Relearning the clarity of being Muslim

By CHRISTINA EB

Last week at the beginning of the fall semester, in the lobby of the UI Student Union Center, a group of 20 or so people, mostly Muslim students, gathered to pray in the presence of a small crowd of onlookers. The prayer was led by a woman who is a member of the American Muslim Student Association (AMSA). Her name is Maryam Farzaneh, a senior at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign (UIUC). Farzaneh is also the president of the AMSA chapter at UIUC. She explained to the group that the prayer is held every Thursday during the month of Ramadan. "Today is the first day of Ramadan," she said, "and we gathered here to pray together."

Ramadan is a month-long period of fasting observed by Muslims worldwide. During this month, Muslims abstain from eating, drinking, and smoking from dawn until dusk. The purpose of this fast is to help Muslims focus on their faith, their family, and their community. During the prayer, Farzaneh read from the Quran, the holy book of Islam. She read the verses of Surah Al-Falaq and Surah Al-Kahf, which are about the creation of the world and the beauty of Allah's creation.

Farzaneh also spoke about the importance of community and how important it is to practice the faith together. "We come together to support each other in this month of fasting," she said. "It is a time for reflection and self-improvement." Farzaneh emphasized the importance of compassion and generosity during Ramadan. "We are encouraged to give to those in need," she said. "This is a time for us to think about how we can help others and make a positive impact on our community." Farzaneh concluded the prayer by thanking everyone for coming and inviting everyone to join them next week.

For more information about the AMSA or to find out how to get involved, please visit their website at www.amso.org.

Firm compiling views on new UI rec center

By MARY BETH LARUE

UI Student Recreation Center

Project planners involved in the design of a new recreation center will begin the public task of gathering input from students through a survey on their needs. The survey will be available on the internet and will also be printed at the recreation center.

The survey is divided into three sections. The first section asks students about the current facilities and their preferences. The second section asks students about their future desires and preferences for the new facility. The third section asks students about their behavior in the current facilities.

The survey will be available online from November 15 to December 15. Students are encouraged to take the survey and share their feedback with the project planners. The survey results will be used to inform the design of the new recreation center.

For more information about the new recreation center or to take the survey, please visit the UI Student Recreation Center website at www.rec.uiuc.edu.
UI team builds virtual Army

BY PETE WARSIG

The UI College of Education, armed with a $10 million grant to help prepare the U.S. Army for future military and civilian roles, announced Wednesday that it has selected two faculty, staff, and students to participate in the Virtual Training and Modeling Reality initiative, designed to create digital human figures—referred to as "avatars"—that think, feel, and behave like real people. The initiative is intended to "model" the way that soldiers can be trained in virtual environments.

"We're opening up a lot of new possibilities for recruiting and optimizing the use of digital humans," said Professor Dan Albers, the head of the UI's College of Education. "The military has asked us to consider developing a virtual platform to support their needs. We're excited about the potential for this project and the impact it could have on military training.

However, the initiative is not without challenges. An initial study conducted by the UI found that about 500,000 soldiers, or about 32% of the Army's active-duty force, had experience using virtual reality. But with a growing trend toward virtual reality training, the military may need to consider expanding its use.

UI team builds virtual Army

2 West Liberty men charged in car break-ins

Two West Liberty men were charged in connection with two incidents of burglary.

Carolyn Corwin was arraigned on burglary charges in connection with a residence at 3rd Street in West Liberty. She faces one count of second degree burglary and one count of third degree burglary for allegedly breaking into a residence. Carolyn Corwin is accused of breaking into a residence on South 3rd Street and stealing a television, according to police.

Corwin's boyfriend, Jerry Gentry, also faces charges. He is accused of breaking into a residence on North 3rd Street and stealing a television. Gentry faces a total of three charges, including first degree burglary and two counts of second degree burglary.

Jane Brown, 24, of West Liberty, was also charged with second degree burglary and third degree burglary for allegedly breaking into a residence on 3rd Street and stealing a television.

Corwin and Gentry are being held on $1,500 bond each. They are scheduled to appear in court on Monday, Oct. 29.

UI team builds virtual Army

Corinaлив man arrested on burglary charges

Corinaлив man arrested on burglary charges in connection with a residence at 3rd Street in West Liberty. The man, identified as Jerry Gentry, is accused of breaking into a residence on South 3rd Street and stealing a television.

Corinaлив man arrested on burglary charges in connection with a residence at 3rd Street in West Liberty. The man, identified as Jerry Gentry, is accused of breaking into a residence on South 3rd Street and stealing a television.

Corinaлив man arrested on burglary charges in connection with a residence at 3rd Street in West Liberty. The man, identified as Jerry Gentry, is accused of breaking into a residence on South 3rd Street and stealing a television. Gentry faces a total of three charges, including first degree burglary and two counts of second degree burglary.

Jane Brown, 24, of West Liberty, was also charged with second degree burglary and third degree burglary for allegedly breaking into a residence on 3rd Street and stealing a television.

Corwin and Gentry are being held on $1,500 bond each. They are scheduled to appear in court on Monday, Oct. 29.
UI scientists to test herpes drug

BY SEUNG MIN KIM
TODAY IOWA

UI Hospitals and Clinics researchers will begin a small clinical trial on a new vaccine that might prevent the transmission of genital herpes, one of the country's most prevalent sexually transmitted diseases. The vaccine could cut the country's 450,000 herpes cases a year in half.

The potential vaccine will receive three injections in a six-month period of either the herpes virus that causes genital herpes or the vaccine. Six women across the country will participate in clinical trials.

The participants will receive three injections in a six-month period of either the herpes virus that causes genital herpes or the vaccine. Six women across the country will participate in clinical trials.

The only spot in Iowa that marks the trend in the Iowa City-Cedar Rapids corridor, ranked highest in the state in "most things to do" according to a study released last month by an Iowa-based organization. The city has homes for the highest percentage of teachers in the state.

The department also sends mailings to Iowa residents in other states and holds annual events to persuade them to come home, she said.

"I'm not sure what we're doing with families," Hoffmann said. "I'm not sure what we're doing with friends.

Hannah Redick, 28, who works at a bank in Des Moines, said her family still lives in Iowa and she doesn't have much to offer new residents.

"Except maybe family, if you're from Iowa, you're from here, or work," she said.

For foreign students beginning to come back

BECAUSE NUGENT
TODAY IOWA

UI Hospitals and Clinics researchers are trying to understand that we still welcome foreign students. We have a process that enhances our security, but it still allows students to feel at home, "Dean Hurst said, who leads the academic unit for foreign students. The annual meeting of the International Association of the Iowa State Association of Centers.

"We had to tighten the security so that students know it's okay to be there, but we also have to make sure that they're not in the way," Hurst said.

Hurst told the panel that UI is in the process of reviewing the system to ensure that students are safe and secure.

UI officials were making special efforts to ensure that UI students were still welcomed in the U.S. and that UI students were still welcomed in the U.S.

Hurst said that UI had to tighten the security so that students knew it was safe to be there, but UI also had to make sure that they were not in the way, "Hurst said.

UI has been working with national organizations from countries of origin, and the universities with authorities in each country, to say, "Hurst said.

For more information, please visit the UI website or call 319-335-3537.

---

City & State

Man charged with voting misconduct

A convicted felon was taken into custody Thursday to allegedly brag about his history as he voted in the Iowa City, Iowa, election. Franklin Randolph, 41, was arrested at 8:15 a.m. at the University of Iowa for a Class D felony for making false statements to vote. He was released on $1,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court on March 1.

Randolph, who has a history of arrests for theft and forgery, had been convicted of forgery in 1996 and was released on parole in 2002. He has been arrested multiple times since then for theft and forgery.

Randolph's attorney, Joseph T. Dougherty, said he was not aware of his client's previous convictions and was unsure whether Randolph had voted in the past.

The city attorney's office in the Iowa City Police Department has not released any information about the case.

Randolph's attorney, Joseph T. Dougherty, said he was not aware of his client's previous convictions and was unsure whether Randolph had voted in the past.

The city attorney's office in the Iowa City Police Department has not released any information about the case.

Randolph's attorney, Joseph T. Dougherty, said he was not aware of his client's previous convictions and was unsure whether Randolph had voted in the past.

The city attorney's office in the Iowa City Police Department has not released any information about the case.
Palestinians agree to truce talks

JERUSALEM — Thirteen Palestinian factions, including major militant groups, have agreed to attend truce talks in Geneva next month, and Palestinian officials said Thursday they expect the conference to be successful in ending 19 months of war between Israel and the Palestinians.

A Palestinian woman stands under a painting of a peace dove during an exhibition of painting and photos called For the Martyrs in Gaza City on Thursday. The exhibition showcases works representing the last three years of conflict with Israel. Thirteen Palestinian groups agreed on Thursday to attend talks in Geneva next month.

"The division of society is not only between the occupier and the occupee, but there are divisions within the occupied, within the Palestinians," a diplomat said. "These divisions have been exacerbated by the conflict with Israel, which has left many feeling marginalized and disempowered."

Israel has invited the Palestinian militant group Hamas to join the talks, but Hamas has not responded. The Israeli government is reportedly considering inviting other Palestinian groups to the talks, including the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP) and the Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine (DFLP). However, the PA has not yet agreed to these invitations.

The United Nations has called for an immediate end to the conflict and for all parties to adhere to international law. The UN has also called for a resumption of negotiations between Israel and the Palestinian Authority. Israel has not responded to these calls.

Despite the ongoing conflict, there is some hope for a peace deal. In January, a UN-backed peace conference was held in Norway, which was attended by representatives from Israel, the Palestinian Authority, and several Arab countries. While the conference did not result in a peace agreement, it did bring the parties closer together.

A significant challenge to any peace process is the issue of Palestinian refugees. According to the United Nations, there are an estimated 5 million Palestinian refugees, mostly living in camps in Lebanon, Syria, and Jordan. Many of these refugees have lived in exile for generations and have no citizenship rights in their mother countries. The refugees are eager for a return to their homeland, but the Israeli government has been opposed to this for many years.

The recent agreement to hold peace talks is a positive development, but much work remains to be done. The parties will need to address a wide range of issues, including security, sovereignty, and refugees. Despite the challenges, there is hope that a peace agreement can be reached.
Twisting through time, with romance & songs

BY LAURA JENGEN

The Last Five Years is not your typical "tearjerker," said enthralled students.

The musical, which begins a month-long run at Riverside Theatre tonight, features two actors telling the story of their five-year relationship. The twist is that Cathy tells her side of the story beginning at the end of the relationship, while Jamie reenacts her version chronologically.

"Cathy tells the story through what the cast and director called "contemporary dance music," runs one set, which is approximately an hour and a half long, and requires the two actors to perform without interacting. The two characters meet within the story just once in the middle — as their stories briefly intersect.

"At the beginning of the show and you're seeing something, it's more exciting and innovative, while at the end, it's harder with more sets," said Matthew Yoo, who portrays Jamie. "The play works really well because of that and the fact that it is running backward. It adds to the whole story at the same time, so the happy moments are juxtaposed with the sad moments."

The actors noted that the structure was challenging at first. "Both characters are not usually on stage, but they are in different time frames and they sing and speak to each other as if they are telling the story to the audience."

Another aspect of the play that drew in Kristen Behrend, who plays Cathy, was that the two characters are New York City artists. "Jamie is a writer, and Cathy is a singing actress," she said.

Behrend pointed out the similarities between her character and the one she used to be in New York and performed in Broadway in such places as Lee Strasberg. "Her experiences allowed her to work on the emotional aspect," she said.

"There is a scene where Cathy gives into this calls-call-out calls, and it is really funny because I could tell, "That is it, and it is over," said Behrend, laughing. "It is a very realistic show that has "universal appeal."

THEATER

The Last Five Years

When: May 3 - 26

Where: Riverside Theatre 2756 Gilman St.

Admission: $27 - $35

ARTS

CALENDAR-WORTHY

Today is the last chance to see The Kinetic Rock by UI graduate student playwright Randy Noyon in Theatre Bld at the Theatre Building. The performance begins at 7 p.m. tickets are $3 for UI students.

Twisting through time, with romance & songs

BY LAURA JENGEN

The Last Five Years is not your typical "tearjerker," said enthralled students.

The musical, which begins a month-long run at Riverside Theatre tonight, features two actors telling the story of their five-year relationship. The twist is that Cathy tells her side of the story beginning at the end of the relationship, while Jamie reenacts her version chronologically.

"Cathy tells the story through what the cast and director called "contemporary dance music," runs one set, which is approximately an hour and a half long, and requires the two actors to perform without interacting. The two characters meet within the story just once in the middle — as their stories briefly intersect.

"At the beginning of the show and you're seeing something, it's more exciting and innovative, while at the end, it's harder with more sets," said Matthew Yoo, who portrays Jamie. "The play works really well because of that and the fact that it is running backward. It adds to the whole story at the same time, so the happy moments are juxtaposed with the sad moments."

The actors noted that the structure was challenging at first. "Both characters are not usually on stage, but they are in different time frames and they sing and speak to each other as if they are telling the story to the audience."

Another aspect of the play that drew in Kristen Behrend, who plays Cathy, was that the two characters are New York City artists. "Jamie is a writer, and Cathy is a singing actress," she said.

Behrend pointed out the similarities between her character and the one she used to be in New York and performed in Broadway in such places as Lee Strasberg. "Her experiences allowed her to work on the emotional aspect," she said.

"There is a scene where Cathy gives into this calls-call-out calls, and it is really funny because I could tell, "That is it, and it is over," said Behrend, laughing. "It is a very realistic show that has "universal appeal."

THEATER

The Last Five Years

When: May 3 - 26

Where: Riverside Theatre 2756 Gilman St.

Admission: $27 - $35

Art Exhibition & Sale

Main Lounge, Iowa Memorial Union

Saturday, Nov. 22nd

11 am - 5 pm

Sunday, Nov. 23rd

11 am - 5 pm

Find unique gifts at The Holiday Thieves Market. With gifts ranging from jewelry, ceramics, painting, photography, woodworking, metalworking and much more, you'll find something for everyone!

Free Admission

Kemper Museum of Contemporary Art presents:

Holiday Thieves' Market

Art Exhibition & Sale

Main Lounge, Iowa Memorial Union

Saturday, Nov. 22nd

11 am - 5 pm

Sunday, Nov. 23rd

11 am - 5 pm

Find unique gifts at The Holiday Thieves Market. With gifts ranging from jewelry, ceramics, painting, photography, woodworking, metalworking and much more, you'll find something for everyone!

Free Admission

Kemper Museum of Contemporary Art presents:

Holiday Thieves' Market

Art Exhibition & Sale

Main Lounge, Iowa Memorial Union

Saturday, Nov. 22nd

11 am - 5 pm

Sunday, Nov. 23rd

11 am - 5 pm

Find unique gifts at The Holiday Thieves Market. With gifts ranging from jewelry, ceramics, painting, photography, woodworking, metalworking and much more, you'll find something for everyone!

Free Admission

Kemper Museum of Contemporary Art presents:

Holiday Thieves' Market

Art Exhibition & Sale

Main Lounge, Iowa Memorial Union

Saturday, Nov. 22nd

11 am - 5 pm

Sunday, Nov. 23rd

11 am - 5 pm

Find unique gifts at The Holiday Thieves Market. With gifts ranging from jewelry, ceramics, painting, photography, woodworking, metalworking and much more, you'll find something for everyone!

Free Admission

Kemper Museum of Contemporary Art presents:

Holiday Thieves' Market

Art Exhibition & Sale

Main Lounge, Iowa Memorial Union

Saturday, Nov. 22nd

11 am - 5 pm

Sunday, Nov. 23rd

11 am - 5 pm

Find unique gifts at The Holiday Thieves Market. With gifts ranging from jewelry, ceramics, painting, photography, woodworking, metalworking and much more, you'll find something for everyone!

Free Admission
Legislating the nation's bedrooms

On Tuesday, the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court ruled that legal prohibitions against same-sex marriages are against the state constitution. The court's decision is a landmark in the ongoing battle over same-sex marriage. In their majority opinion, the court said that the state's refusal to recognize same-sex marriages violates the equal protection and due process clauses of the Massachusetts Constitution. The court's decision is seen as a major victory for same-sex marriage advocates and a setback for those who oppose it. The decision is likely to be appealed by those who oppose same-sex marriage, and the issue is expected to continue to be debated in the courts and legislature in the coming years.

Irony is not dead, after all

DEAR MOM AND DAD, and all the rest of you and all the people who have waited, who have been patient and who have been waiting for the Vermont civil union legislation to become law. Wendy Clark looks out in support of the Massachusetts ruling. We can expect the rest of the New England states to follow. They are taking pot shots over this personal, private matter before us into the open of other public-political topics.

The implications contained in legislating same-sex marriages are vast and divergent. It is incredibly important that those who adopt the Massachusetts model be very careful in how those model laws eventually become the majority of the nation, and so it is similarly important that those who oppose same-sex marriage be very careful in how those model laws eventually become the majority of the nation. There are some general ideas on marriage that I have been raised to believe are self-evident. Opponents can't even answer.

The Massachusetts Legislature is likely to pass legislation mandating the court's decision, similar to the action in Alaska and Hawaii after the court's legalized same-sex marriages. Instead of making headway on an issue that has been of concern in society for many years, the Massachusetts ruling speaks of a need for social progress. The question of marriage is one of the most basic and important issues of our time. Whether or not we agree with the court's decision, it is important that we consider the implications carefully.

The Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court ruled that legal prohibitions against same-sex marriages are against the state constitution. The court's decision is a landmark in the ongoing battle over same-sex marriage. In their majority opinion, the court said that the state's refusal to recognize same-sex marriages violates the equal protection and due process clauses of the Massachusetts Constitution. The court's decision is likely to be appealed by those who oppose same-sex marriage, and the issue is expected to continue to be debated in the courts and legislature in the coming years.
Suicide bomber hits ally of U.S. in Iraq

By DANIEL WILLIAMS

KIRKUK, Iraq — A suicide bomber apparently targeted an American embassy worker and killed her on Wednesday, the second such attack in less than two weeks, underscoring the fragility of the U.S.-led peace in Iraq.

The attack was one of several that took place throughout the country on Wednesday, including in Basra and Baghdad. In all, at least six people were killed and dozens were wounded.

The embassy worker was killed when a suicide bomber detonated an explosives-laden car bomb near the embassy in Kirkuk, the capital of the oil-rich Kirkuk province.

The attack came just days after another suicide bomber targeted an American military convoy in Mosul, killing two American soldiers and injuring several others.

The attacks highlight the continued threat posed by al-Qaeda and other extremist groups in Iraq, which has been hit by a surge in violence in recent months.

The U.S. military has been working to train and equip Iraqi security forces to take over responsibility for security in the country, but the attacks indicate that the goal is still far from实现.

The United States has been a key ally in Iraq, providing significant military and economic support since the fall of Saddam Hussein in 2003.

The attacks also come as the United States is considering whether to send more troops to Iraq to help with the fight against ISIS.

The United States is already sending troops to Iraq to train and advise the Iraqi military, but some lawmakers and.top officials have called for a more aggressive approach.

The attacks in Kirkuk and Mosul come as the United States is considering whether to send more troops to Iraq to help with the fight against ISIS.

The United States is already sending troops to Iraq to train and advise the Iraqi military, but some lawmakers and top officials have called for a more aggressive approach.

The attacks in Kirkuk and Mosul come as the United States is considering whether to send more troops to Iraq to help with the fight against ISIS.
QUOTE OF THE DAY

When you have that kind of police presence dressed up in storm-trooper garb and a mentality of “Let’s close off the entire city because we had rodents in another city,” it has the tendency to incite problems that might not otherwise exist.

— Miami lawyer Laura Stoler describing the police response to anti-globalization rallies in Miami.

---

The Daily Break

horoscopes

by Eugenia Last

Aries (March 21-April 19): Don’t let things get to you. Do something that will make you feel good about yourself, and you will meet someone who will help raise your self-esteem.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Take a chance, and do something a little different. You might be pleasantly surprised by the results.

Gemini (May 21-June 21): Don’t get too involved in something that you might get out of. Good news will be at hand if you choose to accept it.

Cancer (June 22-July 22): Problems with someone you trust will need to be worked out before you can move on. Don’t let anyone get away with taking advantage. Put time aside for yourself.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Take part in an event that will bring you joy. If you volunteer to help, you might find yourself in a situation that will give you out and surprise. A past partner may end up being the same someone you trusted before.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Don’t let your weekend plans stop you from checking out an important event or from working on your project. Some little work on your part will bring financial relief. The possibilities are endless.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): This can be a good day for those with the best self-esteem. You might be able to make an important decision or come across an important opportunity. You will learn a lot of valuable information about where you’ve been.

Scorpio (Nov. 23-Dec. 21): This can make a difference in your day. A new partner may enter your life at this time. They might be the person you will fall in love with and have a gift that is important.

Sagittarius (Dec. 22-Jan. 20): Sagittarius, keep your eyes open for the opportunity. You might find yourself in a situation that will give you out and surprise. A past partner may end up being the same someone you trusted before.

Capricorn (Dec. 21-Jan. 19): Keep your eyes open for the opportunity. You might find yourself in a situation that will give you out and surprise. A past partner may end up being the same someone you trusted before.

---

Wrestling

All-American Mom leads Iowa wrestling team

by John Kryzsynek

Moore has had the challenge of coaching one of the top wrestling teams in the country. The Cedar Rapids Washington senior won the 169-pound weight class at the state championships.

---

LITTLE UNIVERSITY

by Scott Adams

DILBERT

DOONESBURY

THE NEW YORK TIMES CROSSWORD

by Very

---

SCOREBOARD

U.S. ends poorly at Presidents Cup

by John Kryzsynek

The U.S. team lost to South Korea in the Presidents Cup, falling to 12-20-1. The Americans lost to South Korea in the opening session, and then lost to Korea again in the final round. The Americans will play South Korea in the final round.

---

THE DIPLOMATIC DESK

WELCOMING RESPONSES

by John Kryzsynek

---

THE Ledge

WHAT NOT TO SAY WHEN YOU GO HOME FOR THANKSGIVING

by Jessemann

---

public access schedule

UI TV schedule

---

For community TV listings and program guides, check out Art and Entertainment at www.dailys쿤.com www.prairieleighc.com

---

brought to you by...
Tourney a test for Bluder's team

By FRANK KLIPSCH

The Iowa women's basketball team will take on the Butler Bulldogs today at Carver-Hawkeye Arena in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

Iowa is #1 in the Associated Press poll and has been in this position for the last 10 weeks of the season.

"We've been in this position for a long time, and we've been working hard to get here," said head coach Lisa Bluder. "Our goal is to make sure we're playing our best basketball at this time of year."
Sports

Friday

- Volleyball at Michigan, 6 p.m.
- "Women's Basketball" two at Purdue, 7:30 p.m.
- "Women's Swimming" at Minnesota, all day.
- "Women's Track and Field" at Purdue, 11 a.m. - 6 p.m.

Saturday

- Football at Wisconsin, 2:30 p.m.
- "Women's Basketball" at Michigan, 7 p.m.
- "Women's Swimming" at Minnesota, all day.
- "Track and Field" at Purdue, 11 a.m. - 6 p.m.

Sunday

- "Men's Basketball" against Ohio State, 4:05 p.m.
- "Women's Swimming" at Michigan, all day.
- "Women's Golf" at Lady Wisconsin, 10 a.m.

All admission free.

Television

Friday

CBS College Sports Network: NOT Second Round - 8 p.m. on ESPN.

Detroit Free Press, 7 p.m. on ESPN.

CSI: Miami, 7:30 on Fox.

"The Office," 8 p.m. on NBC.

Women's Magazine, 8:30 p.m. on Fox.

Saturday

ABC College Sports Network: NOT - 10 a.m. on ESPN.

CSI: Miami, 7 p.m. on NBC.

"Access Hollywood," 8 p.m. on NBC.

Sunday

ABC College Sports Network: NOT - 2:30 p.m. on ESPN.

CBS College Sports Network: NOT - 7 p.m. on ESPN.

The women's basketball team is not at Michigan, 7 p.m.

The women's swimming team is at Minnesota, all day.

The football team is at Wisconsin, 2:30 p.m.

The volleyball team is at Michigan, 6 p.m.

The volleyball team is at Purdue, 7:30 p.m.

The women's swimming team is at Minnesota, all day.

The men's basketball team is against Ohio State, 4:05 p.m.

The women's swimming team is at Michigan, all day.

The men's golf team is at Lady Wisconsin, 10 a.m.

All admission free.

Sports

The Vikings' Randy Moss may be a jerk, but he's still a solid fantasy pick this weekend against the Lions. By J. Linne Quarterbacks: Joe Kuykendall should have another solid game this week against a Chargers defense that goes downhill after week. Arian Bradie seems to perform well against your defense, and they don't get much better than Philadelphia's best-ranked pass defense. He will get a chance to make some things happen. Kelly Holcomb has played very well so far this season; he will be allowed to continue his pace and do the same against the Steelers. Trent Brady, who has been somewhere in fantasy obscurity this year, should be on the radar this weekend against the Bucs. Look for him to post big numbers all week.

Running backs: Patrick Crayton will get a chance to redeem himself this week after the Chief's embarrassing loss to the Bengals in Week 11. Holmes will have no problem running over Oakland's terrific run defense. Whether Rudi Johnson or Casey Dick is the starter this week, the Lions will have problems running all over the 3-13 Chars. While Fred Taylor is healthy, which is a rare

Green's finances: please do not get stab-him in back.

Randy Moss has already been to the hospital, and the team has a tough game this weekend. Moss is not as good as his hype, but he is a solid fantasy pick this weekend against the Lions. He also has a good chance of making some big plays this weekend.

Television

Friday

CBS College Sports Network: NOT Second Round - 8 p.m. on ESPN.

Detroit Free Press, 7 p.m. on ESPN.

CSI: Miami, 7:30 on Fox.

"The Office," 8 p.m. on Fox.

Saturday

ABC College Sports Network: NOT - 10 a.m. on ESPN.

CSI: Miami, 7 p.m. on NBC.

"Access Hollywood," 8 p.m. on NBC.

Sunday

ABC College Sports Network: NOT - 2:30 p.m. on ESPN.

CBS College Sports Network: NOT - 7 p.m. on ESPN.

The women's basketball team is not at Michigan, 7 p.m.

The women's swimming team is at Minnesota, all day.

The football team is at Wisconsin, 2:30 p.m.

The volleyball team is at Michigan, 6 p.m.

The volleyball team is at Purdue, 7:30 p.m.

The women's swimming team is at Minnesota, all day.

The men's basketball team is against Ohio State, 4:05 p.m.

The women's swimming team is at Michigan, all day.

The men's golf team is at Lady Wisconsin, 10 a.m.

All admission free.
Iowa faces two tough Michigan teams

BY JUSTIN KENNY

After a 25-70 record in 1979, Iowa's basketball team will look to Ante Arica, Mike, today to face Michigan. The team does not end there; the team faces a difficult team at East Lansing on Saturday to face Michigan State.

Coming off the team's first conference win of the season, coach Ray Barks-Crockett was ecstatic about the team not settling for wins.

"Last week's victory was a huge win for the team and we're looking forward to this weekend's competition. It's time to show off the team's depth and see if we can come from the season's struggles." Coach Barks-Crockett excitedly alerted the audience.

Iowa and Michigan will meet on Saturday at 7:20 p.m. at the Iowa State Coliseum. The game is expected to be a tough test for both teams, as the Hawkeyes look to continue their conference dominance.

Hawkeyes Abby Tjaden, Kali Johnson both score, but Iowa loses to Northwestern.

BY CHUCK SCHOFNIDER

DES MOINES - Even after coaching 333 Division I basketball games, a guy can still get a little nervous about the next one especially when he's coaching a team that's in the Big Ten.

When Tom Davis leads Iowa against Division I11 Simpson tonight, it will be the first game on his coaching record since March 1996.

"You get nervous," Davis said. "It's part of the profession. It's part of the pressure of playing a game where you are, what your team is doing with you, whether you still have to work or not.

He left coaching after the 1986-87 season, when Iowa did not extend his contract. His last game was a 134-lop loss to Connecticut in the third round of the NCAA tournament.

Davis has announced that he will leave Iowa in the spring of 2023 after the current season. He is a married father of four children and has been a long-time assistant coach at the University of Iowa and Minnesota.

We have been disappointed in recent years in our program in terms of our Big Ten finishes and our NBA draft results. We have had some disappointing moments, but we are looking forward to the future and the possibility of improving our program.

We will have a strong team next season, and we are excited to see what the future holds for us.

Iowa's athletic department has announced that they will be hiring a new head coach for the basketball team. The search is ongoing and we will announce the new head coach in the coming weeks.

Meanwhile, the team will face a tough test against the Hawkeyes in Iowa City on Saturday. We are looking forward to a great game and we wish the Hawkeyes the best of luck.

Iowa's athletic department has announced that they will be hiring a new head coach for the basketball team. The search is ongoing and we will announce the new head coach in the coming weeks.

Meanwhile, the team will face a tough test against the Hawkeyes in Iowa City on Saturday. We are looking forward to a great game and we wish the Hawkeyes the best of luck.

Iowa will face Michigan on Saturday at 7:20 p.m. at the Iowa State Coliseum. The game is expected to be a tough test for both teams, as the Hawkeyes look to continue their conference dominance.

The game will be broadcast on the Iowa Network and can also be heard on the Iowa Hawkeye Radio Network.

Sunday Night Tacos - All You Can Eat! 5:30p.m.

115 East College - 338-0660
gregorysrestaurant.com

Sunday Night Tacos - All You Can Eat! 5:30p.m.

115 East College - 338-0660
gregorysrestaurant.com
SPORTS

Hawkeye breakdown vs. Badgers

BY NICK RICHARDS

Quarterback: Aside from an early interception against Min- nesota, Nate Lewis has been arguably his best game so far. He has won the last two games, throwing for over 300 yards and a touchdown against the Gophers. Lewis has played with more confidence and limited turnovers, which has helped Iowa win.

Wide receiver: With Jermaine Lewis healthy, Iowa can go with a two-headed monster at running back with Powell and Lewis. Lewis showed his old form last week, and if he can continue to play at this level, it will be key for Iowa's success.

Defensive line: Iowa's defensive line played well against Wisconsin, with Damani Nook not playing and Deyon Bullock and Ziad Cowan getting their first starts on the same day. Iowa still needs to adjust and get a good rush on Badgers quarterback Graham Mertz.

Linebackers: Iowa's linebacker corps, led by Kristian Capel and Kingsley Enagbare, has been solid for the Hawkeyes. Capel leads the team in tackles with 63, and Enagbare has added 22 tackles this season.

Defensive back: The Hawkeyes' defensive backfield has been effective in the last two games. Cornerback Michael Ojemudia has intercepted a pass against Minnesota, while safety Joseph Young has added four tackles.

Offensive line: Iowa's offensive line has been strong in the last two games. Center Landan Paulson has played well, and tackle Tristan Wirfs has provided stability on the outside.

Coach: Kirk Ferentz has done an excellent job of keeping the team focused and motivated. He has made adjustments to keep Iowa competitive against some tough opponents.

Overall, Iowa has a good chance to win this game. If they can continue to play well on both sides of the ball, they will be in a good position to make the Big Ten championship game.
Deep bench new luxury for Hawks

MEN’S BASKETBALL

Continued from 10

Heights," said Altman. "As a coach, I think you can get so many letters that you lose some of your edge. You can have a great team but if it doesn’t have the aspect of being able to stretch and be aggressive, I think it’s a problem."}

Hawks fans will benefit in the long run from Altman’s decision. "I think it’s a great move for us," said Panthers head coach Bruce Pearl. "The Hawks have been a model franchise for others to follow."