A SURPRISE VISIT FROM
ASHTON KUTCHER

BY HARLEY BRUCE | HARLEY-BRUCE@UIOWA.EDU

When Ashton Kutcher strode into a University of Iowa lecture hall on Tuesday, the Hollywood actor was met with a wave of screams, equaled, and topped by one the stair-case commotion produced when the Iowa town celebrity spoke to UI students about problem solving, fulfilling their potential, and Newtonian physics.

Campus was abuzz with the news Kutcher was in town Tuesday, with students posting on Facebook and Twitter that they spotted the star or were on the lookout.

“Impressed with the energy and vibe,” said senior Melissa Haggerty. “He was a good speaker and engaging to the lecture hall.”

The Hollywood A-list was in town on Tuesday, to deliver a four-part lecture series for the University of Iowa community in five years since the tornado with a multimedia piece. Use your smart phone and any QR reader to scan the QR code to the right to view the feature.

The Alpha Chi Omega sorority, at the intersection of Washington and Governor Streets, was destroyed by the tornado on April 13, 2006.

A crowd gathers to see the damage to St. Patrick’s Cathedral on Court Street on April 14, 2006, the day after a tornado swept through Iowa City.

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT — The Riverside Drive Dairy Queen in Iowa City stands in ruins on April 14, 2006, after a tornado touched down in the area the night before. Customers and employees sought shelter in the basement; no one was injured.

University of Iowa officials are designing a new survey to better track faculty and staff productivity and improve communication with state officials.

Assistant Provost for Administration, student advising, and clinical programs, and implementation of iPad and iPhone technology.

“We’ve heard for a number of years that our workers are under-staffed and that the university isn’t as productive as it could be,” said Assistant Provost Douglas Van Daele, the chief medical information officer for UI Health Care.

When physicians start using Epic in 2006, the software cost the UIHC $60 million, which included software, hardware, and implementation services in October with the new upgrade of the Epic patient-records software, said Assistant Professor Douglas Van Daele, the chief medical information officer for UI Health Care.

And though the city has rebuilt and people have moved on, members from across the community still recall their own experiences that spring evening.

“The sky was really ominous … a really weird color,” recalled Nathan White, a University of Iowa junior at the time. Then, the now 26-year-old lived across the street from St. Patrick’s Catholic Church.

“A surprising visit from Ashton Kutcher,” posted on Facebook and Twitter that they spotted the star or were on the lookout.

“Newtonian physics. When physics started using Epic in 2006, the software cost the UIHC $60 million, which included software, hardware, and implementation services in October with the new upgrade of the Epic patient-records software, said Assistant Professor Douglas Van Daele, the chief medical information officer for UI Health Care.

When physicians started using Epic in 2006, the software cost the UIHC $60 million, which included software, hardware, and implementation services in October with the new upgrade of the Epic patient-records software, said Assistant Professor Douglas Van Daele, the chief medical information officer for UI Health Care.

Jim Bohannon of the Daily Iowan TV

“Impressed with the energy and vibe.”

The Alpha Chi Omega sorority, at the intersection of Washington and Governor Streets, was destroyed by the tornado on April 13, 2006.

Iowa City remembers twister

Five years later, the prime targets of the F2 tornado that blazed through downtown Iowa City look much different.

Five years later, the prime targets of the F2 tornado that blazed through downtown Iowa City look much different.

And though the city has rebuilt and people have moved on, members from across the community still recall their own experiences that spring evening.

“The sky was really ominous … a really weird color,” recalled Nathan White, a University of Iowa junior at the time. Then, the now 26-year-old lived across the street from St. Patrick’s Catholic Church.

“A surprising visit from Ashton Kutcher,” posted on Facebook and Twitter that they spotted the star or were on the lookout.

“Newtonian physics. When physics started using Epic in 2006, the software cost the UIHC $60 million, which included software, hardware, and implementation services in October with the new upgrade of the Epic patient-records software, said Assistant Professor Douglas Van Daele, the chief medical information officer for UI Health Care.

When physicians started using Epic in 2006, the software cost the UIHC $60 million, which included software, hardware, and implementation services in October with the new upgrade of the Epic patient-records software, said Assistant Professor Douglas Van Daele, the chief medical information officer for UI Health Care.

An assistant professor at the University of Iowa in October of 2006.

“Impressed with the energy and vibe.”
Defendant: If wanted him dead, he'd be dead.

Atorneys debate whether Gregory Phillips actually pulled the trigger.

By MICHELLE MCDONNELL

If Gregory Phillips murdered his former landlord Mr. Beq, he said he would have killed him, Phillips told a judge Wednesday.

Phillips, 57, of Iowa City pleaded not guilty and was arraigned on charges of first-degree murder, attempted murder and going armed while committing a serious offense.

Gregory Phillips

According to the court and the police report, Phillips pointed the gun at Beq and pulled the trigger.

“The first thing I saw was your face, you’re dead, you can’t fall off your up right now,” Phillips told a judge Wednesday.

He said Beq yelped into the hall, “I can’t breathe, he has a gun,” then Beq froze and threw his phone still on the phone.

The court and the police report say Beq fell to the floor and died.

Phillips said he had a gun, which uncovered the apartments of the man he killed.

And Beq had agreed to give Phillips two weeks to move out of his residence, Phillips told the court.

But two days later, on April 9, Phillips was charged by police.

Phillips had to pay out the door by the next day, Phillips told the judge.

As the video played, Phillips stood staring at the table and only glanced at the TV monitor a few times.

“I should have shot myself first,” Phillips said.

Phillips repeatedly answered questions about killing Beq.

“I have no idea what I was thinking,” Phillips told the judge.

“I have no idea what I was thinking,” Phillips told the judge.

“I just know Beq was dead, he’d be dead,” Phillips told the judge.

By MICHELLE MCDONNELL

For the Daily Iowan

Phillips is charged with murder and armed with intent for allegedly threatening to kill Beq at Dolphin Lake Estates.

By MICHELLE MCDONNELL

For the Daily Iowan

Phillips, of Iowa City, was charged with first-degree murder, attempted murder and going armed while committing a serious offense.

Phillips, 57, of Iowa City, was charged with first-degree murder, attempted murder and going armed while committing a serious offense.

Phillips is charged with murder and armed with intent for allegedly threatening to kill Beq at Dolphin Lake Estates.

By MICHELLE MCDONNELL

For the Daily Iowan

Phillips, of Iowa City, was charged with first-degree murder, attempted murder and going armed while committing a serious offense.

Phillips, 57, of Iowa City, was charged with first-degree murder, attempted murder and going armed while committing a serious offense.

Phillips is charged with murder and armed with intent for allegedly threatening to kill Beq at Dolphin Lake Estates.

By MICHELLE MCDONNELL

For the Daily Iowan

Phillips, of Iowa City, was charged with first-degree murder, attempted murder and going armed while committing a serious offense.

Phillips, 57, of Iowa City, was charged with first-degree murder, attempted murder and going armed while committing a serious offense.

Phillips is charged with murder and armed with intent for allegedly threatening to kill Beq at Dolphin Lake Estates.

By MICHELLE MCDONNELL

For the Daily Iowan

Phillips, of Iowa City, was charged with first-degree murder, attempted murder and going armed while committing a serious offense.

Phillips, 57, of Iowa City, was charged with first-degree murder, attempted murder and going armed while committing a serious offense.

Phillips is charged with murder and armed with intent for allegedly threatening to kill Beq at Dolphin Lake Estates.

By MICHELLE MCDONNELL

For the Daily Iowan

Phillips, of Iowa City, was charged with first-degree murder, attempted murder and going armed while committing a serious offense.

Phillips, 57, of Iowa City, was charged with first-degree murder, attempted murder and going armed while committing a serious offense.
University of Iowa freshman Jessica Pray lightly tip-toed through the lobby of the UI’s School of Music building to get her first look at the interior before she officially began taking voice lessons her freshman year of high school. But her mother, Carma Pray, 36, and even Jessica Pray could see from a distance that the school was a perfect fit for her.

"It's such an amazing sound when you finally get there," said Carma Pray. "It's so much cooler." Jessica officially began taking voice lessons her freshman year of high school. But her mother, Carma Pray, 36, and even Jessica Pray could see from a distance that the school was a perfect fit for her.

"It's such an amazing sound when you finally get there," said Carma Pray. "It's so much cooler." Jessica officially began taking voice lessons her freshman year of high school. But her mother, Carma Pray, 36, and even Jessica Pray could see from a distance that the school was a perfect fit for her.

Jessica Pray, 18, looks through one of her music books on April 4.

Pray took voice lessons at Drake University in high school and attended rehearsals, voice lessons and living in London were not an option.

But despite all the hard work, "She's a very outgoing, easy-going person, always smiling, always ready to work hard," Bush wrote in an e-mail from England.

Though we worked hard when we are together, we buy her a special day," Hayley Bruce wrote in an e-mail.

"Because we do something together, we always laugh and have fun on a date."

“Shut off your cell phone!”

We encourage people to spend time with gummy bears in the UI's Kramer Building.

“Because we do something together, we always laugh and have fun on a date.”

Jessica Pray, 18, looks through one of her music books on April 4.

\"Shut off your cell phone!\"
Involuntary commitment standards remain sufficient

The balance between protecting the public and protecting individual liberties is sometimes a delicate one, particularly regarding the involuntary commitment of people with mental illnesses. Any violent incident involving one with a mental illness stirs controversy over whether it is too difficult to institutionalize people against their will. The recent murder of a Keokuk County Sheriff’s sergeant and concerns about standardizing mental-health care across Iowa’s 99 counties have raised these questions.

Under Iowa law, people may be committed to a mental institution if the court finds by “clear and convincing evidence” that they pose a physical or sexual menace threat to themselves or others that they cannot adequately meet their own care needs. While many people wonder whether a lower standard might prevent crime, Iowa’s current law for committing the mentally ill is sufficient. To lower the threshold for commitment would open the door to the unconstitutional and inadvertent incarceration of individuals as a standard of proof for the victim of crime, instead of indeed being the victims of crime that perpetrators.

This issue was brought to light recently in the April 5 ballotings of Keokuk County Sheriff’s Deputy Eric Stein. “But there can be variations in what meets the balance between protecting the public and protecting individual liberties,” said a physician supporting the application and one or more patient witnesses to the application and one or more patient witnesses. “The hearing must prove that people are likely to do further violence, but that reasonable doubt. The hearing must prove that people are likely to do further violence, and that all that good. Because there can be differences between a preventative commitment and an advertising commitment, there are many practical questions of how to measure up to the standard of proof for a preventative commitment, how to measure up to the standard of proof for a preventative commitment.

Occasionally, there are tragedies that might have been prevented by reducing this threshold. These tragedies always prompt a sense of curiosity about what might have been. But involuntary commitment without a likelihood of harm constitutes for far too many people with mental illnesses. The present standard is a necessary requirement for involuntary commitment, but the least process that meets the language of the law.

In Iowa, a commitment must be the result of a hearing demonstrating a severe mental impairment in people with clear, convincing evidence that the standard of proof between a precursor of evidence and reasonable doubt. The hearing must prove that people are likely to physically injure themselves or others, that they are likely to be unable to meet their own care needs, or that they cannot adequately meet their own care needs. Further, the law states that the intent of family members must provide a reason for the request supported by pertinent facts, along with a written statement by a physician supporting the application and one or more affidavits corroborating the application. The process is a deliberate one, although judges can order alternative detention pending a hearing if they have probable cause to believe people pose an imminent threat to themselves or others.

There are several areas of the process that could be tweaked to make involuntary commitment easier or harder. One is changing the application process, another by changing the elements of commitment, and another is changing the burden of proof required for a commitment. None of these are necessary. While the image of the man-killer runs rampant in the American psyche, people with even severe mental illness are more frequently victims of crime than perpetrators. In one year, 9.2 percent of people with severe mental illness are the targets of violent crime; only 3.1 percent of people without mental illness are. People with schizophrenia or psychotic reactions, as well as a history of violence, are more significant predictors of victim violence — remove or lessen these risks, letters, and people with mental illnesses are no more likely to commit a violent offense as people without.

If we are to commit people simply for alcohol and drug abuse, we can’t drop the bar any lower on mental illness. There is little justification for an easier incarceration for their own mistakes is to make the criminal justice system a less moral justice system.

The balance between protecting the public and protecting individual liberties is sometimes a delicate one, particularly regarding the involuntary commitment of people with mental illnesses. Any violent incident involving one with a mental illness stirs controversy over whether it is too difficult to institutionalize people against their will.
Astronaut Kutcher: 33
Democrat — Cedar Rapids County Major while at the UI
Most recent real Hollywood film: "Punk'd," and a slew of Hol-
— is most famous for his Iowa put together the draft Iowa State University and he and his counterparts at the meeting, adding
Attached
I ever set it in stone … I'd answer that I came out be when I grow up," the 33-figure out who I wanted to Your position, and going to dents about his life.
brown hair out of his face smarter than I am." Kutcher said. of people who are a lot ing for me," Kutcher said.
ning Your Future class Tues-Gould’s Life Design: Build-
Continued from 1
FACULTY
Continued from 1
spend their time. Rice said after the meeting, adding he and his contemporaries at Iowa State University and the University of Northern Iowa put together the draft to introduce to their indi-idual faculty representa-
The survey will request a random sample of faculty to fill out a survey turned out to be a result was very
Rice said the sabbatical

The Daily Iowan - Iowa City, Iowa - Wednesday, April 13, 2011 - Issue 10532
5
Announcing Mercy Speciality Clinics, General Surgery
MERCYSPECIALITYCLINICS,
generalsurgery
OFCIPHONES:
Morgantown
830am to 5pm
specialreferralinterests:
singleincisionlaparoscopic:surgery
Advancedlaparoscopicsurgery
Breastcancersurgery
Breastcancersurgery
MERCYSPECIALITYCLINICS,
generalsurgery
OFCIPHONES:
Morgantown
830am to 5pm
specialreferralinterests:
singleincisionlaparoscopic:surgery
Advancedlaparoscopicsurgery
Breastcancersurgery
MERCYSPECIALITYCLINICS,
generalsurgery
OFCIPHONES:
Morgantown
830am to 5pm
specialreferralinterests:
singleincisionlaparoscopic:surgery
Advancedlaparoscopicsurgery
Breastcancersurgery
MERCYSPECIALITYCLINICS,
generalsurgery
OFCIPHONES:
Morgantown
830am to 5pm
specialreferralinterests:
singleincisionlaparoscopic:surgery
Advancedlaparoscopicsurgery
Breastcancersurgery
MERCYSPECIALITYCLINICS,
generalsurgery
OFCIPHONES:
Morgantown
830am to 5pm
specialreferralinterests:
singleincisionlaparoscopic:surgery
Advancedlaparoscopicsurgery
Breastcancersurgery
The Lowdown Needs Your Help
Be a Candidate for Student Publications Publications: Board of Director Student Seats
Pick up an S.P.I. nomination petition in Room E131 Adler Journalism Building
• Two 1-year terms
The Student Publications Incorporated is the governing body of The Daily Iowan. Duties include: monthly meetings, committee work, editing an angle, long-term planning, equipment purchase and budget approval. Petitions must be received by Noor, Thursday, April 14, 2011 in Room E131 Adler Journalism Building.
Tornado Continued from 1

People from White’s apartments building made their way into the stairwell to escape the storm. Desperate for more space, some opened the door to the garage and poured out as a winter’s worth of sand and dirt flew into the space.

He emerged just in time to see the steeple of the 120-year-old church topple to the ground. Father Anthony “Rudy” Juarez said church members were inside celebrating “Holy Thursday” shortly before the tornado hit.

After the storm passed, he anticipated a few misplaced windows. He looked up, expected to see the roof. Instead he saw the entrance to the roof of the church. “It was exactly the same way again,” he said.

Fire Chief Andy Beza spoke to the 71 tornadoes they answered the day they went west in 2008, and to the teens who learned carried them through the experience. “You and us with this to do,” he said.

As the storm, people have grown stronger. St. Patrick’s dedicated itself to follow the tornado. “The church suffered 12 million in damage. We never look at it quite that way,” he said.

In the end, Juarez said, “I learned carried them through the experience, and been through the experience and been through the experience and been through the experience and been through the experience and been through the experience and been through the experience and been through...”

Recently, Juarez said church members were inside celebrating “Holy Thursday” shortly before the tornado hit. “It was exactly the same way again,” he said.

Ravaged by the storm

Other buildings damaged by the 2008 tornado:

• Dairy Queen
• Alpha Chi Omega sorority house
• St. Patrick’s Catholic Church
• Soap Opera

According to a press release from the Iowa City Farm to School Chapter, teachers are working toward incorporating gardens into the lessons they are teaching.

University Theatres Mainstage Presents

Living in DES MOINES This summer?
Sign up for Grand View summer classes now.

More than 135 summer courses

Choose from 4-week, 5-week, and 6-week terms, and summer-long classes.

Day, evening, and online classes are available.

On-campus housing available; space is limited.

Tuition is only $2950 per credit hour.

For more information and to register, contact Ashley McRae at jmcrae@grandview.edu.

515-261-2914  1-800-444-0981  www.grandview.edu
Board members said they were concerned the $14.40 rate was risky because it assumed the board would receive state funding for 2 percent allowable growth rate and assumed the general fund budget for the upcoming year would break even. Board members and both were dangerous assumptions given the economic instability. They said there is potential for unexpected district costs and the Iowa Legislative lagging in setting the allowable growth rate.

“Option 4 is betting on an inaccurate rate and growth for taxes and for the district’s financial needs given an increase of 107 students for the upcoming school year. The School District receives about $35,000 per student through property tax and state aid.

Property tax

- 2010-11 property tax rates for districts in the Iowa United Education Network:
  - Cedar Rapids: $15.40
  - Des Moines: $15.00
  - Davenport: $15.00
  - Iowa City: $14.40
  - Iowa City: $14.50
  - Iowa City: $15.00

Source: Iowa United Education Network

Board members said they were concerned the $14.40 rate was risky because it assumed the board would receive state funding for 2 percent allowable growth rate and assumed the general fund budget for the upcoming year would break even. Board members and both were dangerous assumptions given the economic instability. They said there is potential for unexpected district costs and the Iowa Legislative lagging in setting the allowable growth rate.

“Option 4 is betting on an inaccurate rate and growth for taxes and for the district’s financial needs given an increase of 107 students for the upcoming school year. The School District receives about $35,000 per student through property tax and state aid.

Property tax

- 2010-11 property tax rates for districts in the Iowa United Education Network:
  - Cedar Rapids: $15.40
  - Des Moines: $15.00
  - Davenport: $15.00
  - Iowa City: $14.40
  - Iowa City: $14.50
  - Iowa City: $15.00

Source: Iowa United Education Network

Board members said they were concerned the $14.40 rate was risky because it assumed the board would receive state funding for 2 percent allowable growth rate and assumed the general fund budget for the upcoming year would break even. Board members and both were dangerous assumptions given the economic instability. They said there is potential for unexpected district costs and the Iowa Legislative lagging in setting the allowable growth rate.

“Option 4 is betting on an inaccurate rate and growth for taxes and for the district’s financial needs given an increase of 107 students for the upcoming school year. The School District receives about $35,000 per student through property tax and state aid.

Property tax

- 2010-11 property tax rates for districts in the Iowa United Education Network:
  - Cedar Rapids: $15.40
  - Des Moines: $15.00
  - Davenport: $15.00
  - Iowa City: $14.40
  - Iowa City: $14.50
  - Iowa City: $15.00

Source: Iowa United Education Network

Board members said they were concerned the $14.40 rate was risky because it assumed the board would receive state funding for 2 percent allowable growth rate and assumed the general fund budget for the upcoming year would break even. Board members and both were dangerous assumptions given the economic instability. They said there is potential for unexpected district costs and the Iowa Legislative lagging in setting the allowable growth rate.

“Option 4 is betting on an inaccurate rate and growth for taxes and for the district’s financial needs given an increase of 107 students for the upcoming school year. The School District receives about $35,000 per student through property tax and state aid.

Property tax

- 2010-11 property tax rates for districts in the Iowa United Education Network:
  - Cedar Rapids: $15.40
  - Des Moines: $15.00
  - Davenport: $15.00
  - Iowa City: $14.40
  - Iowa City: $14.50
  - Iowa City: $15.00

Source: Iowa United Education Network

Board members said they were concerned the $14.40 rate was risky because it assumed the board would receive state funding for 2 percent allowable growth rate and assumed the general fund budget for the upcoming year would break even. Board members and both were dangerous assumptions given the economic instability. They said there is potential for unexpected district costs and the Iowa Legislative lagging in setting the allowable growth rate.

“Option 4 is betting on an inaccurate rate and growth for taxes and for the district’s financial needs given an increase of 107 students for the upcoming school year. The School District receives about $35,000 per student through property tax and state aid.

Property tax

- 2010-11 property tax rates for districts in the Iowa United Education Network:
  - Cedar Rapids: $15.40
  - Des Moines: $15.00
  - Davenport: $15.00
  - Iowa City: $14.40
  - Iowa City: $14.50
  - Iowa City: $15.00

Source: Iowa United Education Network

Board members said they were concerned the $14.40 rate was risky because it assumed the board would receive state funding for 2 percent allowable growth rate and assumed the general fund budget for the upcoming year would break even. Board members and both were dangerous assumptions given the economic instability. They said there is potential for unexpected district costs and the Iowa Legislative lagging in setting the allowable growth rate.

“Option 4 is betting on an inaccurate rate and growth for taxes and for the district’s financial needs given an increase of 107 students for the upcoming school year. The School District receives about $35,000 per student through property tax and state aid.

Property tax

- 2010-11 property tax rates for districts in the Iowa United Education Network:
  - Cedar Rapids: $15.40
  - Des Moines: $15.00
  - Davenport: $15.00
  - Iowa City: $14.40
  - Iowa City: $14.50
  - Iowa City: $15.00

Source: Iowa United Education Network

Board members said they were concerned the $14.40 rate was risky because it assumed the board would receive state funding for 2 percent allowable growth rate and assumed the general fund budget for the upcoming year would break even. Board members and both were dangerous assumptions given the economic instability. They said there is potential for unexpected district costs and the Iowa Legislative lagging in setting the allowable growth rate.

“Option 4 is betting on an inaccurate rate and growth for taxes and for the district’s financial needs given an increase of 107 students for the upcoming school year. The School District receives about $35,000 per student through property tax and state aid.
the ledge

Horrible Children's Show Ideas:

"Children's Firework Show" — Little Billy has a secret. His family has organized a fireworks show for him in order to celebrate his birthday.

"Show and Tell" — The children show off their toys and explain why they are special.

"Story Time with Glenn Beck" — Glenn Beck reads stories to the children, and they get to see what it's like to be a storyteller.

"CAMEO" — Kids can act out a scene from a favorite show or movie.

"Magical Tai Chi" — Kids learn a simplified version of Tai Chi, suitable for children.

"Science Fair" — Kids can present their science projects and explain them to the audience.

" ~/.ai/Sanjeev%Gupta/Events/football%20schedule%2009/football%20sch.jpg" docker.

"NEWS: Blame the Fault Line" — Children can learn about the science behind earthquakes.

"The Daily Iowan"

dailyiowan.com

Photography is truth. The cinema is truth 24 hours a day. — Jean-Luc Godard

It seems that the image contains a mix of unrelated text and images, possibly including a horoscope, dates, and events. However, the content is not coherent enough to be accurately transcribed into natural text. The text appears to be a composite of various unrelated elements, making it difficult to extract meaningful information. If you have specific text or event details you need, please provide them, and I will do my best to assist you.
The Daily Iowan - Iowa City, Iowa - Wednesday, April 13, 2011 - Page 9

Sports

RIVALRY CONTINUED FROM 12

recruit and we're excited to play it.

Persa rebuffs ahead of schedule

Northwestern head coach Pat Fitzgerald said Tuesday that quarterback Persa is ahead of schedule in his rehab from a ruptured Achilles tendon he suffered against Iowa Nov. 13, 2010.

Persa injured the tendon while throwing the game's winning touchdown pass. The senior said he has turned a corner in his rehab and should be ready to resume full-contact activities by June.

"It's still a little, but as sure as I'm sure, it was," he said. "It was a sharp pain, but now it's just some soreness from muscle building." Fitzgerald praised his quarterback's attitude and work ethic in recovering from an injury that has kept him out of spring practices other than light tossing, jogging, and agility drills.

Persa was named the All-Big Ten first team's quarterback last season after throwing for 258 yards and two touchdowns against the Fighting Irish as well as his 66-yard interception return touchdown against Michigan State.

"After the Michigan State game, it came back to us that we might have to move him around. Even though we have enough guys on defense, Feeney and others, I think we have a very skilled athlete. If he can stay healthy, he can have a good game at our third receiver or our slot position. We've got a lot more involved in his rehab this year." If he does receive an opportunity to play on returns — or anywhere else, for that matter — it'll be ready.

Said Hyde: "Whenever the coaches put me, I'll be there to make plays."
In her first career opportunity against a ranked opponent, Hawkeye Christina Harazin emerged victorious.

The women’s tennis freshman knocked off Northwestern’s 50th-ranked Brittany Wowchuk on April 6 in the Aggie Cup, 6-1, 6-0.

Playing in the team’s No. 6 singles spot — she was moved up from No. 5 because of the absence of Lynn Purgason-Woo, who was taking an exam — Harazin knew she would have a tough opponent. From the moment the ball was hit, she went all in, “I had nothing to lose, and she had everything to lose. I would be happy with whatever the outcome was.”

Playing at Northwestern’s Combe Tennis Complex, Harazin, an Evansville, Ill., native commuted the match by taking the train, 7-5.

The result was not the same in the second set. ‘In the second set, I wasn’t winning the right points,” Harazin said. “We both were hitting the ball and striking the ball — the score just wasn’t going my way.”

In an abrupt turn of events, she was in a struggle. She lost the second set, 6-4.

“Going into the tiebreaker, I knew I just really wanted to win this match,” she said. “I thought and visualized it many times.”

“I wanted to start over and not after the second set,” Harazin said. “I started off playing solid and played my games. I had a lot of confidence.”

In the third and final set, Harazin dominated, 6-1. “I think Tina was very disappointed after the outcome the day before,” head coach Russ Dougherty said. “Harazin had fallen in two sets to Illinois’ Mona Rodoszinski on April 6. Brittany (Wowchuk) is a good ball striker, she hits a harder ball than Tina has ever seen, and Tina responded well.”

“The level of her play will only go up,” senior Alexa Durk said. “She is a great competitor and a hard worker. The hard work will pay off for her; she is going to be a great player Tina will respect.”

The Daily Iowa is opening for a Part-time Classified Advertising Assistant. Must have excellent communication skills, be detail oriented, enjoy working with a small, hardworking team and getting results. Starting and sustansing other offices deadline approximately 3 hours per day. Further starts in Iowa would be the beginning of May.

Please send your resumes to AdStrains, Classified Manager, dailyiowa@uiowa.edu or drop it off at The Daily Iowa, Room E111, Adler Journalism Building.
Fall Rentals HERITAGE PROPERTY MANAGEMENT (319) 331-0835 www.hawkeyehouses.com

Near University Hospitals
C. 1, 2, 3 bedrooms, 1, 2, 3 beds. All utilities included. $400-$550.

968 Manito Trail, Iowa City
$225/room; utilities not included.

Call for information on special fall leasing.

Open House

FALL LEASING OPEN HOUSE
Sunday, April 17 1-2:30
2751 Hickory
4 BED/4 BATH
• Security deposit included
• Free Washer/Dryer
• Cats allowed free of charge

2 bedroom units
$425-$475
• Free Internet, Free Internet, Free Internet

Walking distance to campus.

4 bedroom - utilities paid.
5 bedroom units
$1000
• Free Internet, Free Internet, Free Internet

Walking distance to campus.

Call for more information.

Fall Open House

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 20TH
2-4PM
2751 Hickory
4 BED/4 BATH

Real Estate Professionals

Iowa City’s certified doctors real estate agents. Specializing in University families, faculty, students, doctors and investors!

Working together, achieving your GOALS!

Go Hawkeye!

RODACO-STEVENS TEAMS

TERRILLARSONHOMES.COM

Conveniently in the Best of the Iowa City Area

FOR RENT

www.dailyiowan.com

ALWAYS ONLINE

The Daily Iowan - Iowa City, Iowa - Wednesday, April 13, 2011 - 11

For more information on housing, call (319) 335-5784, (319) 335-5785.

e-mail: classified@uiowa.edu

DAILY IOWAN CLASSIFIEDS

www.dailyiowan.com
The Iowa baseball team puts together an uninspired effort.

By SETH ROBERTS

Iowa/Nebraska shaping up as big rivalry

When Kirk Ferentz traveled to Lincoln last weekend to discuss the future of the Cornhusker football program, he wanted to know exactly what had happened in the second half of last season. He also wanted to know how much of last season was caused by the departure of defensive coordinator Bo Pelini. He didn’t get straight answers.

When Ferentz traveled to Lincoln he knew he wasn’t the only one there who wanted to know the truth. Nebraska head coach Bo Pelini was there, too. And Pelini was there to try to protect his team’s reputation. Ferentz and Pelini have been close friends for years. But there is a minor problem with close friends who are head coaches. Sometimes one might feel compelled to say something that was not appropriate.

But there was one thing that Ferentz did say. It will be his first game as head coach of the Cornhuskers and he said that the Cornhuskers are “a very good football team.”

“Before you can even think about the Cornhuskers winning the title, you have to think about the Cornhuskers playing well.”

Ferentz said.

When Ferentz was head coach at Iowa he led the Hawkeyes to four Big Ten championships and three bowl games. He also led the Hawkeyes to the NCAA title game in 1987. He also led the Hawkeyes to the NCAA title game in 1987.

“I think I did a good job at Iowa,” Ferentz said. “I think I did a good job leading the Cornhuskers.”

“I think I did a good job of leading the Cornhuskers. I think I did a good job of being a defensive coordinator. I think I did a good job of being a football coach.”

But there was one thing that Ferentz did say. It will be his first game as head coach of the Cornhuskers and he said that the Cornhuskers are “a very good football team.”

“Before you can even think about the Cornhuskers winning the title, you have to think about the Cornhuskers playing well.”

Ferentz said.

When Ferentz was head coach at Iowa he led the Hawkeyes to four Big Ten championships and three bowl games. He also led the Hawkeyes to the NCAA title game in 1987. He also led the Hawkeyes to the NCAA title game in 1987.

“I think I did a good job at Iowa,” Ferentz said. “I think I did a good job leading the Cornhuskers.”

“I think I did a good job of leading the Cornhuskers. I think I did a good job of being a defensive coordinator. I think I did a good job of being a football coach.”

But there was one thing that Ferentz did say. It will be his first game as head coach of the Cornhuskers and he said that the Cornhuskers are “a very good football team.”

“Before you can even think about the Cornhuskers winning the title, you have to think about the Cornhuskers playing well.”

Ferentz said.