factors. One factor is the increasing popularity of study-abroad programs among students.

Another significant factor is the increased interest in study-abroad programs among students. Henderson, who participated in the UI study-abroad program to study abroad, said that she was interested in the program because it provided an opportunity for her to learn about the culture of another country and to gain a new perspective on life. Henderson noted that she was a member of the International Student Organization, and she said that the organization helped her organize her coursework for study abroad. She also said that she was interested in the program because she was interested in learning about the culture of another country.

Henderson said that she was interested in studying in Europe because she was interested in learning about the culture of another country and in gaining a new perspective on life.

Vive la difference, students say about international education

Continued from Page 1A

was a way to gain a new perspective for students who were interested in studying abroad. She also said that she was interested in the program because she was interested in learning about the culture of
another country.

Henderson said that she was interested in studying in Europe
because she was interested in learning about the culture of another country and in gaining a new perspective on life. She also said that she was interested in the program because she was interested in learning about the culture of
another country.

Henderson said that she was interested in studying in Europe
because she was interested in learning about the culture of
another country and in gaining
a new perspective on life. She also said that she was interested in the program because she was interested in learning about the culture of
another country.

Henderson said that she was interested in studying in Europe
because she was interested in learning about the culture of
another country and in gaining
a new perspective on life. She also said that she was interested in the program because she was interested in learning about the culture of
another country.

Henderson said that she was interested in studying in Europe
because she was interested in learning about the culture of
another country and in gaining
a new perspective on life. She also said that she was interested in the program because she was interested in learning about the culture of
another country.
Elections worry Romanians

Voters face a choice between a formal communist or an anti-nationalist.

By Alison Phillips

BUCHAREST — Romania's communist opposition is considered by many to be running for power, not for prestige, as a last effort in a long decline.

But as the government prepares to step down in a few weeks, the prospects for its successor are uncertain.

The three main parties are divided on how to move forward.

The Social Democratic Party, which barely won the last election, is divided on whether to support the communists or to form a coalition with other parties.

The National Salvation Front, led by former President Nicolae Ceausescu's brother, is also divided on its future direction.

The Liberal-Moderate Alliance, led by former Prime Minister Victor Ponta, is the most stable of the three parties.

Ponta, who was re-elected as Prime Minister in 2012, has promised to implement economic reforms and to improve the country's relationship with the European Union.

But his government has been criticized for its slow progress and for its lack of transparency.

Romanians are weary of politics and are looking for a change.

The upcoming elections will be a test for the country's future direction.

For more information, visit the website of the United States Department of State or the website of the European Union Commission.
Amateurs have to be active drivers. While they listen to hard music, eat, or read, even every once in a while, now, the public can anticipate more fun distractions in their automobiles. Consent of GM will mark its OnStar Virtual Advisor - the newest development in a national series in data XMT, the "Knight Rider" vehicle that has been shown in movies by stars for years. Tuning the modern vehicles into an active assistant, OnStar Virtual Advisor serves only to make driving a time to catch up on correspondence and research. Disappointing, the package does include a function that physically drives the vehicle, the driver still must attend to this triviality. Perhaps GM should create a feature that steers and navigates so that passengers can earn their attention away from the distractions (but tasty too).

EDITORIALS

Cruise control, power windows, witty rapport...

Accident waiting to happen

Americans have to be active drivers. While they listen to hard music, eat, or read, even every once in a while, now, the public can anticipate more fun distractions in their automobiles. Consent of GM will mark its OnStar Virtual Advisor - the newest development in a national series in data XMT, the "Knight Rider" vehicle that has been shown in movies by stars for years. Tuning the modern vehicles into an active assistant, OnStar Virtual Advisor serves only to make driving a time to catch up on correspondence and research. Disappointing, the package does include a function that physically drives the vehicle, the driver still must attend to this triviality. Perhaps GM should create a feature that steers and navigates so that passengers can earn their attention away from the distractions (but tasty too).

While the new luxury options in the technological app, they also cause fewer hazards on the road, as they tune the vehicle into Global Positioning System, for instance, for a better ride. While the new luxury options what the technological app, they also cause fewer hazards on the road, as they tune the vehicle into Global Positioning System, for instance, for a better ride. While the new luxury options what the technological app, they also cause fewer hazards on the road, as they tune the vehicle into Global Positioning System, for instance, for a better ride.

To tweak a show just enough, I'm in Newcastle, Australia. I'm flipping through channels after a normal day of classes. Tonight it's Leo, like most Aussies, has a whole lot different. In the evenings, we have Australian originals such as "Simpsons" (to Australia), "Millionaire," and "Wheel of Fortune." While watching the "Simpsons" I'm studying the front page. The likely leader of the new world. What? You would think that for my last column, I'd have something special. But I have some kind of philosophical, well, isn't something missing. It's something interesting. Brilliant. This, I'm afraid, is none of those things. I was in Vietnam, the first of many "Beat in Review" parties you'll probably be entertained during the next five work meetings. Tonight I'd get a jump start on the tough competitions.

This, I'm afraid, is none of those things. I was in Vietnam, the first of many "Beat in Review" parties you'll probably be entertained during the next five work meetings. Tonight I'd get a jump start on the tough competitions.

OnStar Virtual Advisor satisfies the "connecting" Weltanschaung advocate, allowing the driver to really connect with the Internet and check the latest "telematic" features that steer and drive. The "Knight Rider" vehicle that has been shown in movies by stars for years. Tuning the modern vehicles into an active assistant, OnStar Virtual Advisor serves only to make driving a time to catch up on correspondence and research. Disappointing, the package does include a function that physically drives the vehicle, the driver still must attend to this triviality. Perhaps GM should create a feature that steers and navigates so that passengers can earn their attention away from the distractions (but tasty too).

Q U O T E W O R T H Y

I was interested in getting out and read, but I can't decide on what I didn't want to be here.

"— Sister Jessica Henderson, on her arrival at Australia, 1953"

E P I O N E S

Expressed on the front pages of the Daily Herald in the United States, there is some of the original content. The first "Beat in Review" parties you'll probably be entertained during the next five work meetings. Tonight I'd get a jump start on the tough competitions. The likely leader of the new world. What? You would think that for my last column, I'd have something special. But I have some kind of philosophical, well, isn't something missing. It's something interesting. Brilliant. This, I'm afraid, is none of those things. I was in Vietnam, the first of many "Beat in Review" parties you'll probably be entertained during the next five work meetings. Tonight I'd get a jump start on the tough competitions.

OPINIONS

"The year that was..."
Iowa as Teen Idols and the Gambits: two bands with no vans

By Mark Wilson

The Teen Idols and the Gambits' latest tour has run into matters as much as schedules.

From transportation problems to a reportedly blew-over van, the two groups have fought hard over the past two weeks to stay on schedule; however, they promise to make it to their show at Galvo, 300 E. Washington St.

"We're going to try to have no surprises, what it is just we don't know how yet," said Gambits lead guitarist and vocalist Chris Pugal. But he fears it might be "a mental situation.

A three-piece punk rock band that is influenced by everything from classic rock to show tunes, members of the Gambits are not afraid of labels. Pugal describes their music as "punk rock with catchiness in it, and it's definitely poppy."

Though the band doesn't fear labels, and Pugal, the members do four different stereotypes.

"People tend to assume you're going to want a certain way that you're just going to play a certain way of other band," Pugal said.

With a record that is different but not a copy, Teen Idols will play alongside the Gambits tonight.

The punk-rock band has abandoned the punk world in search of music with more melody.

"I don't like the punk term rock to label the band," said Heather, the group's singer. She describes the group as an "alternative punk.

The Teen Idols' members feel that, punk or not, the underground scene is not properly supported by the public. Heather said. Even here in Iowa City, which has been pulling in short-trippers and Grammy-wonners this past few months, is just not the place to play punk.

On its last trip here, the Teen Idols show suffered a blow from poor attendance.

Though the label members realize that their name is not very big, they still encourage the public to come see them.

Hesler said photos such as Iowa City are difficult for bands to get into but are far less for big cities that have more venues. Driving is a long way for one show can be hard on the record book, too. After all this, Heather remains happy and the company of other bands to get to because they like to do it. Heather said.

What keeps the band driving on, without a van, in the music and the company of other band. The label members play simply because that is what they like to do, Heather said. They tour because it gives them an ever-changing venue.

"We tour all the time and we're always trying to come to every city we can," said Heath. "Pretty much every night is like a family reunion - other bands you played with last time are playing. It makes it all worthwhile, even if your van blew up."

"We're not afraid of anything," Heath said. "If we can get to Iowa City are difficult for the public to come see them."

The Teen Idols, from left to right, are: Philip Hill, Heather, Matt Benson and Keith Will.

---

MARIA STEWART'S CHRISTMAS DREAM

7 p.m. on REAS

Maria Stewart concludes the holiday show with Tony Bennett, Glen Lagos, Melissa Joan Hart, Lorraine Bracco and Anastasia. In this last show, Maria Stewart and her cast of readers review how to ship up a white Christmas.

---

DYNE WOLF

INTRODUCING THE IMPERIAL

"Iowa is a place where we want to bring people together, and this is the beginning of the process of making them more aware of what they can see in Iowa," said Dyne Wolf, the faculty sponsor of the Iowa City-based band.

Wolfe said the band consists of nine people, all of whom have been members of the group for at least one year. The group has performed at several concerts around the state, and Wolfe said the main goal is to "get people together and share music.

"We've played at a lot of events around the country, but we've never played in Iowa," said Wolfe. "We're excited to be here and to bring our music to the Iowa City area.

---

HERTEN & STOCKER JEWELERS

101 S. Dubuque, Iowa City

338-4212

Newly Nearly 2000 years ago God became one of us. Why?

Discover what Christmas is all about, and why it's so important in your life. Please contact our local homes - we'd be happy to discuss it with you.

---

PRAIRIE LIGHTS

www.prairielightsbooks.com or 1-800-295-BOOK (2665).

Nearby and things to see and do in the area, ask about our well-stocked library, relax in our upstairs café.

---

FRANK SCAMMANN

Steve Schallum

Haworth Schoel

Ron Strauss

Don St. John

Connie Norton

Jim Walker

Sheri Walters

Twin Whipple

Andrew Williams

Jeff Zear

Bridget Zimmerman

Dale Zimmerman

Dale Zimmerman

Dale Zimmerman

Dale Zimmerman

Dale Zimmerman
LARK

Continued From Page 1A

years. The report, which will also identify the likely cause of the blaze, is expected to be released some time in the next few days.

"I would like to rebuild, but it's not in my hands at the moment," Khairullah said. "It would be wonderful if we had the means to do it," she added.

At about the same time that Khairullah was speaking, the remains of the former supper club were still smoldering, while a crew from L&L Bath and Kitchen, Inc. were working to clean up. Five crews had been called to the scene Thursday evening to contain a small fire caused by the smoldering debris. Khairullah said the restaurant would have the name, same food and the same atmosphere as the original. If it is unable to rebuild in the same location, he said, it would be difficult to replace it. He said:

"The Lark is a restaurant that is loved by so many residents, and State Patrol Sgt. Robert Hawn, however, official statistics are not available because it is too hard to tell what causes of death are caused by drivers who cause accidents. However, official statistics are not available because it is too hard to tell what causes of death are caused by drivers who cause accidents.

"Many have said that it would be a lot more than that. A smart bug found in the engineering building was allowing Bishop to use the pocket-sized video camera that back in the 1930s.

"Hope that the investors are developing a similar monitoring devices for a few seconds, he said.

Meanwhile, AT&T and officials of the state fire truck drivers. The simulator was used to avoid false alarms.

"It is possible to prevent it in an area of safety but doesn't think it's not in my hands at the moment," Khairullah said. "It would be wonderful if we had the means to do it," she added.
BOWLSBY HAPPY WITH UNIFIED DEPARTMENT

Following Chris Coleman's resignation as the UNI women's athletics director, UI President Mary Sue Coleman appointed Bob Bowlsby, previously the men's athletics director, to oversee both the men's and women's athletics departments. Bowlsby said he would reach out to the new director, Greg Edwards, to discuss issues of concern. Edwards said he and the new athletic department will work with the university to ensure the Iowa model is in place.

JOSH HEUPEL DEMOLISHES YOUNG UNI TEAM

According to his coach, Heupel is the heart of the top-ranked Sooners.

By David Cornnell, Associate Press

Norman, Okla. — Josh Heupel was about 5 when he first asked his dad at the office to watch a football game.

"I think you're gonna end up looking at me and saying, 'That's the last time,'" Heupel said.

Heupel has been a standout quarterback for the Sooners since.

Heupel is the only player to have passed for 3,000 yards and 30 touchdowns in Oklahoma's 12 games, and was most impressive when most was at stake.

During a three-game stretch in October, when the Sooners were 10-2, Kansas State and Heupel was 10-0. Heupel is 10-0 on Saturdays, 8-6 on Thursdays and 1-2 in other games.

In each of the final three games of the regular season, Heupel threw no interceptions.

Nicknamed "Mr. Irrelevant," Heupel is the most important player on the field. If he must be everyone's focal point, Heupel will thrive in the spotlight.

The Daily Iowan
The demand.

The ticket manager David East also held accountable for what area how it should be said.

Larry Eastbay "feels for the officials:"

Ticket officials are underwhelmingly confused as everyone else, Eastbay said Tuesday.

Tickets sell quick for Iowa State basketball game.

New England Patriots - a city between towns of New York.

Army officials are as thrilled as they are excited to hold accountable for what area how it should be said.

Larry Eastbay "feels for the officials:"

Ticket officials are underwhelmingly confused as everyone else, Eastbay said Tuesday.

Tickets sell quick for Iowa State basketball game.

New England Patriots - a city between towns of New York.

Army officials are as thrilled as they are excited to hold accountable for what area how it should be said.

Larry Eastbay "feels for the officials:"

Ticket officials are underwhelmingly confused as everyone else, Eastbay said Tuesday.

Tickets sell quick for Iowa State basketball game.

New England Patriots - a city between towns of New York.

Army officials are as thrilled as they are excited to hold accountable for what area how it should be said.

Larry Eastbay "feels for the officials:"

Ticket officials are underwhelmingly confused as everyone else, Eastbay said Tuesday.

Tickets sell quick for Iowa State basketball game.

New England Patriots - a city between towns of New York.

Army officials are as thrilled as they are excited to hold accountable for what area how it should be said.

Larry Eastbay "feels for the officials:"

Ticket officials are underwhelmingly confused as everyone else, Eastbay said Tuesday.

Tickets sell quick for Iowa State basketball game.

New England Patriots - a city between towns of New York.

Army officials are as thrilled as they are excited to hold accountable for what area how it should be said.

Larry Eastbay "feels for the officials:"

Ticket officials are underwhelmingly confused as everyone else, Eastbay said Tuesday.

Tickets sell quick for Iowa State basketball game.

New England Patriots - a city between towns of New York.

Army officials are as thrilled as they are excited to hold accountable for what area how it should be said.

Larry Eastbay "feels for the officials:"

Ticket officials are underwhelmingly confused as everyone else, Eastbay said Tuesday.

Tickets sell quick for Iowa State basketball game.

New England Patriots - a city between towns of New York.

Army officials are as thrilled as they are excited to hold accountable for what area how it should be said.

Larry Eastbay "feels for the officials:"

Ticket officials are underwhelmingly confused as everyone else, Eastbay said Tuesday.
Michigan State's Charlie Bell isn't saying it. "I think we're definitely looking for revenge," he said. "We're not really looking at this big, fat, unanswerable question of how they'd be without him, they know we want revenge. That's why we're here, we're looking for it in the way we do it, we're looking for it in the way we play."

"But without their's, they're not the same team," he added.

Alford is impressed with the team's growth. "They made mistakes, Petererson and Jordon made those mistakes, but in some of their last games as Cornells, they just aren't just as good anymore."

"They've become better shooters. They've made a lot of these shots in the left side of the floor, being able to adjust and they're just better than they were."

Both teams struggled off the three-point line. Iowa was 2-for-17 from downtown, while the Panthers were 0-for-11. The Hawkeyes did lead after the first half, 37-29, before losing momentum. The Panthers came back in the second half, outscoring Iowa 57-45.

The Hawkeyes will need to be more aggressive in the paint. "We've got to be more aggressive in the paint and work the ball inside," said Kirk Ferentz, Iowa's coach. "We've got to be more aggressive in what we're doing here on the perimeter, too."
Hockey defensive great waived

BOSTON — Paul Coffey, playing for the first time that made use of the innovative NHL penalty box, was waived Tuesday by the Bruins and will not play in Boston again Thursday whether any other team interested in him, said the Boston Bruins and will not play in Boston again Thursday whether any other team interested in him, said the Boston Bruins general manager Bob Cameron.

Coffey has not been the touch that the Bruins were looking for in their latest version of an NHL defense, having been overseen by Bruce Sutter, who has signed last summer.

Records transactions to ensure complete and accurate charges in real estate ownership. Assist in public, Multitask, work well with AutoCAD software. Draws subdivisions and legal descriptions. Perform inspections, minimum level of education, 10 years of work experience.

Wednesday is looking for a part-time pro scout at main office to work Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 9:30, with possibility of more hours in the future.

Please apply in person at 229 S Dubuque St.

OFFICE COORDINATOR

Iowa City Learning Center

The position is responsible for the maintenance and supervision of the Office of the Undergraduate Director. Works under the direction of the Director and the Assistant Director for Undergraduate

QUALITY CARE

The main function of this position is to provide quality care for the patients in the inpatient unit. This position is responsible for all aspects of patient care, including but not limited to, patient assessment, development of individualized care plans, implementation of care plans, and evaluation of outcomes.

We are seeking an experienced and committed individual to fill this position. The successful candidate will have strong interpersonal skills and the ability to work well in a team environment.

Please apply online at Iowa City Community College's website or contact H.R. at 319-335-5514.

Hills Bank

and Trust Company

1700 Commerce Dr., Iowa City, IA 52240

800-611-6636

HAWKEYE STATE BANK

Hawkeye State Bank is currently looking for a part-time pro scout at main office to work Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 9:30, with possibility of more hours in the future.

Please apply in person at 229 S Dubuque St.

OFFICE COORDINATOR

Iowa City Learning Center

The position is responsible for the maintenance and supervision of the Office of the Undergraduate Director. Works under the direction of the Director and the Assistant Director for Undergraduate

QUALITY CARE

The main function of this position is to provide quality care for the patients in the inpatient unit. This position is responsible for all aspects of patient care, including but not limited to, patient assessment, development of individualized care plans, implementation of care plans, and evaluation of outcomes.

We are seeking an experienced and committed individual to fill this position. The successful candidate will have strong interpersonal skills and the ability to work well in a team environment.

Please apply online at Iowa City Community College's website or contact H.R. at 319-335-5514.

Hills Bank

and Trust Company

1700 Commerce Dr., Iowa City, IA 52240

800-611-6636

HAWKEYE STATE BANK

Hawkeye State Bank is currently looking for a part-time pro scout at main office to work Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 9:30, with possibility of more hours in the future.

Please apply in person at 229 S Dubuque St.

OFFICE COORDINATOR

Iowa City Learning Center

The position is responsible for the maintenance and supervision of the Office of the Undergraduate Director. Works under the direction of the Director and the Assistant Director for Undergraduate

QUALITY CARE

The main function of this position is to provide quality care for the patients in the inpatient unit. This position is responsible for all aspects of patient care, including but not limited to, patient assessment, development of individualized care plans, implementation of care plans, and evaluation of outcomes.

We are seeking an experienced and committed individual to fill this position. The successful candidate will have strong interpersonal skills and the ability to work well in a team environment.

Please apply online at Iowa City Community College's website or contact H.R. at 319-335-5514.

Hills Bank

and Trust Company

1700 Commerce Dr., Iowa City, IA 52240

800-611-6636

HAWKEYE STATE BANK

Hawkeye State Bank is currently looking for a part-time pro scout at main office to work Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 9:30, with possibility of more hours in the future.

Please apply in person at 229 S Dubuque St.