Honor Center escapes blaze with "minimal" damage

BY CHOTON MANJIREKAR

On any other day, UI Fresh- man Andy Lueck would have enjoyed getting out of the dormitory to see the fireworks that escaped blaze on the top floor of the Blum Honor Center on campus Aug. 29. The $14 million building was slated to open in late December or early January; the opening was delayed several months. The fire, which started between the third and fourth floors on the building's west exterior wall, took three hours for firefighters to contain.

Firefighters from several departments — including Iowa City, Cedar, Coralville, and Hills — rushed to the scene at 11:31 a.m., shortly after the fire started, Iowa City and UI police closed Clinton Street and diverted traffic to Davenport Street, while vehicles traveling on Market Street had to be diverted.

"It feels like the broken bones of someone you care a lot about. The timing of this incident was a shock to us, but the best news is that no one has been hurt," Nicholas Colangelo, Center's executive director, said.

"The timing of this incident was a shock to us, but the best news is that no one has been hurt," Nicholas Colangelo, Center's executive director, said.

A university statement, calling the damage "minimal, " said it will take the building's doors opening — which had been scheduled for late December or early January — for several months. School officials said they expect to have damage assessments completed in a few days.

The Honor Center will continue to house the nation's oldest radio station, in the nation to offer programs, services, and support for academically gifted students from kindergarten through college. Plans for the center include a new administration building and a research library. The new dorm was designated for administrative offices and classrooms.

"I was walking in the Chemistry Building when I heard someone yell, "The fire is on fire,'" said student Chad Donge, adding that he saw smoke pouring out of the 12th floor. "The building was on fire, and they had to put it in."

Firefighters from several departments — including Iowa City, Cedar, Coralville, and Hills — rushed to the scene at 11:31 a.m., shortly after the fire started, Iowa City and UI police closed Clinton Street and diverted traffic to Davenport Street, while vehicles traveling on Market Street had to be diverted.

"It feels like the broken bones of someone you care a lot about. The timing of this incident was a shock to us, but the best news is that no one has been hurt," Nicholas Colangelo, Center's executive director, said.

"The timing of this incident was a shock to us, but the best news is that no one has been hurt," Nicholas Colangelo, Center's executive director, said.

A university statement, calling the damage "minimal, " said it will take the building's doors opening — which had been scheduled for late December or early January — for several months. School officials said they expect to have damage assessments completed in a few days.

The Honor Center will continue to house the nation's oldest radio station, in the nation to offer programs, services, and support for academically gifted students from kindergarten through college. Plans for the center include a new administration building and a research library. The new dorm was designated for administrative offices and classrooms.

"I was walking in the Chemistry Building when I heard someone yell, "The fire is on fire,'" said student Chad Donge, adding that he saw smoke pouring out of the 12th floor. "The building was on fire, and they had to put it in."

Firefighters from several departments — including Iowa City, Cedar, Coralville, and Hills — rushed to the scene at 11:31 a.m., shortly after the fire started, Iowa City and UI police closed Clinton Street and diverted traffic to Davenport Street, while vehicles traveling on Market Street had to be diverted.

"It feels like the broken bones of someone you care a lot about. The timing of this incident was a shock to us, but the best news is that no one has been hurt," Nicholas Colangelo, Center's executive director, said.

"The timing of this incident was a shock to us, but the best news is that no one has been hurt," Nicholas Colangelo, Center's executive director, said.

A university statement, calling the damage "minimal, " said it will take the building's doors opening — which had been scheduled for late December or early January — for several months. School officials said they expect to have damage assessments completed in a few days.

The Honor Center will continue to house the nation's oldest radio station, in the nation to offer programs, services, and support for academically gifted students from kindergarten through college. Plans for the center include a new administration building and a research library. The new dorm was designated for administrative offices and classrooms.

"I was walking in the Chemistry Building when I heard someone yell, "The fire is on fire,'" said student Chad Donge, adding that he saw smoke pouring out of the 12th floor. "The building was on fire, and they had to put it in."

Firefighters from several departments — including Iowa City, Cedar, Coralville, and Hills — rushed to the scene at 11:31 a.m., shortly after the fire started, Iowa City and UI police closed Clinton Street and diverted traffic to Davenport Street, while vehicles traveling on Market Street had to be diverted.

"It feels like the broken bones of someone you care a lot about. The timing of this incident was a shock to us, but the best news is that no one has been hurt," Nicholas Colangelo, Center's executive director, said.

"The timing of this incident was a shock to us, but the best news is that no one has been hurt," Nicholas Colangelo, Center's executive director, said.

A university statement, calling the damage "minimal, " said it will take the building's doors opening — which had been scheduled for late December or early January — for several months. School officials said they expect to have damage assessments completed in a few days.

The Honor Center will continue to house the nation's oldest radio station, in the nation to offer programs, services, and support for academically gifted students from kindergarten through college. Plans for the center include a new administration building and a research library. The new dorm was designated for administrative offices and classrooms.

"I was walking in the Chemistry Building when I heard someone yell, "The fire is on fire,'" said student Chad Donge, adding that he saw smoke pouring out of the 12th floor. "The building was on fire, and they had to put it in."

Firefighters from several departments — including Iowa City, Cedar, Coralville, and Hills — rushed to the scene at 11:31 a.m., shortly after the fire started, Iowa City and UI police closed Clinton Street and diverted traffic to Davenport Street, while vehicles traveling on Market Street had to be diverted.

"It feels like the broken bones of someone you care a lot about. The timing of this incident was a shock to us, but the best news is that no one has been hurt," Nicholas Colangelo, Center's executive director, said.

"The timing of this incident was a shock to us, but the best news is that no one has been hurt," Nicholas Colangelo, Center's executive director, said.

A university statement, calling the damage "minimal, " said it will take the building's doors opening — which had been scheduled for late December or early January — for several months. School officials said they expect to have damage assessments completed in a few days.

The Honor Center will continue to house the nation's oldest radio station, in the nation to offer programs, services, and support for academically gifted students from kindergarten through college. Plans for the center include a new administration building and a research library. The new dorm was designated for administrative offices and classrooms.
Great flood revealed Devonian riches

BY MICHAEL CHAIR

Three-hundred-eighty- nine million years ago, along the coast of Iowa City was awash in a new tide of water that flooded the land, sweeping through the area that includes Coralville Dam and unearthing fossilized marine life from the age of climate change.

This Labor Day weekend, the Coralville Reservoir's over 100-year-old flood gates, thrown open to the sea, will reveal the Devonian fossil record for the Iowa public. Established in 1931, Black Earth Dam was opened in 1939 for water control and the Coralville Reservoir was created.

The event takes place from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. and will include a guided tour of the fossil forest, storytelling, and a variety of educational activities, including fossil identification, water quality monitoring, and more.

This is a unique opportunity to explore Iowa's geological history and learn about the fascinating fossils that have been discovered in the Coralville area. The natural beauty of the park is sure to be enjoyed by all who attend.

For more information, please visit the Coralville Nature Center's website or contact the center directly.
Kucinich hammers at Bush, Dean

BY ANNE SHIPPY

A Democratic presidential hopeful dubbed by some party faithful as the most progressive of the nine candidates told local supporters he could lead America into a new era of peace.

Rep. Dennis Kucinich, D-Ohio, said he favors ending Pentagon spending, establishing a government-funded universal health care system, replacing the military pressure, and creating a Department of Peace to reverse his vision of a "waking world."

"It is only by working with the consequences of the world that this country can set sail, if we can break the shackles of fear and reign the world superpower," the 56-year-old former mayor of Cleveland played down any connection between Iraq and 9/11, accusing Defense officials of using the terrorist attacks as an excuse for asserting their" violations, was passed by Congress but not read it yet voted for it because it "included the word no."

Dean vows to put Rep. Dennis Kucinich, D-Ohio, who vowed not to rest until a Democrat works in the White House, to Monday at the University of Iowa. "I have it in my blood to make sure we are at a crossroads."

Democratic presidential hopeful Rep. Dennis Kucinich said he plans to bring American troops home. The Democratic candidate for the position, said the white House during his "Sleepless in San Antonio" appearance.

"We are at a crossroads...we are at a moment in time when the amount of lift and the less we need to start producing heavy-military spend" in the United States following the war was employed by Colleges Radio Company as a director of commercial research. His aerial plane had been on display at the Experimental Aircraft Association Museum in Oakland, Wash. It is on loan to the National Air and Space Museum Cafes. It is included in the center exhibit, "Right to Flight," which captures the stories of the Wright brothers and Lippisch.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The Daily Iowan.

"That’s how we’re going to beat the system. Two brothers were arrested on Sunday at 7/4 Brookeville Road in the United States following the war was employed by Calhoun Radio Company as a director of commercial research. His aerial plane had been on display at the Experimental Aircraft Association Museum in Oakland, Wash. It is on loan to the National Air and Space Museum Cafes. It is included in the center exhibit, "Right to Flight," which captures the stories of the Wright brothers and Lippisch.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental arod was built by a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.

The 25-foot experimental aircraft designed to glide over a body of water is on display at the National Air and Space Museum.
NEWS

For-profit Web schools draw scrutiny

BY MIRANDA LEITINGER

DEB MORGAN — A for-profit educational provider sifted by supporters as a bridge to the future stands to make millions of dollars by year’s end, revenue that critics say may be exploiting money away from public schools.

K12, a privately held company that operates in the Distance Education

AND Technology Center in Denver, reported earnings last month saying it had

$5.2 million in revenue from students in the 2002-03 school year. The company, headed by a for-profit education

founder, plans to expand into non-education sectors.

K12, which offers online classes in Florida, Arizona, Wisconsin, Maryland,

Texas, Illinois and Mississippi, said it had about 1,000 students last year.

The company has said it needs

$20 million to start operations.

In Wisconsin, K12 stands to receive approximately $21 million in state funds this year. In Illinois, the company stands to receive about $10 million.

The expenses for virtual schools differ significantly from those of traditional schools, attorneys for the Wisconsin teachers group wrote in a letter to the Northern Oregon Board of Education. The group said the company was in violation of different laws, including state and federal laws.

"It is likely that the establishment of virtual charter schools — and the resulting per-student payments in the next district, as well as significant profits for the corporate sponsors promoting the curriculum and administering the virtual charter schools — will result in windfall payments to the next district, as well as significant profits for the corporate sponsors promoting the curriculum and administering the virtual charter schools," the letter stated.

David Bullock, the interim program director of the K12 system in Pierce County, said the program would operate at a loss.

K12 charges around $1,800

for curricula and materials — a computer, lesson plans, books, and 4

exams. Additional costs include computer help, teachers, and program management.

Under the program, students follow

homes and take tests on the Internet, as well as work

during science experiments

learning out of textbooks.

Students also are required to take tests.

K12 spokesman Bryan Floyd

said the company aims to find

students outside the traditional public school world — such as those with special needs, gifted students, and those who live in rural areas far from brick and mortar schools.

"K12 makes possible the

for-first-class education for all,

no matter where they live — in the country or in the world," Bullock said.

"We have one family who live up by the Canadian border who don’t even have electricity. They don’t have a school. They have done for a year (and) they are doing science experiments,"

Floyd said.

A second family, he said, has no

electricity, running water, or gas, and they have five children.

"They are doing video science experiments," he said.

K12’s program was one of the first to be scrutinized by the state. The state is continuing to 0 examine whether the program is continuing.

The state has been

questioning the program’s ability to serve rural decent. All fares are one-way.

All fares are non-refundable, and all tickets must be purchased by

For complete schedule information,

call 877-581-9842.
Bush switches tactics on creating jobs

BY MIKE ALLEN WASHINGTON POST

RICHFIELD, Ohio - President Bush announced steps to help bring jobs to the nation's hard-pressed manufacturing industry Monday, beginning with what administration officials said would be increased pressure on China to change currency policies that help Chinese firms undermine U.S. competitiveness. "We have a responsibility that when some-
I don't forget to visit the new loft for all your (electronic essentials) 1st floor imu

the book store has all the (pure essentials) that you will ever need. find us on the ground floor of the imu.

check out the new iowa Hawk Shop location now inside the University Book Store. For all your (hawk essentials).

www.book.uiowa.edu

dvds

ethernet cables

hawk gear

don't forget to visit the new e-loft for all your (electronic essentials) 1st floor imu

UBStyle
Dining choices abound in Iowa City

ETHNIC

Continued from Page 1A

Pul normalized, the manager of Thai Flavors, 540 E. Burlington St., and he is not worried about competition from newer ethnic restaurants. They increase everyone's taste for ethnic foods, which benefits everyone in Iowa City, he said. "The number of people in Iowa City describing themselves as Hispanic has increased from 1990 to 89 percent in 2000, while those selecting black, Latino, American Indian, and Asian, African, or other ethnicities have each increased both in number and as a percent of the population.

Cheney Keomanibong said the diversity in Iowa City as its reasons for choosing to open her restaurant, Thai Flavors, last year. "I feel like I'm in the middle of the world," she said.

"I feel like I'm in the middle of the world. The UI brings people from everywhere," Keomanibong said.

Iraqui name new 25-member Cabinet

IRAQ

Continued from Page 1A

...

The committee expects to receive applications and asking for additional nominations. For the permanent provost, said President Thomas J. Long, "We want to build up a team, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum,"

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.

"We want to build up a strong, not a workhorse," he told The Daily Iowan reporter Murad Sezer.

"This will be interesting," said Jayhe Othman, an Iraqi political analyst. "We have Bathehaha chasing Barhum."

Proposals from Governing Council members to use millions affiliated with Iraqi political parties or religious organizations have apparently been scrapped.

"We do not want to form militias. We want a true Iraqi security force," said Ahmad Chalabi, the former exile who leads the Iraqi National Congress, Chalabi, Mondal became the Governing Council's second president; the position is being rotated monthly among nine council members.
N. Korea scoffs at U.S. nuke demand

BY VLADIMIR ISRAILEVICH

MOSCOW — Keeping up the belligerent rhetoric on its nuclear program, North Korea dismissed U.S. demands for sanctions on the communist nation and set its nuclear program on "an irrevocable course.

North Korea took an angry, hard-line position Tuesday in a landmark talk in Beijing with top U.S. officials, North Korea, Japan, China, and Russia agreed to restart talks on its nuclear program.

Despite the goodwill and sincerity, the United States has shown no readiness to drop its hostile policy toward North Korea during the last round of talks and bluntly put forward new and comprehensive demands," the Foreign Minister said in a statement from his Ministry.

The minister said the talks were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The minister also rejected the United States' "false" accusations.

The minister said the North Koreans had "at least two million" people to live on and the United States should respect the North Korean people's will.

The minister said that the United States' "false" accusations were "irrelevant to the current situation" and that "the TVOs should not return to the roadblocks." The ministe...
6th Israeli missile strike kills 1, injures 26

BY IBRAHIM BARZAK

Gaza City, Gaza Strip — Israeli forces launched eight missiles Monday in the sixth aerial attack of recent weeks, while the Palestinian government said at least five Israeli soldiers were killed in a gunbattle with insurgents in the Gaza Strip.

U.S. soldiers were killed in a gunbattle with insurgents in the Gaza Strip, according to a statement by the Israeli military.

In Monday's strikes, Israeli helicopters fired missiles at a car carrying three Hamas militants, killing one and wounding two others, witnesses said.

The dead man was identified as Muhammad Hassoun, a 55-year-old Hamas member.

The missiles hit the car as it drove along a crowded street in downtown Gaza City, brothers said, and saw it catch fire.

Hamas said that the militants were targeting a power plant in Gaza City.

No immediate explanation was given for the attack.

Also Monday, Palestinian authorities said that the U.N. special envoy to the region, Anthony Zinni, was in Gaza to meet with Hamas leaders.

The Hamas government said it was ready to hold talks with Zinni, but the Palestinian Authority said it would not participate.

In the past few years, Palestinian analysts said, the Israeli government has stepped up efforts to reach a peace agreement with Hamas.

But Hamas has rejected calls for peace, saying it will continue its armed struggle against Israel.

In a statement, Hamas said it would not negotiate with Zinni, but would continue its military operations.

The Israeli government has been trying to pressure Hamas into the peace process, but the Hamas leadership has rejected efforts to reach a cease-fire.

Hamas has been firing rockets at Israel, while the Israeli military has responded with air strikes.

In recent weeks, Hamas has increased its rocket fire, and Israel has responded with air strikes.

The latest attack comes as the government and the Palestinian Authority continue to negotiate a peace agreement.

If it's possible, volunteers, 12 years or older, are invited to participate in an asthma study at the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics to compare two asthma medications.

Researchers will receive placebo (inactive) medications. Compensation available. Call 1-855-7352 or 319-356-5483 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday for more information.

What Makes You Authentic?

Hanes Authentic

Tell us and you could win $10,000 towards tuition!

Enter at www.hanesauthentic.com to find a retailer near you.

Go to www.hanesauthentic.com for more information.

Hanes Authentic

Hanes

What Makes You Authentic?

Hanes Authentic

Tell us and you could win $10,000 towards tuition!

Enter at www.hanesauthentic.com to find a retailer near you.

Go to www.hanesauthentic.com for more information.

---

WORLD

Taliban ambush kills eight Afghans

GULF, Afghanistan (AP) — Suspected Taliban fighters attacked an Afghan government checkpoint Monday and ambushed soldiers along the main road linking Kandahar and Kabul, killing at least 10 people and wounding two, officials said.

The attack came a day after the last of the suspected Taliban fighters were killed in a 30-minute gunbattle with insurgents in western Afghanistan.

The militants in the car had been firing rockets at Israeli settlements and Jewish settlements in the Gaza Strip, Israeli Foreign Ministry official Gilad Shalit said.

A Hamas government official, Abdel Aziz Baraka, denounced the strike as "a brutal crime" and said the group would retaliate.

Meanwhile, the Palestinian Authority's foreign ministry said it will not negotiate with Israel until the Israeli government fulfills its obligations under the Oslo Accords.

The Palestinians said they would not negotiate until the Israeli government agrees to a freeze on settlement activity and stops violence against them.

Israel considers the rockets a threat, saying they are being fired from the densely populated coastal strip, where some 1.5 million Palestinians live.

In recent weeks, Israel has carried out more than 50 air strikes on Hamas targets.

Since the bombing, Israel has called for a three-week cease-fire, but Hamas has rejected the offer, saying it would only negotiate if the Israeli government fulfills its obligations under the Oslo Accords.

A Hamas government official, Muhammad al-Hindi, denounced the strike as "executions" and said the group would retaliate.

In a statement, the Hamas国外 relations office said it would not negotiate with Israel until the Israeli government fulfills its obligations under the Oslo Accords.

The latest attacks come as the government and the Palestinian Authority continue to negotiate a peace agreement.

---

NEWS

Iowa

•

Along the main road linking Kandahar and Kabul, Afghan officials said.

The latest attacks come as the government and the Taliban continue to negotiate a peace agreement.

If it's possible, volunteers, 12 years or older, are invited to participate in an asthma study at the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics to compare two asthma medications.

Researchers will receive placebo (inactive) medications. Compensation available. Call 1-855-7352 or 319-356-5483 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday for more information.

What Makes You Authentic?

Hanes Authentic

Tell us and you could win $10,000 towards tuition!

Enter at www.hanesauthentic.com to find a retailer near you.

Go to www.hanesauthentic.com for more information.

---

WORLD

Taliban ambush kills eight Afghans

GULF, Afghanistan (AP) — Suspected Taliban fighters attacked an Afghan government checkpoint Monday and ambushed soldiers along the main road linking Kandahar and Kabul, killing at least 10 people and wounding two, officials said.

The attack came a day after the last of the suspected Taliban fighters were killed in a 30-minute gunbattle with insurgents in western Afghanistan.

The militants in the car had been firing rockets at Israeli settlements and Jewish settlements in the Gaza Strip, Israeli Foreign Ministry official Gilad Shalit said.

A Hamas government official, Abdel Aziz Baraka, denounced the strike as "a brutal crime" and said the group would retaliate.

Meanwhile, the Palestinian Authority's foreign ministry said it will not negotiate with Israel until the Israeli government fulfills its obligations under the Oslo Accords.

The Palestinians said they would not negotiate until the Israeli government agrees to a freeze on settlement activity and stops violence against them.

Israel considers the rockets a threat, saying they are being fired from the densely populated coastal strip, where some 1.5 million Palestinians live.

In recent weeks, Israel has carried out more than 50 air strikes on Hamas targets.

Since the bombing, Israel has called for a three-week cease-fire, but Hamas has rejected the offer, saying it would only negotiate if the Israeli government fulfills its obligations under the Oslo Accords.

A Hamas government official, Muhammad al-Hindi, denounced the strike as "executions" and said the group would retaliate.

In a statement, the Hamas国外 relations office said it would not negotiate with Israel until the Israeli government fulfills its obligations under the Oslo Accords.

The latest attacks come as the government and the Palestinian Authority continue to negotiate a peace agreement.

---

NEWS

Iowa

•

Along the main road linking Kandahar and Kabul, Afghan officials said.

The latest attacks come as the government and the Taliban continue to negotiate a peace agreement.

If it's possible, volunteers, 12 years or older, are invited to participate in an asthma study at the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics to compare two asthma medications.

Researchers will receive placebo (inactive) medications. Compensation available. Call 1-855-7352 or 319-356-5483 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday for more information.

What Makes You Authentic?

Hanes Authentic

Tell us and you could win $10,000 towards tuition!

Enter at www.hanesauthentic.com to find a retailer near you.

Go to www.hanesauthentic.com for more information.

---

WORLD

Taliban ambush kills eight Afghans

GULF, Afghanistan (AP) — Suspected Taliban fighters attacked an Afghan government checkpoint Monday and ambushed soldiers along the main road linking Kandahar and Kabul, killing at least 10 people and wounding two, officials said.

The attack came a day after the last of the suspected Taliban fighters were killed in a 30-minute gunbattle with insurgents in western Afghanistan.

The militants in the car had been firing rockets at Israeli settlements and Jewish settlements in the Gaza Strip, Israeli Foreign Ministry official Gilad Shalit said.

A Hamas government official, Abdel Aziz Baraka, denounced the strike as "a brutal crime" and said the group would retaliate.

Meanwhile, the Palestinian Authority's foreign ministry said it will not negotiate with Israel until the Israeli government fulfills its obligations under the Oslo Accords.

The Palestinians said they would not negotiate until the Israeli government agrees to a freeze on settlement activity and stops violence against them.

Israel considers the rockets a threat, saying they are being fired from the densely populated coastal strip, where some 1.5 million Palestinians live.

In recent weeks, Israel has carried out more than 50 air strikes on Hamas targets.

Since the bombing, Israel has called for a three-week cease-fire, but Hamas has rejected the offer, saying it would only negotiate if the Israeli government fulfills its obligations under the Oslo Accords.

A Hamas government official, Muhammad al-Hindi, denounced the strike as "executions" and said the group would retaliate.

In a statement, the Hamas国外 relations office said it would not negotiate with Israel until the Israeli government fulfills its obligations under the Oslo Accords.

The latest attacks come as the government and the Palestinian Authority continue to negotiate a peace agreement.

---

NEWS

Iowa

•

Along the main road linking Kandahar and Kabul, Afghan officials said.

The latest attacks come as the government and the Taliban continue to negotiate a peace agreement.

If it's possible, volunteers, 12 years or older, are invited to participate in an asthma study at the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics to compare two asthma medications.

Researchers will receive placebo (inactive) medications. Compensation available. Call 1-855-7352 or 319-356-5483 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday for more information.

What Makes You Authentic?

Hanes Authentic

Tell us and you could win $10,000 towards tuition!

Enter at www.hanesauthentic.com to find a retailer near you.

Go to www.hanesauthentic.com for more information.
The Daily Iowan

ON THE WEB

Why is there so much hype about binge drinking? American's binge on clothes, gasoline, fast food — pretty much everything. Why isn't Iowans' relating reports defining binge as both the purchase of more than five alcoholic beverages in a single occasion and the consumption of more than five alcoholic beverages in a single occasion?

The geography of voices

Their voices ring in our way from the other side of the fence, pontificating with sneering, jaundiced, and insular eyes.

"World Trade Center 2001 report," we have some sort of human coming into the underbelly of the World Trade Center. They should have been aware of the possibility that terrorist attacks may still have been going on after September 11th. But they were not at all aware of the possibility that terrorist attacks were still going on after September 11th.

In the latest breathtaking move, the EPA introduced a new rule that requires that industrial plants must document pollution-control equipment they plan to add in order to keep track of all emissions that exceed a certain threshold. This new rule is, in essence, a call to action for industry, as it mandates that all emissions be documented and reported. The rule is expected to help reduce pollution levels and improve air quality for the public.

On the other hand, the EPA has been criticized for its lax enforcement of environmental regulations. In a recent case, the EPA was found to have failed to adequately monitor a coal-burning power plant that had violated air quality standards. This failure to enforce the law has raised concerns about the agency's commitment to protecting public health and the environment.

In conclusion, while the EPA's new rule is a step in the right direction, more must be done to ensure that industries comply with environmental regulations and that the public is adequately protected against pollution. The EPA must take a more proactive role in enforcing the law and holding industries accountable for their actions.

Letters

Blow the whistle, dare to speak, dare to speak out. This is our duty as citizens. It is our duty as human beings to speak out against corruption and injustice. We must not be afraid to speak out, even if it means getting into trouble. The only way to make a difference is to speak up.

The government is failing us, the people are failing us, and the future is at stake. We must unite and demand change. We must demand that our voices be heard, that our concerns be addressed, and that our rights be protected. We must not be afraid to speak out, even if it means getting into trouble. The only way to make a difference is to speak up.

The government is failing us, the people are failing us, and the future is at stake. We must unite and demand change. We must demand that our voices be heard, that our concerns be addressed, and that our rights be protected. We must not be afraid to speak out, even if it means getting into trouble. The only way to make a difference is to speak up.

The government is failing us, the people are failing us, and the future is at stake. We must unite and demand change. We must demand that our voices be heard, that our concerns be addressed, and that our rights be protected. We must not be afraid to speak out, even if it means getting into trouble. The only way to make a difference is to speak up.

The government is failing us, the people are failing us, and the future is at stake. We must unite and demand change. We must demand that our voices be heard, that our concerns be addressed, and that our rights be protected. We must not be afraid to speak out, even if it means getting into trouble. The only way to make a difference is to speak up.

The government is failing us, the people are failing us, and the future is at stake. We must unite and demand change. We must demand that our voices be heard, that our concerns be addressed, and that our rights be protected. We must not be afraid to speak out, even if it means getting into trouble. The only way to make a difference is to speak up.
FILM REVIEW

by Will Scheibel

Seabiscuit

When: 12:45, 3:45, 6:45, and 9:45 p.m.

DreamWorks Pictures seems to be developing a new trend in summer movies. In July 2001, amid all of the gross-out teen comedies and about-to-open specialeffects extravaganzas, it released Road to Perdition. On July 25 of this summer, DreamWorks put forth Seabiscuit. Both films are clear examples of the studio's "prestige pictures" and the types of movies generally released in December for Oscar consideration. Personally, I like DreamWorks/tactical. Box-office results show that there are enough people interested in the story of the most unlikely of underdog, mature dramas during the summer season to justify the move.

Seabiscuit is certainly the type of film that servlets live, even if it is devoid of the explora tion or crude sex jokes that fill the year's big megamovies. Despite opening in theaters more than a month ago, people are still going to see Seabiscuit and telling their friends about it.

Seabiscuit's life. All three charac ters are broken men whose times, along with most of America's, were painfully affected by the stock-market crash of the late '20s. There's Charles Howard (Jeff Bridges), a successful automobile)

The positive word of mouth,

Sports Illustrated

ON CAMPUS

ON THURSDAY.

SL.COM

...to...
Israel must educate its police that the Arab public is not the enemy and should not be treated as such.

— The report of an Israeli commission investigating the deaths of 13 people from police fires in October 2000.
U.S. OPEN

BY DONOVAN BURBA

Iowa State won over Miami (Ohio) RedHawks on Aug. 17 at the Greenbrier Resort in West Virginia thanks to a strong performance from Iowa's newest field general.

Quarterback Nathan Chandler didn't make it easy for the RedHawks. The former Ethnic Heritage All-American didn't look like a first-time player as he passed for 327 yards, a touchdown and an interception.

Iowa State came out on top with a final score of 21-3. Despite losing four starters at the offensive line, the Hawkeye defense continued to shine.

Allen, Johnson step up to the challenge

BY BRIAN TRIPPETT

Iowa State's offensive line made quarterback Zach Clause's job easier. The offensive line led to a 21-3 victory over Miami (Ohio).

"We went out and played the way we're supposed to play," said Allen, who started all 13 games as a redshirt freshman.

"We can play with anyone," Clause said after the second straight win over Miami. "I think we have the experience to get the job done."

Iowa State's defense was just as strong. Defensive back Ben Roethlisberger had a great game, intercepting two passes and returning one for a touchdown.

Mills key to Penn State's offense

BY DONOVAN BURBA

Iowa State's defense was key to winning the game, with linebacker Mike Vrabel leading the way.

The Hawkeyes held Miami to just 179 total yards, including 141 rushing and 38 passing.

"I think it's a great start to our season," Vrabel said. "We've been one of the best programs in the nation for a reason, and we showed it tonight against an talented team."

Penn State's offense was also impressive, with running back Jordan McNair rushing for 105 yards and quarterback Trace McSorley passing for 230 yards and a touchdown.

"We played well as a team," McNair said. "We executed our offense well and were able to control the game from start to finish."

Despite their strong showing, the Hawkeyes are aware of the challenges that lie ahead.

"We know that we can't take our foot off the gas," Clause said. "We have to continue to improve and prepare for the upcoming games."
AREN'S SQUSHES HAWKEYE INVITATIONAL FIELD

BY JASON BRUMMOND

Competing with a mixed line-up of veterans and young runners, the Hawkeye women's cross country team defeated Eastern Illinois and Iowa. Iowa senior Sarah Arens was the top finisher in a field of 5,000 runners, finishing 17th overall and helped the team to a win in the meet.

"I feel like I'm in good shape and really excited," Arens said. "Coach Layne Anderson has led us to victory in his first meet at Iowa. He said everyone on the team met and exceeded his expectations."

"If I could say it's all down and not start, I don't think I could have a better team on my side," Arens added.

"I'm looking forward to Hawk's next meet." Coach VanDenEnd

Sarah Arens extends her lead toward the finish. She placed first for the Hawkeyes on Aug. 29.

The two teams did race against each other, but rather school on the top three runners, and the Badgers defeated the Hawks.

"They didn't bring everybody, and they didn't use everybody. Just like the good programs because they want to do well and all their groups are good," Iowa coach Larry Woo said.

Three Hawkeyes who made All-Regional team last season did not compete because of injuries — seniors Eric McFarland and Kathy VanDenEnd.

The NL Central really has the best division competition this year. There are three teams (Cubs, Cardinals, and Astros) who will fight for the top spot until the last week of the season, and all are capable of winning up in the wild card. This week, the Reds, Cardinals and Cubbies are two of the top teams at Wrigley, while the Astros are the top teams at the Rogers Centre. The Pirates, who have been on fire this season, are also in the running. The Indians, who have been the best in the NL Central, have been on fire this season, and the Braves, who have been inconsistent, are also in the running. The Mets, who have been inconsistent, are also in the running.

The NL Central really has the best division competition this year. There are three teams (Cubs, Cardinals, and Astros) who will fight for the top spot until the last week of the season, and all are capable of winning up in the wild card. This week, the Reds, Cardinals and Cubbies are two of the top teams at Wrigley, while the Astros are the top teams at the Rogers Centre. The Pirates, who have been on fire this season, are also in the running. The Indians, who have been the best in the NL Central, have been on fire this season, and the Braves, who have been inconsistent, are also in the running. The Mets, who have been inconsistent, are also in the running.

WELCOME BACK STUDENTS: Thursday, September 3rd

HALFWAYNIGHT All drinks: beer and wine by the glass/half price
IOWA STARTS STRONG

QUARTERBACK NATHAN CHANDLER LED TWO SCORING DRIVES ON THE WAY TO TURNING IN AN IMPRESSIVE 12-19, 129-YARD PERFORMANCE. HE WAS ANCHORED BY AN OFFENSIVE LINE THAT ALLOWED ONLY ONE SACK. HALFBACK FRED RUSSELL CONTINUED HIS CLIMB UP IOWA'S ALL-TIME RUSHING CHART, RUNNING 22 TIMES FOR 167 YARDS. MO BROWN GATHERED IN A PASS AND FOUGHT HIS WAY INTO THE END ZONE TO SCORE THE FINAL TOUCHDOWN.

SOUND BITES

"We fully expected to win this football game."
— Miami (Ohio) coach Terry Hoeppner

"I take the blame on myself for this loss."
— Miami (Ohio) quarterback Ben Roethlisberger

"We're extremely, extremely pleased about the outcome of the game. This was a game I was really concerned about."
— Iowa coach Kirk Ferentz

"Hopefully, I can break [Nile] Kinnick's record this year. He had eight interceptions in a season and I'm going after it."
— Iowa cornerback Jovon Johnson

PRIME PLAYS

BRIAN TRIPPLETT
Adrian Aler's hit on Ryan Robinson in the fourth quarter.

DONOVAN BURBA
Jovon Johnson's pick on Ben Roethlisberger just before halftime to give Iowa a 14-3 lead.

KELLY BEATON
Nathan Chandler handing off defenses to #11, Mo Brown, for the Hawkeyes' final score of the day.

SCHEDULE

August 30 Iowa 21, Miami (Ohio) 3
September 6 Iowa hosts Buffalo
September 13 @ Iowa State
September 20 Iowa hosts Arizona State
September 27 @ Michigan State
October 4 Iowa hosts Michigan—HC
October 11 Iowa hosts Cal—HC
October 18 @ Ohio State
October 25 Iowa hosts Penn State
November 1 Iowa hosts Illinois
November 8 @ Purdue
November 15 Iowa hosts Minnesota
November 22 @ Wisconsin

IOWA 21, MIAMI (OHIO) 3
Tigers overwhelm Iowa against Wake Forest

Wake Forest to through

den·de
G

Demon D
Barb W
h successfu
tlp
or bac
a
of an d·
d hot

dth
ve
r
time . when the
Iowa held·hockey
hockey falters
elder Teesa Prlce
nberg
Iowa del
k p
ended
hawkeye goatk
W
nberg,
the Sliver.
1 :35 into
Aug 30

Tigers overwhelm Iowa against Wake Forest

Wake Forest to through
den·de
G

Demon D
Barb W
h successfu
tlp
or bac
a
of an d·
d
hot

dth
ve
r
time . when the
Iowa held·hockey
hockey falters
elder Teesa Prlce
nberg
Iowa del
k p
ended
hawkeye goatk
W
nberg,
the Sliver.
1 :35 into
Aug 30

Iowa midfielder Teeno Price gets tripped by a Missouri player during the Aug. 29 game.

Tigers overwhelm Iowa against Wake Forest

Wake Forest to through
den·de
G

Demon D
Barb W
h successfu
tlp
or bac
a
of an d·
d
hot

dth
ve
r
time . when the
Iowa held·hockey
hockey falters
elder Teesa Prlce
nberg
Iowa del
k p
ended
hawkeye goatk
W
nberg,
the Sliver.
1 :35 into
Aug 30

Tigers overwhelm Iowa against Wake Forest

Wake Forest to through
den·de
G

Demon D
Barb W
h successfu
tlp
or bac
a
of an d·
d
hot

dth
ve
r
time . when the
Iowa held·hockey
hockey falters
elder Teesa Prlce
nberg
Iowa del
k p
ended
hawkeye goatk
W
nberg,
the Sliver.
1 :35 into
Aug 30

Iowa midfielder Teeno Price gets tripped by a Missouri player during the Aug. 29 game.

Tigers overwhelm Iowa against Wake Forest

Wake Forest to through
den·de
G

Demon D
Barb W
h successfu
tlp
or bac
a
of an d·
d
hot

dth
ve
r
time . when the
Iowa held·hockey
hockey falters
elder Teesa Prlce
nberg
Iowa del
k p
ended
hawkeye goatk
W
nberg,
the Sliver.
1 :35 into
Aug 30

Iowa midfielder Teeno Price gets tripped by a Missouri player during the Aug. 29 game.

Tigers overwhelm Iowa against Wake Forest

Wake Forest to through
den·de
G

Demon D
Barb W
h successfu
tlp
or bac
a
of an d·
d
hot

dth
ve
r
time . when the
Iowa held·hockey
hockey falters
elder Teesa Prlce
nberg
Iowa del
k p
ended
hawkeye goatk
W
nberg,
the Sliver.
1 :35 into
Aug 30

Iowa midfielder Teeno Price gets tripped by a Missouri player during the Aug. 29 game.
Cubs call up Kelton, Mitre, others

Chicago (AP) — The Cubs called up infielder Hugo Quero, outfielder David Kelton and catcher Josh Paul from Triple-A Iowa on Monday.

They also brought up two pitchers from their Double-A farm club at West Tenn — John Mitre and Felix Sunnabar.

Quero spent two weeks with the Cubs last month, playing in four games. He batted .333 at Iowa in 106 games.

Kelton spent a week with the Cubs in June, appearing in three games. In 251 games at Iowa, he batted .289 with 16 home runs and 67 RBIs.

Paul, designated for assignment by the White Sox on June 23, joined the Cubs organization July 4. He batted .305 with 95 home runs in 47 games.

Mitre, a right-hander, will be in his third stint with the Cubs this season. He made his start in July and was the losing pitcher at Atlanta.

Wild-card standings

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>American League</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boston</td>
<td>9-7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Detroit</td>
<td>7-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New York</td>
<td>9-7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tampa Bay</td>
<td>7-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Texas</td>
<td>6-8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>National League</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Atlanta</td>
<td>9-7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chicago</td>
<td>7-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>San Francisco</td>
<td>7-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>St. Louis</td>
<td>7-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Washington</td>
<td>7-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Milwaukee</td>
<td>6-8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New York Mets</td>
<td>6-8</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

My roommate used to do all the time. Finally, she told me it was a little too much at first, but it really was okay. I didn't have any type of line. I found out that plasma was used to make medicines for people.

BIOLOGICAL PLASMA SERVICES

319-351-7939

404 South Gilbert Street, Iowa City, IA 52240 • www.biologicalplasma.com

I helped save a life today, I gave plasma.
Huskiers return to polls after win over Cowboys

BY JOSH DUBOW

Associated Press Poll

The Nebraska men's basketball team, which moved back to No. 25 in the Top 25 for the first time in nearly a year Monday, earning the No. 25 ranking, is used to having the nation's attention focused on them.

"I think it's important," Cornhuskers head coach Tim Miles said. "It's something that this program has been lacking being in the Top 25 and being a top basketball team in America."

In the first regular season Associated Press Top 25 poll, the biggest movement was out of Southern California's 23-0 win at Auburn. The Trojans moved from No. 1 to No. 6 in the Top 25.

The Associated Press weekly basketball poll, which started ranking teams in 1950, is used to having the nation's attention focused on them.

"It's great to get back in," Southern California coach Andy Enfield said. "We're playing in front of our enthusiastic fan base, and we're doing so with guys who have been here for a long time."

Howard, which moved into the AP poll for the first time since 2011, was also ranked.

"It's great to get back in," Southern California coach Andy Enfield said. "We're playing in front of our enthusiastic fan base, and we're doing so with guys who have been here for a long time."

The Associated Press weekly basketball poll, which started ranking teams in 1950, is used to having the nation's attention focused on them.

"It's great to get back in," Southern California coach Andy Enfield said. "We're playing in front of our enthusiastic fan base, and we're doing so with guys who have been here for a long time."

The Associated Press weekly basketball poll, which started ranking teams in 1950, is used to having the nation's attention focused on them.

"It's great to get back in," Southern California coach Andy Enfield said. "We're playing in front of our enthusiastic fan base, and we're doing so with guys who have been here for a long time."

The Associated Press weekly basketball poll, which started ranking teams in 1950, is used to having the nation's attention focused on them.
I was waiting a long, long time for this.

There's no better place to

Roethlisberger's play was sub-par

HAWKEYES
Continued from Page 18

Iowa defensive end Matt Roth sacked Roethlisberger, who was bowled over by the Nittany Lions' only third-down stop of the day, and forced a fumble, giving the ball to the Hawkeyes at the 10-yard line, where they went on to score Iowa's lone touchdown. The best number on the Hawkeyes' defense was defensive tackle Jared Schnoor, listed as second string in his first year, who recovered Iowa's lone fumble of the game. Schnoor, listed as the backup to Roth, didn't throw an interception, and the defense didn't allow Roethlisberger to make enough mistakes passing the ball to score Iowa's first touchdown.

Iowa's defense was sub-par, allowing Roethlisberger to throw for 327 yards and 21 touchdowns. But Iowa's defense did a good job of limiting his yards and keeping him out of the end zone. The Hawkeyes sacked Roethlisberger four times and didn't throw an interception, while the Nittany Lions didn't have a turnover all game.

Chandler is just getting started

Penn State's defense is sparse

PENN STATE
Continued from Page 18

Kicker Robbie Gould hit three field goals to tie the game at 10, and Iowa forced a punt in the last minute to preserve the victory. The Hawkeyes improved to 8-0 on the season and will next face the Ohio State Buckeyes. Iowa will play Michigan State on Saturday.

The Hawkeyes' defense showed it could play with the best in the Big Ten. They forced four turnovers, including a fumble recovery and two interceptions, while allowing Iowa to score only once.

Chandler, an All-American last year, is back for his senior season and is ready to lead the Hawkeyes to a Big Ten title. He is a blue-chip prospect who was a five-star recruit out of high school.

Defensive tackle Dewayne Johnson is back for his senior season and is ready to lead the Hawkeyes to a Big Ten title. He is a blue-chip prospect who was a five-star recruit out of high school.

Defense is sparse

PENN STATE
Continued from Page 18

Williams will also see significant action in the secondary as well, allowing him to use his speed and quickness to his advantage.

Michael Robinson, Milne's other defensive back, will be Paterno's best option, and he is expected to be a key part of the game-plan against the Buckeyes. Robinson is a physical player and a strong tackler, and his presence will be missed by the Penn State defense.

The defense will be led by senior linebacker Gino Galli, who has been a key player on the team. Galli had 12 tackles in the last game and will be counted on to lead the defense.

The Hawkeyes' defense will be tested by the Buckeyes, who are expected to run a spread offense and will be looking to exploit the secondary.

Chandler, an All-American last year, is back for his senior season and is ready to lead the Hawkeyes to a Big Ten title. He is a blue-chip prospect who was a five-star recruit out of high school.