Kinnick project gets $5 million

Family's gift marks one of the largest donations to athletics program ever

BY ALEX LANG
THE DAILY IOWAN

The Krause family of Des Moines has given the UI $5 million for the renovation of Kinnick Stadium, providing half of the private funds for the project. "A. "Rut" Krause, who is a founder and owner of more than 450 Knox & Go-stores in the Midwest, said he and his family were able to make the donation because the university needed it. His gift marks one of the largest donations in the athletic program over the past 10 years, according to a UI spokesman. During a Sept. 10 press conference held at the Krause Family House, Krause said his family's gift was "a way of saying thank you to the university." He said his family "loves" the university and that authorities believe the Krauses were involved in the crash that killed a 13-year-old. Krause and his wife, Mary, have three children: Bill, 23; Tim, 21; and Mike, 19. Bill, who was fond of riding horses, typically clad in grilled-cheese sandwiches.

MUSHROOM OVER KOREA

The mushroom cloud over North Korea has cast a shadow over the entire world, with experts predicting a potential nuclear explosion. Officials say that theCountry has not been able to confirm the existence of any weapon.

Russell Owens is once again helping Haywood fans get to the games

BY JIM BUdTS
THE DAILY IOWAN

The Iowa State Patrol on Sunday continued to investigate a crash last week in Iowa City that killed a 13-year-old boy and injured four others. The boy, who was not wearing a seat belt, was killed in the crash. He was a tennis player at the University of Iowa, and owner of more than 100 cars.

Conductor Russel Owens, 72, looks out the window of the Haywood Express on his way to the game Saturday. He is a conductor on the "Western special" passenger trains that have been running for over 100 years. Despite recent changes, he says the trains remain on the tracks.

CONDUCTOR of HISTORY

BY BRIAN SPANNAGL THE DAILY IOWAN

"Welcome aboard! Go back to the right if you can," Russell Owens, a volunteer conductor for the Haywood Express, told passengers boarding the train. Owens has been a conductor on the "Western special" passenger trains that have been running for over 100 years. Despite recent changes, he says the trains remain on the tracks.

Students' bus use in Iowa City skyrocket

BY MEIGHAN GROSH THE DAILY IOWAN

The city and university parking departments have increased the number of non-matriculated students who use the public bus system, thus driving less, and appear to have taken advantage of the opportunity. The two worked together to give discounts to students who bought semester bus passes and did not buy a day parking permit. Since parking officials reduced ticket costs two years ago, students are consistently riding more and driving less. Students paid the regular rate of $52 or $50 for five passes sold through August 10. Owen's parents, who were passengers on the train, said the conductor was a "close friend of the family." He died at the scene of the accident.

Russell Owens is once again helping Haywood fans get to the games

BY JIM BUdTS
THE DAILY IOWAN

The Iowa State Patrol on Sunday continued to investigate a crash last week in Iowa City that killed a 13-year-old boy and injured four others. The boy, who was not wearing a seat belt, was killed in the crash. He was a tennis player at the University of Iowa, and owner of more than 100 cars.

Conductor Russel Owens, 72, looks out the window of the Haywood Express on his way to the game Saturday. He is a conductor on the "Western special" passenger trains that have been running for over 100 years. Despite recent changes, he says the trains remain on the tracks.

CONDUCTOR of HISTORY

BY BRIAN SPANNAGL THE DAILY IOWAN

"Welcome aboard! Go back to the right if you can," Russell Owens, a volunteer conductor for the Haywood Express, told passengers boarding the train. Owens has been a conductor on the "Western special" passenger trains that have been running for over 100 years. Despite recent changes, he says the trains remain on the tracks.

Students' bus use in Iowa City skyrocket

BY MEIGHAN GROSH THE DAILY IOWAN

The city and university parking departments have increased the number of non-matriculated students who use the public bus system, thus driving less, and appear to have taken advantage of the opportunity. The two worked together to give discounts to students who bought semester bus passes and did not buy a day parking permit. Since parking officials reduced ticket costs two years ago, students are consistently riding more and driving less. Students paid the regular rate of $52 or $50 for five passes sold through August 10. Owen's parents, who were passengers on the train, said the conductor was a "close friend of the family." He died at the scene of the accident.

Russell Owens is once again helping Haywood fans get to the games

BY JIM BUdTS
THE DAILY IOWAN

The Iowa State Patrol on Sunday continued to investigate a crash last week in Iowa City that killed a 13-year-old boy and injured four others. The boy, who was not wearing a seat belt, was killed in the crash. He was a tennis player at the University of Iowa, and owner of more than 100 cars.

Conductor Russel Owens, 72, looks out the window of the Haywood Express on his way to the game Saturday. He is a conductor on the "Western special" passenger trains that have been running for over 100 years. Despite recent changes, he says the trains remain on the tracks.

CONDUCTOR of HISTORY

BY BRIAN SPANNAGL THE DAILY IOWAN

"Welcome aboard! Go back to the right if you can," Russell Owens, a volunteer conductor for the Haywood Express, told passengers boarding the train. Owens has been a conductor on the "Western special" passenger trains that have been running for over 100 years. Despite recent changes, he says the trains remain on the tracks.

Students' bus use in Iowa City skyrocket

BY MEIGHAN GROSH THE DAILY IOWAN

The city and university parking departments have increased the number of non-matriculated students who use the public bus system, thus driving less, and appear to have taken advantage of the opportunity. The two worked together to give discounts to students who bought semester bus passes and did not buy a day parking permit. Since parking officials reduced ticket costs two years ago, students are consistently riding more and driving less. Students paid the regular rate of $52 or $50 for five passes sold through August 10. Owen's parents, who were passengers on the train, said the conductor was a "close friend of the family." He died at the scene of the accident.

Russell Owens is once again helping Haywood fans get to the games

BY JIM BUdTS
THE DAILY IOWAN

The Iowa State Patrol on Sunday continued to investigate a crash last week in Iowa City that killed a 13-year-old boy and injured four others. The boy, who was not wearing a seat belt, was killed in the crash. He was a tennis player at the University of Iowa, and owner of more than 100 cars.

Conductor Russel Owens, 72, looks out the window of the Haywood Express on his way to the game Saturday. He is a conductor on the "Western special" passenger trains that have been running for over 100 years. Despite recent changes, he says the trains remain on the tracks.

CONDUCTOR of HISTORY

BY BRIAN SPANNAGL THE DAILY IOWAN

"Welcome aboard! Go back to the right if you can," Russell Owens, a volunteer conductor for the Haywood Express, told passengers boarding the train. Owens has been a conductor on the "Western special" passenger trains that have been running for over 100 years. Despite recent changes, he says the trains remain on the tracks.

Students' bus use in Iowa City skyrocket

BY MEIGHAN GROSH THE DAILY IOWAN

The city and university parking departments have increased the number of non-matriculated students who use the public bus system, thus driving less, and appear to have taken advantage of the opportunity. The two worked together to give discounts to students who bought semester bus passes and did not buy a day parking permit. Since parking officials reduced ticket costs two years ago, students are consistently riding more and driving less. Students paid the regular rate of $52 or $50 for five passes sold through August 10. Owen's parents, who were passengers on the train, said the conductor was a "close friend of the family." He died at the scene of the accident.

Russell Owens is once again helping Haywood fans get to the games

BY JIM BUdTS
THE DAILY IOWAN

The Iowa State Patrol on Sunday continued to investigate a crash last week in Iowa City that killed a 13-year-old boy and injured four others. The boy, who was not wearing a seat belt, was killed in the crash. He was a tennis player at the University of Iowa, and owner of more than 100 cars.

Conductor Russel Owens, 72, looks out the window of the Haywood Express on his way to the game Saturday. He is a conductor on the "Western special" passenger trains that have been running for over 100 years. Despite recent changes, he says the trains remain on the tracks.

CONDUCTOR of HISTORY

BY BRIAN SPANNAGL THE DAILY IOWAN

"Welcome aboard! Go back to the right if you can," Russell Owens, a volunteer conductor for the Haywood Express, told passengers boarding the train. Owens has been a conductor on the "Western special" passenger trains that have been running for over 100 years. Despite recent changes, he says the trains remain on the tracks.

Students' bus use in Iowa City skyrocket

BY MEIGHAN GROSH THE DAILY IOWAN

The city and university parking departments have increased the number of non-matriculated students who use the public bus system, thus driving less, and appear to have taken advantage of the opportunity. The two worked together to give discounts to students who bought semester bus passes and did not buy a day parking permit. Since parking officials reduced ticket costs two years ago, students are consistently riding more and driving less. Students paid the regular rate of $52 or $50 for five passes sold through August 10. Owen's parents, who were passengers on the train, said the conductor was a "close friend of the family." He died at the scene of the accident.
NEWS

An Iowa City woman is the second Paul's employee to be charged in a month. An Iowa City woman was charged Sept. 10 with operating while intoxicated and driving with a suspended or revoked license. PAULA was charged Sept. 10 with possession of an open alcohol container in public.

The amount embezzled was $1,343.21, and PAULA started working at Paul's in May 2004. The go-ahead and PAULA, 20, was charged Sept. 11 with unlawful use of another's driver's license. PAULA, 20, was charged Sept. 10 with possession of an open alcohol container in public. The amount PAULA was charged with was $1,476.98.

Casey Townsend, 19, Iowa City, was charged Sept. 11 with unlawful use of another's driver's license. Townsend was the first Paul's employee to be charged in August with possession of an open alcohol container in public.

The amount Townsend was charged with was $1,968.44. Townsend was a daytime bookkeeper, allegedly started working at Paul's in June 2004. Townsend was charged Aug. 27 with operating while intoxicated and driving with a suspended or revoked license. The amount Townsend was charged with was $1,000.00.

POLICE BLOTTER

Annabell Aulby, 20, 22000 Block, was charged Sept. 9 with operating while intoxicated, driving with a suspended or revoked license, and unlawful use of another's driver's license. Aulby was charged Sept. 9 with possession of an open alcohol container in public. The amount Aulby was charged with was $1,850.00.

Eric Attman, 20, Urbandale, was charged Sept. 9 with operating while intoxicated and driving with a suspended or revoked license. Attman was charged Sept. 9 with possession of an open alcohol container in public. The amount Attman was charged with was $1,950.00.

Eric Depa, 22, 522 N. Clinton St., was charged Sept. 10 with unlawful use of another's driver's license. Depa was charged Sept. 10 with possession of an open alcohol container in public. The amount Depa was charged with was $1,650.00.

Ryan Bumgertel, 21, 1010 E. Fairchild St., was charged Sept. 11 with public intoxication. Bryan was charged Sept. 11 with unlawful use of another's driver's license. Bryan was charged Sept. 11 with possession of an open alcohol container in public. The amount Bryan was charged with was $1,500.00.

History Major, 20, 505 S. Gilbert St., was charged Sept. 10 with possession of an open alcohol container in public. The amount History Major was charged with was $1,650.00.

Scott Moore, 19, 117 S. Gilbert St., was charged Sept. 11 with possession of an open alcohol container in public. The amount Scott Moore was charged with was $1,650.00.

Valerie Cedar, 19, 505 S. Gilbert St., was charged Sept. 10 with possession of an open alcohol container in public. The amount Valerie Cedar was charged with was $1,650.00.

Kyle Dingman, 21, 2030 E. State St., was charged Sept. 11 with possession of an open alcohol container in public. The amount Kyle Dingman was charged with was $1,650.00.
Many tenants do not know they are over-occupied because they do not receive a notice in the mail to inform them of the over-occupation. Iowa City, however, is doing its part to make sure its tenants are aware of the situation. The city has sent out notices to over-occupied tenants highlighting the issue and what they can do to fix it.

"We encourage renters to pay their rent, not to make legal occupancy complaints," says Norm Cote, Iowa City's senior housing inspector. "If tenants are over-occupied, they should report the issue to the city and we will work with them to fix it."
Nation

10 dead in suspected arson

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A suspect was arrested through an apartment complex in suburban Columbus on Sunday killing 10 people who lived in the same apartment and forcing others to jump from the third-floor window to escape.

A 16-year-old boy was sentenced Monday to unspecified time in a juvenile detention center, which means the building's roof. The boy was 16 when he lived with his parents and left his wooden skeleton exposed. As police assaulted the building, Flanagan pulled him from a ladder as he tried to escape.

My family is dead," Flanagan said. "He told me that he and his brother only lived together and Flanagan did not believe there were signs of a fire in the building. Authorities won't say whether others were still missing.

The fire came just two weeks after three people were found dead in the same building in an empty apartment and another person in a St. Louission. There were no suspects and no known witnesses to Sunday's suspected arson. He said,

"They really are a child, a kid on the third floor and to jump," Flanagan said.

"They were out of their heads. They didn't know what they were doing." he said.

Two people, including a woman who was pregnant, were pulled from a first-floor window, a nursing home said.

Crime rate remains low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's worst city, Los Angeles, is now the 23rd safest city due to the decrease in violent crime this year.

The study was the latest to show a decrease in violent crime as measured by victimizations in 2013, the report pointed out. "Crime rates have stabilized," the report said.

"There are still some areas of concern," said a U.S. Department of Justice official. "But the overall picture is good." The official said.

"The decrease is due to an increase in the number of arrests, a decrease in the number of victims, and a decrease in the number of violent crimes per capita.

The decrease is due to an increase in the number of arrests, a decrease in the number of victims, and a decrease in the number of violent crimes per capita.

The decrease is due to an increase in the number of arrests, a decrease in the number of victims, and a decrease in the number of violent crimes per capita.

The decrease is due to an increase in the number of arrests, a decrease in the number of victims, and a decrease in the number of violent crimes per capita.

The decrease is due to an increase in the number of arrests, a decrease in the number of victims, and a decrease in the number of violent crimes per capita.

The decrease is due to an increase in the number of arrests, a decrease in the number of victims, and a decrease in the number of violent crimes per capita.

The decrease is due to an increase in the number of arrests, a decrease in the number of victims, and a decrease in the number of violent crimes per capita.

By HILARY ROOKE

Entertainment

Introducing in Calling from Verizon Wireless. Join in and get unlimited calling to every other Verizon Wireless customer. ANYTIME, ANYWHERE to the any of the 38 million customers from the National in Calling Coverage Area. 1 to 2-year Customer Agreement on Calling Plans starting at $39.99 monthly access.

Unlimited Calling

From the National in Calling Coverage Area

Plus, unlimited Night & Weekend Minutes and 400 anytime minutes when calling in the America's Choice Coverage Area. @ Calling not available everywhere in the America's Choice Coverage Area.

for only $39.99 monthly access.

Network not available everywhere. Select CDMA phone required. Calls placed outside of rate areas are 69¢/min.

* Activation fees, taxes and other charges apply.

Are you in? 50% OFF

Any Car Charger or Leather Case in Store

Expires October 11, 2004 or while supplies last.

New 2-year customer agreement required. Some restrictions apply.

The one accessory that goes with everything.

About Wireless World

Wireless World is the best place to find the latest wireless technology for your car. With a wide variety of products available, Wireless World offers the latest in car entertainment and communication systems. From Bluetooth headsets to car stereos, Wireless World has you covered. Visit us online or in store to find the perfect accessory for your car.

Old Capitol Town Center Coral Ridge Mall

Cedar Rapids - Westdale Mall Kiosk - 319-390-4989

www.wirelessworld.com

"It's A Wireless World!"
Iraqi insurgents pound Baghdad

Thirty-seven are killed in the capital, 59 across Iraq on a chaotic day

BY ROBERT H. REID

BAGHDAD — Insurgents lobbed mortars and fired machine guns and rocket-propelled grenades as they took cover in Baghdad on Sunday, killing at least 37 people, officials said.

"There was a lot of activity around the city today," said a police official at the business area in west Baghdad.

The violence comes as U.S. and Iraqi officials said they are ready to sign an agreement to begin handing over security to the Iraqi government.

U.S. and Iraqi officials have said they are close to signing an agreement to begin the handover of security to the Iraqi government. The agreement, which is expected to be signed in the next few days, would give the Iraqi government control over security operations in the country.

The deal comes as the United States and Iraq are working to improve security in the country. The United States has been providing aid to Iraq to help improve security, but the Iraqi government has been slow to take advantage of the aid.

In recent weeks, the United States and Iraq have been working to improve security in the country. The United States has been providing aid to Iraq to help improve security, but the Iraqi government has been slow to take advantage of the aid.

In recent weeks, the United States and Iraq have been working to improve security in the country. The United States has been providing aid to Iraq to help improve security, but the Iraqi government has been slow to take advantage of the aid.

The deal comes as the United States and Iraq are working to improve security in the country. The United States has been providing aid to Iraq to help improve security, but the Iraqi government has been slow to take advantage of the aid.

In recent weeks, the United States and Iraq have been working to improve security in the country. The United States has been providing aid to Iraq to help improve security, but the Iraqi government has been slow to take advantage of the aid.
The Israei leader's intention to vacate Gaza has stirred warnings of civil war

BY JOSEF FEDERMAN

JERUSALEM — Tens of thousands of Jewish settlers and their factions demonstrated in Jerusalem on Sunday against Prime Minister Ariel Sharon's plan to evacuate all settlements from Gaza and parts of the West Bank enclave in a rally held against a backdrop of assassination threats and warnings of civil war.

The withdrawal plan has upset the Israeli political scene since it was announced last year, turning Sharon's backers into opponents and demonstrators into supporters. Shouting Palestinians believe the whole plan is a trick to secure parts of the West Bank to Israel. The demonstrators who were marching down Jerusalem's main Shoshana street and along the roads around the capital, shouting down the police in the planned protest.

Many of the thousands walking down the streets were Orthodox Jewish men, most of them barefooted and wearing phylacteries and kippas. A large banner behind the stage set the theme: "We are determined to put our children's brothers in Gaza as our own, and not to have them killed by anyone." Many waved blue-and-white Israeli flags.

Organizers pledged to present instrument to violence, but there were some stone-throwing incidents.

One place warned that the demonstration's last meeting had been violent, and the meeting's committee would "not be forgiven." Another showed a picture of Sharon under the word, "The Chris tens," and another banner said, "A time to love, a time to hate," quoting the biblical Book of Ecclesiastes.

Israelis ngọt and sing and hold torches at the end of a twilight march in downtown Jerusalem on Sunday. The protests against Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon’s plan to evacuate all settlements from the Gaza Strip and the West Bank enclaves.

President Bush said that the decision on the Gaza Strip and the West Bank was just a "small step" in the long road to peace. He said he was "determined that they're not going to achieve a nuclear-weapons capability," he said.

Israel's government remained divided ahead of the Monday meeting.

Speaking in the Jordanian capital Sunday, Foreign Ministry spokesman Nabeel Rajib said his country would not give in to demands that it abandon its nuclear program — a process with applications in both generating electricity and making nuclear weapons.

And repeated that Iraq was willing to provide guarantees it is making nuclear weapons. It is a move that has been discussed in the past by the United States and others as inadequate.

Enrichment does not fall under Iran's obligations under the nonproliferation treaty, but the regime has been under international pressure for more than a year to fully resume enrichment to counter suggestions that came from the discovery two years ago that it had hidden some nuclear activities for nearly two decades.

A U.S. official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Iran's defense was helping Washington. He said Friday that officials on the U.S. nuclear option had repeated on top of dealing with Iran. "We were determined that they're not going to achieve a nuclear-weapons capability," he said.

John Bolton, undersecretary of State

The mood of the meeting was set by the announcement last week that the head of the International Atomic Energy Agency, who has been called the closest thing to a nuclear-weapons inspector, was planning a visit to Iran. The Iranians have been pressing for the agency inspectors to visit their facilities.

Iran is working to develop a nuclear-weapons capability, the U.S. government has warned. But foreign governments have been careful to avoid any suggestion that they are pressuring Iran to stop work on its nuclear program.

A top U.S. official said that the Bush administration hoped for a "peaceful and diplomatic" solution in its efforts to prevent Iran from developing a nuclear-weapons capability. The administration is now focused on the nonproliferation treaty, but the regime has been under international pressure for more than a year to fully resume enrichment to counter suggestions that came from the discovery two years ago that it had hidden some nuclear activities for nearly two decades.

A U.S. official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Iran's defense was helping Washington. He said Friday that officials on the U.S. nuclear option had repeated on top of dealing with Iran. "We were determined that they're not going to achieve a nuclear-weapons capability," he said.

John Bolton, undersecretary of State

A top U.S. official said that the Bush administration hoped for a "peaceful and diplomatic" solution in its efforts to prevent Iran from developing a nuclear-weapons capability. The administration is now focused on the nonproliferation treaty, but the regime has been under international pressure for more than a year to fully resume enrichment to counter suggestions that came from the discovery two years ago that it had hidden some nuclear activities for nearly two decades.

A U.S. official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Iran's defense was helping Washington. He said Friday that officials on the U.S. nuclear option had repeated on top of dealing with Iran. "We were determined that they're not going to achieve a nuclear-weapons capability," he said.

John Bolton, undersecretary of State

The mood of the meeting was set by the announcement last week that the head of the International Atomic Energy Agency, who has been called the closest thing to a nuclear-weapons inspector, was planning a visit to Iran. The Iranians have been pressing for the agency inspectors to visit their facilities.

Iran is working to develop a nuclear-weapons capability, the U.S. government has warned. But foreign governments have been careful to avoid any suggestion that they are pressuring Iran to stop work on its nuclear program.

A top U.S. official said that the Bush administration hoped for a "peaceful and diplomatic" solution in its efforts to prevent Iran from developing a nuclear-weapons capability. The administration is now focused on the nonproliferation treaty, but the regime has been under international pressure for more than a year to fully resume enrichment to counter suggestions that came from the discovery two years ago that it had hidden some nuclear activities for nearly two decades.

A U.S. official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Iran's defense was helping Washington. He said Friday that officials on the U.S. nuclear option had repeated on top of dealing with Iran. "We were determined that they're not going to achieve a nuclear-weapons capability," he said.

John Bolton, undersecretary of State

A top U.S. official said that the Bush administration hoped for a "peaceful and diplomatic" solution in its efforts to prevent Iran from developing a nuclear-weapons capability. The administration is now focused on the nonproliferation treaty, but the regime has been under international pressure for more than a year to fully resume enrichment to counter suggestions that came from the discovery two years ago that it had hidden some nuclear activities for nearly two decades.

A U.S. official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Iran's defense was helping Washington. He said Friday that officials on the U.S. nuclear option had repeated on top of dealing with Iran. "We were determined that they're not going to achieve a nuclear-weapons capability," he said.

John Bolton, undersecretary of State

A top U.S. official said that the Bush administration hoped for a "peaceful and diplomatic" solution in its efforts to prevent Iran from developing a nuclear-weapons capability. The administration is now focused on the nonproliferation treaty, but the regime has been under international pressure for more than a year to fully resume enrichment to counter suggestions that came from the discovery two years ago that it had hidden some nuclear activities for nearly two decades.

A U.S. official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Iran's defense was helping Washington. He said Friday that officials on the U.S. nuclear option had repeated on top of dealing with Iran. "We were determined that they're not going to achieve a nuclear-weapons capability," he said.

John Bolton, undersecretary of State

A top U.S. official said that the Bush administration hoped for a "peaceful and diplomatic" solution in its efforts to prevent Iran from developing a nuclear-weapons capability. The administration is now focused on the nonproliferation treaty, but the regime has been under international pressure for more than a year to fully resume enrichment to counter suggestions that came from the discovery two years ago that it had hidden some nuclear activities for nearly two decades.

A U.S. official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Iran's defense was helping Washington. He said Friday that officials on the U.S. nuclear option had repeated on top of dealing with Iran. "We were determined that they're not going to achieve a nuclear-weapons capability," he said.

John Bolton, undersecretary of State

A top U.S. official said that the Bush administration hoped for a "peaceful and diplomatic" solution in its efforts to prevent Iran from developing a nuclear-weapons capability. The administration is now focused on the nonproliferation treaty, but the regime has been under international pressure for more than a year to fully resume enrichment to counter suggestions that came from the discovery two years ago that it had hidden some nuclear activities for nearly two decades.

A U.S. official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Iran's defense was helping Washington. He said Friday that officials on the U.S. nuclear option had repeated on top of dealing with Iran. "We were determined that they're not going to achieve a nuclear-weapons capability," he said.

John Bolton, undersecretary of State

A top U.S. official said that the Bush administration hoped for a "peaceful and diplomatic" solution in its efforts to prevent Iran from developing a nuclear-weapons capability. The administration is now focused on the nonproliferation treaty, but the regime has been under international pressure for more than a year to fully resume enrichment to counter suggestions that came from the discovery two years ago that it had hidden some nuclear activities for nearly two decades.

A U.S. official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Iran's defense was helping Washington. He said Friday that officials on the U.S. nuclear option had repeated on top of dealing with Iran. "We were determined that they're not going to achieve a nuclear-weapons capability," he said.

John Bolton, undersecretary of State

A top U.S. official said that the Bush administration hoped for a "peaceful and diplomatic" solution in its efforts to prevent Iran from developing a nuclear-weapons capability. The administration is now focused on the nonproliferation treaty, but the regime has been under international pressure for more than a year to fully resume enrichment to counter suggestions that came from the discovery two years ago that it had hidden some nuclear activities for nearly two decades.

A U.S. official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Iran's defense was helping Washington. He said Friday that officials on the U.S. nuclear option had repeated on top of dealing with Iran. "We were determined that they're not going to achieve a nuclear-weapons capability," he said.
Family gives Kinnick $5 million

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

The donation also allows the university to keep Kinnick Stadium....

OMNIA PARKING

Students riding bus...
Illegal downloading is inappropriate for all ages.

If you think you can get away with illegally swapping movies, you're wrong. Illegally trafficking in movies is not just a dirty little secret between you and your computer. You leave a trail. The message is simple: if you are downloading copyrighted movies without proper authorization, you are breaking the law. You face serious consequences if you illegally swap movies. The only way not to get caught is to stop.

Pursuant to the Copyright Act (17 U.S.C. Section 504(c)), statutory damages can be as much as $30,000 per motion picture, and up to $150,000 per motion picture if the infringement is willful.

© 2004 Motion Picture Association of America, Inc.
Pulling the trigger on weapons ban

The 1994 federal assault-weapons ban expired on July 19, and yet today, a depressing customary of an election season in which facts and honest debate have been abandoned for claims and political pandering. This has been so far removed from what is seriously to do as it is a sad commentary on the state of current public investigations on to what has been the most disastrous and ill-conceived policy. It has reduced the number of crimes committed with assault weapons. It is a failure in part because it is not enough to concurrently address the issue of how to address the need for a ban on assault weapons. This has been far more, not more, and not making legal.

If the problem is not that enough heavy-metal weapons are banned, the sensible solution is to ban more of them, not to make legal.

The ban has serious drawbacks, most specifically its limited scope. Numerous exceptions and a somewhat illogical set of criteria for defining an "assault weapon" make it farly easy to purchase a deadly semiautomatic rifle. This is not true of the 16 specific weapons that the ban is designed to ban, such as the AK-47 and AR-15 assault rifles — commercially available.

While the ban's impulsiveness is subject to debate, it has reduced the number of crimes committed with assault weapons. If the problem is that not enough heavy-metal weapons are banned, the sensible solution is to ban more of them, not to make legal. Tellingly, this is the position of the majority of local law-enforcement officers, who have decades of experience with weapons on hand; police chiefs and sheriffs across the state and the nation agree.

There is a shortage of public support, either. Studies consistently show that the majority of Americans favor the ban by a sharp majority to 15 percent in Iowa City, according to a poll by the Iowa Environmental Council, and by an even more substantial margin by our government than the tremendous lobbying power of such groups as the Gun Owners of America, which has taken on an almost fanatical stance against the ban.

Stop complaining about The Ledge

I read your recent letter about the affectionateness of Josh Burt’s letter in The Ledge. I just want to let people in to enjoy, I have enjoyed the comment by Ledge about the current and the subject about Jada.

I can’t believe people would get so upset over this. There are more important things to worry about than this, such as guns, this on coming presidential election, and how much left in the key.

As far as the complaints about the Constitution, unannounced violence, not all magazines were created equal. Counterparts faced nation, among which Gavin Newsome’s behavior was a mere 51 percent of the majority of these rural readers in the weapon and sausage community. It is consistent with the dangers of this future and tremendously excited for the facts.

Don’t blame U.S. for Russian massacre

It is necessary to point out that Jay Miller’s letter “Anti-commissar efforts too, but” (July 9), is not in regard the proceedings of Russia’s Chechen massacre. These rebels are not the same as the magicians and assassins, our Al Qaeda. Although links between the two have been alleged, they have never been thoroughly proven. More likely, these claims are an attempt to draw American weapons from Vladimir Putin’s lately ironclad in the Caucasus. Furthermore, even in the context of the Afghan illusion, not all magazines were created equal.

Indoor rain forest will be boon for region

An indoor rain forest known as the Ledge Park Wading Pool Project will be constructed this fall. The unique facility will also be a tourist attraction. The pool will offer a unique opportunity to explore the ecosystem of a rain forest. Public and private programs will be established in the future. This project will especially offer great opportunities to students and residents in the environmental sciences and related disciplines.

ON THE SPOT

Should assault weapons be legally allowable in the United States?

I would say, there is no doubt, that we should ban assault weapons. But, we should also take a more comprehensive approach to gun control, such as universal background checks and limiting the size of magazines.

When a heart is in trouble, no one offers more experts with more solutions.

The answer to a heart problem isn’t always as obvious as it seems. So shouldn’t you see the leaders helping experts right from the start?

Specialists at University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics are practicing heart care on the leading edge. They are working with the frontiers of their field, introducing procedures many hospitals have yet to see.

They’re using minimally invasive surgery to repair tiny holes in the heart. They’re performing the region’s first robotic surgeries to repair mitral valves, helping patients recover sooner. And here, the region’s foremost experts in arrhythmia are doing amazing things to help hearts beat normally again.

With a cardiac rehab program and chest pain center that are second to none, this is simply the most comprehensive heart care in the state. That’s the academic difference.

For more information, call 1-800-777-8442, or visit uhhealthcare.com/changingleves.
WEALTH OR WISDOM?
ELEVATOR OR STAIRS? LIQUID OR POWDER?*

you have priorities.
Set them guide you as you build your career.
Define what's important to you and see what's important to others.
pwc.com/mypriorities

*connectedthinking
IOWA 17, IOWA STATE 10
BEFORE: ARIZONA STATE, SEP. 18, TEMPE, ARIZ., 9:05 PM

Iowa's defense put on a stubborn and relentless display against the Iowa State Cyclones, protecting the home turf and enabling the team to get past the troubles of the young and inconsistent offense.

DEFENDING KINNICK

BEN ROBERTS

The Daily Iowan

Hawkeyes defensive lineman Jonathan Babineaux flashes off a sack on Cyclone quarterback Austin Flyer during the beginning of the fourth quarter. Iowa held the Cyclones to 232 total yards, 38 fewer than what the Hawkeyes gained.

Tenacious D holds late-game ISU surge

ROBERT L. MILLER

DAILY IOWAN

On Sept. 11 against Iowa State, the Hawkeye offense displayed flashes of greatness, but still failed to establish consistency. However, the Iowa defense further proved it is the backbone of the team.

The defense, which is known for its ferocity, limited Iowa State to 69 yards rushing in the first quarter and only two first-down conversions on third down. The Hawkeyes stood tall during long time-consuming possessions. Both Iowa State quarterbacks were under duress. Though they did get a few first downs, they were quickly collapsed on.

"I think we did fairly well against them, and we won the game, obviously, because our defense stepped up in the last half," defensive coordinator Jon Hoke said.

With 1:09 remaining, trailing 17-10 in the fourth quarter, Iowa State began the final drive of the game from its own 32, desperate for a game-tying touchdown and extra point. After a second and third-down conversion from the Cyclones 28, Iowa's defense stepped up in the last half.

The Hawkeyes, highlighted by a 17-10 victory.

ROBERT L. MILLER

The Daily Iowan

Hawkeyes running back Jermelle Lewis sprays past a Cyclone defender for a big gain on Sept. 11 at Kinnick Stadium. Lewis led the Hawkeyes with 177 rushing yards and 44 receiving yards in the Hawkeyes' 17-10 victory.

Tenacious D holds late-game ISU surge
SPORTS DIGEST

Men's cross-country win triangular meet

The Iowa and Missouri State cross-country teams were victors as the Hawkeyes dominated the first triangular meet of the season on Sept. 15 at the 2-mile course at the University of Iowa. In the triangular meet, the Hawkeyes defeated Illinois State by 12 points and Missouri by 19.

The Hawkeyes were led by Brooks Radeke, who won the individual championship with a time of 10:00.8. The 10:00.8 time was Radeke's best of the season so far. Also leading the Hawkeyes were Josh Collins and Tim Strover, who placed second and fifth, respectively.

Missouri State's Brian Hennessy and Missouri's Dan Reilly were the only runners to break 10 minutes, posting times of 9:59.6 and 9:59.7, respectively. The Hawkeyes' victory was their first of the season and their first triangular meet victory since 1992.

IOWA SPORTS

Women's soccer team stays positive

The Hawkeyes dominated the game, scoring four goals and holding the opposing team scoreless. Their victory was their second in a row and their third in their last four games.

The Hawkeyes are now 3-0-1 in their last four games and have scored a total of 11 goals in those games. They are currently fourth in the Big Ten standings, just behind Ohio State, Michigan, and Minnesota, who are all undefeated in conference play.

BRYAN BAMBONTE
3/12/94

The Iowa women's soccer team had a solid weekend, but coach Carl Baker and his squad were able to earn their first point of the young 1994 season.

Following a disappointing 1-0 loss to Drake on Sept. 15, the Hawkeyes returned to Iowa City on Sunday for a home game against Miami (Ohio). The Hawkeyes made the most of their home crowd, dominating the game from start to finish.

The Hawkeyes were led by senior forward Jenna Rahn, who scored her first goal of the season and added two assists. The Hawkeyes also received goals from senior midfielder Sarah Jones and junior forward Morgan O'Leary. The Hawkeyes' victory was their second in a row and their third in their last four games.

The Hawkeyes are now 3-0-1 in their last four games and have scored a total of 11 goals in those games. They are currently fourth in the Big Ten standings, just behind Ohio State, Michigan, and Minnesota, who are all undefeated in conference play.
NFL ROUNDUP

Lions end road streak, beat Bears

Lions 20, Bears 16

CHICAGO - Finally, a road win for the Detroit Lions. Detroit stopped an 11-game road losing streak by beating the mediocre-Chicago Bears, 20-16, as Lewis Streets provided a huge lift.

Streets, who earlier returned a fumbled field goal 92 yards for a touchdown, returned a punt 37 yards and fumbled it at the Bears' 1-yard line on the last play of the game, and Chicago failed to score.

The Bears had kept their playoff hopes alive with a late touchdown by Brian Moorman in the fourth quarter, but Detroit answered with a 3-yard touchdown pass by Detriot Lions quarterback Scott Mayfield with 1:02 remaining.

The Lions (4-3) tied the game at 16 with a 19-yard field goal by Nick Harbaugh with 1:02 left, but Chicago (4-3) came within 1 point with 0:23 remaining.

The Lions took the lead with 5:50 left in the first quarter when Streets returned a punt 37 yards and fumbled it at the Bears' 1-yard line. Chicago was penalized on the play and the Lions recovered at the 1 for a touchdown.

The Bears tied the game at 4 with a 1-yard touchdown pass from Kerry Collins to Tony Gonzalez on a 4th-and-goal play from the 1 with 5:50 left in the second quarter.

Detroit took the lead with 11:47 left in the third quarter when Streets returned a punt 37 yards and fumbled the football at the Bears' 1-yard line. Chicago was penalized on the play and the Lions recovered at the 1 yard line for a touchdown.

The Bears tied the game at 13 with a 1-yard touchdown pass from Kerry Collins to Tony Gonzalez on a 4th-and-goal play from the 1 with 11:47 left in the fourth quarter.

The Lions took the lead with 5:50 left in the fourth quarter when Streets returned a punt 37 yards and fumbled the football at the Bears' 1-yard line. Chicago was penalized on the play and the Lions recovered at the 1 yard line for a touchdown.

The Lions took the lead with 5:50 left in the fourth quarter when Streets returned a punt 37 yards and fumbled the football at the Bears' 1-yard line. Chicago was penalized on the play and the Lions recovered at the 1 yard line for a touchdown.
UNITED IN SPIRIT

Milestones before kickoff at Kinnick Stadium on the third anniversary of the 9/11 terrorist attacks. New Jersey firefighters hold an American flag that was pulled from the rubble of Ground Zero. The pregame ceremony included a 10-second moment of silence and an appearance by three New York firefighters who were at the World Trade Center site three years ago.

DIVIDED BY FOOTBALL

Iowa defeats Iowa State for first time in 8 years at Kinnick

By The Numbers

0
No red-zone scoring for the Cyclones (0 for 2)

4
Only four rushes for Iowa of 10 yards or more

220
Most yards passing for sophomore quarterback Drew Tate in his career

Prime Plays

Matt Roth knocking out Iowa State quarterback Austin Flynn in the fourth quarter — Jason Brummond
Ed Hinkel's spectacular 29-yard touchdown reception — Ryan Long
Jovon Johnson's body slam tackle on Iowa State receiver Todd Blythe — Nick Richards

Game Ball

Drew Tate
In just his second career start, Tate was nearly flawless, throwing for 230 yards on 16-22 passing and one touchdown. His only blemish was an interception in the fourth quarter.

Box Scores

ML 120 Iowa 10, Iowa State 7

Scoreboard

Iowa 005 15 Iowa State 001 12

Schedule

Sept 4 Iowa 005 Notre Dame 0
Sept 7 Iowa 005 Indiana State 0
Sept 11 Iowa 17, Iowa State 10
Sept 18 Iowa State 28, Iowa 18
Sept 25 Michigan 38, Iowa 14
Oct 2 Ohio State 39, Iowa 28
Oct 9 Penn State 0, Iowa 10
Oct 16 Iowa State 28, Iowa 16
Oct 23 Illinois 35, Iowa 27
Nov 6 Iowa State 24, Iowa 14
Nov 12 Minnesota 24, Iowa 0
Nov 25 Iowa State 27, Iowa 10
Iowa has a scary road ahead of it

RICHARDS
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 18

The Hawks offensive line is young, and the members have only been together for a few weeks. But they did perform well, said McCann. "I think right now we're doing a pretty good job," he said. "But I think right now we don't have the cohesiveness, the tempo as a whole." The Hawks are going to be a lot of driving and fighting and scratching and digging to get yardage and first downs. Lowes and a 1-yard gain, he said it did not look promising. Now, we need to get the Iowa line. Tyson Smith played in four games, and he blocked a field goal. Can you imagine how good that unit would be if Alton Hernandez wasn't still sitting in a Brevity County jail? The Hawks offensive line is young, and the members have only been together for a few weeks. But they did perform well, said McCann. "I think right now we're doing a pretty good job," he said. "But I think right now we don't have the cohesiveness, the tempo as a whole." The Hawks are going to be a lot of driving and fighting and scratching and digging to get yardage and first downs. Lowes and a 1-yard gain, he said it did not look promising.

The Hawks offensive line struggled for the second-consecutive week, allowing four sacks and six tackles for loss. Iowa had only four for more than 10 yards. Ferentz said he wasn't able to tell from the film whether the line made progress from the game against Kent State, but he said he didn't feel good about it right this season. "I just think right now we don't have the assignment," he said. "I don't have the assignment. We don't have the assignment. We don't have the assignment. We don't have the assignment." The Hawks are going to be a lot of driving and fighting and scratching and digging to get yardage and first downs. Lowes and a 1-yard gain, he said it did not look promising.
quote of the day

"He's going to announce tomorrow that if Iowa goes for Kerry, Al Qaeda will hit Ottumwa with a nuke." - Al Franken, speaking in Ottumwa about Vice President Dick Cheney

DAILY BREAK

horoscopes

Monday, September 13, 2004

― by Eugenie Last

MERCURY (March 22-May 20): Plan to work on the intricate projects you have begun. Keep yourself available to receive phone calls — something interesting may develop.

TUESDAY (May 21-June 21): Don’t even talk about the little things that people say. Have in your head that you are doing your best. Problems with your home or finances may arise today, but you will handle them.

WEDNESDAY (June 22-July 22): You can make some changes regarding how you spend your hard-earned money. Properly is opposed if you are not in good health.

THURSDAY (July 23-Aug. 22): You are doing well and you do. You can accomplish a lot in a short time, and your true feelings will be known.

FRIDAY (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Silence your emotional position. This is the perfect time to deal with mental or health issues. Keep everything out of your reach and be happy.

SATURDAY (Sept. 23-Oct. 21): You are open yourself as a higher power among your peers. You will have the abilities to accomplish a lot, and everyone will be willing to help your causes.

SUNDAY (Oct. 22-Nov. 21): You will be inclined to take on too much or too bad people to believe that you can handle more than you can. Don’t be sad, or you will end up taking the impact of the very people you want to help.

news you need to know

Today — Withdrawal of entire fall semester registration through Friday, student held to 75 percent of tuition and mandatory fees.

Friday — Last day for tuition and the adjustment for withdrawal, 4:30 p.m.

Withdrawal of entire fall semester registration after Friday, student held to 100 percent of tuition and mandatory fees.

happy birthday to...

Sept. 13 — Sarah "Goochi" Wambold, 30; Naase Jabbari, James Holloway

Get your favorite birthday card this coming year. Get a gift card at dailyiowan.com at one low price.

PATV schedule

7 p.m. Democracy Now
8:20 p.m. Live Laugh Learn Get On Your Feet
12:05 p.m. ADA 2004
1:40 Grandioso Concert
2 Event Center Concert Summer Series
3:00 Music in Deafness
4 Country Time Country
5...
9:00 p.m. Utah's Heart of the West Utah Opera: The Whole Tale About the Iraq War
6:00 SCVT Calendar
7 Education Exchange
7:30 Love & Land
8 Access Update
8:30 Nancy Cow Keyboard Highlights
9...10
9:30 Nightlight in Cuba
10 The Culture (replay)
10:30 Whatever
11:00 Midnight Summer Hip-Hop Extravaganza

UTV schedule

5:00 p.m. Live from Prairie Lights, Robert McDowall

6:00 Greenwich Village Workshop, 20th Century Studio
7:00 TUI Lecture Committee Presents TUI Lecture Committee Presents TUI Lecture Committee Presents
9:00 Beyond Gay Rights: Marriage as a Civil Right
10:30 Flight of Discovery: James Van Allen Documentary with Tom Brokaw
11:00 Live from Prairie Lights, Robert McDowall

For complete TV listings and program guides, check out Arts and Entertainment at www.dailyiowan.com.

DILBERT © by Scott Adams

MY DAUGHTER SNEEZED SO THE SCHOOL IS SENDING HER HOME.

WHAT WILL I TELL MY CHILDREN? TELL THEM THEY NEED NEW CLOTHES. WORK HARD AND THEN YOU'LL HAVE A GOOD LIFE. OR TELL THEM TO BE HUNGRY ENOUGH TO EAT.

DONEBURY

THE NEW YORK TIMES CROSSWORD PAPER

by GARRY TRAUBE

5:00 p.m. Live from Prairie Lights, Robert McDowall

by Scott Adams

www.prairielights.com

brought to you by...