INSIDE SPORTS
She got Game Time

At last, local women got a summer athletic season of their own. See story, Page 12

AROUND TOWN
City gets card parking
Beginning June 15, the local parking centers will accept credit cards. See story, Page 2

NATION
CIA chief heads to Midwest

Vice President Dick Cheney said he plans to visit the Twin Cities before the presidential primaries.

The Daily Iowan

Wednesday, June 6, 2001

Since 1868

www.dailyiowan.com

Gable may switch rings

The former Hawkeyes and Olympian may be considering a run for governor as a Republican.

By Ryan Felley

The legendary Iowa hero who guided the UI wrestling team to 13 national titles in 20 years is "slowly considering" a run for governor. His will-and-Tampons image may be a distant memory, but his gut-level approach by main GOP officials appears anything but. The former Iowa's governmental candidate in the 1990s of the 20th, Kathy Gable, agreed in a phone interview Tuesday afternoon. She said her husband was not of team and would answer questions when he returns today. An official announcement will be made next week, if he decides to run. Kathy Gable said: "But I don't think they're anywhere making that kind of decision right now, not even from that point." In Iowa Republican Party spokesmen said she had heard that Dict Gable was considering a bid, but she would not confirm any specifics. "We heard that they may do it," Marilyn Pompa said. "She declared to contact me further, saying she had not specifically spoken to Kathy Gable. The Gable's family has been approached by main GOP officials regarding the party's governmental candidate in the 1990s of the 20th, Kathy Gable, as an option for governor.

Police receive the drug grant

Civil rights advocates argue that the Iowa grant promotes unethical force methods.

By Arion Camperou

The Daily Iowan

Lowa City police commissioned Tuesday that two of its grants received - one of community members who say they encourage questionable police tactics.

The controversial Edward Wieczerek Memorial Grant will allow the police to target sus­ piciou​on-related cases.

Civil rights advocates have joined with Iowa City Councilor Steven Dwyer to question the grant's requirements. He has defended the city not only for the police grant in question for its emphasis on the use of force to solve criminal cases.

To receive the money, police will have to train for at least 20 hours in drug enforcement, conduct at least three drug training exercises during which an officer approaches a house and force entry without warrant, and obtain 10 search warrants for drug use enforcement.

Wieczerek's death is currently under investigation by the Office of Drug Control Policy awarded the $6,700 grant. Iowa City police, who have received the grant for a decade, will use the money to fund more than 20 hours of training.

City Councilor Trish Phish said he is opposed to the grant, noting that some police officers will use the money to fund more training.

"I have difficulty supporting the city's use of the grant," he said. "If the grant will be used for more of the same, then I am against it." Police Chief Liz Weidhaas said the department was not aware of any training related to the grant.

Doctor may be in frat house's future

A local contractor hopes to make a former fraternity house an apartment complex.

By Scott Schell

The Daily Iowan

A local contractor hopes to make a former fraternity house an apartment complex.

In a City Planning and Zoning Commission discussion, a local contractor proposed to turn an apartment complex into a 10-unit, downtown apartment complex.

Larry Brown Jr., who owns several complexes throughout Iowa, said he plans to convert the house, "901 N. Dubuque St., on an empty site" and sell it as property.

Brown Jr. said he plans to spend $600,000 on the project and will have to acquire other contractors and organizations, especially regarding how to build the house in the past, he said, and he has continued to go on the property for more than five years.

"In terms of the market, it's probably the end of the summer before the

University asks not for whom Taco Bell tolls

University officials and student leaders are wary of the chain's vending proposal for the dorms.

By Lisa Page

The Daily Iowan

In what UI officials believe is the first request of its kind, a national restaurant chain is asking permission to vend on campus.

A local contractor wants to make this former fraternity house an apartment complex.

Silver Dog's $16,000, and it requires it with a national restaurant.

Rivera, the property was originally designed for 24 units, the initial compact will be "in the next few months," said University of Iowa President Dr. Bruce Harreld. "And I am happy to see that it is going well.

Taco Bell assistant manager Mike Prado approached the university last year about the idea of a Taco Bell in the dorms.

The Daily Iowan

Wednesday, June 6, 2001

Since 1868

www.dailyiowan.com

Gable may switch rings

The former Hawkeyes and Olympian may be considering a run for governor as a Republican.

By Ryan Felley

The legendary Iowa hero who guided the UI wrestling team to 13 national titles in 20 years is "slowly considering" a run for governor. His will-and-Tampons image may be a distant memory, but his gut-level approach by main GOP officials appears anything but. The former Iowa's governmental candidate in the 1990s of the 20th, Kathy Gable, agreed in a phone interview Tuesday afternoon. She said her husband was not of team and would answer questions when he returns today. An official announcement will be made next week, if he decides to run. Kathy Gable said: "But I don't think they're anywhere making that kind of decision right now, not even from that point." In Iowa Republican Party spokesmen said she had heard that Dict Gable was considering a bid, but she would not confirm any specifics. "We heard that they may do it," Marilyn Pompa said. "She declared to contact me further, saying she had not specifically spoken to Kathy Gable. The Gable's family has been approached by main GOP officials regarding the party's governmental candidate in the 1990s of the 20th, Kathy Gable, as an option for governor.

Police receive the drug grant

Civil rights advocates argue that the Iowa grant promotes unethical force methods.

By Arion Camperou

The Daily Iowan

Lowa City police commissioned Tuesday that two of its grants received - one of community members who say they encourage questionable police tactics.

The controversial Edward Wieczerek Memorial Grant will allow the police to target sus­ piciou​on-related cases.

Civil rights advocates have joined with Iowa City Councilor Steven Dwyer to question the grant's requirements. He has defended the city not only for the police grant in question for its emphasis on the use of force to solve criminal cases.

To receive the money, police will have to train for at least 20 hours in drug enforcement, conduct at least three drug training exercises during which an officer approaches a house and force entry without warrant, and obtain 10 search warrants for drug use enforcement.

Wieczerek's death is currently under investigation by the Office of Drug Control Policy awarded the $6,700 grant. Iowa City police, who have received the grant for a decade, will use the money to fund more than 20 hours of training.

City Councilor Trish Phish said he is opposed to the grant, noting that some police officers will use the money to fund more training.

"I have difficulty supporting the city's use of the grant," he said. "If the grant will be used for more of the same, then I am against it." Police Chief Liz Weidhaas said the department was not aware of any training related to the grant.

Doctor may be in frat house's future

A local contractor hopes to make a former fraternity house an apartment complex.

By Scott Schell

The Daily Iowan

A local contractor hopes to make a former fraternity house an apartment complex.

In a City Planning and Zoning Commission discussion, a local contractor proposed to turn an apartment complex into a 10-unit, downtown apartment complex.

Larry Brown Jr., who owns several complexes throughout Iowa, said he plans to convert the house, "901 N. Dubuque St., on an empty site" and sell it as property.

Brown Jr. said he plans to spend $600,000 on the project and will have to acquire other contractors and organizations, especially regarding how to build the house in the past, he said, and he has continued to go on the property for more than five years.

"In terms of the market, it's probably the end of the summer before the
GOP gives redistricting green light

Associated Press

DES MOINES — Republicans said Tuesday that they’ve decided to accept a second set of prepared new legislative and congressional districts.

“Though there are some drawbacks to it, we’re going to move forward on it that way,” said Republican House Speaker Mel Reynolds, D-Des Moines.

The Republicans had some questions about the new maps. Republican Rep. Jon Nyland and Jim Nussle are tied together in a new eastern Iowa district, and the maps create a giant, 11-county zone for the District of Nebraska.

Republicans backing the new plans Tuesday said that Leach would move to Iowa City from Des Moines, to Iowa City to priornitize redistricting with Rep. Jim Nussle.

Associated Press

Leach, who is out of office, said that there was a strong likelihood that Leach would move from his home in Des Moines to Iowa City to priornitize redistricting.

Nussle, who has been in office for 15 years, said that he and Leach would continue to work closely on the process.

“This is not a Republican or a Democratic issue,” Nussle said. “It’s an issue that needs to be addressed by everyone who cares about fair representation.”

Maytag

The deal between the appliance giant and the local university has been welcomed by local officials. The acquisition of the Maytag appliances will help to boost the local economy and create new jobs.

The deal was announced by the local university and Maytag Corporation, a leading supplier of appliances and home furnishings. The acquisition is expected to create hundreds of new jobs and boost the local economy.

Behind a picture of Maytag

University President: "We are thrilled to welcome Maytag to the local community. This acquisition is a significant step forward for our university and the local economy."
Maytag snaps up Amana Appliances

The deal between the Applianceman is worth $325 million.

By Robert McBeth

DEER MOUNTAIN — Two Iowa-based appliance manufacturers are pairing forces.

Newton-based Maytag Corp. has announced that it is buying Amana Appliances for $325 million.

The acquisition from Good Earth Holding Co., a company owned by Amana's founders, is subject to regulatory approval. It is expected to close in the third quarter.

The two companies have a long history of working together, with Amana manufacturing refrigerators and Maytag producing washers and dryers.

The Amana brand will continue, and engineering and marketing are expected to remain largely unchanged.

Amana's leadership and executive team will continue, and the company will remain headquartered in Madison, Wisconsin.

North Dodge Athletic Club

Iowa City's Largest Premier Sports Facility

SUMMER SPECIAL

$135

Full Club Single membership

Inaugural price thru Aug. 31, 2001

2400 N. Dodge • Next to Country Inn

351-5683

Osco Drug

Join a Leader in the Retail Industry!

Many opportunities are available with Osco Drug, as we expand our Iowa store locations in Des Moines and Iowa City.

The following positions will be added to our team:

- Clerks
- Pharmacy Techs
- Cashiers
- Food Coordinators
- Supermarket, Franchise, and Corporate Trainers

The full-time, entry-level positions for Osco Drug will be filled at our Des Moines and Iowa City locations.

We are seeking candidates with a positive attitude and a commitment to customer service.

Osco Drug — Iowa City

200 S. Clinton Street

Iowa City, Iowa 52240

Osco Drug — Des Moines

204 S. Clinton Street

Des Moines, Iowa 50309

For more information, please contact Mike Gilbar at 319-379-5679.

It’s BROTHERS

Bar & Grill

351-5909

1542 Center Street, Iowa City, IA 52240

Midwest’s Best Bar and Entertainment Center

THURSDAY WEDNESDAY THURSDAY WEDNESDAY

SUBS & PASTRIES

PASTRIES

PASTRIES

PASTRIES

PASTRIES

PASTRIES

$1 Domestic Pints + $1 Well Drinks + $2 Long Islands

“Always the best Specials, Always the Most Fun!”
TREADING WATER ON THE CHILD ABUSE ISSUE

Child-protection rules need update

In September 2000, Gov. Tom Vilsack and the Department of Human Services Director Jessie Rasmussen announced a new child-protection policy, eight months after a 7-year-old girl was found in Spirit Lake, Iowa. Shelby Dane was beaten to death in her home. What is particularly alarming about this case is that human services had investigated the home dozens of times before her body was discovered. The governor said that the old policy to look for evidence of abuse was flawed. When abuse was suspected, a state social worker was supposed to make an on-the-spot visit to the home, but because of the number of cases, there were no more delays as the child was in danger. There were no rules for when abuse was suspected. The governor, Bailie Armstrong, the head of human services Bureau of Protective Services, and Rasmussen said the policy really hasn’t changed. The announcement last fall was made to iterate existing policy, not new. Instead, the removal process begins

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Keep work-study alive

Where have my good books? The front cover of my 1987 copy of版的 of this state’s lack of leadership and accountability is the fund in contributing to the “brain drain” that is taking place when the governor’s promised and ignored decision to eliminate the program. For those unfamiliar with the work-study program, it is a financial-aid program that makes education within the state more available to many students. It is the counterpart to a student loan program. It enables students with the ability to pay for their education and provide for their own needs. If they loans to attend an institution of higher learning in the state, they are given a monthly stipend. Work-study was one way of making the state accessible

Work-study saved the burden of considerable debt for many students. It was both a program that allowed students to work while they were going to school and it was an opportunity to reinforce their work ethic. You will be missed, as we are now

TREASON

On the SPOT

Summer classes: great opportunity or a necessary evil?

I’m a pack-rat. That’s the first thing you have to know. Second thing: I’m a bit of a snob. Not in the “I’m no more than a” sense, but in the “I’m a mere peon in a frightening bourgeois” sense. I haven’t passed for four years, but I have never been in a place where I didn’t have to fight my way through books, and the hardwood floors and natural light keep my optimism in the perfectly high level. Add to those things up: she keeps everything, she has moved in four years, and that’s what people kindly call untidy. But where does she keep all her stuff? Why, the floor of course. What better to do with all the first-rate research? From Defenders of Wildlife, World Wildlife Fund, etc., than toss them on the floor by the door? I have no idea how she does it, but I have no need to wonder. When I was an undergraduate, I went through a brief mental spell because my roommate Rhonda “My dirty clothes staying from the door in this window” Machine was on such deep sleep. Rhonda had a kind

Cleaning the room, cleansing the soul

"Eliminating clutter clears a path to the soul by creating a serene place in which to foster your dreams and clans." —Penelope Leach

I’m not saying that I'm a pack-rat. That’s the first thing you have to know. Second thing: I’m a bit of a snob. Not in the “I’m no more than a” sense, but in the “I’m a mere peon in a frightening bourgeois” sense. I haven’t passed for four years, but I have never been in a place where I didn’t have to fight my way through books, and the hardwood floors and natural light keep my optimism in the perfectly high level. Add to those things up: she keeps everything, she has moved in four years, and that’s what people kindly call untidy. But where does she keep all her stuff? Why, the floor of course. What better to do with all the first-rate research? From Defenders of Wildlife, World Wildlife Fund, etc., than toss them on the floor by the door? I have no idea how she does it, but I have no need to wonder. When I was an undergraduate, I went through a brief mental spell because my roommate Rhonda “My dirty clothes staying from the door in this window” Machine was on such deep sleep. Rhonda had a kind

On the SPOT

Summer classes: great opportunity or a necessary evil?

I’m a pack-rat. That’s the first thing you have to know. Second thing: I’m a bit of a snob. Not in the “I’m no more than a” sense, but in the “I’m a mere peon in a frightening bourgeois” sense. I haven’t passed for four years, but I have never been in a place where I didn’t have to fight my way through books, and the hardwood floors and natural light keep my optimism in the perfectly high level. Add to those things up: she keeps everything, she has moved in four years, and that’s what people kindly call untidy. But where does she keep all her stuff? Why, the floor of course. What better to do with all the first-rate research? From Defenders of Wildlife, World Wildlife Fund, etc., than toss them on the floor by the door? I have no idea how she does it, but I have no need to wonder. When I was an undergraduate, I went through a brief mental spell because my roommate Rhonda “My dirty clothes staying from the door in this window” Machine was on such deep sleep. Rhonda had a kind

Cleaning the room, cleansing the soul

"Eliminating clutter clears a path to the soul by creating a serene place in which to foster your dreams and clans." —Penelope Leach

I’m not saying that I'm a pack-rat. That’s the first thing you have to know. Second thing: I’m a bit of a snob. Not in the “I’m no more than a” sense, but in the “I’m a mere peon in a frightening bourgeois” sense. I haven’t passed for four years, but I have never been in a place where I didn’t have to fight my way through books, and the hardwood floors and natural light keep my optimism in the perfectly high level. Add to those things up: she keeps everything, she has moved in four years, and that’s what people kindly call untidy. But where does she keep all her stuff? Why, the floor of course. What better to do with all the first-rate research? From Defenders of Wildlife, World Wildlife Fund, etc., than toss them on the floor by the door? I have no idea how she does it, but I have no need to wonder. When I was an undergraduate, I went through a brief mental spell because my roommate Rhonda “My dirty clothes staying from the door in this window” Machine was on such deep sleep. Rhonda had a kind

On the SPOT

Summer classes: great opportunity or a necessary evil?

I’m a pack-rat. That’s the first thing you have to know. Second thing: I’m a bit of a snob. Not in the “I’m no more than a” sense, but in the “I’m a mere peon in a frightening bourgeois” sense. I haven’t passed for four years, but I have never been in a place where I didn’t have to fight my way through books, and the hardwood floors and natural light keep my optimism in the perfectly high level. Add to those things up: she keeps everything, she has moved in four years, and that’s what people kindly call untidy. But where does she keep all her stuff? Why, the floor of course. What better to do with all the first-rate research? From Defenders of Wildlife, World Wildlife Fund, etc., than toss them on the floor by the door? I have no idea how she does it, but I have no need to wonder. When I was an undergraduate, I went through a brief mental spell because my roommate Rhonda “My dirty clothes staying from the door in this window” Machine was on such deep sleep. Rhonda had a kind
Amnesiac recalls Kid A

Radiohead's newest return seems like a life among the ash cloud.

By Daniel Weinrib

Radiohead does not make easy separations. Or divisions from that story.

The British all-star '90s rock group's latest offering, Amnesiac, is more than a series of songs, and it is more than an album. It's the story of how, as the band and the world move on, the remains of the previous era begin with the CD booklet and the CD sleeves, and then run through drawings, photographs, and lyrics. Like the booklet, the sequencing of songs able to capture the band's first track, "Fake Plastic Trees" is supported by a thumping bass over which lead singer Thom Yorke hams his low, thin whine. Loops, break-beds and bells save the track from a simple pop number like "Ashes in the Dust," and the CD moves into more delicate territory with "Fake Plastic Trees" and "Becoming In#[#"] The songs tight, succinctly build upon the tension that feels heavy in the emotional breaks, and it is just as the sense of weariness and exhaustion at the pristine essence of an empty day.

The CD becomes darker and denser from there, being particularly reduced by the trumpet, drum, and string arrangements of "Life in a Glasshouse." Radiohead doesn't employ these elements, nor do they tend to them. In Yorkie's hands, the "Glasshouse" mimicry of "Ashes in the Dust" is supported by a thumping bass over which lead singer Thom Yorke hams his low, thin whine. Loops, break-beds and bells save the track from a simple pop number like "Ashes in the Dust," and the CD moves into more delicate territory with "Fake Plastic Trees" and "Becoming In#". The songs tight, succinctly build upon the tension that feels heavy in the emotional breaks, and it is just as the sense of weariness and exhaustion at the pristine essence of an empty day.

The CD becomes darker and denser from there, being particularly reduced by the trumpet, drum, and string arrangements of "Life in a Glasshouse." Radiohead doesn't employ these elements, nor do they tend to them. In Yorkie's hands, the "Glasshouse" mimicry of "Ashes in the Dust" is supported by a thumping bass over which lead singer Thom Yorke hams his low, thin whine. Loops, break-beds and bells save the track from a simple pop number like "Ashes in the Dust," and the CD moves into more delicate territory with "Fake Plastic Trees" and "Becoming In#". The songs tight, succinctly build upon the tension that feels heavy in the emotional breaks, and it is just as the sense of weariness and exhaustion at the pristine essence of an empty day.

The CD becomes darker and denser from there, being particularly reduced by the trumpet, drum, and string arrangements of "Life in a Glasshouse." Radiohead doesn't employ these elements, nor do they tend to them. In Yorkie's hands, the "Glasshouse" mimicry of "Ashes in the Dust" is supported by a thumping bass over which lead singer Thom Yorke hams his low, thin whine. Loops, break-beds and bells save the track from a simple pop number like "Ashes in the Dust," and the CD moves into more delicate territory with "Fake Plastic Trees" and "Becoming In#". The songs tight, succinctly build upon the tension that feels heavy in the emotional breaks, and it is just as the sense of weariness and exhaustion at the pristine essence of an empty day.
Iowa's gubernatorial race has been a political tug of war between a moderate Republican and an independent candidate.

Dan Gable, a former wrestler and current coach at the University of Iowa, has been a prominent figure in Iowa politics.

The state's top elected official is not yet known, as Republicans are divided on the issue. The Democratic Party has nominated an independent candidate, while the Republicans have nominated Dan Gable.

Although there were initial concerns that the political landscape was being shaped by outside forces, the Iowa Legislature has been able to remain relatively unaffected.

Abandoned frat may become apartment complex

A former frat house in Iowa City may be transformed into a complex of apartments for the homeless.

The project is being led by a non-profit organization that specializes in developing affordable housing for low-income families.

The location of the building is ideal, as it is near the university campus and public transportation routes.

The project will be funded through a combination of government grants and private donations.

The complex will provide much-needed housing for those who are homeless or at risk of becoming homeless.

Taco Bell wants to service UI dorms

Taco Bell is interested in serving the University of Iowa dormitories.

The fast-food chain has expressed interest in providing convenient access to food for students.

The university is currently evaluating the proposal, and a decision will be made in the near future.

The move would be a boon for students, who often struggle to find healthy and affordable meal options.

The proposed location would be near the campus center, making it easily accessible for students.

A Blockbuster of a deal

Deigate from the University of Iowa and the Iowa City Public Library announce the creation of a Blockbuster-like store on the campus.

The new store will be located in a former Blockbuster location and will offer a wide selection of movies and books.

The move is expected to boost engagement with the university community.

The store will provide a space for students and faculty to gather, socialize, and enjoy the arts.

The location is ideal, as it is near the heart of the campus and easily accessible for students.
SPORTS

Twins make MAuer No. 1 baseball pick

The catcher from Minnesota has committed to playing football at Florida State.

By Dennis Wasczak Jr.

NEW YORK — The Minnesota Twins probably had their biggest fan as a major player when they took Joe Mauer with the first overall pick in the major league draft.

"It is a great day for the Twins, our fans, Joe and his family," Minnesota manager Tom Kelly said.

Twins general manager Dave Dombrowski (Chicago White Sox, 1987) and David Clarke (Texas, 1973) as the only players to be chosen by their home-state teams with the No. 1 pick.

"We've had a chance to follow Joe the past three or four years as a manager," Kelly said. "I think his makeup and skill level. This is a good opportunity to win a Game 6, reaching the series 3–1, lost Game 7. "I'm not talking about playing the games. Just think of it as a new season, a new team, and we will be going with Joe on the team for the next two years."

"It's a great opportunity," Kelly said. "Joe is a great player who brings a lot to the game. We are going to do it for Joe."
Back-to-back singles lead Braves past Expos

Who's HOE

Quote of the day...

You have to look at the record. When you look at our record, it's second to none. I wouldn't say we have to give the Giants at least an "A." — Jerry Manuel, Expos hitting coach, on the performance of the team under owner Pat Gillick.

Who's NOT

— The Texas Rangers opened with a 10-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night.

Capriati defeats Williams in quarterfinals

The four-handled tennis star Perry was in fine form as she defeated her opponent in straight sets.

Quote of the day...

"Capriati is a great player," said the retired Williams. "But she's not as strong as I am."

Who's NOT

"Williams is a better player than Capriati," said Perry. "But she's not as consistent as I am."

Cubs 12, Cardinals 6

The Cub starter pitched a complete game, striking out 13 batters, and a trio of relievers held the Cardinals to one run in the ninth inning.

Quote of the day...

"I'm really happy to win," said the pitcher. "But I really had to work for it this time."

Who's NOT

"I'm really disappointed," said the manager. "But I really had to work for it this time."
FLORIDA PANTHERS SELL OUT 1999-2000 SEASON-TICKETS

The Florida Panthers have had a record $170 million in ticket sales for this season, one of the best in the National Hockey League. The Panthers have sold out more than 30 dates this season, setting records for attendance and revenue.

The Panthers have struggled to compete with the Boston Bruins, who have won all six of their recent games. The Panthers have won only two games in their last five, but they have scored 17 goals in their last three games, including a 6-4 victory over the Bruins.

The Panthers have had a difficult season, with several key players injured, including center Vincent Damphousse, who has missed 20 games with a torn hamstring. The team also lost captain Nick Kypreos to a broken hand earlier this season.

The Panthers are currently fifth in the Atlantic Division, but they still have a shot at making the playoffs. They need to win two of their remaining three games to have a chance at making the playoffs. The Panthers will face the New York Islanders at home on Saturday, followed by games against the New York Rangers and the New Jersey Devils.

The Panthers have had a strong season despite the injuries and setbacks. They have scored 174 goals this season, which is the second-highest total in the NHL. They have also allowed 170 goals, which is the second-lowest total in the league.

The Panthers have a chance to make the playoffs with two wins in their remaining three games. They need to play well at home and on the road to have a chance at making the playoffs. The Panthers have a tough schedule ahead, with games against the Islanders, Rangers, and Devils, but they have a chance to make the playoffs with some strong performances.

The Panthers have had a difficult season, but they have shown resilience and determination. They have a chance to make the playoffs with some strong performances in their remaining games. The Panthers will face the Islanders at home on Saturday, followed by games against the Rangers and Devils. The Panthers need to win two of their remaining three games to have a chance at making the playoffs.
Kirkwood Community College is seeking adjunct instructors to teach courses beginning August 22, 2001 at the Cedar Rapids campus. A bachelor's degree in the teaching field is required for all positions. Native speakers of Chinese who have foreign degrees will also be considered for the Chinese position.

Contact Rhonda Kellcb at (319) 398-4913 or rkelcb@kcc.cc.ia.us. AAIEEO Employer.
Alford's raise a bit early

New, I could be wrong, but some experts say a given $800,000 raise is twice as good as any other achievement of that sort, now that Alford's impact on the basketball team is significant. Lisa Bluder led Iowa to second in the Midwest Regional last March, a tournament that always drew high-paid coaches, and to a spot in the NCAA Tournament. The Athletics Department's budget for women's athletics is $350,000, and that amount will come from the university's general fund. But at a guy worth$1.6 million, it's easier to give a raise after a conference game.

L.A. confident heading into the finals

Bill that will be read late

"I'm not sure how to read it," said one of the players. "I don't think the amount is appropriate." I understand that much of the money that is experts say Alford's contract is actually coming from the university. Only $400,000 of Alford's yearly base salary is coming out of the Athletics Department's budget, and that amount is spread between salaries and television deals. But at a guy worth$1.6 million, it's easier to give a raise after a conference game."

Women's summer's Tony to start in I.C.

Game Time will give women the opportunity to compete in summer along with men.

L.A. confident heading into the finals

"I'm not sure how to read it," said one of the players. "I don't think the amount is appropriate." I understand that much of the money that is experts say Alford's contract is actually coming from the university. Only $400,000 of Alford's yearly base salary is coming out of the Athletics Department's budget, and that amount is spread between salaries and television deals. But at a guy worth$1.6 million, it's easier to give a raise after a conference game."

L.A. confident heading into the finals

"I'm not sure how to read it," said one of the players. "I don't think the amount is appropriate." I understand that much of the money that is experts say Alford's contract is actually coming from the university. Only $400,000 of Alford's yearly base salary is coming out of the Athletics Department's budget, and that amount is spread between salaries and television deals. But at a guy worth$1.6 million, it's easier to give a raise after a conference game."