In the buff

Jenny Edwards is a model for students studying the human form, posing ‘nude’, not ‘naked’. METRO, BA

Gulf War vet helps younger vets

By JORDAN FRIES

Gulf War vet aids younger vets

Hartmann recalled a time when she was forced to use a broom closet as her hospital room. That’s something Edwards probably could relate to.

While Hartmann got around this by having her friends help her, Edwards had to use a crutch. She was also forced to leave her fifth-grade son behind when her National Guard unit was deployed to Iraq for the first Gulf War. During 15 months overseas, she endured a divorce. And after returning home, she was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis, a painful and potentially paralyzing disease.

Hartmann is now a counselor at the UI Veterans Center, an organization designed by a UI staff member, will be featured on the ceremony honoring veterans.

The J ohnson County office is currently staffed at 26, including personnel, local officials fear more doors for 10 days between December and June as part of their plan to cut 10 percent from the judicial branch’s budget.

The move, announced Tuesday, will save approximately $4.1 million out of a total of $16 million that officials say they will have to cut because of funding — something they say will further affect an already struggling justice system.

Employees at the Johnson County Courthouse are bracing for furloughs, potential layoffs, and yet another cut in funding — something they say will further affect an already struggling justice system.

Gulf War vet has overcome MS to pursue UI education

daily iowan.com

Check out a photo slide show and video footage of the UI’s ceremony honoring UI veterans.

UI student vets discuss campus life, postwar effects on daily activities.

UI student vets discuss campus life, postwar effects on daily activities.

UI student vets discuss campus life, postwar effects on daily activities.
Woman charged with assault
Police

Police charged an Iowa City woman with assault, it was reported Monday.

Police arrested and booked a 25-year-old Iowa City woman on a charge of assault.

The woman, who was arrested at 5 p.m. Monday, was booked at the Linn County Jail on a charge of simple assault.

Police said the woman was involved in a fight with a man at a local bar.

Police said the woman and the man had an argument that escalated into a physical fight.

During the fight, the woman allegedly hit the man with a glass and struck him with a metal object.

The man was treated by medical personnel at the scene and released.

Police said the woman was charged with simple assault.

The case is still under investigation.

No further details were available.

Woman charged with assault

A woman has been arrested in Iowa City on a charge of assault.

Police said the woman, who was arrested in the 400 block of West First Street, was charged with assault.

Police said the woman had an argument with a man in the area.

During the argument, the woman allegedly punched the man.

The man was treated by medical personnel at the scene and released.

Police said the woman was charged with simple assault.

The case is still under investigation.

No further details were available.

Man charged with assault

A man has been arrested in Iowa City on a charge of assault.

Police said the man, who was arrested in the 500 block of West Second Street, was charged with assault.

Police said the man had an argument with a woman in the area.

During the argument, the man allegedly punched the woman.

The woman was treated by medical personnel at the scene and released.

Police said the man was charged with simple assault.

The case is still under investigation.

No further details were available.

Woman charged with assault

A woman has been arrested in Iowa City on a charge of assault.

Police said the woman, who was arrested in the 600 block of West Third Street, was charged with assault.

Police said the woman had an argument with a man in the area.

During the argument, the woman allegedly punched the man.

The man was treated by medical personnel at the scene and released.

Police said the woman was charged with simple assault.

The case is still under investigation.

No further details were available.

Man charged with assault

A man has been arrested in Iowa City on a charge of assault.

Police said the man, who was arrested in the 700 block of West Fourth Street, was charged with assault.

Police said the man had an argument with a woman in the area.

During the argument, the man allegedly punched the woman.

The woman was treated by medical personnel at the scene and released.

Police said the man was charged with simple assault.

The case is still under investigation.

No further details were available.

Woman charged with assault

A woman has been arrested in Iowa City on a charge of assault.

Police said the woman, who was arrested in the 800 block of West Fifth Street, was charged with assault.

Police said the woman had an argument with a man in the area.

During the argument, the woman allegedly punched the man.

The man was treated by medical personnel at the scene and released.

Police said the woman was charged with simple assault.

The case is still under investigation.

No further details were available.

Man charged with assault

A man has been arrested in Iowa City on a charge of assault.

Police said the man, who was arrested in the 900 block of West Sixth Street, was charged with assault.

Police said the man had an argument with a woman in the area.

During the argument, the man allegedly punched the woman.

The woman was treated by medical personnel at the scene and released.

Police said the man was charged with simple assault.

The case is still under investigation.

No further details were available.

Woman charged with assault

A woman has been arrested in Iowa City on a charge of assault.

Police said the woman, who was arrested in the 100 block of West Seventh Street, was charged with assault.

Police said the woman had an argument with a man in the area.

During the argument, the woman allegedly punched the man.

The man was treated by medical personnel at the scene and released.

Police said the woman was charged with simple assault.

The case is still under investigation.

No further details were available.
UI sophomore Dan Bettenhausen, a Phi Delta Theta member, said the fraternity has implemented a no-drinking policy "as long as it isn't considered hazing and abides by state and city laws and other university policies.

Phillip Duma, the UI's Interfraternity Council president, said the Phi Delta Theta chapter decided to enact the policy. "At Drake, the Phi Delta Theta chapter doesn't allow alcohol, although other fraternities affiliated with the school do. According to the university's policies, chapters can allow drinking as long as it isn't considered hazing and abides by state law."

"We're just hanging on, waiting to see what's next," she said. "We're just trying to cope with other students don't have to deal with."
Ped Mall businesses want smoking ban

By NICOLE KARLIS

Boutiques in the Pedestrian Mall are looking to move more business out of the area — and another smoking ordinance could be the solution.

Iowa City business owners, such as Ritu Jain and Catherine Champion, are asking the Iowa City City Council to consider expanding the smoking ban throughout the Pedestrian Mall with the hope that it would push the groups hanging around the area to another part of town.

The owners think a smoking ban from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. could change the behavior, and they present their idea to the council at its Nov. 2 meeting.

At the meeting, council members were looking to consider the proposal at a work session after Jan. 1.

"We'll give it a further look," said Mayor Regenia Bailey.

The City Council first put off consideration of smoking bans on hold after concerns the consideration was put in March 2008. In the future, the ban is likely to spread and grow — possibly with the help of UIResearch.

University officials presented a proposal Tuesday to the Iowa Power Fund for the world’s first large-scale test turbine site, which would be located on university land.

"Every kilowatt hour we generate with wind is a kilowatt hour we don’t generate with coal or other fuels," said Dan Mineck, the former vice president of engineering for Alliant Energy. "The potential to help the state actually excites us. The testing facility would significantly enhance business activities related to wind industry in Iowa.

The proposal for the Wind Energy National Testing Institute is part of a bid for $45 million in federal stimulus money dedicated to the testing of large-scale drive trains.

Drive trains, located on the back side of engines, are supposed to last 20 years, but in reality they only last about three, with many failures," said Herman Reininga, the interim director of the UI National Advanced Driving Research Laboratory and proposal manager for the project.

"We are right in the heart of wind-generating activity, and we have a lot of turbines out there to draw wind change directions or gusts."

The big problem with turbines right now is they are supposed to last 20 years, but in reality they only last about three, with many failures," said Herman Reininga, the interim director of the UI National Advanced Driving Research Laboratory and proposal manager for the project.

"We are right in the heart of wind-generating activity, and we have a lot of turbines out there to draw wind change directions or gusts.

"This project represents a lot of first-time and one-time only engineering that will have to be developed and built very soon," Mineck said.

The Energy Department requires proposing parties to include matching funds from state and federal sources.

"If we cannot get Iowa money, almost certainly the federal money will go somewhere else," Mineck said, and the board presented proposals for $15 million from the Iowa Power Fund and $5 million from the Iowa Department of Economic Development.

According to a report from "Battelle of Energy available wind power is almost seven times the requirements nationwide.

"Wind is the one thing that isn’t going to go away," Reininga said. "Harnessing that wind doesn’t change the environment. It is natural, it shouldn’t be confused to how to harness it and use it efficiently."
Iowa schools are more welcoming, students and staff say.

By ASHLEY OERMAN

Iowa schools still aren't up to par when it comes to the prevention of harassment and bullying, according to a study released today.

Findings from the 2009 Iowa Climate Survey suggest a serious need for schools to create safer environments for homosexual and transgender students. However, the study found improvement in the number of teachers who intervene in bullying.

“We were hoping for a larger change; unfortunately, it hasn’t changed that much,” said Ryan Roemerman, the executive director of the Iowa Pride Network, which conducted the survey.

The Iowa Pride Network works against homophobia and xenophobia in K-12 and colleges. The 2009 survey was conducted among gay, lesbian, bisexual, and homosexual people across the Iowa Safe Schools Law was passed.

The law requires Iowa schools to implement anti-bullying measures. The law is specifically aimed at protecting minorities from adversities and hate.

This year’s survey was at a time when many students knew about the law and were expected to be enforced beginning two years ago, Roemerman said.

“We were surprised to find most students didn’t know about the law,” Roemerman said. “Most said [their school] hadn’t adopted it or posted it.”

To combat the lack of knowledge, the network will publish a manual for students to educate them about the law. The manual is to be posted on the school’s website along with the results of the survey.

Roemerman said he hopes the results serve as a guidepost to give law enforcement — for 25 years.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance. Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.

Peterson, whose daughter is openly gay, said he believes Iowa City’s diversity may be a reason for students to talk about issues including personal integrity and tolerance.
Due to budgetary woes, PR position should remain unfilled

The University of Iowa feels that we must be more budget conscious in the way we operate. This year, individual colleges and departments have been given the task of cutting costs and raising revenue. This has led to the elimination of many positions, including the Public Relations (PR) position.

Guest opinion

On Veterans Day, honor the past and present

By DOUG JEMILE

While I was in the U.S. Marine Corps, I experienced the many hardships of being stationed in the Middle East during the Vietnam War. Two years, and while I was exposed to the atrocities of war, I was also exposed to the kindness of strangers.

We are still a nation that values the sacrifices of our veterans. The U.S. Marine Corps value is, “Semper Fidelis.”

In remembrance of our heroes, the University of Iowa hosts a ceremony to honor the fallen soldiers of the United States. This event is a way for us to remember those who gave their lives for our country.

On Veterans Day, we should reflect on the sacrifices made by our veterans. We should honor the past and present by remembering those who served our country.
Hadyn no longer in hiding

String players of all ages gather for a five-day Haydn string quartet blowout. By LINDA DOWNS

time temperatures Iowa City

The Daily Iowan - Iowa City, Iowa - Wednesday, November 11, 2009 - 7A

Prose with the grace of nature

By DANA JUDAS

Great Edith Ehrlich’s prose is electrifying. Describing being struck by lightning, Ehrlich said she almost died earlier this year in June: “I was...
Being adaptive in the nude deal

By CHRIS CURTLAND

Hundreds of people have seen Jenny Edwards, 42, nude.

But even on her first day of art modeling for a UI class two years ago, Edwards said she always felt comfortable, invoking the artistic images only.

"Being nude is more of an exposure," said Edwards, relaxing in a plush chair in her studio Monday. "It's about vulnerability, about just being in front of a class or artist, I don't feel exposed.

For Edwards, being nude is a personal trait.

"To be nude is to be a human being," Edwards, wearing a Versace blue evening dress, said, looking at Chuck Taylor. "To be nude is to be myself!"

This mindset allows Edwards to feel confident, even liberated, when posing nude. - feelings that have developed into a fervent passion for the artistic process.

"I always longed to be a presence, to be a star," said Edwards, who stands just 5 feet tall. "And some days it is harder than others. Sometimes I'm just tired.

Then also knowing and admitting being a professional muse at its time tough, too.

A friend had told Edwards about the nude modeling a couple years ago, noting its freedom of expression.

NATION

D.C. sniper Muhammad executed for 2002 attacks

JARRATT, Va. (AP) — John Allen Muhammad, the mastermind behind the sniper attacks that left 10 dead, was executed Tuesday morning by injection at 9:11 a.m. at the Virginia State Penitentiary, south of Richmond.

Muhammad, dressed in a blue shirt, jeans, and flip-flops, had no final words. Victims' families sat behind glass while watching the injections begin, defiant to the error that terrorized the Washington metropolitan area.

"He died very peacefully, much more than most of his victims," said Prince William County prosecutor Scott Lunsford. "It's been a long time coming for the community of Jarratt and the families who lost loved ones." Muhammad was executed Tuesday morning by injection at 9:11 a.m. at the Virginia State Penitentiary, south of Richmond.

Muhammad, dressed in a blue shirt, jeans, and flip-flops, had no final words. Victims' families sat behind glass while watching the injections begin, defiant to the error that terrorized the Washington metropolitan area.

"He died very peacefully, much more than most of his victims," said Prince William County prosecutor Scott Lunsford. "It's been a long time coming for the community of Jarratt and the families who lost loved ones."

Edwards applied at the UI, was put on a list, and one day got the call after another model canceled.

Since then, Edwards has logged 5,000 hours reaching, stretching, or asking for help for drawings, paintings, and sculptures for anywhere between $10 to $20 hourly. Watching them unfold is amazing, said Edwards.

"There's this block of clay and other ash, not sure what you have there you are," Edwards said. "It's amazing!"

The class was working on fairies and the T-shirts, and most the material and the model coordinator for the Cedar Rapids Drawing Group, has worked with Edwards for two years and values how adaptive, accommodating, and flexible she is.

"She can make herself look angry, sultry, coquettish, or whatever the individual professor or artist wants," Dorothy said. "And her popularity at the UI is a reflection of the fact that she is so adaptable.

"She was beautiful," said White, an assistant professor. "Edwards, whom she describes as "quirky, tensed-in," for her classes.

"Art's not a thing. It's a process of narrative is more important than the material, physical figures out.

"It's mind over matter," she said, noting that the mental process of narrative is more important than the material, physical figures out.

"It's not a thing. It's a process, and she being part of it," she said. "I'll model as long as she's alive." Edwards says she'll model for as long as she's able.

A friend had told Edwards about the nude modeling a couple years ago, noting its freedom of expression.

Since that day, Edwards has logged 1,000 hours reaching, stretching, or asking for help for drawings, paintings, and sculptures for anywhere between $10 to $20 hourly. Watching them unfold is amazing, said Edwards. "There's this block of clay and other ash, not sure what you have there you are." Edwards said. "It's amazing!"

"Art's not a thing. It's a process of narrative is more important than the material, physical figures out.

"It's mind over matter," she said, noting that the mental process of narrative is more important than the material, physical figures out.

"It's not a thing. It's a process, and she being part of it," she said. "I'll model as long as she's alive."

Edwards says she'll model for as long as she's able.

A friend had told Edwards about the nude modeling a couple years ago, noting its freedom of expression.

Since that day, Edwards has logged 1,000 hours reaching, stretching, or asking for help for drawings, paintings, and sculptures for anywhere between $10 to $20 hourly. Watching them unfold is amazing, said Edwards. "There's this block of clay and other ash, not sure what you have there you are." Edwards said. "It's amazing!"

"Art's not a thing. It's a process of narrative is more important than the material, physical figures out.

"It's mind over matter," she said, noting that the mental process of narrative is more important than the material, physical figures out.

"It's not a thing. It's a process, and she being part of it," she said. "I'll model as long as she's alive." Edwards says she'll model for as long as she's able.

A friend had told Edwards about the nude modeling a couple years ago, noting its freedom of expression.

Since that day, Edwards has logged 1,000 hours reaching, stretching, or asking for help for drawings, paintings, and sculptures for anywhere between $10 to $20 hourly. Watching them unfold is amazing, said Edwards. "There's this block of clay and other ash, not sure what you have there you are." Edwards said. "It's amazing!"
Iowa quarterback Ricky Stanzi lies on the ground in the Iowa zone after being tackled during the second quarter of Iowa’s game against Northwestern on Nov. 7 in Kinnick Stadium. Stanzi underwent surgery on his severely sprained ankle on Monday and will not play in the game against Ohio State on Saturday.

By BRENDAN STILES

The only difference this time is that Van- denberg will serve as Stanzi’s tutor, not the other way around.

He’s got one more example of what it takes to get kind of a feel for them.

Buckeye QB rebounds

Each week, The Daily Iowan takes you around the Big Ten to check out some of Iowa’s conference brethren.

By BRENDAN STILES

Brendan Stiles

A loss usually dampens the mood inside the Hayden Fry Football Complex on Tues- day. But a loss coupled with the Hawkeyes’ starting quarterback going down with an injury, one can pretty much plan on Iowa head coach Kirk Ferentz being a bit tasty at his weekly press conference.

That’s what happened this Tuesday, as Ferentz declared junior quarterback Ricky Stanzi out for this weekend’s game against Ohio State — and probably the remainder of the regular season — after suffering a severely sprained ankle in the second quar- ter against Northwestern on Nov. 7.

Ferentz said Stanzi has a successful sur- gery on Monday, but he wasn’t able to get into the details regarding the procedure, saying, “I’m not very good on the specifics.”

The Hawkeyes have endured, and will continue to endure, a season for which fans should not banking on it. Stanzi to be back in time for the season finale against Minnesota on Nov. 21, he’s not banking on it.

“If I don’t think it’s likely, but it’s possi- ble,” the 15-year head coach said. “We’ll see where he is at the end of the week.” Stanzi will serve as Iowa’s tutor, helping the Kaskaskia native prepare for Ohio State’s defense, which Ferentz said, “might as well be an NFL defense.”

Ferentz and Stanzi studied film together Sunday night, much like they would during a nor- mal game week.

The only difference this time is that Van- denberg will be the one implementing the game plan on Saturday.

“At the end of the older guys have [gotten] with me, and we’ve watched film,” Vandenberg said. “I’ve watched a bunch of Ohio State tape over the last two days, and I’m starting to get a feel for them.”

“Stanzi has already helped a ton.”

Buckeye QB Stuart, Ohio State head coach Jim Tressel and of course my quarterback Terrelle Pryor. After a horrific per- formance during a 26-18 loss to Nebraska on Nov. 7, the second-year signal-caller has looked much more comfortable.

The player who has made the most improve- ment has been sophomore quarterback Terrelle Pryor. After a horror performance during a 26-18 loss to Purdue last month, the second-year signal-caller has looked more and more like the nation’s top recruit in 2008.

“He really has a pas- sion to be good,” Ohio State head coach Jim Tressel said of his quar- terback during the Big Ten football teleconfer- ence on Tuesday. “He’s extremely coachable. I think he took a step to keep improving, and he’s going to be a very fine quarterback.”

Buckyball QB reunited

Scores from four named hardestc for the fourth quarter in a 42-34

When the No. 15 Iowa Hawkeyes host No 10 Ohio State Buckeyes inside Ohio Stadi- um on Saturday, a Big Ten title, as well as a trip to the 2010 Rose Bowl, will be on the line.

The Buckeyes enter the conference battle with a three-game winning streak and an 8-2 overall mark, with both losses coming in single digits to USC and Purdue. But aside from its opening week 31-27 win over Navy, Ohio State’s wins mark has been a struggle.

The Buckeyes travel to State College, Pa., and the defense was key to the tune of a 24-10 loss on Saturda y, a Big Ten game, with both losses coming in single digits to USC and Purdue. But aside from its opening week 31-27 win over Navy, Ohio State’s wins mark has been a struggle.

The Buckeyes travel to State College, Pa., and manhandled Penn State to the tune of a 24-10 loss on Saturda y, a Big Ten game, with both losses coming in single digits to USC and Purdue. But aside from its opening week 31-27 win over Navy, Ohio State’s wins mark has been a struggle.

The Buckeyes travel to State College, Pa., and manhandled Penn State to the tune of a 24-10 loss on Saturda y, a Big Ten game, with both losses coming in single digits to USC and Purdue. But aside from its opening week 31-27 win over Navy, Ohio State’s wins mark has been a struggle.

The Buckeyes travel to State College, Pa., and manhandled Penn State to the tune of a 24-10 loss on Saturda y, a Big Ten game, with both losses coming in single digits to USC and Purdue. But aside from its opening week 31-27 win over Navy, Ohio State’s wins mark has been a struggle.

The Buckeyes travel to State College, Pa., and manhandled Penn State to the tune of a 24-10 loss on Saturda y, a Big Ten game, with both losses coming in single digits to USC and Purdue. But aside from its opening week 31-27 win over Navy, Ohio State’s wins mark has been a struggle.

The Buckeyes travel to State College, Pa., and manhandled Penn State to the tune of a 24-10 loss on Saturda y, a Big Ten game, with both losses coming in single digits to USC and Purdue. But aside from its opening week 31-27 win over Navy, Ohio State’s wins mark has been a struggle.

The Buckeyes travel to State College, Pa., and manhandled Penn State to the tune of a 24-10 loss on Saturda y, a Big Ten game, with both losses coming in single digits to USC and Purdue. But aside from its opening week 31-27 win over Navy, Ohio State’s wins mark has been a struggle.

The Buckeyes travel to State College, Pa., and manhandled Penn State to the tune of a 24-10 loss on Saturda y, a Big Ten game, with both losses coming in single digits to USC and Purdue. But aside from its opening week 31-27 win over Navy, Ohio State’s wins mark has been a struggle.

The Buckeyes travel to State College, Pa., and manhandled Penn State to the tune of a 24-10 loss on Saturda y, a Big Ten game, with both losses coming in single digits to USC and Purdue. But aside from its opening week 31-27 win over Navy, Ohio State’s wins mark has been a struggle.

The Buckeyes travel to State College, Pa., and manhandled Penn State to the tune of a 24-10 loss on Saturda y, a Big Ten game, with both losses coming in single digits to USC and Purdue. But aside from its opening week 31-27 win over Navy, Ohio State’s wins mark has been a struggle.
Bowling for Wahlberg

Students and staff enjoy a fun intramural bowling tournament.

Intramurals

Bowling for Wahlberg

Staff and students enjoy a fun intramural bowling tournament.

Rec Services likes notion of bowling alley in M

Intramurals

Bowling for Wahlberg

Students and staff enjoy a fun intramural bowling tournament.

Rec Services likes notion of bowling alley in M

Intramurals

Bowling for Wahlberg

Students and staff enjoy a fun intramural bowling tournament.

Rec Services likes notion of bowling alley in M
The Iowa volleyball team will face Wisconsin tonight in Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

Notebook continued from 1B

Ferrebee addresses criticism

Iowa’s 17-1 loss to Northwestern, Fer- rebee said, “is the game that got our Ban dits involved” and pushed the Haw- keyes to “where we are now.”

He added that the Hawkeyes are back to the team that “everyone feared” this sea- son.

“I have always said that we have one of the most talented rosters in college basketball,” Ferrebee said. “But we didn’t have the discipline, the execution or the focus.”

Ferrebee said the game was “a wake-up call” and a “reality check.”

“The last eight games, we played very poorly,” Ferrebee said. “We have to get back to the way we played at the beginning of the year.”

Ferrebee said the Hawkeyes have a lot of work to do to get back to the level they were at earlier in the season.

“I think we have the talent,” Ferrebee said. “But we need to improve our execution and get more stops.”

Big Ten continued from 1B

The Hawkeyes go into “The Horseshoe” without their star center in Bethany Donavan, who is out indi- vidually for the second game this season.

Donavan, who averages 14.2 points and 10.7 rebounds per game, is out with a knee injury.

The Hawkeyes will have to rely on their other big men, including Josh Oglesby, who averages 12.6 points and 6.0 rebounds per game.

The Hawkeyes will also have to rely on their bench players, who have stepped up in recent games.

The Hawkeyes are currently in third place in the Big Ten, behind Michigan and Purdue.

V-ball tries to end skid

The Iowa volleyball team will face Wisconsin tonight in Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

CONTINUED FROM 1B

...the Hawkeyes most likely to be involved in postseason play,“Hosey could during the Big Ten football teleconfer- ence on Tuesday. “We have to win two games, or else, this game will be a deciding factor for us.”

Michigan

The Wolverines are 6-0 and have not lost since losing to Notre Dame last month.

The Wolverines are currently in first place in the Big Ten and have a 14-2 overall record.

Ohio State

The Buckeyes are 9-3 and have won two of their last three games.

The Buckeyes are currently in second place in the Big Ten and have a 14-3 overall record.

Nebraska

The Cornhuskers are 7-4 and have won three of their last five games.

The Cornhuskers are currently in third place in the Big Ten and have a 14-3 overall record.

Iowa

The Hawkeyes are 6-5 and have lost three of their last five games.

The Hawkeyes are currently in fourth place in the Big Ten and have a 14-3 overall record.
It was the third of the season by sending his feed into the slot since March 28, 2008, Oct. 27, when he broke his first appearance. McDonald made 22 saves for the St. Louis Blues and three assists to lead the St. Louis Blues to a 6-1 victory over the Vancouver Canucks on Tuesday in St. Louis.

The Blues, who were 1-5-1-0 in their seven home games, scored four times in the first period and had more sports of the season by sending his feed into the slot when his feed into the slot since March 28, 2008, Oct. 27, when he broke his first appearance. McDonald made 22 saves for the St. Louis Blues and three assists to lead the St. Louis Blues to a 6-1 victory over the Vancouver Canucks on Tuesday in St. Louis.

The Blues, who were 1-5-1-0 in their seven home games, scored four times in the first period and had first NHL shutout when he deflected in Johnson’s shot at 5:42 of the left circle at 5:42 of the goal and three assists to lead the St. Louis Blues to a 6-1 victory over the Vancouver Canucks on Tuesday in St. Louis.

The Blues, who were 1-5-1-0 in their seven home games, scored four times in the first period and had first NHL shutout when he deflected in Johnson’s shot at 5:42 of the left circle at 5:42 of the goal and three assists to lead the St. Louis Blues to a 6-1 victory over the Vancouver Canucks on Tuesday in St. Louis.

The Blues, who were 1-5-1-0 in their seven home games, scored four times in the first period and had first NHL shutout when he deflected in Johnson’s shot at 5:42 of the left circle at 5:42 of the goal and three assists to lead the St. Louis Blues to a 6-1 victory over the Vancouver Canucks on Tuesday in St. Louis.

The Blues, who were 1-5-1-0 in their seven home games, scored four times in the first period and had first NHL shutout when he deflected in Johnson’s shot at 5:42 of the left circle at 5:42 of the goal and three assists to lead the St. Louis Blues to a 6-1 victory over the Vancouver Canucks on Tuesday in St. Louis.
 heute’s events

• Test Time, 9 a.m., Brandon Gymnasium, 2020 Research Drive
• Preschool Story Time, 10 a.m., North Liberty Community Library, 330. W. Cherry
• KidMotions, 10:30 a.m., Performance Health & Fitness, 3280 Riley Road, Coralville
• View President for Strategic Communications Search Public Forum, Tyson Raskey, University of Iowa, 11 a.m., 901 Poppy John Buono Building
• Iowa City Music Study Club, 1 p.m., Parker Church, 15 Parker Road
• Staff Council Meeting, 2:30 p.m., 102 Center for Disabilities & Development
• Law School Panel with John Richmond, International Justice Mission, 3 p.m., Boyd Law Building
• Hayden Quartet Salute, 5 p.m., On High, 920 Morningside Drive
• Welcome Home Wednesdays, 5 p.m., 314 Hancher Auditorium, University of Iowa
• Kick-off Presentation for Riverside Crossing Groundbreaking, 6 p.m., Johnson County Health and Human Services Building, 855 E. Dubuque
• PJ Story Time, 6 p.m., North Liberty Community Library
• Bingo, 6:30 p.m., Eagles

Wang, a second-year UI student in the M.F.A. writing program, teaches her rhetoric class on the stages of the Big Bill on Tuesday. The students were asked to look at graf-- fill in the Iowa City area are ask communities members and statistics their opinions about it.

Andrew R. Juhl
daily-iowan@uiowa.edu

Andrew R. Juhl

Thinks you’re pretty funny? Prove it.

The New York Times Election Sales Corporation (Gannett New York, Inc.) adds 5 typesets in its state-of-the-art facility. For Release Wednesday, November 11, 2009

m c ginsberg.com

PRESENTS...