Veter's group wants changes

BY EMILY SPARKS

The UI Veterans Association will meet this week for a proposal that would allow veterans to take one class every semester, one less than the four classes required by students with professor approval. The proposal was introduced by UI student David Killian.

The UI Student Veterans Association (SVLA) supports the proposal, said group President David Killian. "This proposal will save the vets' lives," he said. "A vet can only handle one class at a time."

The proposal has not been tested yet. "It will come to the board in the spring," said group President Killian. "I believe in the proposal. It's a step in the right direction."

- Senate nixes Dems’ timetable

By Liz McDuffie

WASHINGTON — The GOP-controlled Senate rejected a Democratic proposal Tuesday for a timetable for withdrawing US troops from Iraq. The proposal, which would have called for an end to the ground war in Iraq by the end of 2011, was rejected by a vote of 51-49. The Senate also voted 71-29 to approve a resolution condemning the loss of life in Iraq.

Democrats had hoped to use the Senate's votes on Iraq and education funding to call attention to what they see as a GOP effort to deny the country an education stimulus package. But Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle said Tuesday that the Senate would vote on the stimulus package this week.

A discussion centered around accessibility issues was held Monday to allow students, staff and faculty to express their concerns about what currently is and is not accessible on campus.

Ms. Dunn, the university's director of disability services, is responsible for making the necessary accommodations for students with disabilities.

"I think it needs to be a continuum," she said.

Dunn later said she would like to see the university have a designated parking area for people with disabilities, especially at the Wal-Mart Supercenter.

By talking about Taiwan, Bush said. Further, he hoped Bush would secure Taiwan’s entry into the OECD, a stepping stone to full admission to the WTO and the World Bank.

Bush also lectured the West about the importance of democracy. "It’s a right to be held accountable for the release of his 1985 autobiography."

"I’ve heard many times about how Bush’s appointment would be a victory for democracy," said Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Reformers said that Alito’s nomination would be a victory for democracy because he has a legal career. "Mark Alito will continue to South Korea, China, and Mongolia."

must change now because deployments could continue through the next decade.

UI student John Reddin — a Passionate apathy

We are all aware of the ongoing need for change; everyone's ears are full of political discussions moving forward, and we can't escape the daily stress of the war. These discussions are full of going against the Irvington of the world today: armamements, corporate over­

The invisible wall is elevated with the guns, oil, and chaos. The war has increased the warming, environmental destructountry, hunger, desperation, the list goes on and on. But the more we talk about it, the more we think about it, the less impact we seem to have, until we end up thinking that there's nothing we can do about it.

We can see the world in a thousand different ways. But we all agree that we must do something.

There is a lot of work to be done. Yes, as a single individual, there is a lot of work to be done. But if we all work together, we can make a difference.

And that difference is something we all know is possible.

Even if one small change can only make a difference for one person, that difference could be enough to change the world.

One person, one vote, one heart.

And together, we can change the world.

Cuban band Tiempo Libre brings Latin music to Iowa City’s Englert Theatre

By Adam Greenberg

Thursday, June 19

Cuba has been home to Thomas Wolfe since 2002. The poet, who was legendary in his own time, has been invited by the National Endowment for the Arts Cuba program to lead a writing workshop. The workshop will take place at the University of Texas at Austin, and promote a new generation of writers who will be inspired by the Latin American cultural heritage.

The 33-year-old Wolfe, who was born in 1974 in Havana, has been known for his prose and poetry, but has also dabbled in music and film. His latest book, "The Rise of the Rainbow," was published in 2001.

The concert will feature three musicians from the band: lead singer Tito Puente, keyboardist Willy Rodríguez, and composer and percussionist Mario Adán. The band has released two albums, "Tiempo Libre" and "Tiempo Libre, Vol. 2." Their music has been described as "a cross-cultural fusion of Latin, African and Caribbean rhythms.""

For the first time this season, Iowa appeared headed for another loss as the Hawkeyes, but the Hawkeyes attack was just too much.

The #3-ranked Hawkeye offense-confidence continued to soar to an unprecedented high as the Hawkeyes were on track to average over 30 points for the first time since... well, a lot longer. The Hawkeyes were now on track to average over 30 points for the first time since... well, a lot longer.

In this important step toward our goal of creating a winning team, the Hawkeyes are getting back to the way they were, and that's with a winning mentality.

Iowa basketball coach Fran McCaffery recently commented on the importance of building a winning team and the challenges that come with it. The Hawkeyes, he said, were on the right track to achieving that goal.

The Hawkeye basketball team has been working hard this season to build a winning culture and are showing signs of progress. The team is currently on a four-game winning streak and is looking forward to continuing their success.

Snyder steps down

BY JEFF LATZKE

Norman, Okla. — Bill Snyder gave Chuck Long a chance to play college football and Brent Venables has been football coach.

Without Snyder's help, it's possible neither one would be in the position he's in now with the coaching staff at Oklahoma under another Snyder disciple, Bob Stoops. Snyder, 64, retired Tuesday as Kansas State athletics director and Venables could jump in as a candidate to succeed Snyder.

Long was the quarterback of a most successful offense at Wisconsin (1985-88), High School when Snyder, then an assistant at Iowa, was the first college coach to come calling.

Snyder had been a hometown hero at the University of Kansas before moving on to the coaching ranks. The K-State staff has been through three head coaches since Snyder went there after ten years in the Arena.

"I haven't thought about it, honestly. It's so sudden," Long said. "I would like to think about different things and different opportunities. Of course, that's an exciting opportunity for somebody, but, right now, I haven't thought about it...""Snyder, 54, grew up in Topeka, Kan., and has two daughters and eight grandchildren.

"I've been here 26 years — that's a long time, but I do want to move on to the next phase of my life. "I'm surprised about the coaching opportunity," Long said. "We have to do some more research on this year's Sooners and where they go in the future..."""Snyder, 54, and his wife, Lisa, had a strong showing in the second-place finish in the 1985-86 Kansas TV ratings voting.

"I've always been very thankful that they did take a chance," Long said.

"I'm surprised by Snyder's sudden retirement after 17 years at Kansas State, where he took a downwinders program to 13-straight bowl games.

"I do aspire to be a head coach, but it has to be the right situation for me and my family," Long said. "I don't know if Kansas State has the right opportunity for me ever..."

"I've been here a long time and I want to move on to the next phase of my life. I think it's only natural that Venables would be considered as a candidate — but that won't be for a while," Long said.

"To me, it's the top way promotion, right now, for that to happen. That's something he has to think about and make a decision," Snyder said. "I've had my markets — Brent and everyone else — for what I've done and it's time to start thinking about it..."

"Brent's a great coach," Long said. "He has a great program..."

"Brent's a great coach..."

"I think he's one of the best in the country. Brent's a great coach..."

"I think he's one of the best in the country."

"I think he's one of the best in the country..."

The Daily Iowan - City of Iowa City, Iowa - Wednesday, November 16, 2005 - 24
Maroney says his ankle is still 100 percent, but will undoubtedly play on Saturday against the Hawkeyes.

BY JON KRAMCZENSKI
MINNEAPOLIS — Minnesota running back Laurence Maroney and his right ankle were back in the starting lineup Saturday after missing last week’s game.

"I’m ready to play Saturday," he said on Tuesday. "I don’t have to worry about that."

The Gophers didn’t have a beat without their leading scorer. Third-string running back Chad Carter rushed for a career-high 186 yards and four touchdowns in the 41-10 rout.

Maroney treated the ankle in warm-ups and said he had a hard time getting running straight ahead. "I just got it somewhat a little bit."

Wanting to make sure his star would be ready for the game at Iowa, coach Glen Mason and he worked on the side of excision andiced it every day."That’s the hardest thing to do is on the beach and watch a game," Maroney said.

Maroney, who entered last week as the Big Ten’s leading rusher with 1,349 yards, scored a third-quarter touchdown running through gaping holes. The Gophers’ 1-7-1 Big Ten record of 1,372 yards on the day to become the first running back since Minnesota star Tad Mohnem in 1966.

Russell left the second quarter a little too late to be nixed by Mason and he ended up on the sidelines as usual.

Despite earning praise for Mason and his ankle, Vincent had just two carries for five yards while stacks behind Russell and Maroney.

"I don’t think anyone was undying," he said. "They’re all going to have a different combination."

The Hawkeyes lost the first half of the Big Ten 37-55, but the Hawkeyes battled back in the second half, holding Cujo to just 29 of 103, an impressive defense as the win was, the Hawkeyes shot 18 percent from the beyond the arc.

Cujo led Cujo to 10 points and eight rebounds. Kyle Row was 10 points and five rebounds.

The Hawkeyes braved an injury to leading scorer Seth Jansen, allowing Cujo to make the natural progression from third to second.

"Now trailing by 18 at halftime, Cujo converted eight of his first nine shots in the second half and out at 19-17 that cut the lead to 41-31. Full court made a few points less than a minute, and Madison County's high correlation points and eight rebounds for Iowa.

The Hawkeyes made just 29 of 76 shots, allowing Cujo to make the natural progression from third to second.

"I think we showed our maturity to come back and take over the game," said Jansen. "I think the crowd really helped us out, a little bit, I think."
