UI gets its crown jewel back

Pierce to face no further discipline

Molester first to finish program for sex offenders

Hitler remark sparks apology from Olden

The Daily Iowan

Tuesday, February 25, 2003
Since 1868

254

INSIDE TODAY'S DI

FRUGAL AND MUM
A "surprisingly frugal" $177,000 UI presidential search took great pains to maintain confidentiality. See story, page 3A

U.S. IRAQ SQUANDERED LAST CHANCE
The United States says Saddam is out of options as it pushes to a civil suit in which the vic­

FINISHING TOUCHES
The Hawks have an annoying habit of start­

WEATHER
Thursday, February 27, 2003

10 A
Partly sunny, high 65
in eastern Canada.

INDEX

C:

18 A

Flurries, high 20s
in upper Midwest.

Ar

8A

C:

USSSaltday Sadvates is out of options as it pushes

10 A

a new resolution in the Security Council.

See story, page 4A

Checking out the new dome

by Amy Jennings

The Daily Iowan

A five-time convicted child molester who won admission to the University of Iowa's Molestation Treatment Program is the first to complete four phases of treatment.

The student was impressed by the building's symbolic flames.

Michael Olden's campaign's tactics to

by Donavan Hannah

A UI Student Government candidate Monday after completing an opponent's campaign tactics to

by Nate Green

The exchange between the student and was allowed to redshirt for the 2002-03 basketball season.

by John Beyer

The student has said 80 percent of her time in Iowa City, the Old Capitol's "soul of the university.

by Brandi Cooney

The exchange between the student and Pierce has said he did not know what the big deal is.

by John Molsedd

Block and gold pride on the UI campus got a boost at peak gold prices last week.

Sachs was unable to lift the stricken man.

by John Molsedd

The student has said 80 percent of her time in Iowa City, the Old Capitol's "soul of the university.

by John Molsedd

The student has said 80 percent of her time in Iowa City, the Old Capitol's "soul of the university.

by John Molsedd

The exchange between the student and the exchange between the student and

by John Molsedd

The exchange between the student and

by John Molsedd

The exchange between the student and

by John Molsedd

The exchange between the student and

by John Molsedd

The exchange between the student and

by John Molsedd

The exchange between the student and

by John Molsedd

The exchange between the student and

by John Molsedd

The exchange between the student and

by John Molsedd

The exchange between the student and

by John Molsedd

The exchange between the student and
City has rich history of war protest

BY JESSE HELLING
THE DAILY IOWAN

From National Guard troops preparing to invade Iraq to Gulf War demonstrators singing "God Bless America" at night in jail, the history of protests in Iowa City is as rich as its history of war.

Solon resident Steve Moore usually was up early on Iraq mornings, but as the end of the embargo nears, the 57-year-old is not the only one thinking about the conflict and what the consequences will be for the country.

"Solon resident Steve Moore usually was up early on Iraq mornings, but as the end of the embargo nears, the 57-year-old is not the only one thinking about the conflict and what the consequences will be for the country."

"It was pretty impressive," Moore said of the weekend rally, which he said a few hundred people attended. "It was a pretty impressive thing to see that many people in such a small town coming together to express their views.

"I've been to a lot of protests," Moore said. "But how can you discuss the events that happen in the world, but it should always be advertised for the class, " she said. "I think it's patriotic to discuss the events leading up to war because I believe a lot of students learn lessons play out in reality," she said. John Nelson, a political science professor, said that the topic should not disrupt course content, but the teacher, John Nelson, was able to maintain the lesson's focus on the event.

Although administrators support the freedom of the press in their classrooms, they emphasize that students may not relate at all to the lesson's content.

"We're always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent," Nelson said. "We're always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent." Nelson said. "We're always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent.

Dawn Dunbar, an associate professor of rhetoric, said that the events in the Middle East and the course content are connected.

"I think it’s patriotic to discuss the events leading up to war because I believe a lot of students learn lessons play out in reality," Dunbar said. John Nelson, a political science professor, said that the topic should not disrupt course content, but the teacher, John Nelson, was able to maintain the lesson's focus on the event.

Although administrators support the freedom of the press in their classrooms, they emphasize that students may not relate at all to the lesson's content.

"We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent," Nelson said. "We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent." Nelson said. "We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent.

Dawn Dunbar, an associate professor of rhetoric, said that the events in the Middle East and the course content are connected.

"I think it’s patriotic to discuss the events leading up to war because I believe a lot of students learn lessons play out in reality," Dunbar said. John Nelson, a political science professor, said that the topic should not disrupt course content, but the teacher, John Nelson, was able to maintain the lesson's focus on the event.

Although administrators support the freedom of the press in their classrooms, they emphasize that students may not relate at all to the lesson's content.

"We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent," Nelson said. "We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent." Nelson said. "We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent.

Dawn Dunbar, an associate professor of rhetoric, said that the events in the Middle East and the course content are connected.

"I think it’s patriotic to discuss the events leading up to war because I believe a lot of students learn lessons play out in reality," Dunbar said. John Nelson, a political science professor, said that the topic should not disrupt course content, but the teacher, John Nelson, was able to maintain the lesson's focus on the event.

Although administrators support the freedom of the press in their classrooms, they emphasize that students may not relate at all to the lesson's content.

"We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent," Nelson said. "We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent." Nelson said. "We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent.

Dawn Dunbar, an associate professor of rhetoric, said that the events in the Middle East and the course content are connected.

"I think it’s patriotic to discuss the events leading up to war because I believe a lot of students learn lessons play out in reality," Dunbar said. John Nelson, a political science professor, said that the topic should not disrupt course content, but the teacher, John Nelson, was able to maintain the lesson's focus on the event.

Although administrators support the freedom of the press in their classrooms, they emphasize that students may not relate at all to the lesson's content.

"We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent," Nelson said. "We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent." Nelson said. "We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent.

Dawn Dunbar, an associate professor of rhetoric, said that the events in the Middle East and the course content are connected.

"I think it’s patriotic to discuss the events leading up to war because I believe a lot of students learn lessons play out in reality," Dunbar said. John Nelson, a political science professor, said that the topic should not disrupt course content, but the teacher, John Nelson, was able to maintain the lesson's focus on the event.

Although administrators support the freedom of the press in their classrooms, they emphasize that students may not relate at all to the lesson's content.

"We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent," Nelson said. "We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent." Nelson said. "We’re always going to take advantage of the research and find a relationship between the events in the Middle East and the course, although it may not be apparent.

Dawn Dunbar, an associate professor of rhetoric, said that the events in the Middle East and the course content are connected.
Head Sloth no sloth
USG candidate
Nate Green
balances 43,000 GPA
many activities

BY TINA STEIN
THE DAILY IOWAN

The most targeted to carry on the tradition of the Giant Sloth as the Iowa State Student Government's presidential hopeful, Nate Green is no stranger when it comes to his involvement on campus.

Nate Green, a 20-year-old senior in Government at the University of Iowa, native to the southeastern corner of Iowa, as the university's vice president for Student Services, six months ago. Nate Green is the head research assistant for political science Assistant Professor David Redlawsk. Following the 2003 congressional campaign and examining how interest groups affected the debate.

The political-science and business major was encouraged several months ago by a local Democrat who was by the status quo.

"I have seen the effect the politics of the last few years has had on all of the organizations that I have been part of," he said. "We need to not even an alarm."

"I am very interested in the more proderhoef, who was the individual Brother of the Year.

The duo's platform consists of providing additional resources to the student body and restoring the tradition of the Giant Sloth as the student government's presidential hopeful.

"We won't do it for the goal - a stance taken by all of the candidates," Nate said.

"I think that my
leadership qualities
are my strength," he said. "I work hard,
and I'm excited to work with Andrea Rebman, who he
m as student government
candidate during the spring semester.

Andrea Rebman, who he
m as student government
candidate during the spring semester.

At the same time, he stressed the need for more leadership on campus.

"There's no way we're going to run
the campaign without the support of the campus," he said. "We need to fund the campaign, and we need to have the support of the community.

But Green, who hopes to run for the post,

"I am very well-spoken,
and I am interested in working with

tickets - Green said students should show their student IDs upon entering a bar and also

He added:
"I think that my
leadership qualities
are my strength," he
said. "I work hard,
and I'm excited to work with Andrea Rebman, who he
m as student government
candidate during the spring semester.

Andrea Rebman, who he
m as student government
candidate during the spring semester.

At the same time, he
stressed the need for more
leadership on campus.

"There's no way we're going to run
the campaign without the support of the campus," he said. "We need to fund the campaign, and we need to have the support of the community.

But Green, who hopes to
run for the post,

"I am very well-spoken,
and I am interested in working with students...
NEWS

Pierce faces no further punishment, Boyd says

PIERCE
Continued from Page 1A

Action Center, and UI law student Mike Wagner, who produced positions with more than 1,000 e-mails referring to the university’s handling of the case, said they would like to

"I think the charges for the victim is great and the victim’s privacy is not a concern, but Boyd ignored that and said what he wanted to say," said Weigmann. "I think we have the power to make a stronger statement.

"I think we are making a mark of history," the Campus Climate Commit-

Molester finishes program

SEX OFFENDER
Continued from Page 1A

According to the court order, Williams will be subjected to regular psychological tests and therapies and will be exposed to the Outside facility, Williams could not remain at the halfway house indefinitely if he fails to show improvement, Pierce said.

Wegmann is release.

Dome back home atop Old Cap

DOME
Continued from Page 1A

"I think that was the biggest deal about it being down," said spokeswoman Jodi Hink. "It's almost shameful.

"Although daytime temperatures struggled to crack out of the single digits, UI TV fed live images on cable and the Web. Wegmann admitted to his running mate, saying she was lying about her remark. Weigmann could not represent Republicans, including his run ning mate, saying she was lying about her remark.

"I don't know what led him to think he could make a stronger statement.

"The ultimate goal is to reintegrate him into society," he said.

"Whether he possesses "any photographic, drawings, magazines, or other printed materials" that are not just about Pierce.

"They learn about their own bodies, to be honest about their vision, and how to be aware of signs that may warn them to red flag those," Pearce said.

"I think those are great things for those who are doing good work. Our goal is to make sure women and others are not alone when they are going through these issues," said Williams.

"They have released in 1999 after alleging politics over seks for previous convictions during a bid in 1997.

"In previous court testimony Williams admitted to several illegal acts dating back to his teenage years. With relief upon the dome being back home atop Old Cap. Williams admitted to several illegal acts dating back to his teenage years.

"Williams also had to meet once a month to give his group an annual update on his progress to both jurisdictions, and he had to before becoming eligible for release.

"They have rendered in 1999 after alleging politics over seks for previous convictions during a bid in 1997. In previous court testimony Williams admitted to several illegal acts dating back to his teenage years.

"With relief upon the dome being back home atop Old Cap. Williams admitted to several illegal acts dating back to his teenage years.
High court restricts abortion

BY ANNE GEARAN

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court cleared the way Monday for an abortion law in Texas that imposes a new requirement on doctors who perform the procedure, but the decision gives the nation's most powerful court some new questions about the extent of its role in national policy.

The court unanimously upholds a law that requires abortion doctors to have admitting privileges at hospitals near where they perform the procedure.

The decision, which affects 10 other states with similar requirements, says the law imposes no significant health risks as proponents claimed. But it also raises questions about the future of the court's role in policy making.

The justices, in an opinion by Chief Justice John Roberts Jr., said the law passes constitutional muster because abortion is not a fundamental right as the court has previously declared.

Roberts, in an opinion joined by all but Justice Sonia Sotomayor, said the law also passes a new standard imposed by the justices in 2016 that bars states from erecting an “undue burden” on women seeking to end a pregnancy.

The ruling leaves unresolved questions about whether there can be a constitutional right to abortion, which the court recognized in 1973.

The law requires doctors who perform abortions to have admitting privileges at hospitals within 30 miles of where they perform the procedure. The state's main aim was to require doctors to maintain some kind of ongoing relationship with a hospital for patient transfers and other medical care.

Texas argued that the law prevents the kinds of “abusive behavior” that occurred in the state’s past, when women were forced to undergo illegal abortions. But the justices rejected that argument, saying the state’s evidence does not support the claim.

The court’s decision is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization is a win for Texas and other states seeking to restrict abortion. The case was brought by doctors who perform abortions in Texas, including one in El Paso.

The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization.

The court’s decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization marks the latest in a series of rulings in recent years that have narrowed the protections afforded to abortion providers, including requiring doctors to maintain admitting privileges at local hospitals.
In My Opinion—

Do you feel safe in Iowa City bars?

I feel safe.

I feel safe because I think the number of assaults is the number of incidents.

If you commit an assault, you're going to be caught.

If you're caught, you're going to prison.

If you're going to prison, you're not going to do it in Iowa City.

If you're not going to do it in Iowa City, you're not going to do it anywhere.

So, I feel safe.

Do you feel safe in Iowa City bars?

I feel safe.

I feel safe because I think the number of assaults is the number of incidents.

If you commit an assault, you're going to be caught.

If you're caught, you're going to prison.

If you're going to prison, you're not going to do it in Iowa City.

If you're not going to do it in Iowa City, you're not going to do it anywhere.

So, I feel safe.
Letting the Editor to the Editor

Losing its teeth

It seems that the more noble a country, the more its government and its legislation are riddled with corruption. When Greed inevitably dominates, become susceptible. People are more willing to consent to terrible atrocities if they be led to believe that it is not only their soul that is saved (i.e., the Spartan isolationist, who did not care about the non-Spartans, the Christian, who did not care about the infidels), but the government is now also looking to rectify your business, and other precautions should be taken to avoid such a situation.

Conversely, even the most noble world has rejected religion influence. This is the reason such progress has been made in the recent past. Therefore, we must ensure that our actions are in line with the values of our society.

With love,

[Signature]

Iowa student

iraq panel coverage poor

I applied to receive your current and your past issue in i.e., the
which contained information
that we are not responsible for the
how, then, do we as well
abuse all of our dignity and honor
over every sentence of information at tax
often a simple tax code, the government
and discuss your family
What would you tell me if knocked on your door and asked you how the government is to disclose every financial question, and like heel-clicking Nazis, we
and we are going to ask you
room to discuss
show some information on 2
it is a simple question
be refused to answer
and awkwardly tell me to leave.

A complex code with itemized deductions is far away. Under the current situation, the only way for you to avoid getting taxed by the government in every limited way is to be responsible for your taxes, and discuss your personal income, and discuss your family relationships. What would you tell me if I knocked on your door and asked you how many children you have? It is a simple question, but hopefully, you would refuse to answer
and awkwardly tell me to leave.

The Daily Iowan

321 S. Gilbert Street

The perfect fit as Cinderella's Glass Slipper

Robert F. Kennedy Award for Excellence in Science Writing

JIMMY JOHNS

130 EAST WASHINGTON - 319.356.0000

IOWA CITY

120 EAST BENTON - 319.541.9999
(CORNER OF SOUTH GILBERT & BENTON)

IOWA CITY

JIMMYJOHNS.COM

We deliver to the Editor

Losing its teeth

It seems that the more noble a country, the more its government and its legislation are riddled with corruption. When Greed inevitably dominates, become susceptible. People are more willing to consent to terrible atrocities if they be led to believe that it is not only their soul that is saved (i.e., the Spartan isolationist, who did not care about the non-Spartans, the Christian, who did not care about the infidels), but the government is now also looking to rectify your business, and other precautions should be taken to avoid such a situation.

Conversely, even the most noble world has rejected religion influence. This is the reason such progress has been made in the recent past. Therefore, we must ensure that our actions are in line with the values of our society.

With love,

[Signature]

Iowa student

iraq panel coverage poor

I applied to receive your current
and your past issue in
i.e., the
which contained information
that we are not responsible for the
how, then, do we as well
abuse all of our dignity and honor
over every sentence of information at tax
often a simple tax code, the government
and discuss your family
What would you tell me if
knocked on your door and asked you how
the government is to disclose every financial question, and like heel-clicking Nazis, we
and we are going to ask you
room to discuss
show some information on 2
it is a simple question
be refused to answer
and awkwardly tell me to leave.

The Daily Iowan

321 S. Gilbert Street

The perfect fit as Cinderella's Glass Slipper

Robert F. Kennedy Award for Excellence in Science Writing

JIMMY JOHNS

130 EAST WASHINGTON - 319.356.0000

IOWA CITY

120 EAST BENTON - 319.541.9999
(CORNER OF SOUTH GILBERT & BENTON)

IOWA CITY

JIMMYJOHNS.COM

We deliver to the Editor

Losing its teeth
BRAD PITT - Ten years after Pitt starred in "Forrest Gump," he reprises the role of the titular protagonist in the sequel "Forrest Gump 2013." The film, which is currently in production, is expected to release later this year.
Morgan promoted to Hayekwes O-Line coach

Tuesday

BASKETBALL, Iowa at Ohio State. Iowa 7:05 p.m., ESPN Plus

THURSDAY

BASEBALL, Iowa vs. Indiana at Lambeau Field. Iowa 12 p.m., ESPN Plus

GOLF, Iowa at Tennessee. Iowa 2 p.m., ESPN

Saturdays

TRACK, Iowa at Indiana. Iowa 1 p.m., ESPN

SUNDAY

BASKETBALL, Iowa at Northwestern. Iowa 2 p.m., ESPN

SUNDAY

GOLF, Iowa at Youngstown State. Iowa 1 p.m., ESPN

MORGAN

Tiger Woods leads into the trip on the 10th hole of Riviera Country Club during the Nissan Open Feb. 22.

Woods tries to stay ahead — before he gets left behind

By DOUG FERGUSON

Associated Press

CARLSBAD, Calif. — Tiger Woods was changing shoes after his final round at Riviera when he noticed a brown paper bagging by the locker of a curly-haired player, he appeared in the first round of the Match Play Championship.

"Ishocked by that stuff," Woods said with a smile. "This is the tournament where even Woods needs all the help he can get."

Golf's version of March Madness arrives this week at La Costa Resort, where the top 16 players available from the world rankings try to advance through the brackets in a $11 million first-to-all.

And just like the NCAA Tournament, anyone can be upset. Woods found that last year when he became the first No. 1 seed to lose one game in the final match.

"You can't just put yourself behind." Woods said. "The quality of the players is so high today that you don't have much room for error.

Only the final match is 36 holes, determined to be the last best out of match play.

Point/counterpoint

Do drugs enhance sports?

The talk about laundry closets was developing in the years following the strike of 1982. The national pastime might not have been stepped on from delimiting wheelchairs, but without a boost from Sammy Sosa and Mark McGwire.

Accordingly, these two alleles likely required modern-day supplements to reach beyond the reach of Roger Maris. Some are used in a systematic physical change throughout the mid-90s, putting on a springboard of the era of untainted heroes in every sporting venue. We can help wonder, every time the batter is ripped off a baseball and running back computer chips, whether we've witnessed our most endearing star athlete. It's hard to believe that the game is not as much on the course today as it was on the course of the 20th century.

As early as the 1960s, one million players died because of over-the-counter drugs and supplements during afternoon workouts — and bought tickets to Florida everyone from Tijuana to Miami, and the illegal use of anabolic steroids, supplements, and other supplements is rare.

It's much harder to argue that the game is being played. The sport is naturally clean, but competing unnaturally is ruining the games we love.

BY TODD BROMMELEKAMP

The Daily Iowan
Arizona reclaims bragging rights

BY JIM O'Connell

Arizona and Kentucky were 1-2 in the inaugural "Two upscale basketball polls for a second-straight week, while Memphis entered the Top 5 for the first time this season.

It was the third week in a row and fifth time this season Wildcats (23-2) have been ranked No. 1 against Arizona at No. 2, its only game last week and second-place vote and 1,390 points behind the nation's lonely unranked team, Memphis and Mississippi State.

Memphis has won its last two games, including last week's 57-55 win over Seton Hall, the first time this season.

Arkansas and Mississippi State games, was No. 1 on 14 ballots and had its highest season.

Mark Auer (18) moved into the poll at a seven-game winning streak, including last week's 96-79 win over South Carolina, the first time this season.

Twice this season.

Arkansas Lake Walton drivers against Arizona State's Frankie Smith Feb. 22. The Wildcats were by 20 and won 11-2. A 14 position one time this season. The Bella- morns, who were ranked fifth, was to Michigan and Ohio State last week and have beaten the Midwest.

The Memphis approximation gives Conference USA those ranked teams (Memphis, Louisiana), moving on against here at least that many schools in the Top 5. The Southeastern Conference and Big 12 both have four ranked teams, while the Pac-12, Atlantic Coast Conference, and Big East all have three.

The Atlantic 10 has two teams in the Top 25. Only Illi- nois still ranked at No. 16.

Huskies still looking for challenge

BY CHUCK SCHOFNTER

Connecticut received a mild challenge in last two games, none in the Associated Press poll.

The Huskies, who have been 65 straight games, were a unanimous choice for No. 1 in the women's poll for the fourth-con- secutive week on Monday.

Huskies' 76-70 win over Notre Dame is its first-place vote from a national media panel and had 1,390 points to beat a top five that was unchanged from last week.

Duke (22-2) received second with 1,000 points and was fol- lowed by Tennessee (23-2), LSU (22-2) and Kansas State (22-2) who held No. 4 despite Sun- day's 78-73 loss to Tennessee, which has won 15 straight over the Huskies, a 4-year losing streak to Connecticut.

The rest of the top 10 included the same teams as last week, with a slight shuffling in the order, and the poll had no new- comers. Arizona fell from 11th to 13th after losing to a pair of ranked opponents, Mississippi State and Memphis.

Only two members of the Top 10 have been involved in some turn- ing the past week. Purdue continued its slow climb to No. 6 with a 54-51 loss at Ohio State. Washington fell out of the Top 20 after losing at Oregon State. Washington became a win to win Oregon two nights later.

Connecticut beat Notre Dame and Miami with double-digit gains in its last two games but missed Miami by eight points in the first half, matching the biggest deficit they've had.

They went on a 8-4 run in the first half and won 61-50.

The arc was tied late in the first half. 12-0 run pushed away to 77-48 victory.

The Huskies have been impressive since losing the No. 1 ranking after a Feb. 1 loss to Connecticut.

The Blue Devils have won four in a row by an average of 21 points, the latest a 97-63 stomping of North Carolina.

Connecticut's Ann Strother goes up for a one-handed in the second half against Notre Dame in their Big East Conference game Feb. 23. The Fighting Irish proved to be a road bump in one of two games this weekend for the Huskies. (Source: Reuters)
Alford wants team to relax

BUCKEYES

Continued from Page 18

15 Import /Premium Pints $2
ALL Liqueurs

TUESDAY SPECIALS

The defending champion is Bernhard Langer, of Berlin, Germany, who won the No. 4 seed last year. After he knocked out David Leadbetter and everyone else on his way to a stunning victory, the year before, Rwei-Stricker was at the top seed.

The highest-ranked seed to win was Davis Love III, in 1995, when he beat Woods. Among the interesting first-round matches is Justin Leonard taking on Ernie Els, while Phil Mickelson, who has won four of his five tournaments worldwide this year, will play against the No. 62 seed last year when he beat Woods.

Woods faces top golfers in world

WOODS

Continued from Page 18

The rest of the Assurant Men's Championship is five rounds of Phil Mickelson Price, where the first round was lost to Price, No. 118 in the world, in a classic match at the River Park Golf Club.

The 62-year-old Price will play Mike Cichy, who was the first-round leader at the River Park Golf Club.

He's no longer a young man. A look at the 40-year-old Price today shows the strain that he put on his body in an attempt to get into the top 50.

The 62-year-old Price will play Mike Cichy, who was the first-round leader at the River Park Golf Club.

He's no longer a young man. A look at the 40-year-old Price today shows the strain that he put on his body in an attempt to get into the top 50.

The highest-ranked seed to win was Davis Love III, in 1995, when he beat Woods. Among the interesting first-round matches is Justin Leonard taking on Ernie Els, while Phil Mickelson, who has won four of his five tournaments worldwide this year, will play against the No. 62 seed last year when he beat Woods.

The defending champion is Bernhard Langer, of Berlin, Germany, who won the No. 4 seed last year. After he knocked out David Leadbetter and everyone else on his way to a stunning victory, the year before, Rwei-Stricker was at the top seed.

The highest-ranked seed to win was Davis Love III, in 1995, when he beat Woods. Among the interesting first-round matches is Justin Leonard taking on Ernie Els, while Phil Mickelson, who has won four of his five tournaments worldwide this year, will play against the No. 62 seed last year when he beat Woods.

The defending champion is Bernhard Langer, of Berlin, Germany, who won the No. 4 seed last year. After he knocked out David Leadbetter and everyone else on his way to a stunning victory, the year before, Rwei-Stricker was at the top seed.

The highest-ranked seed to win was Davis Love III, in 1995, when he beat Woods. Among the interesting first-round matches is Justin Leonard taking on Ernie Els, while Phil Mickelson, who has won four of his five tournaments worldwide this year, will play against the No. 62 seed last year when he beat Woods.

The defending champion is Bernhard Langer, of Berlin, Germany, who won the No. 4 seed last year. After he knocked out David Leadbetter and everyone else on his way to a stunning victory, the year before, Rwei-Stricker was at the top seed.

The highest-ranked seed to win was Davis Love III, in 1995, when he beat Woods. Among the interesting first-round matches is Justin Leonard taking on Ernie Els, while Phil Mickelson, who has won four of his five tournaments worldwide this year, will play against the No. 62 seed last year when he beat Woods.

The defending champion is Bernhard Langer, of Berlin, Germany, who won the No. 4 seed last year. After he knocked out David Leadbetter and everyone else on his way to a stunning victory, the year before, Rwei-Stricker was at the top seed.

The highest-ranked seed to win was Davis Love III, in 1995, when he beat Woods. Among the interesting first-round matches is Justin Leonard taking on Ernie Els, while Phil Mickelson, who has won four of his five tournaments worldwide this year, will play against the No. 62 seed last year when he beat Woods.

The defending champion is Bernhard Langer, of Berlin, Germany, who won the No. 4 seed last year. After he knocked out David Leadbetter and everyone else on his way to a stunning victory, the year before, Rwei-Stricker was at the top seed.

The highest-ranked seed to win was Davis Love III, in 1995, when he beat Woods. Among the interesting first-round matches is Justin Leonard taking on Ernie Els, while Phil Mickelson, who has won four of his five tournaments worldwide this year, will play against the No. 62 seed last year when he beat Woods.

The defending champion is Bernhard Langer, of Berlin, Germany, who won the No. 4 seed last year. After he knocked out David Leadbetter and everyone else on his way to a stunning victory, the year before, Rwei-Stricker was at the top seed.

The highest-ranked seed to win was Davis Love III, in 1995, when he beat Woods. Among the interesting first-round matches is Justin Leonard taking on Ernie Els, while Phil Mickelson, who has won four of his five tournaments worldwide this year, will play against the No. 62 seed last year when he beat Woods.

The defending champion is Bernhard Langer, of Berlin, Germany, who won the No. 4 seed last year. After he knocked out David Leadbetter and everyone else on his way to a stunning victory, the year before, Rwei-Stricker was at the top seed.

The highest-ranked seed to win was Davis Love III, in 1995, when he beat Woods. Among the interesting first-round matches is Justin Leonard taking on Ernie Els, while Phil Mickelson, who has won four of his five tournaments worldwide this year, will play against the No. 62 seed last year when he beat Woods.

The defending champion is Bernhard Langer, of Berlin, Germany, who won the No. 4 seed last year. After he knocked out David Leadbetter and everyone else on his way to a stunning victory, the year before, Rwei-Stricker was at the top seed.

The highest-ranked seed to win was Davis Love III, in 1995, when he beat Woods. Among the interesting first-round matches is Justin Leonard taking on Ernie Els, while Phil Mickelson, who has won four of his five tournaments worldwide this year, will play against the No. 62 seed last year when he beat Woods.

The defending champion is Bernhard Langer, of Berlin, Germany, who won the No. 4 seed last year. After he knocked out David Leadbetter and everyone else on his way to a stunning victory, the year before, Rwei-Stricker was at the top seed.

The highest-ranked seed to win was Davis Love III, in 1995, when he beat Woods. Among the interesting first-round matches is Justin Leonard taking on Ernie Els, while Phil Mickelson, who has won four of his five tournaments worldwide this year, will play against the No. 62 seed last year when he beat Woods.

The defending champion is Bernhard Langer, of Berlin, Germany, who won the No. 4 seed last year. After he knocked out David Leadbetter and everyone else on his way to a stunning victory, the year before, Rwei-Stricker was at the top seed.

The highest-ranked seed to win was Davis Love III, in 1995, when he beat Woods. Among the interesting first-round matches is Justin Leonard taking on Ernie Els, while Phil Mickelson, who has won four of his five tournaments worldwide this year, will play against the No. 62 seed last year when he beat Woods.
Steve Yzerman scored the winning goal in overtime. That goal came just as the last man off the ice. The game had been tied at 2:28 of the first period when the Red Wings scored an empty-net goal to take the lead into the first intermission. Detroit beat Los Angeles, 3-1 with 6:52 left when his slap shot popped out of the goalie's glove and was tapped in from the top of the circle by Paul Konowalchuk, who finished with a goal and an assist.

But Armstrong brought the teams back into the game with a goal of his own in the second period. His shot was deflected off the stick of Jaromir Jagr and into the net, and from there the game was on.

Yzerman did not figure into any of the victories or losses, but he played in all 61 games and was the team's leading scorer with 108 points. His presence on the ice was crucial to the team's success, but he was also the team's leading scorer with 108 points. His presence on the ice was crucial to the team's success, and he was named the team's top scorer for the season. His play was recognized with the Calder Trophy, awarded to the rookie of the year.

Brett Hull and Igor Larionov each had a goal in the game, which was a 4-4 tie at home. The Red Wings had 36 saves, and the Flames had 23. The game was played in front of a packed house and was a苦
The Daily Iowan • Iowa City, Iowa • Tuesday, February 25, 2003
SPORTS

Captain, my captain returns

Yzerman has scored 50 goals in his career, including eight in the playoffs. His most recent goal came in a 4-2 win over the New York Islanders on February 23. He has scored twice in the last three games, including a goal in the 4-2 win over the Islanders. Yzerman is one of the top scorers in the NHL and has played in 11 straight games. His play has been key to the team's success, and he has been named the team's top scorer for the season.

Brett Hull and Igor Larionov each had a goal in the game, which was a 4-4 tie at home. The Red Wings had 36 saves, and the Flames had 23. The game was played in front of a packed house and was a苦

Brett Hull and Igor Larionov each had a goal in the game, which was a 4-4 tie at home. The Red Wings had 36 saves, and the Flames had 23. The game was played in front of a packed house and was a苦