Coralville child found dead

The 7-year-old brother of Seth Keboe and their mother were injured and underwent surgery.

By KURTIS HIATT and ANAIS McCLELLAN

Authorities found a 2-year-old Coralville boy dead Monday morning in Littleton, Iowa, after the child’s mother reportedly said she had kids in danger. The family had been reported missing Sunday.

Seth Keboe was found dead at “Hook ‘N’ Liner Pond” in Littleton near his family’s minivan, police reports show.

Police found 7-year-old Seth Keboe suffering serious injuries inside the vehicle. Michelle Keboe, who was also injured, reportedly went to a residence to tell the occupants her children were in danger around 8 a.m. Monday. Buchanan County sheriff’s deputies, the Iowa State Patrol, and emergency medical personnel responded.

Plasma donations increasing

UI sophomore Laura Hetue said once gas prices began catalyzing northward last summer, she knew what she had to do.

She recalled having to feed the vehicle—fuel—that illuminating—first time she donated. There it stayed for more than 60 minutes, allowing her to sell plasma drop after plasma drop at BioloLife Plasma Services in Coralville.

“It is not something I like to see put in my arm,” said Hetue, who first donated plasma in August. “It is a pretty big needle, thick and whatnot.”

Despite this, she keeps coming back to the plasma center, saying “it is hard for me to find a job,” she said. “It is really easy money.”

She is one of an increasing number of people who are rolling up their sleeves for money, according to BioloLife officials.

The number of people donating plasma at the Coralville center between June and August this year skyrocketed nearly 70 percent over last year’s during that same time. In 2007, there were roughly 3,000 donations, while in 2008 there were more than 5,000.

Officials also say the lapsing economy has caused more people to file through their doors. Donations can earn at least $230 per month if they donate twice a week, said Tonya Fowler, BioLife’s regional spokeswoman.

Donations can also earn donors credit cards, and the plasma is used to create medicines.

Ideas abound in 2nd race

With two major-party and two third-party candidates, the 2nd Congressional District race offers a wide range of political viewpoints.

All five recent UISG presidents:

Where are they now?

UISG presidents:

Iowa rowing head coach Mandi Denny is one of only a handful of female coaches in the men’s swimming and diving line. Despite this, she keeps coming back to the plasma center, saying “It is not something I like to see put in my arm,” said Hetue, who first donated plasma in August. “It is a pretty big needle, thick and whatnot.”

Despite this, she keeps coming back to the plasma center, saying “it is hard for me to find a job,” she said. “It is really easy money.”

She is one of an increasing number of people who are rolling up their sleeves for money, according to BioloLife officials.

The number of people donating plasma at the Coralville center between June and August this year skyrocketed nearly 70 percent over last year’s during that same time. In 2007, there were roughly 3,000 donations, while in 2008 there were more than 5,000.

Officials also say the lapsing economy has caused more people to file through their doors. Donations can earn at least $230 per month if they donate twice a week, said Tonya Fowler, BioLife’s regional spokeswoman.

Donations can also earn donors credit cards, and the plasma is used to create medicines.

Int’l students eye election

International students at the UI have a vested interest in the election.

By REGINA DZIERZKINSKI

With the 2008 Iowa election, UI freshmen Yunshan Tao and Jingying Zhai arrived in Iowa for the first time since the Sino-India trials ended. Iowa women’s swimming and diving team member is most of the international students.

The five most recent UISG presidents:

Where are they now?

UISG presidents:

Iowa rowing head coach Mandi Denny is one of only a handful of female coaches in the men’s swimming and diving line. Despite this, she keeps coming back to the plasma center, saying “It is not something I like to see put in my arm,” said Hetue, who first donated plasma in August. “It is a pretty big needle, thick and whatnot.”

Despite this, she keeps coming back to the plasma center, saying “it is hard for me to find a job,” she said. “It is really easy money.”

She is one of an increasing number of people who are rolling up their sleeves for money, according to BioloLife officials.

The number of people donating plasma at the Coralville center between June and August this year skyrocketed nearly 70 percent over last year’s during that same time. In 2007, there were roughly 3,000 donations, while in 2008 there were more than 5,000.

Officials also say the lapsing economy has caused more people to file through their doors. Donations can earn at least $230 per month if they donate twice a week, said Tonya Fowler, BioLife’s regional spokeswoman.

Donations can also earn donors credit cards, and the plasma is used to create medicines.

Int’l students eye election

International students at the UI have a vested interest in the election.

By REGINA DZIERZKINSKI

With the 2008 Iowa election, UI freshmen Yunshan Tao and Jingying Zhai arrived in Iowa for the first time since the Sino-India trials ended. Iowa women’s swimming and diving team member is most of the international students.

The five most recent UISG presidents:

Where are they now?

UISG presidents:

Iowa rowing head coach Mandi Denny is one of only a handful of female coaches in the men’s swimming and diving line. Despite this, she keeps coming back to the plasma center, saying “It is not something I like to see put in my arm,” said Hetue, who first donated plasma in August. “It is a pretty big needle, thick and whatnot.”

Despite this, she keeps coming back to the plasma center, saying “it is hard for me to find a job,” she said. “It is really easy money.”

She is one of an increasing number of people who are rolling up their sleeves for money, according to BioloLife officials.

The number of people donating plasma at the Coralville center between June and August this year skyrocketed nearly 70 percent over last year’s during that same time. In 2007, there were roughly 3,000 donations, while in 2008 there were more than 5,000.

Officials also say the lapsing economy has caused more people to file through their doors. Donations can earn at least $230 per month if they donate twice a week, said Tonya Fowler, BioLife’s regional spokeswoman.

Donations can also earn donors credit cards, and the plasma is used to create medicines.

Int’l students eye election

International students at the UI have a vested interest in the election.

By REGINA DZIERZKINSKI

With the 2008 Iowa election, UI freshmen Yunshan Tao and Jingying Zhai arrived in Iowa for the first time since the Sino-India trials ended. Iowa women’s swimming and diving team member is most of the international students.

The five most recent UISG presidents:

Where are they now?

UISG presidents:

Iowa rowing head coach Mandi Denny is one of only a handful of female coaches in the men’s swimming and diving line. Despite this, she keeps coming back to the plasma center, saying “It is not something I like to see put in my arm,” said Hetue, who first donated plasma in August. “It is a pretty big needle, thick and whatnot.”

Despite this, she keeps coming back to the plasma center, saying “it is hard for me to find a job,” she said. “It is really easy money.”

She is one of an increasing number of people who are rolling up their sleeves for money, according to BioloLife officials.

The number of people donating plasma at the Coralville center between June and August this year skyrocketed nearly 70 percent over last year’s during that same time. In 2007, there were roughly 3,000 donations, while in 2008 there were more than 5,000.

Officials also say the lapsing economy has caused more people to file through their doors. Donations can earn at least $230 per month if they donate twice a week, said Tonya Fowler, BioLife’s regional spokeswoman.

Donations can also earn donors credit cards, and the plasma is used to create medicines.

Int’l students eye election

International students at the UI have a vested interest in the election.

By REGINA DZIERZKINSKI

With the 2008 Iowa election, UI freshmen Yunshan Tao and Jingying Zhai arrived in Iowa for the first time since the Sino-India trials ended. Iowa women’s swimming and diving team member is most of the international students.

The five most recent UISG presidents:

Where are they now?

UISG presidents:

Iowa rowing head coach Mandi Denny is one of only a handful of female coaches in the men’s swimming and diving line. Despite this, she keeps coming back to the plasma center, saying “It is not something I like to see put in my arm,” said Hetue, who first donated plasma in August. “It is a pretty big needle, thick and whatnot.”

Despite this, she keeps coming back to the plasma center, saying “it is hard for me to find a job,” she said. “It is really easy money.”

She is one of an increasing number of people who are rolling up their sleeves for money, according to BioloLife officials.

The number of people donating plasma at the Coralville center between June and August this year skyrocketed nearly 70 percent over last year’s during that same time. In 2007, there were roughly 3,000 donations, while in 2008 there were more than 5,000.

Officials also say the lapsing economy has caused more people to file through their doors. Donations can earn at least $230 per month if they donate twice a week, said Tonya Fowler, BioLife’s regional spokeswoman.

Donations can also earn donors credit cards, and the plasma is used to create medicines.
Ex-USIS heads laud job

All past five USIS presidents say their job in office benefited their transition to the post-college world.

By MELANIE RIEKER

What do USIS, the last DoD agency to have its own University of Iowa chapter, and the University of Iowa have in common?

They’re all served as the UI Student Government’s president.

Today, three of the five presidents attended a congressional hearing on campus and a congressional hearing in Washington, D.C., on Capitol Hill. But, still, a question persists: Did they get the most out of their post-college lives?

The answer is “yes,” according to the last five presidents of USIS: Barrett Anderson, Peter McElligott, Mark Leppelmeier, Nate Green, and Ali Sanchez.

For me, past USIS was such an amazing learning experience. But the most important thing was being an active and attractive candidate to my compañeros for the UI’s student government, said senior Ali Sanchez, a communications major.

“Ideally, we would have gone every single day,” he said. “We tried to go to any and every meeting of any company you have no reason not to go.”

Kesworski, who served three terms as president of USIS, said his future employers will ask him about his USIS experience. Kesworski said learning how to manage USIS as a student was a problem-solving issue: could we afford to lose the money?

“It was when I was president that I really learned how to fight the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal. It was in that way we learned to fight the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal. And, I think it’s because I was able to do it, but that I really learned it.”

Kesworski said that past USIS was such an amazing learning experience. But the most important thing was being an active and attractive candidate to my compañeros for the UI’s student government, said senior Ali Sanchez, a communications major.

“Ideally, we would have gone every single day,” he said. “We tried to go to any and every meeting of any company you have no reason not to go.”

Kesworski, who served three terms as president of USIS, said his future employers will ask him about his USIS experience. Kesworski said learning how to manage USIS as a student was a problem-solving issue: could we afford to lose the money?

“It was when I was president that I really learned how to fight the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal. It was in that way we learned to fight the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal. And, I think it’s because I was able to do it, but that I really learned it.”

Kesworski said that past USIS was such an amazing learning experience. But the most important thing was being an active and attractive candidate to my compañeros for the UI’s student government, said senior Ali Sanchez, a communications major.

“Ideally, we would have gone every single day,” he said. “We tried to go to any and every meeting of any company you have no reason not to go.”

Kesworski, who served three terms as president of USIS, said his future employers will ask him about his USIS experience. Kesworski said learning how to manage USIS as a student was a problem-solving issue: could we afford to lose the money?

“It was when I was president that I really learned how to fight the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal. It was in that way we learned to fight the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal. And, I think it’s because I was able to do it, but that I really learned it.”

Kesworski said that past USIS was such an amazing learning experience. But the most important thing was being an active and attractive candidate to my compañeros for the UI’s student government, said senior Ali Sanchez, a communications major.

“Ideally, we would have gone every single day,” he said. “We tried to go to any and every meeting of any company you have no reason not to go.”

Kesworski, who served three terms as president of USIS, said his future employers will ask him about his USIS experience. Kesworski said learning how to manage USIS as a student was a problem-solving issue: could we afford to lose the money?

“It was when I was president that I really learned how to fight the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal. It was in that way we learned to fight the proposal to fund the proposal to fund the proposal. And, I think it’s because I was able to do it, but that I really learned it.”
Global Warming? The Environment? Climate Change?

Care about these issues?

For a physician directory, visit www.mercyciphio.org

Don't miss your local environmental & conservation issue on the back of the ballot.

For information contact Mercy PHO 319-339-3992 (press 1).

Global warming is the new, hot topic. And it’s not too late to voice your opinion. Get involved and let your voice be heard. Make the right choice today.

Global warming is a real topic that needs addressing. You can make a difference. Start by spreading the word, spreading the truth.

Merry Christmas and happy holidays. May your days be merry and may your blessings be great.
Beyond the Green Zone: for more news

Darfur, speaker says

Mohamed Yahya stands outside the Jona House on Monday. Yahya gave a lecture in the Pappajohn Business Building to raise awareness about the atrocities taking place in Darfur.

Yahya said, “I know the students have the courage to make change, because we are all connected as human beings.”

“What happens over there doesn’t just happen on the mainstream media, and we need to bring to the students what is happening on this area,” Yahya said.

The United States should be much more involved in the affairs of Darfur, Yahya said, “Use your voice, go meet with your senators, ask them what they are going to do for Darfur.”

Five years ago, Darfur was living in Anarchy, age, Alaka, working on Mount McKinley as a ranger and guide — occupations he has not spent time in since his choice to depart for Iraq.

When the resolution didn’t pass, the United Nations sent 26,000 peace-workers to Darfur, Yahya said. “I put more pressure on the United Nations to act on this issue,” and Dan Kistin, a member of the American Antiwar Coalition, which hosted the event.

Durfur remains a land torn by conflict, he said. “An embargo should be there, and that’s why I haven’t come back yet,” he said. “It’s there, and that’s why I haven’t come back yet.”

The organization Yahya works for spreads the message of Darfur throughout the United States.

The government of Sudan and the Janjaweed militia systematical- ly kill non-Arabs — villages for these resources, he said. Women are raped, men killed, and vil- lages burned.

Janjaweed militia systematical- ly kills non-Arabs — villages for these resources, he said. Women are raped, men killed, and vil- lages burned.

Mohamed Yahya stands outside the Jona House on Monday. Yahya gave a lecture in the Pappajohn Business Building to raise awareness about the atrocities taking place in Darfur.

The United States should be much more involved in the affairs of Darfur, Yahya said. “Use your voice, go meet with your senators, ask them what they are going to do for Darfur.”

Five years ago, Darfur was living in Anarchy, age, Alaka, working on Mount McKinley as a ranger and guide — occupations he has not spent time in since his choice to depart for Iraq.

When the resolution didn’t pass, the United Nations sent 26,000 peace-workers to Darfur, Yahya said. “I put more pressure on the United Nations to act on this issue,” and Dan Kistin, a member of the American Antiwar Coalition, which hosted the event.

Durfur remains a land torn by conflict, he said. “An embargo should be there, and that’s why I haven’t come back yet,” he said. “It’s there, and that’s why I haven’t come back yet.”

The organization Yahya works for spreads the message of Darfur throughout the United States.

The government of Sudan and the Janjaweed militia systematical- ly kill non-Arabs — villages for these resources, he said. Women are raped, men killed, and vil- lages burned.

Janjaweed militia systematical- ly kills non-Arabs — villages for these resources, he said. Women are raped, men killed, and vil- lages burned.

Mohamed Yahya stands outside the Jona House on Monday. Yahya gave a lecture in the Pappajohn Business Building to raise awareness about the atrocities taking place in Darfur.

Yahya said, “I know the students have the courage to make change, because we are all connected as human beings.”

“What happens over there doesn’t just happen on the mainstream media, and we need to bring to the students what is happening on this area,” Yahya said.

The United States should be much more involved in the affairs of Darfur, Yahya said, “Use your voice, go meet with your senators, ask them what they are going to do for Darfur.”

Five years ago, Darfur was living in Anarchy, age, Alaka, working on Mount McKinley as a ranger and guide — occupations he has not spent time in since his choice to depart for Iraq.

When the resolution didn’t pass, the United Nations sent 26,000 peace-workers to Darfur, Yahya said. “I put more pressure on the United Nations to act on this issue,” and Dan Kistin, a member of the American Antiwar Coalition, which hosted the event.

Durfur remains a land torn by conflict, he said. “An embargo should be there, and that’s why I haven’t come back yet,” he said. “It’s there, and that’s why I haven’t come back yet.”

The organization Yahya works for spreads the message of Darfur throughout the United States.

The government of Sudan and the Janjaweed militia systematical- ly kill non-Arabs — villages for these resources, he said. Women are raped, men killed, and vil- lages burned.

Janjaweed militia systematical- ly kills non-Arabs — villages for these resources, he said. Women are raped, men killed, and vil- lages burned.

Mohamed Yahya stands outside the Jona House on Monday. Yahya gave a lecture in the Pappajohn Business Building to raise awareness about the atrocities taking place in Darfur.

Yahya said, “I know the students have the courage to make change, because we are all connected as human beings.”

“What happens over there doesn’t just happen on the mainstream media, and we need to bring to the students what is happening on this area,” Yahya said.

The United States should be much more involved in the affairs of Darfur, Yahya said, “Use your voice, go meet with your senators, ask them what they are going to do for Darfur.”

Five years ago, Darfur was living in Anarchy, age, Alaka, working on Mount McKinley as a ranger and guide — occupations he has not spent time in since his choice to depart for Iraq.

When the resolution didn’t pass, the United Nations sent 26,000 peace-workers to Darfur, Yahya said. “I put more pressure on the United Nations to act on this issue,” and Dan Kistin, a member of the American Antiwar Coalition, which hosted the event.

Durfur remains a land torn by conflict, he said. “An embargo should be there, and that’s why I haven’t come back yet,” he said. “It’s there, and that’s why I haven’t come back yet.”

The organization Yahya works for spreads the message of Darfur throughout the United States.

The government of Sudan and the Janjaweed militia systematical- ly kill non-Arabs — villages for these resources, he said. Women are raped, men killed, and vil- lages burned.

Janjaweed militia systematical- ly kills non-Arabs — villages for these resources, he said. Women are raped, men killed, and vil- lages burned.
Long-term care comes under scrutiny

Long-term health-care providers say current regulatory processes are tightening admission to facilities.

By MARY HARRINGTON

Even though Iowa's long-term care system generally receives high marks for its regulatory fines, leaving officials to question whether the fines do enough to improve quality, some in the industry to question the fairness of the process. A volunteer group visits Cedar Rapids on Sunday.

“...because Sieleman feared for his life or..." Ackerson said. "It's workers who come from our community..."

The Iowa Health Care Association

"We want to get tougher on..." said Cindy Baddeloo, the deputy director of Iowa Health Care Association..."

"The fear of fines really..." said the Iowa Health Care Association..."

"...so we want to restructure the..."

But he said the fines do not always matter and will support reform "for any of the reasons..."

Steve Ackerson, the executive director of Iowa Health Care Association, speaks to a group of community members...""The fear of fines really..." Ackerson said. "It's workers who come from our community, or their family friends. We're pretty proud of them..."

The promise of milk and honey

"The promise of milk and honey..."

Nonetheless, despite opposing attacks, Israel was not allowed to fire in peace. Virtually without interruption, it was victimized by attacks from Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, and Egypt. There were two major wars the Six War of 1967 and the Yom Kippur War of 1973, Israel prescribed to 68, it...""The fear of fines really..." Ackerson said. "It's workers who come from our community, or their family friends. We're pretty proud of them..."

"The promise of milk and honey..."

Nonetheless, despite opposing attacks, Israel was not allowed to fire in peace. Virtually without interruption, it was victimized by attacks from Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, and Egypt. There were two major wars the Six War of 1967 and the Yom Kippur War of 1973, Israel prescribed to 68, it...""The fear of fines really..." Ackerson said. "It's workers who come from our community, or their family friends. We're pretty proud of them..."

"The promise of milk and honey..."

Nonetheless, despite opposing attacks, Israel was not allowed to fire in peace. Virtually without interruption, it was victimized by attacks from Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, and Egypt. There were two major wars the Six War of 1967 and the Yom Kippur War of 1973, Israel prescribed to 68, it...""The fear of fines really..." Ackerson said. "It's workers who come from our community, or their family friends. We're pretty proud of them..."

"The promise of milk and honey..."

Nonetheless, despite opposing attacks, Israel was not allowed to fire in peace. Virtually without interruption, it was victimized by attacks from Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, and Egypt. There were two major wars the Six War of 1967 and the Yom Kippur War of 1973, Israel prescribed to 68, it...""The fear of fines really..." Ackerson said. "It's workers who come from our community, or their family friends. We're pretty proud of them..."

"The promise of milk and honey..."

Nonetheless, despite opposing attacks, Israel was not allowed to fire in peace. Virtually without interruption, it was victimized by attacks from Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, and Egypt. There were two major wars the Six War of 1967 and the Yom Kippur War of 1973, Israel prescribed to 68, it...""The fear of fines really..." Ackerson said. "It's workers who come from our community, or their family friends. We're pretty proud of them..."

"The promise of milk and honey..."

Nonetheless, despite opposing attacks, Israel was not allowed to fire in peace. Virtually without interruption, it was victimized by attacks from Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, and Egypt. There were two major wars the Six War of 1967 and the Yom Kippur War of 1973, Israel prescribed to 68, it...""The fear of fines really..." Ackerson said. "It's workers who come from our community, or their family friends. We're pretty proud of them..."

"The promise of milk and honey..."

Nonetheless, despite opposing attacks, Israel was not allowed to fire in peace. Virtually without interruption, it was victimized by attacks from Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, and Egypt. There were two major wars the Six War of 1967 and the Yom Kippur War of 1973, Israel prescribed to 68, it...""The fear of fines really..." Ackerson said. "It's workers who come from our community, or their family friends. We're pretty proud of them..."

"The promise of milk and honey..."

Nonetheless, despite opposing attacks, Israel was not allowed to fire in peace. Virtually without interruption, it was victimized by attacks from Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, and Egypt. There were two major wars the Six War of 1967 and the Yom Kippur War of 1973, Israel prescribed to 68, it...""The fear of fines really..." Ackerson said. "It's workers who come from our community, or their family friends. We're pretty proud of them..."
McCain seeks surge with new endorsement

The following is editorial satire.

BEAU ELLIOT

Is the presidential campaign come to a close at last?

And we aren’t talking anything twice for President Bill Clinton, points in Mingo, the biggest gap
Hillary Rodham Clinton beat ist by association to 1960s-era radical
“Muslim,” and implying he is a terror-
“Hussein,” its insistence he is a

McCain and bin Laden can also rally around their

in West Virginia, lingering doubts on Obama

The Obama campaign’s plan to turn the United States of

We might as well

We’ll simply agree to disagree. Clearly, a late-night meeting,

Films.com — in case you didn’t know — will go on to
to be a crazy fool. So what? If he’s could be cast when bin Laden just wants to send shockers

So please don’t send us e-mail about its ludicrous nature, but do e-mail us at:
drop their peace" with Obama, he cast a lot of doubt about what

So please don’t send us e-mail about its ludicrous nature, but do e-mail us at:

The Army has dropped 53 cents a gallon

It could be that bin Laden just wants to send feelers out

We should abandon that concept?

An endorsing video appeared in the

The following is editorial satire

We might as well

We’ll simply agree to disagree. Clearly, a late-night meeting,

Films.com — in case you didn’t know — will go on to
to be a crazy fool. So what? If he’s to a late-night meeting, the gates of hell, and the book to their col-

McCain and bin Laden regarding the

I leave earmarks on my pil-

The key to the future is to make the lines

The Obama campaign’s plan to turn the United States of

The Obama campaign’s plan to turn the United States of

Based on word length, subject relevancy, and space considerations, the following is editorial satire

JOHN THE PLUMBER.

What’s the deal?

Your neighbors or

If you have a plumbers’ union

In West Virginia, lingering doubts on Obama

Opinions

TODAY’S EDITORIAL WAS AS DRY AS THE LEAVES CURRENTLY FALLING.

But do you think things are

No, really.

The following is editorial satire.

For Obama but not an impos-

Pollyanna. Bill, you can’t do

Obama and McCain already have
to the state primary, but by 80

For Barack Obama, though,

that the McCain/Palin ticket would

or a stereolike endorsement for

But do you think things are

No, really.

The following is editorial satire.

For Obama but not an impos-

Pollyanna. Bill, you can’t do

Obama and McCain already have
to the state primary, but by 80

For Barack Obama, though,

that the McCain/Palin ticket would

or a stereolike endorsement for

But do you think things are

No, really.

The following is editorial satire.

For Obama but not an impos-

Pollyanna. Bill, you can’t do

Obama and McCain already have
to the state primary, but by 80

For Barack Obama, though,

that the McCain/Palin ticket would

or a stereolike endorsement for

But do you think things are

No, really.
GIVE A LISTEN

Featured Tracks:
- “Cosmos Rocks”
- “Light With Its Shadow”
- “Still Burnin’”
- “C-Lebrity”

The album opens with “Cosmos Rocks,” a Far East meets New Age track featuring multi-instrumentalist Brian May's guitar and bass. The lead singer Paul Rodgers was invited to join the band without Mercury. In 2004, current frontman Freddie Mercury, who died of AIDS in 1991. Guitarist Brian May was particularly interested in working with an experienced lead singer. Rodgers has a strong voice and an emotional range that perfectly complements the band's style.

The lead singer Paul Rodgers was invited to join the band without Mercury. In 2004, current frontman Freddie Mercury, who died of AIDS in 1991. Guitarist Brian May was particularly interested in working with an experienced lead singer. Rodgers has a strong voice and an emotional range that perfectly complements the band's style.

Featured Tracks:
- “Cosmos Rocks”
- “Light With Its Shadow”
- “Still Burnin’”
- “C-Lebrity”

The album opens with “Cosmos Rocks,” a Far East meets New Age track featuring multi-instrumentalist Brian May's guitar and bass. The lead singer Paul Rodgers was invited to join the band without Mercury. In 2004, current frontman Freddie Mercury, who died of AIDS in 1991. Guitarist Brian May was particularly interested in working with an experienced lead singer. Rodgers has a strong voice and an emotional range that perfectly complements the band's style.

The lead singer Paul Rodgers was invited to join the band without Mercury. In 2004, current frontman Freddie Mercury, who died of AIDS in 1991. Guitarist Brian May was particularly interested in working with an experienced lead singer. Rodgers has a strong voice and an emotional range that perfectly complements the band's style.

Featured Tracks:
- “Cosmos Rocks”
- “Light With Its Shadow”
- “Still Burnin’”
- “C-Lebrity”

The album opens with “Cosmos Rocks,” a Far East meets New Age track featuring multi-instrumentalist Brian May's guitar and bass. The lead singer Paul Rodgers was invited to join the band without Mercury. In 2004, current frontman Freddie Mercury, who died of AIDS in 1991. Guitarist Brian May was particularly interested in working with an experienced lead singer. Rodgers has a strong voice and an emotional range that perfectly complements the band's style.

The lead singer Paul Rodgers was invited to join the band without Mercury. In 2004, current frontman Freddie Mercury, who died of AIDS in 1991. Guitarist Brian May was particularly interested in working with an experienced lead singer. Rodgers has a strong voice and an emotional range that perfectly complements the band's style.

Featured Tracks:
- “Cosmos Rocks”
- “Light With Its Shadow”
- “Still Burnin’”
- “C-Lebrity”

The album opens with “Cosmos Rocks,” a Far East meets New Age track featuring multi-instrumentalist Brian May's guitar and bass. The lead singer Paul Rodgers was invited to join the band without Mercury. In 2004, current frontman Freddie Mercury, who died of AIDS in 1991. Guitarist Brian May was particularly interested in working with an experienced lead singer. Rodgers has a strong voice and an emotional range that perfectly complements the band's style.

The lead singer Paul Rodgers was invited to join the band without Mercury. In 2004, current frontman Freddie Mercury, who died of AIDS in 1991. Guitarist Brian May was particularly interested in working with an experienced lead singer. Rodgers has a strong voice and an emotional range that perfectly complements the band's style.

Featured Tracks:
- “Cosmos Rocks”
- “Light With Its Shadow”
- “Still Burnin’”
- “C-Lebrity”

The album opens with “Cosmos Rocks,” a Far East meets New Age track featuring multi-instrumentalist Brian May's guitar and bass. The lead singer Paul Rodgers was invited to join the band without Mercury. In 2004, current frontman Freddie Mercury, who died of AIDS in 1991. Guitarist Brian May was particularly interested in working with an experienced lead singer. Rodgers has a strong voice and an emotional range that perfectly complements the band's style.

The lead singer Paul Rodgers was invited to join the band without Mercury. In 2004, current frontman Freddie Mercury, who died of AIDS in 1991. Guitarist Brian May was particularly interested in working with an experienced lead singer. Rodgers has a strong voice and an emotional range that perfectly complements the band's style.
GET SCHOoled IN THE BULLS AND BEARS.

MAD MONEY

BACK TO SCHOOL TOUR

Jim Cramer is coming to The University of Iowa for the Mad Money Back to School Tour! Hosted by the Henry B. Tippie College of Business.

Here’s your chance to experience the most electrifying hour on television - in person!

Sign up for free ticket reservations:

Tues, Oct. 28th | 10a-2p

Anderson Galleria of the Pappajohn Business Building

Wed, Oct. 29th | 10a-2p

Old Capitol Mall

The taping will take place Wednesday, November 12th at the Iowa Memorial Union. For free tickets or more information, email madmoneyoncampus@cnbc.com or visit madmoney.cnbc.com

MAD MONEY W/JIM CRAMER

WEEKNIGHTS 5P/10P CT

First in Business Worldwide.
Sports

FOOTBALL

Point/Counterpoint debates the “Greenout”

AquaHawks making a splash

Iowa sophomore Cesar Deyer works on his birdstroke in the Field House pool on Oct. 17 in preparation for a meet with Wisconsin. Deyer took first place in both the 100 and 200 freestyles as well as third place in the 500 freestyle.

---

Recalling 9/11 with each stride, stroke

Iowa rowing head coach Mandi Kowal is also a triathlete.

For the first time in 11 years, the Iowa men’s swimming and diving team is 3-0.

Ironman Triathlon Distances

Ironman head coach Mandi Kowal competed in the Ironman Wisconsin in September. She swam 2.4 miles in Lake Michigan, ran 26.2 miles through downtown, and biked 112 miles. The longest event Kowal ever did was the World Championship in Hawaii. The 4th best overall Ironman triathlete, Mandi Kowal, in the world. The events of September 11, 2001, changed Mandi Kowal’s life. She no longer just rowed. It’s the reason she is now an athlete, an athlete who volunteers for the United States Department of Defense and gives back to the community.

---

Men’s golf aces the links

The Iowa men’s golf team has turned mediocre finishes into first-place success.

By JORDAN GARRETSON

It may come as a shock to some that the men’s golf team has put it together as quickly as the Hawkeyes did, picking up their first victory of the season at last week’s Landfall Tradition. But for the Hawkeyes, who finished fourth, seventh, and seventh in their three previous tournaments, it wasn’t a surprise at all.

“I know what the capabilities of our team were,” said sophomore Vince India, who led the Hawkeyes in second place with a three-round score of 194 (6-over). “I knew we had it in us. It was just a matter of when the right time came around.”

Triathlons consist of three stages: swimming, biking, and running. The distances of each stage vary depending on the event. The longest event Kowal ever competed in was an Iron Man triathlon. In what most of the team admit was an upset, Iowa came away victorious, ending the nine-month losing streak against Wisconsin. The Hawkeyes followed the unprec- edented win by making Microsoft Hulu in Ohio State’s last three head coach Mark Hankins. Hankins has coached the men’s team for the last 10 years. That was also the last time Iowa started with three-consecutive losses.

After Patton left, John Davy coached the men’s team for seven years before handing the job to Mark Long. Long has served as head coach of both the men’s and women’s swimming teams since 2005.

The next best team – Tulsas – finished 32 shots behind Iowa’s three-round score of 888 (24-over). A lot of that big margin can be attributed to the team’s men. The team has also been accustomed to 2:30 p.m. starts, but the Big Ten announced on Monday that the Hawkeyes’ contest against Illinois on Saturday be a 7 p.m. start.

Ironman Triathlon Distances

Ironman head coach Mandi Kowal competed in the Ironman Wisconsin in September. She swam 2.4 miles in Lake Michigan, ran 26.2 miles through downtown (26.2 miles). The distances of each stage vary depending on the event. The longest event Kowal ever did was the World Championship in Hawaii. The 4th best overall Ironman triathlete, Mandi Kowal, in the world. The events of September 11, 2001, changed Mandi Kowal’s life. She no longer just rowed. It’s the reason she is now an athlete, an athlete who volunteers for the United States Department of Defense and gives back to the community.

---

Men’s golf aces the links

The Iowa men’s golf team has turned mediocre finishes into first-place success.

By JORDAN GARRETSON

It may come as a shock to some that the men’s golf team has put it together as quickly as the Hawkeyes did, picking up their first victory of the season at last week’s Landfall Tradition. But for the Hawkeyes, who finished fourth, seventh, and seventh in their three previous tournaments, it wasn’t a surprise at all.

“I know what the capabilities of our team were,” said sophomore Vince India, who led the Hawkeyes in second place with a three-round score of 194 (6-over). “I knew we had it in us. It was just a matter of when the right time came around.”

Triathlons consist of three stages: swimming, biking, and running. The distances of each stage vary depending on the event. The longest event Kowal ever competed in was an Iron Man triathlon. In what most of the team admit was an upset, Iowa came away victorious, ending the nine-month losing streak against Wisconsin. The Hawkeyes followed the unprec- edented win by making Microsoft Hulu in Ohio State’s last three head coach Mark Hankins. Hankins has coached the men’s team for the last 10 years. That was also the last time Iowa started with three-consecutive losses.

After Patton left, John Davy coached the men’s team for seven years before handing the job to Mark Long. Long has served as head coach of both the men’s and women’s swimming teams since 2005.

The next best team – Tulsas – finished 32 shots behind Iowa’s three-round score of 888 (24-over). A lot of that big margin can be attributed to the team’s men. The team has also been accustomed to 2:30 p.m. starts, but the Big Ten announced on Monday that the Hawkeyes’ contest against Illinois on Saturday be a 7 p.m. start.
SPORTS 'N STUFF

WORLDWIDE SPORTS REPORT

National Football League

- Monday's Games
  - St. Louis 2 5 0 .286 112 201
  - Detroit 0 7 0 .000 114 212
  - Green Bay 4 3 0 .571 194 159
  - North W L T Pct PF PA
  - South W L T Pct PF PA

- NATIONAL CONFERENCE
  - West W L T Pct PF PA
  - Cleveland 3 4 0 .429 115 123
  - Jacksonville 3 4 0 .429 141 151

- Thursday, Oct. 30
  - 14-8), 7:35 p.m., if necessary

Monday's Game

Denver at Oakland, 7:20 p.m., if necessary

Week 8-
Denver at Oakland, 7:20 p.m., if necessary

Thursday Night Games

- Miami at Denver, 3:05 p.m.
- Arizona at St. Louis, 12 p.m.

Timely Observations

- The first aspect that bothered me, and still bothers me the most, is the timing. The idea was originally proposed three weeks before the Penn State game last week. Big Ten coaches in a row of games against a team that has little margin of victory versus the Titans defense and if a sudden person starts to write games off?

- I believe the Hawkeyes need to worry about their heading back. If they start focusing on that the 26 is nothing wrong. Don't let me wrong, I think they can win both games with overconfident coaches-

- There's a color green that absolutely has nothing to do with the school colors, but if you think about it, it actually could be quite real. Green is the color green.

- The green T-shirt green has absolutely nothing to do with the color green. I didn't like it. So maybe I'm just a fool, but green I probably won't hesitate on the matter.

- The only thing that bothered me, and still bothers me the most, is the timing. The idea was originally proposed three weeks before the Penn State game. Last week we saw Big Ten coaches in a row of games against a team that has little margin of victory versus the Titans defense and if a sudden person starts to write games off?

- The colors green has absolutely nothing to do with the color green. I didn't like it. So maybe I'm just a fool, but green I probably won't hesitate on the matter.

Timely Observations

- The first aspect that bothered me, and still bothers me the most, is the timing. The idea was originally proposed three weeks before the Penn State game. Last week we saw Big Ten coaches in a row of games against a team that has little margin of victory versus the Titans defense and if a sudden person starts to write games off?

- The colors green has absolutely nothing to do with the color green. I didn't like it. So maybe I'm just a fool, but green I probably won't hesitate on the matter.

Timely Observations

- The first aspect that bothered me, and still bothers me the most, is the timing. The idea was originally proposed three weeks before the Penn State game. Last week we saw Big Ten coaches in a row of games against a team that has little margin of victory versus the Titans defense and if a sudden person starts to write games off?

- The colors green has absolutely nothing to do with the color green. I didn't like it. So maybe I'm just a fool, but green I probably won't hesitate on the matter.

Timely Observations

- The first aspect that bothered me, and still bothers me the most, is the timing. The idea was originally proposed three weeks before the Penn State game. Last week we saw Big Ten coaches in a row of games against a team that has little margin of victory versus the Titans defense and if a sudden person starts to write games off?

- The colors green has absolutely nothing to do with the color green. I didn't like it. So maybe I'm just a fool, but green I probably won't hesitate on the matter.

Timely Observations

- The first aspect that bothered me, and still bothers me the most, is the timing. The idea was originally proposed three weeks before the Penn State game. Last week we saw Big Ten coaches in a row of games against a team that has little margin of victory versus the Titans defense and if a sudden person starts to write games off?

- The colors green has absolutely nothing to do with the color green. I didn't like it. So maybe I'm just a fool, but green I probably won't hesitate on the matter.

Timely Observations

- The first aspect that bothered me, and still bothers me the most, is the timing. The idea was originally proposed three weeks before the Penn State game. Last week we saw Big Ten coaches in a row of games against a team that has little margin of victory versus the Titans defense and if a sudden person starts to write games off?

- The colors green has absolutely nothing to do with the color green. I didn't like it. So maybe I'm just a fool, but green I probably won't hesitate on the matter.
TRIATHLON CONTINUED FROM 1B

TRIATHLON in Wisconsin
An Ironman Triathlon is a 2.4 mile swim followed by a 112 mile bike ride, then a 26.2 mile run.
Kowal said there are points in an Ironman where it feels impossible to soldier on.
That task has been somewhat hindered by current recruiting. Restrictions have been placed under because of the actions of a former coach.

GOLF posted a disappointing second round score of 81.
“We kind of lost focus,” said sophomore rower Haylie Hopfinger. “I think we can play real well, and we’re aiming on meets way down the road,” Long said. “But I don’t know if I’m going to be able to complete that day.”

Men’s golf swings a win
Our focus is just continuing to get better, so we can play real well,” said the coach.

Hey Hawkeye Fans! What’s Your favorite color?
Green Shirts Are back again!

How far can you go in your car for 75¢?
Delivery to Downtown & Eastside IC 319.351.2327 Open Daily 4-10pm The Right Direction in Pizza
NHL probes players on steroid suspicions

By Dave Goldberg

NEW YORK — Six teams are among those being investigated by the NHL for using a controversial weight-loss drug by taking a sports medicine that is banned for use by athletes.

The NHL sent a letter to 16 teams on Tuesday, Oct. 28, saying estimates of a higher figure were accurate and to the Associated Press on the condition that the names of the players are being withheld.

The Denver TV station Fox 31 reported last week that 30 players had tested positive for the drug and that the number of players has increased.

Cyclones turn to young stars

Iowa State's Barnetts to be key to team's win

Iowa State should make a killing selling concessions, thanks to the team's success. Seven years ago, the Cyclones' roster was loaded with seasoned veterans. Now, Iowa State has just one senior and three sophomores on its roster, including quarterback Jacoby Bell, who has helped lead the team to a 5-2 record.

Wanted: A few good men to be the Cyclones' new starting quarterback. Iowa State is the only Big 12 team with a starting quarterback who has thrown for more than 1,000 yards.

Other reports put the number of cases as high as 18, though the National Hockey League (NHL) did not respond to requests for comments.

The letter included information from a letter that was sent to the Associated Press on Oct. 25, which said that the players who tested positive for the drug were from the teams.

The so-called "dual threat" of the NFL's anti-doping program, which was announced in 2006, requires players to test for specific substances that are banned in the league.

The NFL has not released a list of substances that are banned in the league, but it did announce last week that it was testing for the drug "in addition to other drugs of abuse."
The University of Iowa is seeking a $600, three-bedroom co-ed dorm room in Iowa City. Dorm style rooms, $600, parking, including, (319)351-7130.

Efficiency, one and one-half bath, one bedroom, $1000, two bath, laundry on-site. Please send resume to: www.defunctbooks.com (319)354-3534.

www.sharplessauctions.com (319)351-8888

Everything 20% off! FINAL CALL OF A LIFETIME!!

Come be a part of something amazing and have the summer of a lifetime!! Make a Difference!

Visiting Nurse Association is hiring for '09 season, May 23-Oct 31.

Senior DNNs/CNAs. Experience a great location and a dynamic career. Flexible schedules, employee benefits, equal opportunity, retirement plan, and bonuses. Send resume to: www.buxhouses.com. (319)351-7130.

Large rooms. Shared bathroom and kitchen. Possible flexible lease. Call M-F 9-5pm, (319)351-2178.

Quiet area, parking, some with Pets allowed. Three bedroom house, $750. (319)330-5481.

Two bedroom, two bath, laundry on-site. Please contact: www.ststravel.com. (319)530-2734.

Large rooms. Shared bathroom and kitchen. Possible flexible lease. Call M-F 9-5pm, (319)351-2178.

Artistic/unique 1 bedroom, 1 bath, unattached 1997 manufactured home. 3.5 acres. Needs work. (319)351-7130.

www.theheartlandinn.com

1512 1st Avenue, Coralville. Please call: (319)335-5784 or www.ustoreall.com

Renting now.

Dorothy Griffin, RN, LNC. 314 N.Clinton. This unit features abundant closets/ storage, available now. $650,"

We offer a 4 bedroom, 2 bath, 2 car garage, dishwasher and washer/dryer. "Renting now. Please call: (319)335-5784 or www.ustoreall.com"

We shovel snow and cut grass. 1 bedroom, 1 bath, unattached 1997 manufactured home. 3.5 acres. Needs work. (319)351-7130.

We offer a 4 bedroom, 2 bath, 2 car garage, dishwasher and washer/dryer. "Renting now. Please call: (319)335-5784 or www.ustoreall.com"

114 Bailey Park Rd. • Williamsburg

W/2nd St. • Cedar Rapids

5 bedroom, 3 bath, 2 car garage, dishwasher and washer/dryer. "Renting now. Please call: (319)335-5784 or www.ustoreall.com"

W/2nd St. • Cedar Rapids

5 bedroom, 3 bath, 2 car garage, dishwasher and washer/dryer. "Renting now. Please call: (319)335-5784 or www.ustoreall.com"

W/2nd St. • Cedar Rapids

5 bedroom, 3 bath, 2 car garage, dishwasher and washer/dryer. "Renting now. Please call: (319)335-5784 or www.ustoreall.com"

W/2nd St. • Cedar Rapids

5 bedroom, 3 bath, 2 car garage, dishwasher and washer/dryer. "Renting now. Please call: (319)335-5784 or www.ustoreall.com"

W/2nd St. • Cedar Rapids

5 bedroom, 3 bath, 2 car garage, dishwasher and washer/dryer. "Renting now. Please call: (319)335-5784 or www.ustoreall.com"