GOP joyous as big day nears

BY SEUNG MIN KIM
ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Bush will appear one other day this week, as he campaign around the state.

As a native to the D.C. area, U.S. Senator John McCain has felt the pressure to campaign in the heart of Washington. The crowds are waving in events this week. The website for the new Coral Valley Market.

The Coral Valley Market.

President Bush.

Ambrose project delights Coralville

Mike McCoy (foreground), a chef at Harbour Mongolian Grill, hands a customer a hot dog cooked plate of Mongolian cuisine on their plates.

Two more stores are set to move into the Coral Valley Market soon, the addition of one more restaurant will complete Ambrose's project.

By Jim Butts

Gerry Ambrose, the president and real estate developer known for bringing life into once dead buildings, was outlining his vision for the new Coral Valley Market when the phone rang.

"I need to get those kids in my hands," the owner of Predential Partners Real Estate told the caller, a potential tenant in his latest project.

The calls have come steadily into Ambrose's office as businesses vie for a spot in the $7 million satellite shopping hub just south of Coral Ridge Mall. To complete the project, he said, he is negotiating with one more restaurant, which he declined to name because the deal is not yet final.

What is final is an lease with the UPS Store, Harbour Mongolian Grill, Beauty First, U.S. Cellular, and Pharmacist's Market Grill, which opened in the building last month. New York Deli, a small chain of restaurants, Ice Creamery, an ice cream shop, are also set to move in soon.

Two stand-alone structures are under construction just south of the main shopping center. A Korean Pizza will occupy one, and the other is slated to house a store and coffeehouse. Ambrose declined to identify the potential buyers but said the coffeehouse is not a coffeehouse.

Martin Luther King Jr. Human Rights Week

Nation honors its slain lion of civil rights

By Louise Chu

ATLANTA — America's dreamed of Martin Luther King Jr. took part in marches and rallies around the country, from the late civil rights leader's home town to call for an end to the Iraq war, advocate affirmative action, and speak out for gay rights.

In King's hometown, parades and events plan the streets dancing in Steve Wonder's "Happy Birthday" and listening to King's speeches.

Synopsis:

"Dr. King's dream is for everyone, not just one specific group of individuals," said Michelle Brown, a Reverend to the congregation who marched with a transsexual group called TransAction. "If you hate democracy and hate this country, you're not a citizen, and you do not have the right to vote." The new marches will continue the progress today.

"I'm not really stepping down," said Jim Clancy, the coordinator of the Stepping Up Program. "I'm stepping back in, but I'm stepping back in, and I'm going back to work, and I'm stepping back in."

The program, funded by a grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, aims to curb underage and binge drinking at the U.S. Clayton, who has led the program for two years, had shared the top position with Carolyn Cavers until she died of a breast tumor in September.

"I've been working 20 hours a week as coordinator," she said. "It's a full-time job, and after a few weeks, we decided a full-time person was the way to go."

The new coordinator will continue the program that has made and will find a way to bring "happiness to the people."
Ceremony stresses continuing work of Martin Luther King Jr.

BY MATTHEW SORAPAAU

Several hundred people gathered at the Black Entertainment Television and Country Music Television offices in Los Angeles to honor the late civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., who would have been 80 years old this year.

The event was moderated by Columbia University Professor Dr. John B. King, son of the late civil rights leader.

"We are gathered here today to remember Martin Luther King Jr. and to honor his legacy," said King. "He was a man who believed in the power of love and nonviolent resistance, and he fought for justice and equality for all people.

"Today, we honor his memory and his work, and we commit ourselves to continuing his fight for a world where love, justice, and equality are the order of the day."
The doctors and nurses at Mercy Hospital are just as excited about your baby as they were about the first baby they delivered.

Excepotional Medicine. Extraordinary Care.

Lynette Patterson is an obstetric nurse taking time off to have her second child at Mercy Hospital.

"Having someone caring at your side is wonderful." - Lynette Patterson

For more information on being a baby at Mercy, talk to your family doctor, or Mercy On Call at 359-2701 or 1-800-359-2701.

With Sycamore Mall, we had to convince people this was the right place and the right time. Here, it is the right place and right time.

— Gary Ambrose, local real estate developer

Retailers flock to Coralville site

With Sycamore Mall, we had to convince people this was the right place and the right time.

— Gary Ambrose, local real estate developer

"Having someone caring at your side is wonderful." - Lynette Patterson

For more information on being a baby at Mercy, talk to your family doctor, or Mercy On Call at 359-2701 or 1-800-359-2701.

Exceptional Medicine. Extraordinary Care.

Lynette Patterson is an obstetric nurse taking time off to have her second child at Mercy Hospital.

"Having someone caring at your side is wonderful." - Lynette Patterson

For more information on being a baby at Mercy, talk to your family doctor, or Mercy On Call at 359-2701 or 1-800-359-2701.

Exceptional Medicine. Extraordinary Care.

Lynette Patterson is an obstetric nurse taking time off to have her second child at Mercy Hospital.
Marathoners embark on chilly run

The runners are fund-raising for Saturday's Iowa State Dance Marathon

BY JANE SLUSARK

Despite chilly temperatures and an intimidating distance, six runners and their supporters laughed and joked as they prepared for a 24-hour trek from Iowa City to Ames on Sunday. Led by Midwestern State University student and Dance Marathon co-founder Matt Crull, the runners huddled together before setting off to run 3,300 miles in 24 hours for the cause.

"It's a really fun tradition," said Molly Olson (left) and Megan Guetzli, both brave the cold and before the marathon, Ames people to run from chilly the turns running be held The

Sara Seidman/The Daily Iowan

Lotto Sloan (left) and Megan Guetzli, both Iowa State seniors, brave the cold and run from the UI Hospitals and Clinics to Ames to raise awareness about the Dance Marathon. Approximately 25 people will take turns running during the week before the marathon, which will be held on Saturday.

One tsunami benefit: rise in global attention

BY SARA GEAKE

Global awareness of civil unrest in countries ravaged by theлуш-пакет А18 тетраох атам ир, 18, 2019, in Indonesia, and UI graduate stu·

Dance Marathon raises money for the Children's Hospital of Iowa in Iowa City on Saturday. The group is made up of special projects that ease stress and allow runners to feel at home, as well as toward

"In addition to the money, we get the emotional things they get from the students," said Green Dennis, a UI Hospitals and Clinics child-life specialist who joined the runners on the chilly run. "It gives them so much joy and hope during a really difficult time."

The Iowa State University Dance Marathon will take place Saturday. The committee expects around 200 family members to pack the dance floor.

Those families and children are the motivation for the runners as they face the cold and rainy day. "I danced as a freshman, and it was just the best day ever," Carrell said. "I love seeing the kids smiling and getting to spend that time with them."

The members target to run miles a day. The group is allowed to make the trip back to Ames to rest when they feel like it, and different people join in with others depending on their availability.

"The run is out of the home and on the hot side. The runners have to have a lot of endurance and be able to walk a half mile down the road," said Crull.

"Sometimes, I come across people who don't know where the Marathon is," he said. "They don't know." Concerns regarding edu·

Sanctuary and global health studies students raised money for the UI Research Center for the Study of Global Health, which is a non-profit organization working to improve health outcomes worldwide. The group is planning to raise $100,000 this year.

Natives of the region said Americans are gradually becoming aware of the political events that shaped life in the nation's history before it was a country. UI alum Thomas Burnham, who is from Liberia and native of the country, said "I've heard of the tsunami many times. It's a disaster and it has caused a lot of damage, but it's not a big deal for us."

The program will be broadcast on the UI's Public Access Television channel.

The panel agreed the tsunami was the worst disaster they had ever experienced.

"It's really hard to deal with this situation," Burnham said, adding that earthquake and other disasters were foreign to her and her country.

"Sometimes, we don't even know where it is," Burnham said.

Just by looking at the tsunami, you can see the damage it caused. It's a disaster and it has caused a lot of damage, but it's not a big deal for us."

The tsunami was the worst disaster they had ever experienced.

"It's really hard to deal with this situation," Burnham said, adding that earthquakes and other disasters were foreign to her and her country.

"Sometimes, we don't even know where it is," Burnham said.

The panel agreed the tsunami was the worst disaster they had ever experienced.
RESIDENCE FIRE

Flames broke out at 4:41 p.m. Monday at 1611 W. Beeton St. after a plumbing crew accidentally ignited a fire while using a soldering iron. Ron Graham of Hawbye Sewer & Drain said he and three employees were working on a new shower valve in the master bedroom when insulation from the wall broke out in flames. Damage has been estimated at $28,000. "We tried to put it out ourselves with a fire extinguisher but couldn't control it," Graham said. Paul Aus, the owner of the residence, was at home with his wife, two sons, and two dogs when the fire started, but no one was hurt. Seven fire engines were called to the scene, along with a city bus to keep people warm. Graham predicted that a new roof, master bedroom, and master bathroom would be needed. "This is the first time we've ever had a fire," he said. "And I hope it's the last." In the meantime, Aus said, he and his family would stay with friends.

PROF DEBUNKS WORTH OF CITIES’ ENTERPRISE ZONES

BY TODD DVORAK

IOWA CITY — Peter Fisher, a UI professor of urban and regional planning, has a theory about tax breaks, enterprise zones, and other tools to encourage new development or expand existing industries. They’re not a big deal.

That’s because when corporate executives ponder relocation, much features as labor costs and seems to matter the most than subsidies is property taxes or incentives for building a new factory in a depressed neighborhood targeted for economic revival, he says.

For banks, state, cities, and counties have used an assortment of incentives to compete for new factories, giving away millions of dollars annually in return for the promise of jobs and the boost to the local economy.

But research in the last 10 years by Fisher and others has shown that enterprise zones have had little impact on corporate decisions or, for that matter, local economic development.

Most of the time, firms are choosing to move where it fits best for them, whether they pay any incentives or not," Fisher said. "And when you give a company incentives to move to a place it had planned to anyway it wastes a lot of public money."

Fisher, along with research partner Alan Peters, also a UI professor of urban and regional planning, have studied and written extensively about the incentive policy used by politicians and economic developers.

Specifically, they have focused on the effectiveness of enterprise zones, a staple of economic development, and the role of other local incentives, such as tax subtractions and sales tax rebates, to help build momentum for economic revitalization.

As of 1995, 34 states had active enterprise-zone programs, offering 2,840 zones, according to figures compiled by Fisher and Peters.

They analyzed selected local governments across the state and found that while enterprise zones and other local incentives were adopted for economic revitalization, and in many cases, tax abatements and sales tax rebates were used as tools to target specific industries and regions.

For example, enterprises in interior neighborhoods in an effort to lower unemployment and build momentum for economic revitalization.

As of 1995, 34 states had active enterprise-zone programs, offering 2,840 zones, according to figures compiled by Fisher and Peters.

They analyzed selected local governments across the state and found that while enterprise zones and other local incentives were adopted for economic revitalization, and in many cases, tax abatements and sales tax rebates were used as tools to target specific industries and regions.

For example, enterprises in interior neighborhoods in an effort to lower unemployment and build momentum for economic revitalization.

As of 1995, 34 states had active enterprise-zone programs, offering 2,840 zones, according to figures compiled by Fisher and Peters.

They analyzed selected local governments across the state and found that while enterprise zones and other local incentives were adopted for economic revitalization, and in many cases, tax abatements and sales tax rebates were used as tools to target specific industries and regions.

For example, enterprises in interior neighborhoods in an effort to lower unemployment and build momentum for economic revitalization.
The organization needs a heavyweight with a national reputation who can raise money, who has a vision, and who has the connections to push us forward with a modern civil rights agenda.

-- Whitt Moncrief, head of Philadelphia NAACP branch

NAACP at crossroads

Members are divided over the future of the venerable civil-rights group

BY FOSTER KLUG

BALTIMORE -- During his speeches to Philadelphia citizens, a Whitt Moncrief, the head of that city's NAACP branch, likes to offer the student who can decode his group's message.

Many think he is on a recruiting push for the NCAA. "The only way to give up my money is in my purse," Moncrief says. "That's my challenge."

As the Baltimore-based NAACP searches for a leader to replace outgoing President Kenneth Howard, the nation's oldest and largest civil-rights organization is in the midst of a debate over whether to back a younger black American who does not immediately recognize the group when they think of civil rights.

Some of the group's members, such as Moncrief, think that the replacement for Howard will be a new, more modern organization. Others, including young black Americans who do not recognize the group when they think of civil rights, do not immediately recognize the group when they think of civil rights.

Moncrief, who is credited with bringing financial stability and credibility to an organization reeling from scandals and mismanagement when he took over in 2006, announced his resignation Nov. 30, saying he needed to spend more time with his family.

He has dismissed persistent rumors among the organization's membership that he was fired out of a rift between himself and Chairman Julian Bond. But Moncrief has not ruled out the possibility of rejoining the organization's board of directors, which has not yet decided on the organization's future.

Chavis, who led NAACP funds to settle a housing disparity suit, recently resigned as chairman of the organization's board of directors. As the committee searches for Moncrief's replacement, the half-million-member group will be closely watching, many of them convinced the next leader could remake, or break, the NAACP's reputation.

BY KATHERINE PLEFGER

SHRADER

WASHINGTON -- The final, U.S. intelligence report on weapons of mass destruction in Iraq is expected to address whether the banned armaments were ever used in the country before the war started.

Bush administration officials have speculated publicly that chemical, biological, or radiological weapons may have been smuggled out of the country in one of the many postwar U.S.¶ operations. The report is due next month.

Intelligence and congressional officials say they have no more information indicating that WMD or significant amounts of components and equipment were transferred from Iraq to neighboring Syria.

The administration acknowledged last week that the search for banned weapons is largely over. The Foreign Policy Research Institute, the final installment of its report in February, will examine the extent to which the country's allies have been able to identify the specific locations of the banned weapons.

"The report will be an important opportunity for the country's allies to discuss the extent to which the banned weapons have been found and the implications of their findings," said a special adviser to the Clinton administration on Iraq.

Experience low prices

JIMMY JOHN'S®

249 East Washington Street

IOWA CITY

319.358.0000

$3.25

8" SUB SANDWICHES* All of our veg sub sandwiches are a 1/4 lb. sandwich made on 7" long sub. In a choice of beef or chicken breast, cheese, lettuce, tomato, onion, mayo, mustard, and ketchup. Choose from the following:

#1 Big John® Mexican sand/steak burger topped with pimento pepper jack, diced red onions, andJalapeno peppers, and served with mayo, mustard, and ketchup.

#2 Sonny Charlie®our sonny classic with our signature sauce. Choose from the following:

#3 Turkey Tom® Fresh sliced turkey breast topped with lettuce, tomato, and mayo.

#4 Vito® our popular pepperoni and provolone cheese sandwich made with salami, tomatoes, and herbs.

#6 Vegetarian®

#9 Italian Night®

#10 Hunter's Club®

#11 Country Club®

#12 Beach Club®

#13 Gourmet Veggie Club®

#14 Bootlegger Club®

#15 Culb Tuna®

#16 Culb Lula®

$4.25

$2.25

PLAIN SLIMS™

Any sub on our signature sauce

Low Carb lettuce wrap

Your Catering Solution!!

YOUR CATERING SOLUTION!!

Order online at www.jimmyjohn.com

6157

20.99

23.99

23.99

19.99

6.49

J.J.BL.M.

侧 Items

Tofu

Mozzarella

American

J.J.B.L.M.

FREEDIES

Free delivery on over 10 subs in 48 states. Order online at www.jimmyjohn.com. All prices are subject to change, and coups may not be combined. All prices subject to change. Finally, one more thing. These prices include the amazing ham, cheese, and bread. Everything is made fresh for you.
Poll: Most hopeful about 2nd term, uneasy on Iraq

Fifty-three percent of those questioned said it is unlikely that Iraq will have a stable government.

BY WILL LESTER

WASHINGTON — A majority of Americans say they feel hopeful about President Bush's second term, but those hopes are clouded by doubts about what the bloodshed in Iraq will end.

People say Iraq should be the president's highest priority, according to an Associated Press poll that found those surveyed are not optimistic a stable government will take hold there.

Ahead of Bush's inauguration Jan. 20, the AP poll found that those surveyed are not optimistic a stable government will take hold there.

Most said they were hopeful, on Bush's second term, but those hopes are clouded by doubts about what the bloodshed in Iraq will end.

Iraq remains the kind of issue that could complete take over the term if the situation gets a lot worse," said Charles Franklin, a political scientist at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. "It's a good idea for the president to push new domestic proposals. He has to find a way to have the whole mood turn in a way that things more than just Iraq.

Iraq was dead last often as the president's highest priority, according to the poll conducted for the AP by Penn-Public Affairs. Forty-three percent of those questioned said it is unlikely that Iraq will have a stable government.

The 9/11 attacks have changed the mood, in a way that has been over the last year. The AP poll found that the 9/11 attacks have changed the mood, in a way that has been over the last year.

Bush is preparing to pursue an ambitious agenda that includes efforts to change Social Security, federal tax law, and Medicaid malpractice reform.

Most of Bush's proposals are on the president's second term, but those hopes are clouded by doubts about what the bloodshed in Iraq will end.

Iraq remains the kind of issue that could complete take over the term if the situation gets a lot worse," said Charles Franklin, a political scientist at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. "It's a good idea for the president to push new domestic proposals. He has to find a way to have the whole mood turn in a way that things more than just Iraq.

Iraq was dead last often as the president's highest priority, according to the poll conducted for the AP by Penn-Public Affairs. Forty-three percent of those questioned said it is unlikely that Iraq will have a stable government.

The 9/11 attacks have changed the mood, in a way that has been over the last year. The AP poll found that the 9/11 attacks have changed the mood, in a way that has been over the last year.

Bush is preparing to pursue an ambitious agenda that includes efforts to change Social Security, federal tax law, and Medicaid malpractice reform.

Most of Bush's proposals are on the president's second term, but those hopes are clouded by doubts about what the bloodshed in Iraq will end.

Iraq remains the kind of issue that could complete take over the term if the situation gets a lot worse," said Charles Franklin, a political scientist at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. "It's a good idea for the president to push new domestic proposals. He has to find a way to have the whole mood turn in a way that things more than just Iraq.
Attacks explode across Iraq

Insurgents who oppose the UPCOMING ELECTIONS unleashed a wave of attacks across the country, including suicide bombings and a kidnapping.

Dawn the elections. They are just a disaster hanging over our heads.

mother of slain Iraqi policeman Hayil Roif

BY ANTHONY SHADID

BAGHDAD — Insurgents who have vowed to disrupt Iraq's parliamentary elections unleashed attacks Monday that threatened the breadth of Iraq from the kidnapping of a Catholic archbishop in the north to a car bombing of a police station in mortar attacks on polling stations in Baqoos in the south. At least 25 people were killed and a suicide bomber attacked U.S. Marines in Basra, where U.S. forces have been facing Shiites and left their leaders at a roadside.

In Baqoos in central Iraq, villagers armed with issued spherical grenades and rifles attacked a convoy carrying Iraqi soldiers, killing at least 15 of them and a civilian.

In the northern town of Baqou, insurgents parked in a car detonated at the gate of the police station, killing several civilians, witnesses said. Scents of smoke, across a street wrought with burned wreckage and body parts, were met with tears in the eyes of those few who were left behind. They are just a disaster hanging over our heads.

Iraqis are just a disaster hanging over us. They can get unsatisfactory. They can get in the way of the election.

The Catholic archbishop in the northern city of Mosul was kidnapped in what the Vatican called an "act of terrorism." Nuns and lay sisters from the Archdiocese of Baghdad have been kidnapped in Mosul, where insurgents have targeted churches in recent months. The spokesman demanded the immediate release of Father Giovanni, a member of the Franciscan order, and his companions.

Christians make up approximately 1 percent of Iraq's population of 25 million, with sizable communities in Mosul and Baghdad. They have emigrated in recent years to the United States, Europe, and Australia. In Coimbatore, a member of the Franciscan Catholic church, an ancient site present in the Middle East.

Iraqi security forces operate mainly in Mosul in northern Iraq. Mosul had about 100,000 polling stations in 2005. But that changed in 2006, with the advance of Sunni insurgents in the area.

The new wave of violence is not yet 12 feet tall, but it's increasing, and it's dangerous. It's spreading to other areas of the country.

We're still waiting for the police to come and help us. They're not doing their job. They're not protecting us.

"They want to kill us," said Fatima Khalil, a prominent Shiite candidate who survived an assassination attempt Friday when gunmen posing as police ambushed her car. "These are the people who work for us and are in danger."
SECRET WORRIES HINDER ACHID ACEH

Following a report of insurgent fighting, U.N. officials have halted workers from certain areas of devastation.

BY LELLY T. DJUHAR

RAMALLAH, West Bank (AP) — Security forces in the Palestinian territories have threatened to resume attacks because of an increase in terrorist attacks — a warning that prompted U.N. officials to launch an investigation and declare a state of "heightened awareness" in areas where there have been bombings.

A report from the United Nations was ordered by the Security Council, warning that it might attack U.N. workers who were trying to investigate the site of a suicide bombing in Gaza.

Abbas was an eyewitness to the suicide bombing in Gaza on Monday night. The Israeli Cabinet has also threatened to launch an operation against the Hamas-led government, which Abbas has already warned would continue attacks.

Israel's Prime Minister Ariel Sharon has also ordered his security forces to launch an operation against Hamas, which has been the target of revenge attacks in the past.

The U.N. High Commissioner for Human Rights, Kofi Annan, has been speaking to Hamas leaders in an attempt to halt the fighting.

Abbas was an eyewitness to the suicide bombing in Gaza on Monday night.

"We were there," he said, "and we saw the bombers." He added that he had spoken to Hamas leaders and that they had agreed to end the fighting.

Abbas has been under growing pressure to refrain from revenge attacks.

"We are deeply concerned about the safety of our workers," Annan said. "We must do all we can to ensure their safety." He added that he was in contact with both Hamas and Israeli leaders to find a solution.

Abbas has repeatedly called for a "peaceful" solution to the conflict and has been working with Annan to find a way out of the current impasse.

Abbas has been under growing pressure to refrain from revenge attacks.

"We are deeply concerned about the safety of our workers," Annan said. "We must do all we can to ensure their safety." He added that he was in contact with both Hamas and Israeli leaders to find a solution.

Abbas has repeatedly called for a "peaceful" solution to the conflict and has been working with Annan to find a way out of the current impasse.

Abbas has been under growing pressure to refrain from revenge attacks.

"We are deeply concerned about the safety of our workers," Annan said. "We must do all we can to ensure their safety." He added that he was in contact with both Hamas and Israeli leaders to find a solution.

Abbas has repeatedly called for a "peaceful" solution to the conflict and has been working with Annan to find a way out of the current impasse.

Abbas has been under growing pressure to refrain from revenge attacks.

"We are deeply concerned about the safety of our workers," Annan said. "We must do all we can to ensure their safety." He added that he was in contact with both Hamas and Israeli leaders to find a solution.

Abbas has repeatedly called for a "peaceful" solution to the conflict and has been working with Annan to find a way out of the current impasse.

Abbas has been under growing pressure to refrain from revenge attacks.

"We are deeply concerned about the safety of our workers," Annan said. "We must do all we can to ensure their safety." He added that he was in contact with both Hamas and Israeli leaders to find a solution.

Abbas has repeatedly called for a "peaceful" solution to the conflict and has been working with Annan to find a way out of the current impasse.

Abbas has been under growing pressure to refrain from revenge attacks.

"We are deeply concerned about the safety of our workers," Annan said. "We must do all we can to ensure their safety." He added that he was in contact with both Hamas and Israeli leaders to find a solution.

Abbas has repeatedly called for a "peaceful" solution to the conflict and has been working with Annan to find a way out of the current impasse.

Abbas has been under growing pressure to refrain from revenge attacks.

"We are deeply concerned about the safety of our workers," Annan said. "We must do all we can to ensure their safety." He added that he was in contact with both Hamas and Israeli leaders to find a solution.

Abbas has repeatedly called for a "peaceful" solution to the conflict and has been working with Annan to find a way out of the current impasse.

Abbas has been under growing pressure to refrain from revenge attacks.

"We are deeply concerned about the safety of our workers," Annan said. "We must do all we can to ensure their safety." He added that he was in contact with both Hamas and Israeli leaders to find a solution.

Abbas has repeatedly called for a "peaceful" solution to the conflict and has been working with Annan to find a way out of the current impasse.

Abbas has been under growing pressure to refrain from revenge attacks.

"We are deeply concerned about the safety of our workers," Annan said. "We must do all we can to ensure their safety." He added that he was in contact with both Hamas and Israeli leaders to find a solution.

Abbas has repeatedly called for a "peaceful" solution to the conflict and has been working with Annan to find a way out of the current impasse.

Abbas has been under growing pressure to refrain from revenge attacks.

"We are deeply concerned about the safety of our workers," Annan said. "We must do all we can to ensure their safety." He added that he was in contact with both Hamas and Israeli leaders to find a solution.

Abbas has repeatedly called for a "peaceful" solution to the conflict and has been working with Annan to find a way out of the current impasse.

Abbas has been under growing pressure to refrain from revenge attacks.

"We are deeply concerned about the safety of our workers," Annan said. "We must do all we can to ensure their safety." He added that he was in contact with both Hamas and Israeli leaders to find a solution.

Abbas has repeatedly called for a "peaceful" solution to the conflict and has been working with Annan to find a way out of the current impasse.

Abbas has been under growing pressure to refrain from revenge attacks.

"We are deeply concerned about the safety of our workers," Annan said. "We must do all we can to ensure their safety." He added that he was in contact with both Hamas and Israeli leaders to find a solution.

Abbas has repeatedly called for a "peaceful" solution to the conflict and has been working with Annan to find a way out of the current impasse.
Inapired libertarians,

LEITERS

low

Heady

m..fTTERI

word

GUEST Of-llll..S 300 wards

Jack Bottom

Chairman

A

204

 Jed Blau

Dean Blau

my parents should simply stop

I

wandering. Some days, you just have to take away the drawers, showers. Or brush.

Chckdir: error. Scrolling, scrolling.

Oh, maybe the secret to everything is

It

to

the

it.

Bare boobs are

Or would it be quaint to think so?

Or

The wife of Bath. That was a much

Quaint

wonder

showers.

The wife of Bath. That was a much

Or

Playboy?

Can't have that. Bare boobs are

Or

What do the 11th century

Sustainable, statewide economic development will be the key to overcoming current trends that are barren the future of Iowa.

A FIRST STRIKE FOR THE PARTY

Assistant editor

Mary Brown

General editor

Robert Schneider

Brian

State

A

John Brown

State

II

Jack Bottom

Chairman

120

Rural Summit

Letter to the Editor

READERS

HAPPY 300TH WARD

YOU

GET A FREE CD!

Valid through March 31st. One CD per household. Offer may be discontinued at any time. The CD is actually a CD of your town's history, served up in a delightful CD-ROM format. Offer may be discontinued at any time. The CD is

Valid through March 31st. One CD per household. Offer may be discontinued at any time. The CD is

Now, Jack Hablek

D De Moines

HAPPY 300TH WARD

YOU

GET A FREE CD!

Valid through March 31st. One CD per household. Offer may be discontinued at any time. The CD is

NOW ON STAGE

The Wife of Bath. That was a much

Or

Playboy?

Can't have that. Bare boobs are

Or would it be quaint to think so?

Or

The wife of Bath. That was a much

Or

Playboy?

Can't have that. Bare boobs are

Or would it be quaint to think so?

Or

The wife of Bath. That was a much

Or

Playboy?

Can't have that. Bare boobs are

Or would it be quaint to think so?

Or

The wife of Bath. That was a much

Or

Playboy?

Can't have that. Bare boobs are

Or would it be quaint to think so?

Or

The wife of Bath. That was a much

Or

Playboy?

Can't have that. Bare boobs are

Or would it be quaint to think so?

Or

The wife of Bath. That was a much

Or

Playboy?

Can't have that. Bare boobs are

Or would it be quaint to think so?

Or

The wife of Bath. That was a much

Or

Playboy?

Can't have that. Bare boobs are

Or would it be quaint to think so?

Or

The wife of Bath. That was a much

Or

Playboy?

Can't have that. Bare boobs are

Or would it be quaint to think so?

Or

The wife of Bath. That was a much

Or

Playboy?

Can't have that. Bare boobs are

Or would it be quaint to think so?

Or

The wife of Bath. That was a much

Or

Playboy?

Can't have that. Bare boobs are

Or would it be quaint to think so?
NO FEAR OF FLYING IN SCORSESE’S AVIATOR

A stylish and spectacular feast for the senses, The Aviator is another great film from director Martin Scorsese.

The Aviator, a new biopic about the legendary Howard Hughes, is the best film of 2004. Made with investing ambition and unabashed enthusiasm, the film immerses with the same hardwired energy and excitement with which Hughes attacked his own projects. At a running time of 170 minutes, this rich period drama fizzes readily, having us in a state of delirious awe and the same enjoyment as Hughes himself is said to have felt at seeing the World War II movie he filmed. The film is a dazzling spectacle and spectacle is something genuinely special.

The film was directed by the great Martin Scorsese, whose pictures are few and this one is to be held at the steppe. The Aviator is no exception. Leonardo DiCaprio may seem like an odd choice to play Hughes, the eccentric eccentric, but he pulls it off in the most complete and satisfying performance of his career. Hughes peak era through

The late-60s, is chronicled in John Logan's-draft script, which delineates his flawed humor, heartbreak, and remnant in this amount of how a young man collapses under the weight of his own burdens.

A fascinating biopic focuses on Howard Hughes’s life and career. The Aviator is a stylish and spectacular feast for the senses. The film is a dazzling spectacle, and a touching story of ambition, perseverance, and personal growth. The film is a magnificent achievement, and a fitting tribute to one of the most fascinating figures in American history.

The Aviator won six Golden Globes for best picture, best director for Scorsese, best actor in a drama for DiCaprio, best supporting actress for Cameron Diaz, best supporting actor for Alan Arkin, and best motion picture for a drama. The film also received six Academy Awards, including best picture, best actor for DiCaprio, and best cinematography. The Aviator is a true masterpiece, and a fitting tribute to one of the greatest figures in American history.

The Aviator is a magnificent achievement, and a fitting tribute to one of the most fascinating figures in American history. The film is a dazzling spectacle, and a touching story of ambition, perseverance, and personal growth. The film is a magnificent achievement, and a fitting tribute to one of the greatest figures in American history.
We value vacations. We value you making vacations a vacation priority. Enter for a chance to win a free trip for you and a friend in our vacation sweepstakes. You have priorities. An amazing vacation is one of them. Whether it’s at the beach, volunteering in the community, or on an adventure, the choice is yours. For official rules, visit www.pwc.com/mypriorityvacation

1. No purchase necessary.
2. Must be at least 19 years of age, a student attending this school and legal U.S. resident.
3. Must write by 11/1/06 at P.O. Box 811
4. See Official Rules at www.pwc.com/mypriorityvacation

*connectedthinking
SCOREBOARD

NBA

Bulls' Gordon leads team past Knicks

SPORTS

DI SPORTS DESK

The Daily Iowan

Warren Holloway sights toward the goal line and avoids LSU defenders in the final seconds of the Capital One Bowl game on Jan. 1. This touchdown won the game, which completed a career-long goal to catch a touchdown pass for the Hawkeyes.

THE CAPITAL OF MIRACLES

CARDINALS

Pippen’s heel still bothering him

TRIVIA

Do you know the answer?

Q: Who has the most NCAA Tournament appearances?

A: Chicago Bulls Hall of Famer Scottie Pippen.
IowaOREMainsunbeaten

"Our goal is to win the Big Ten and make a nice run in March and April. We have to take care of ourselves and worry about winning." – Coach Bruce Weber

IOWA SPORTS

Thursday
• Men's basketball at Illinois, 6:05 p.m. (ESPNU)

Friday
• Illinois' men's swimming hosts Northern Illinois, 5 p.m. in the Field House.
• Women's hosts the Hawkeyes Invitational in the Field House.
• Illinois' men's swimming hosts Illinois-Chicago, 1 p.m. in the Field House.

Saturday
• Illinois' men's swimming hosts Michigan, 1 p.m. in the Field House.
• Men's basketball hosts Purdue.

IOWA STATE

1:30 p.m. in Carver-Hawkeye Arena
• Women's gymnastics hosts Illinois-Chicago, 3 p.m. in the Field House.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Illinois-Kansas

still 1-2 in AP poll

BY JIM O'CONNELL
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Illinois and Kansas were ranked 1-2 in the Associated Press poll basketball rankings Monday for the seventh-straight week, the longest each run in 6 years.

The Illini, 16-0, beat Penn State and Northwestern last week for the best start in school history. They received 68 first-place votes and 1,319 points from the national media panel. Kansas (13-0) won road games against Iowa State and Colorado to hold second place for the sixth-straight week - the longest each run in 6 years. They received 65 first-place votes and 1,256 points.

The teams meet Saturday.

Kansas (9,068) has the No. 1 ranking and 3,717 points.

Iowa State (9,038) is No. 2 with 3,588 points.

The Illini and the Cyclones are unbeaten through 12 games.

INDIANA

The Hoosiers have lost two straight, falling to No. 22 Texas and Nebraska after being ranked earlier this season.

The Hoosiers stayed seventh for the 13th straight week, with 1,156 votes.

The Cyclones moved into a tie for sixth with Duke, No. 8 Villanova and Georgia Tech.

The Hoosiers, who fell to the 10th spot in the rankings for the first time since the 2000-01 season, are now the only team to hold at least one top-10 ranking all season.

The Hoosiers have the best start in school history.

The Cyclones have been ranked in the AP Top 25 all season.

Iowa

The Hawkeyes remain at No. 21 after a 6-3 record.

They received 10 first-place votes and 365 points.

The Hawkeyes moved into Division I to stay unbeaten in the Big Ten.

The Hawkeyes have a 1-2 record.

Michigan State

The Spartans are still the Big Ten's only team to have not lost a game.

The Spartans jumped five places in last week's rankings, moving to 30th.

They received 12 first-place votes and 323 points.

The Spartans moved from No. 30 to No. 25 in last week's rankings.

The Spartans have the best start in school history.

The Spartans have a 1-2 record.

Wisconsin

The Badgers have been ranked all season.

They received 50 first-place votes and 1,359 points.

The Badgers moved from No. 22 to No. 21 in last week's rankings.

The Badgers have the best start in school history.

The Badgers have a 1-2 record.

With a 25-0 record, the Badgers have been ranked all season.

The Badgers have a 1-2 record.

Purdue

The Boilermakers have been ranked all season.

They received 50 first-place votes and 1,359 points.

The Boilermakers moved from No. 22 to No. 21 in last week's rankings.

The Boilermakers have the best start in school history.

The Boilermakers have a 1-2 record.
But the 1973 season was the same old story. He dressed for three minutes and then he sat down. No one even noticed that he was there. But they never knew what would have happened if Wayne Holloway had made up his mind.

He continued to push hard until one of the coaches finally sat him down and told him there was no way he would ever get in a game. "They just had to tell me I couldn't get on the field at all," he said. He stood up on the team. The remainder of the season and the next year he sat on his degree at Iowa, but he had not yet played football.

"It was more than just a touchdown catch," said Holloway. "That wasn't exactly true. He didn't have any other catches. He continued to punt, pass and kick, but he couldn't have any other chances to play football. That was more than just a touchdown catch. He had to have the chance to play football. That's the thing that hurt me most -- that was more than just a touchdown catch. It was more than just a touchdown catch. He had to have the chance to have a shot at the season, and he had to have the chance to have a shot at the team."

But that wasn't exactly true. He didn't have any other catches. He continued to punt, pass and kick, but he couldn't have any other chances to play football. That was more than just a touchdown catch. He had to have the chance to play football. That's the thing that hurt me most -- that was more than just a touchdown catch. It was more than just a touchdown catch. He had to have the chance to have a shot at the season, and he had to have the chance to have a shot at the team.

But that wasn't exactly true. He didn't have any other catches. He continued to punt, pass and kick, but he couldn't have any other chances to play football. That was more than just a touchdown catch. He had to have the chance to play football. That's the thing that hurt me most -- that was more than just a touchdown catch. It was more than just a touchdown catch. He had to have the chance to have a shot at the season, and he had to have the chance to have a shot at the team.

But that wasn't exactly true. He didn't have any other catches. He continued to punt, pass and kick, but he couldn't have any other chances to play football. That was more than just a touchdown catch. He had to have the chance to play football. That's the thing that hurt me most -- that was more than just a touchdown catch. It was more than just a touchdown catch. He had to have the chance to have a shot at the season, and he had to have the chance to have a shot at the team.
While it looks as though an all-Pennsylvania Super Bowl is in the works, history warns...

It's a bad time to bet the farm

BY MIKE PENNER

The prospect of an all-Pennsylvania Super Bowl has excited a lot of people in this country and around the world. But before anyone gets carried away, they should take a look at the history of similar events.

The last time Pennsylvania was a factor in the NFL playoffs was 1985, when the Philadelphia Eagles were on their way to the Super Bowl. Since then, the state has not had a team in the playoffs.

And the last time a team from Pennsylvania played in the Super Bowl was 1971, when the Pittsburgh Steelers won it for the second straight year.

Even if the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Cleveland Browns both win their respective conference titles, it's unlikely that the two teams will meet in the Super Bowl. The chances of both teams winning their respective conference titles are slim.

The Pittsburgh Steelers are the defending Super Bowl champions and are considered one of the favorites to win the championship again this year. The Cleveland Browns, on the other hand, are considered underdogs in their conference.

But if the two teams do make it to the Super Bowl, it would be a historic moment for Pennsylvania. However, it's also a moment when history is likely to repeat itself - the last time Pennsylvania had a team in the Super Bowl, they lost.

So while the prospect of an all-Pennsylvania Super Bowl is exciting, it's important to remember that history has shown that it's a bad time to bet the farm on such an event.
Philosophy Eagles
back in a facinating spot

BY ROB MAADDI

PHILADELPHIA - The Philadelphia Eagles didn't drop open any championship hopes and hardly celebrated their latest playoff victory.

Philadelphia Eagles quarterback Donovan McNabb steps back to pass during the first quarter of the NFC playoff game against Minnesota on Sunday.

The Eagles have been here before, home favorites against a team from a city with a warmer climate that has trouble winning on the road, especially in cold weather.

"We're not happy about winning this game," wide receiver Terrell Jackson said after Sunday's 27-14 victory over Minnesota. "The Eagles went to their fourth consecutive NFC title game. "We want to win the next game and the next game. That's what we're looking forward to."

The Eagles (14-4) will host Atlanta (13-5) on Jan. 23 - the first time this franchise has hosted three-straight conference championship games.

Some players are using this as three championships in a row as motivation as they gear up to host the Minnesota Vikings in another NFC title game.

The Eagles have hosted the Vikings six times in the regular season.

"It's the best running game in the league," Eagles safety Brian Dawkins said. "They've got a good job hitting us in the run game every once in a while."

The Eagles have been here before, home favorites against a team from a city with a warmer climate that has trouble winning on the road, especially in cold weather.

"We've been in this situation for three years now. He only made us better, so the team is still a good football team," Dawkins said. "Atlanta presents a more formidable challenge than the Vikings."

The Eagles hope to stop Warner Dunn and T.J. Duckett, the Falcons' No. 1 and No. 2 runners.

Andy Reid prefers past the Eagles to their NFC championship games, they are used to heartbreaking losses this season.

Philadelphia Eagles didn't pop playoff game against Minnesota on Sunday.

"They've kept the Falcons wide open in the backfield, keeping defenses off-balance," Brian Dawkins said.

But they're doing a good job with ball control, so we're going to have our hands full, especially with their quarterback."

Though the Eagles had no trouble containing Dallas Cowboys quarterback Tony Romo in the pocket, Vick clearly is the most dangerous running threat in the league. Vick has 119 yards rushing and 12 yards passing for a playoff record for a quarterback.

"We've got to be very smart in our tackling," Dawkins said. "We've got to keep him from running. We've played against different styles."

"We've been in this situation for three years now. We only made us better, so the team is still a good football team," Dawkins said. "Atlanta presents a more formidable challenge than the Vikings."

The Eagles hope to stop Warner Dunn and T.J. Duckett, the Falcons' No. 1 and No. 2 runners.

"They've kept the Falcons wide open in the backfield, keeping defenses off-balance," Brian Dawkins said.

"They've kept the Falcons wide open in the backfield, keeping defenses off-balance," Brian Dawkins said.

But they're doing a good job with ball control, so we're going to have our hands full, especially with their quarterback."

Though the Eagles had no trouble containing Dallas Cowboys quarterback Tony Romo in the pocket, Vick clearly is the most dangerous running threat in the league. Vick has 119 yards rushing and 12 yards passing for a playoff record for a quarterback.

"We've got to be very smart in our tackling," Dawkins said. "We've got to keep him from running. We've played against different styles."

"We've been in this situation for three years now. We only made us better, so the team is still a good football team," Dawkins said. "Atlanta presents a more formidable challenge than the Vikings."

The Eagles hope to stop Warner Dunn and T.J. Duckett, the Falcons' No. 1 and No. 2 runners.

"They've kept the Falcons wide open in the backfield, keeping defenses off-balance," Brian Dawkins said.

But they're doing a good job with ball control, so we're going to have our hands full, especially with their quarterback."

Though the Eagles had no trouble containing Dallas Cowboys quarterback Tony Romo in the pocket, Vick clearly is the most dangerous running threat in the league. Vick has 119 yards rushing and 12 yards passing for a playoff record for a quarterback.

"We've got to be very smart in our tackling," Dawkins said. "We've got to keep him from running. We've played against different styles."

"We've been in this situation for three years now. We only made us better, so the team is still a good football team," Dawkins said. "Atlanta presents a more formidable challenge than the Vikings."

The Eagles hope to stop Warner Dunn and T.J. Duckett, the Falcons' No. 1 and No. 2 runners.

"They've kept the Falcons wide open in the backfield, keeping defenses off-balance," Brian Dawkins said.

But they're doing a good job with ball control, so we're going to have our hands full, especially with their quarterback."

Though the Eagles had no trouble containing Dallas Cowboys quarterback Tony Romo in the pocket, Vick clearly is the most dangerous running threat in the league. Vick has 119 yards rushing and 12 yards passing for a playoff record for a quarterback.

"We've got to be very smart in our tackling," Dawkins said. "We've got to keep him from running. We've played against different styles."

"We've been in this situation for three years now. We only made us better, so the team is still a good football team," Dawkins said. "Atlanta presents a more formidable challenge than the Vikings."

The Eagles hope to stop Warner Dunn and T.J. Duckett, the Falcons' No. 1 and No. 2 runners.

"They've kept the Falcons wide open in the backfield, keeping defenses off-balance," Brian Dawkins said.

But they're doing a good job with ball control, so we're going to have our hands full, especially with their quarterback."

Though the Eagles had no trouble containing Dallas Cowboys quarterback Tony Romo in the pocket, Vick clearly is the most dangerous running threat in the league. Vick has 119 yards rushing and 12 yards passing for a playoff record for a quarterback.
A new year, a new challenge for Singh

After becoming only the 6th man in PGA Tour history to win at least 9 times, Vijay Singh says the pressure is still on.

BY DOUG FERGUSON

HONOLULU — The procession of interviews was over, and Vijay Singh was in no hurry. He had the Pacific Ocean on his left, the Sony Open trophy on a table to his right, and a lead iii to his front. He needed two strokes to win.

High Scbool in Ferguson

by excellent communication

he talked pitch

and managed to squeeze his steal some momentum from the green. Singh finished 2 under for the round and 7 under for the tournament. He became the sixth player to win at least nine tournaments in a calendar year.

Singh

The Sony Open, a tournament where he has never finished better than 10th, was anything but restful. The deep greens at Kapalua were slow, and the greenside bunkers were full of thick grass. Being out of the rough was more of a challenge than usual.

"If I had to do it over, I would have played again," Singh said. "The greens were slower than usual and the bunkers were full of grass. I had to hit a lot of shots into the rough to get around the greens."

Still, he managed to make a birdie on the 18th hole to win his third tournament of the year. The win gave him seven victories in 2006, tying him with Tiger Woods for the lead in the FedEx Cup standings.

Singh

"I'm very happy with the way I played," he said. "I had a lot of confidence going into the tournament and it showed."

Singh

The win was his first in nine months, since winning the Tour Championship last October. It was also his first win since February 2005, when he won the Honda Classic. Singh said he was looking forward to the challenge of winning more titles in 2007.

Singh

"I'm excited to see what I can do in the next 12 months," he said. "I've been working hard all winter and I'm ready to get back out there."

Singh

The win also gave him the third-highest earnings in the FedEx Cup standings, trailing only Woods and Phil Mickelson.

Singh

"I'm happy to be in the mix," he said. "I've got a lot of work to do, but I'm excited to get started."
Business Opportunity

Health, team income. (DEAD DOCTORS DON'T HEAL)

Find out why workers are leaving the next trillion dollar industry.

SPRING Break in City and Daytona $1591, Acapulco, and Bahama Islands $299 SPLITTER, com

Get $50 for unwanted books.

ANTIQUES SHARPLESS ANTIQUE/FLEA MARKET SUNDAY FEB. 13TH 8-2p.m IOWA CITY, IA (319)351-8888

RECORDS, CDS, DVDS, TAPES BRENNEMAN SEED PET CENTER Tropical fish, pets, and pet supplies, pet grooming. 1500 1st Avenue South. 338-3501.

We will tow. (3111)688-2747 CASH for Cera. Truek Berg Auto 4165 Alyba Ct.

FOR SALE BY OWNER TAKE A SHORT tour two 26 room home in one. one bath down town $218.000 (310)821-MO45

FOR SALE BY OWNER Photo of Your House ... Your Words ... This Size ... RUNS FOR 6 WEEKS!

Ad Information:

- Cost: $1.11 per word ($11.10 min.)
- 3-5 days $1.11 per word ($11.10 min.)
- 6-10 days $1.58 per word ($15.80 min.)
- 11-15 days $2.22 per word ($22.20 min.)
- 16-20 days $2.83 per word ($28.30 min.)

NO REFUNDS. DEADLINE IS 11AM PREVIOUS WORKING DAY.

* Add 5% exchange of entire ad cost if you would like your ad included on our web site.*
calendar

- "Culturally Competent Approaches to Global Health" talk, Stanford South Asia Society, 11 a.m.-2 p.m., Stanford University, Main Quad.
- "Eliminating Health Disparities through Culturally Competent Approaches to Patient Care," S.C. Arnold, pancreatic surgeon, School of Medicine, 12:30 p.m., Medical Sciences Building, 2nd floor.
- "The Angry Heart," 12:30 p.m., Pharmacy Building 2nd Auditorium B.
- Faculty Council Meeting, 3:30 p.m., Room 120, Dore Stephens Center.
- Martin Luther King Jr. Human Rights Week 2005 Poster Competition, 6-8 p.m., Seminar Center fourth floor.
- Martin Luther King Jr. Human Rights Week 2005, Amnesty International meeting, 9 p.m., 346 DHE.

quote of the day

"Martin Luther King reminded us that yes, we have to accept finite disappointment, and I know how to do that. But he said we must ... never give up on infinite hope."

- Sen. John Kerry

horoscopes

Tuesday, January 18, 2005

Aries (March 21-April 19): You can really get down today if you brush down all old feelings and your energy is beautiful. Take pride in what you do.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): There will be no sellouts if you put your mind to it. For once, you can be strong and present what you've got to win favors and respect.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Try to keep your home and order making a mess. You need a change, and try doing something in a new way. If you're colorful, you will find yourself to be more interesting later.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): This is a good fortunate time when two of your signs on the same day can bring support and new possibilities.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Be a monarch, and consider what you can do to improve your health, your work situation, get more things done, and plan some time to enjoy. Positive things begin to be your friends.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): If your surroundings aren't up to par, you may yourself get depressed. Be on your toes to improve your environment.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You may be questioning your career. Give yourself a chance to develop what you feel will work for you. Someone you respect will give you great advice and a helping hand.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Good news today. You will have a great turn of events. Your good fortune will be strong today and tomorrow.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You may be exploring your travels. Give yourself a chance to develop what you feel will work for you. Someone you respect will give you great advice and a helping hand.

Pisces (March 21-April 19): Learning or gathering new knowledge will be of great value today. Try to relax your way through them.

news you need to know

Today — $20 late registration fee effective through Jan. 24

Opening of classes, 7:30 a.m.

Preliminary class rosters available

Thursday — Winter-season grades must be submitted to the registrar by Jan. 25.

Friday — 2004-05 general catalogues to be distributed by mail on Jan. 24 — Withdrawal of entire spring semester registration for 2004-05

students held to 15 percent of tuition and mandatory fees happy birthday to ...

PATV schedule

11 a.m. Democracy Now
12:15 a.m. MTV Unplugged
12:30 a.m. MTV TNAW Music Focus No. 1
1:30 a.m. Entertainment Tonight
2:30 a.m. Nighttime with Sinbad
6:30 a.m. Newsbreak
6:30 p.m. Sunny’s Monday Night
6:30 p.m. Jay Leno
7:30 p.m. The Wonder Years
8 p.m. Cold and Grey
8:30 p.m. Secret Diary
9 p.m. Animal House
9:30 p.m. American Bandstand
10 p.m. Family Affair
11 p.m. The Sonny and Cher Show
11:30 p.m. The Dukes
12:30 a.m. American Bandstand
1:30 a.m. American Bandstand
3:30 a.m. Saturday Night Live
6 a.m. Good Morning America
7 a.m. Good Morning America
8 a.m. Good Morning America
10 a.m. Good Morning America
11 a.m. Good Morning America
11 a.m. Good Morning America
11:30 a.m. Good Morning America
12 noon. Good Morning America
1 p.m. Good Morning America
2 p.m. Good Morning America
3 p.m. Good Morning America
4 p.m. Good Morning America
5 p.m. Good Morning America
6 p.m. Good Morning America
7 p.m. Good Morning America
8 p.m. Good Morning America
9 p.m. Good Morning America
10 p.m. Good Morning America

UTV schedule

2 p.m.: A Conversation with William Kriatol
4 p.m.: Detroit Red Wings Hockey Preview
6 p.m.: Documentaries in the Classroom
7 p.m.: Home Improvement
8 p.m.: Hockey\'s Heroes of the 21st Century
9 p.m.: Meditation and Mindfulness
10 p.m.: Missing Persons: A Treatment for Populace

For complete TV listings and pay-per-view guides, check out Arts & Entertainment online at www.dailytimes.com.

DILBERT ©

© 1995 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

DILBERT ® will appear daily in The Daily Iowan.

The Daily Iowan

For home delivery, phone 335-5783