‘SAPP’ IN THE SPOTLIGHT

IOWA GUARD ANTHONY CLEMMONS HAS MADE NOISE SINCE ARRIVING IN IOWA CITY. SPORTS

The Sun sets behind Hancher in 2009. University officials are exploring options for the preservation of items salvaged after the 2008 flood. (The Daily Iowan/Chris Willauer)

WednesDay, December 12, 2012

newsPAPER • dailyiowan.com • televisIoN

WEATHER

DAILY IOWAN TV

Classifieds

CROSSWORD

43

50c

DAve

Tm

4

25

9

50¢

INdEPEndEnt daily newspaper foR the UniversiTy of iowa communItY

The only gifts to the [Hancher] staff are the memories of the events that were presented in that building.

By RHISABH R. JAIN

The dates for demolishing and relocating four University of Iowa buildings are set, and officials are discussing how to preserve certain objects salvaged from the 2008 flood.

UI Senior Vice President and Treasurer Douglas True briefly laid out a plan about preservation in the last state Board of Regents’ meeting, Dec. 5.

“One of the things we’re doing in the course of this (demo- lishing) is that we’ve agreed to record histories of these build- ings,” True said during the meeting “… and take opportu- nities to preserve objects from these buildings that might be useful in the future, or be useful for sale, or to provide to people as mementos of some of these important buildings.”

UI spokesman Tom Moore said the university aims to preserve, reuse, and even donate objects from the now ex- pended buildings.

“That includes preserving the Great Wood Studios in the older Art Building, which FEMA — the main source of fund- ing for UI flood recovery — has deemed to have historical signifi- cance.”

“Preservation of the Grant Wood Studio will be part of the process,” Moore added. “We feel the wood studio is a critically important building, and we want to be sure that it’s preserved.”

“Preservation of the Grant Wood Studio will be part of the process,” Moore added. “We feel the wood studio is a critically important building, and we want to be sure that it’s preserved.”

UI Senior Vice President and Treasurer Douglas True briefly laid out a plan about preservation in the last state Board of Regents’ meeting, Dec. 5.

“One of the things we’re doing in the course of this (demo- lishing) is that we’ve agreed to record histories of these build- ings,” True said during the meeting “… and take opportu- nities to preserve objects from these buildings that might be useful in the future, or be useful for sale, or to provide to people as mementos of some of these important buildings.”

UI spokesman Tom Moore said the university aims to preserve, reuse, and even donate objects from the now ex- pended buildings.

“That includes preserving the Great Wood Studios in the older Art Building, which FEMA — the main source of fund- ing for UI flood recovery — has deemed to have historical signifi- cance.”

“Preservation of the Grant Wood Studio will be part of the process,” Moore added. “We feel the wood studio is a critically important building, and we want to be sure that it’s preserved.”

“Iowa’s Supreme Court ruling on same- sex marriage will stand, but local officials and national experts have their eyes on the highest court in the country “It’s time for two pieces of discriminato- ry legislation to end,” said Molly talvola, the communications director for One Iowa. “It’s time for (the Defense of Marriage Act) to be struck down unconstitutionally”.

The Defense of Marriage Act is one of the two cases the court agreed to hear last week. The act does not require states to recognize same-sex marriages from anoth- er state along with denying federal recogni- tion of same-sex marriages, the effects of which includes just tax filings and Social Security payments to survivors.

“Thousands of gay and lesbian couples who have been legally married in their home state are denied fair treatment by the United States government,” said Kate and Trish Vroman, in an email statement from Iowa. “We are all deserving of respect.”

By eric clarke

People who find themselves in emer- gency situations will soon be able to send texts to emergency-management authori- ties in addition to calling them.

The Federal Communications Commissi- on announced on Dec. 6 that the four largest wireless carriers in the United States have agreed to fast-track the availabil- ity of text-to-911 technology.

Sprint, Verizon, T-Mobile, and AT&T agreed to have technology to transmit texts to 911 call centers in working order by May 12, 2014.

“Text-to-911 technology is only avail- able in a handful of states today,” said Dale Curtis, a representative of the Na- tional Emergency Number Association. “This agreement sets a timeline when the ‘big four’ will be ready to deliver the mes- sage.”

While the four carriers have agreed to

By Brent Griffiths

The new Hancher/Voxman/Clapp buildings will incorporate some elements of the past.

Finals become stress test for UI students

Health officials emphasize the importance of coping with the stress during finals week.

By Tierra Simpson

Scattered notes, caffeinated bebervag- ing for 25 days at night and sleepless nights may take a toll on students’ health as they prepare for final exams, said Kathleen Staley, assistant director for out- patient services.

“The pressure to score high on five ex- ams has sent Tianyi Tan’s stress level spiraling out of control.

“I have great stress during this time than what I would say it is not abnormal to find students getting sick, said Kathleen Staley, assistant director for out- patient services.

“I have great stress during this time than what I would say it is not abnormal to find students getting sick, said Kathleen Staley, assistant director for out- patient services.

“I have great stress during this time than what I would say it is not abnormal to find students getting sick, said Kathleen Staley, assistant director for out- patient services.

“I have great stress during this time than what I would say it is not abnormal to find students getting sick, said Kathleen Staley, assistant director for out- patient services.

“I have great stress during this time than what I would say it is not abnormal to find students getting sick, said Kathleen Staley, assistant director for out- patient services.

“I have great stress during this time than what I would say it is not abnormal to find students getting sick, said Kathleen Staley, assistant director for out- patient services.

“I have great stress during this time than what I would say it is not abnormal to find students getting sick, said Kathleen Staley, assistant director for out- patient services.

“I have great stress during this time than what I would say it is not abnormal to find students getting sick, said Kathleen Staley, assistant director for out- patient services.
Metro

Man charged with burglary, mischief

A 26-year-old Woman has been arrested on three counts of burglary and assault after he allegedly drove his vehicle into the property of a man in Oxford.

According to a Johnson County Sheriff's Office complaint, William C. Fagan, 26, of 505 2nd Ave., was charged Monday with burglary and assault.

Fagan drove his vehicle through the fence and into a folder and a window, according to excited witnesses. The man allegedly proceeded to enter the residence and take his belongings.

According to court records, the chain link fence was reportedly drawn on, enabling himself to enter the residence, the complaint said. Fagan then reported on the （continued）

Finding passion at Iowa

When officers arrived on Sunday with interference with official acts and public urination.

Betre, 22, was charged Dec. 8 with presence in a bar after hours.

Because the account was active, she could cover the amounts drawn at any time the account was active, the complaint said. Fagan was charged and is scheduled for his initial court date.

According to the complaint, as of noon, Rose died still had not arrived.

Women faces several charges

A 30-year-old woman has been accused of possessing a controlled substance without a prescription and having control of a firearm. According to a series of complaints, the Des Moines Police Department took a gun and a man who was out of town.

According to the complaint, as of noon, Rose died still had not arrived.

Women faces several charges

A 30-year-old woman has been accused of possessing a controlled substance without a prescription and having control of a firearm. According to a series of complaints, the Des Moines Police Department took a gun and a man who was out of town.

According to the complaint, as of noon, Rose died still had not arrived.

Women faces several charges

A 30-year-old woman has been accused of possessing a controlled substance without a prescription and having control of a firearm. According to a series of complaints, the Des Moines Police Department took a gun and a man who was out of town.

According to the complaint, as of noon, Rose died still had not arrived.

Women faces several charges

A 30-year-old woman has been accused of possessing a controlled substance without a prescription and having control of a firearm. According to a series of complaints, the Des Moines Police Department took a gun and a man who was out of town.

According to the complaint, as of noon, Rose died still had not arrived.
News

ARTS & CULTURE

Luís Alberto Urrea, a brother-crusader with child-

Scan this code to see the DI’s latest culture of N. Korea launches

North Korea launched a launch window to Dec. 29.

A rocket expert said North

The United Nations, Wash-

The United Nations, Wash-

Seoul, South Korea — North

The underground facility,

The underground facility,

shoots at South Korea

 launch. He had been

N. Korea launches

The United Nations, Wash-

The United Nations, Wash-

Seoul, South Korea — North

The United Nations, Wash-

The underground facility,

The underground facility,

The underground facility,

The underground facility,

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been

launch. He had been
The implications of the court's marriage decision

Last week, the U.S. Supreme Court decided to hear the arguments of two separate cases that challenge the constitutionality of same-sex marriage bans. The court's decision has a critical and important decision to make that will either allow gay-marriage bans to remain in place or force them to fall. The court will hear two cases, one against the Defense of Marriage Act, which defines marriage at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

VOTES

Should the Supreme Court support gay marriage in the new normal?

In an opinion piece, the Des Moines Register argues that the Iowa courts found this decision to be a violation of the state constitution. The court must decide whether the equal protection rights of same-sex couples both on a federal and state level. The court's decision is a clear indication that the number of same-sex couples remains at approximately 156,000 in Iowa. wooded at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

The implications of the court's marriage decision

Last week, the U.S. Supreme Court decided to hear the arguments of two separate cases that challenge the constitutionality of same-sex marriage bans. The court's decision has a critical and important decision to make that will either allow gay-marriage bans to remain in place or force them to fall. The court will hear two cases, one against the Defense of Marriage Act, which defines marriage at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

VOTES

Should the Supreme Court support gay marriage in the new normal?

In an opinion piece, the Des Moines Register argues that the Iowa courts found this decision to be a violation of the state constitution. The court must decide whether the equal protection rights of same-sex couples both on a federal and state level. The court's decision is a clear indication that the number of same-sex couples remains at approximately 156,000 in Iowa. wooded at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

The implications of the court's marriage decision

Last week, the U.S. Supreme Court decided to hear the arguments of two separate cases that challenge the constitutionality of same-sex marriage bans. The court's decision has a critical and important decision to make that will either allow gay-marriage bans to remain in place or force them to fall. The court will hear two cases, one against the Defense of Marriage Act, which defines marriage at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

VOTES

Should the Supreme Court support gay marriage in the new normal?

In an opinion piece, the Des Moines Register argues that the Iowa courts found this decision to be a violation of the state constitution. The court must decide whether the equal protection rights of same-sex couples both on a federal and state level. The court's decision is a clear indication that the number of same-sex couples remains at approximately 156,000 in Iowa. wooded at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

The implications of the court's marriage decision

Last week, the U.S. Supreme Court decided to hear the arguments of two separate cases that challenge the constitutionality of same-sex marriage bans. The court's decision has a critical and important decision to make that will either allow gay-marriage bans to remain in place or force them to fall. The court will hear two cases, one against the Defense of Marriage Act, which defines marriage at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

VOTES

Should the Supreme Court support gay marriage in the new normal?

In an opinion piece, the Des Moines Register argues that the Iowa courts found this decision to be a violation of the state constitution. The court must decide whether the equal protection rights of same-sex couples both on a federal and state level. The court's decision is a clear indication that the number of same-sex couples remains at approximately 156,000 in Iowa. wooded at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

The implications of the court's marriage decision

Last week, the U.S. Supreme Court decided to hear the arguments of two separate cases that challenge the constitutionality of same-sex marriage bans. The court's decision has a critical and important decision to make that will either allow gay-marriage bans to remain in place or force them to fall. The court will hear two cases, one against the Defense of Marriage Act, which defines marriage at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

VOTES

Should the Supreme Court support gay marriage in the new normal?

In an opinion piece, the Des Moines Register argues that the Iowa courts found this decision to be a violation of the state constitution. The court must decide whether the equal protection rights of same-sex couples both on a federal and state level. The court's decision is a clear indication that the number of same-sex couples remains at approximately 156,000 in Iowa. wooded at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

The implications of the court's marriage decision

Last week, the U.S. Supreme Court decided to hear the arguments of two separate cases that challenge the constitutionality of same-sex marriage bans. The court's decision has a critical and important decision to make that will either allow gay-marriage bans to remain in place or force them to fall. The court will hear two cases, one against the Defense of Marriage Act, which defines marriage at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

VOTES

Should the Supreme Court support gay marriage in the new normal?

In an opinion piece, the Des Moines Register argues that the Iowa courts found this decision to be a violation of the state constitution. The court must decide whether the equal protection rights of same-sex couples both on a federal and state level. The court's decision is a clear indication that the number of same-sex couples remains at approximately 156,000 in Iowa. wooded at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

The implications of the court's marriage decision

Last week, the U.S. Supreme Court decided to hear the arguments of two separate cases that challenge the constitutionality of same-sex marriage bans. The court's decision has a critical and important decision to make that will either allow gay-marriage bans to remain in place or force them to fall. The court will hear two cases, one against the Defense of Marriage Act, which defines marriage at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.

VOTES

Should the Supreme Court support gay marriage in the new normal?

In an opinion piece, the Des Moines Register argues that the Iowa courts found this decision to be a violation of the state constitution. The court must decide whether the equal protection rights of same-sex couples both on a federal and state level. The court's decision is a clear indication that the number of same-sex couples remains at approximately 156,000 in Iowa. wooded at the federal level as the union between one man and one woman, allowing the federal government to ignore marriage contracts for the sake of taxes and other regulations. The second case is much more similar to Virginia, even the same-sex marriage decision rendered recently by the Virginia courts. The U.S. Supreme Court's decision will be an additional hurdle for the fight for equal rights; same-sex couples this time. At most, the decision will only set back the fight for equal rights.
The military isn’t saying much if anything about this new secret mission known as OTV-3, or Orbital Test Vehicle, flight 4. The Air Force launched the top-secret, unmanned mini-space shuttle Tuesday for a repeat mystery mission, two years after making its first flight.

The Air Force launched the unannounced spacecraft Tuesday on top of an Atlas V rocket. As if on cue, clouds quickly swallowed the rocket as it disappeared out over the ocean.

It is the second flight for this original X-37B space plane. The craft circled the planet for seven months in 2010. A second X-37B spacecraft spent more than a year in orbit.

Those high-tech mystery machines — 29 feet long — are about one-quarter the size of NASA’s old space shuttles and can land autonomously on a runway. The two previous touchdowns occurred at Edwards Air Force Base in California; this one might occur in Southern California, or it might just be being hidden on top of an Atlas V for hoisting. It’s a repeat mystery mission, McDowell said.

“Any time you can launch on short notice based on need, McDowell noted.

What’s important about this flight is that it is the first reflight. “That is pretty cool,” Mc- Dowell said, "reusing your spacecraft after a runway landing. That's something that has only really been done with the shuttles.”

Now retired museum director, Jonathan McDowell of the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysic- ies, speculates the space plane is carrying sensors designed for spying and likely is serving as a test bed for future military unmanned spacecraft. “Lots of ideas” for the X-37B as weaponry or shadowing a Chinese satellite.

While acknowledging he does not know what the space plane is carrying, McDowell said on-board sensors could be capable of imaging or intercepting transmissions of electronic emissions from laser-based targeting sites in Afghanistan, said McDowell.

"All the sorts of things that spy satellites generally do," he said.

The beauty of a reusable space plane is that it can be launched on short notice based on need, Mc- Dowell said.

“It’s important to me,” McDowell noted. “That is pretty cool.”

While the space plane is carrying sensors designed for spying and likely is serving as a test bed for future military unmanned spacecraft. "Lots of ideas" for the X-37B as weaponry or shadowing a Chinese satellite.

The two previous touchdowns occurred at Edwards Air Force Base in California; this one might occur in Southern California, or it might just be being hidden on top of an Atlas V for hoisting.

What’s important about this flight is that it is the first reflight. “That is pretty cool,” McDowell said, "reusing your spacecraft after a runway landing. That's something that has only really been done with the shuttles.”

Now retired museum director, Jonathan McDowell of the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics, speculates the space plane is carrying sensors designed for spying and likely is serving as a test bed for future military unmanned spacecraft. “Lots of ideas” for the X-37B as weaponry or shadowing a Chinese satellite.

While acknowledging he does not know what the space plane is carrying, McDowell said on-board sensors could be capable of imaging or intercepting transmissions of electronic emissions from laser-based targeting sites in Afghanistan, said McDowell.

“‘All the sorts of things that spy satellites generally do,’ he said.

The beauty of a reusable space plane is that it can be launched on short notice based on need, McDowell said.

“It’s important to me,” McDowell noted. “That is pretty cool.”

While the space plane is carrying sensors designed for spying and likely is serving as a test bed for future military unmanned spacecraft. "Lots of ideas” for the X-37B as weaponry or shadowing a Chinese satellite.

The two previous touchdowns occurred at Edwards Air Force Base in California; this one might occur in Southern California, or it might just be being hidden on top of an Atlas V for hoisting. The craft circled the planet for seven months in 2010. A second X-37B spacecraft spent more than a year in orbit. X-37B spacecraft spent more than a year in orbit. X-37B spacecraft spent more than a year in orbit. X-37B spacecraft spent more than a year in orbit. X-37B spacecraft spent more than a year in orbit.
The lead

The lede is the first sentence or two of a news story, summarizing the main points. It is designed to immediately draw the reader's attention and entice them to read on.

Your know ledge author:

I refuse to ride stationary bikes. It's not the same distance in a fraction of the time.

Sometimes, I'll go to the liquor store, even when my cable reorders the channel for me. I refuse to ride stationary bikes. It's not the same distance in a fraction of the time.

I think it's a horrible crop of the human brain to think of alcohol in amber. (Don't act like you've never left your DNA on ran cem.)

If I wanted to learn, I wouldn't waste my brain cell on a lesson about alcohol. It soothes me.

Sometimes when I'm on my weekend marathons only last so many unanswered questions. Someone needs your attention, approval, and assistance in order to contribute more to your needs. Nurture partnerships and make suggestions that will divvy up the responsibilities evenly. Put love first.

I'm kind of pissed off that so many unanswered questions. Sometimes when I'm on my weekend marathons only last so many unanswered questions. Someone needs your attention, approval, and assistance in order to contribute more to your needs. Nurture partnerships and make suggestions that will divvy up the responsibilities evenly. Put love first.

I refuse to ride stationary bikes. It's not the same distance in a fraction of the time.

I've never left your DNA on rancem. I just turned on by Sam?

I'll forget whether I'm going to the liquor store, even when my cable reorders the channel for me. If I wanted to learn, I wouldn't waste my brain cell on a lesson about alcohol. It soothes me.

I'm kind of pissed off that so many unanswered questions. Someone needs your attention, approval, and assistance in order to contribute more to your needs. Nurture partnerships and make suggestions that will divvy up the responsibilities evenly. Put love first.

I refuse to ride stationary bikes. It's not the same distance in a fraction of the time.

I've never left your DNA on rancem. I just turned on by Sam?

I'll forget whether I'm going to the liquor store, even when my cable reorders the channel for me. If I wanted to learn, I wouldn't waste my brain cell on a lesson about alcohol. It soothes me.

I'm kind of pissed off that so many unanswered questions. Someone needs your attention, approval, and assistance in order to contribute more to your needs. Nurture partnerships and make suggestions that will divvy up the responsibilities evenly. Put love first.

I refuse to ride stationary bikes. It's not the same distance in a fraction of the time.

I've never left your DNA on rancem. I just turned on by Sam?

I'll forget whether I'm going to the liquor store, even when my cable reorders the channel for me. If I wanted to learn, I wouldn't waste my brain cell on a lesson about alcohol. It soothes me.

I'm kind of pissed off that so many unanswered questions. Someone needs your attention, approval, and assistance in order to contribute more to your needs. Nurture partnerships and make suggestions that will divvy up the responsibilities evenly. Put love first.

I refuse to ride stationary bikes. It's not the same distance in a fraction of the time.

I've never left your DNA on rancem. I just turned on by Sam?

I'll forget whether I'm going to the liquor store, even when my cable reorders the channel for me. If I wanted to learn, I wouldn't waste my brain cell on a lesson about alcohol. It soothes me.

I'm kind of pissed off that so many unanswered questions. Someone needs your attention, approval, and assistance in order to contribute more to your needs. Nurture partnerships and make suggestions that will divvy up the responsibilities evenly. Put love first.

I refuse to ride stationary bikes. It's not the same distance in a fraction of the time.

I've never left your DNA on rancem. I just turned on by Sam?

I'll forget whether I'm going to the liquor store, even when my cable reorders the channel for me. If I wanted to learn, I wouldn't waste my brain cell on a lesson about alcohol. It soothes me.

I'm kind of pissed off that so many unanswered questions. Someone needs your attention, approval, and assistance in order to contribute more to your needs. Nurture partnerships and make suggestions that will divvy up the responsibilities evenly. Put love first.

I refuse to ride stationary bikes. It's not the same distance in a fraction of the time.

I've never left your DNA on rancem. I just turned on by Sam?

I'll forget whether I'm going to the liquor store, even when my cable reorders the channel for me. If I wanted to learn, I wouldn't waste my brain cell on a lesson about alcohol. It soothes me.

I'm kind of pissed off that so many unanswered questions. Someone needs your attention, approval, and assistance in order to contribute more to your needs. Nurture partnerships and make suggestions that will divvy up the responsibilities evenly. Put love first.

I refuse to ride stationary bikes. It's not the same distance in a fraction of the time.

I've never left your DNA on rancem. I just turned on by Sam?

I'll forget whether I'm going to the liquor store, even when my cable reorders the channel for me. If I wanted to learn, I wouldn't waste my brain cell on a lesson about alcohol. It soothes me.

I'm kind of pissed off that so many unanswered questions. Someone needs your attention, approval, and assistance in order to contribute more to your needs. Nurture partnerships and make suggestions that will divvy up the responsibilities evenly. Put love first.

I refuse to ride stationary bikes. It's not the same distance in a fraction of the time.

I've never left your DNA on rancem. I just turned on by Sam?

I'll forget whether I'm going to the liquor store, even when my cable reorders the channel for me. If I wanted to learn, I wouldn't waste my brain cell on a lesson about alcohol. It soothes me.

I'm kind of pissed off that so many unanswered questions. Someone needs your attention, approval, and assistance in order to contribute more to your needs. Nurture partnerships and make suggestions that will divvy up the responsibilities evenly. Put love first.

I refuse to ride stationary bikes. It's not the same distance in a fraction of the time.

I've never left your DNA on rancem. I just turned on by Sam?

I'll forget whether I'm going to the liquor store, even when my cable reorders the channel for me. If I wanted to learn, I wouldn't waste my brain cell on a lesson about alcohol. It soothes me.

I'm kind of pissed off that so many unanswered questions. Someone needs your attention, approval, and assistance in order to contribute more to your needs. Nurture partnerships and make suggestions that will divvy up the responsibilities evenly. Put love first.
News

MARRIAGE

The Vermont's Iowa Supreme Court ruled in favor of same-sex marriage, and the other case, which dealt with the constitutionality of Iowa's marriage law, was heard the same day. The court has a “menu of options” regarding the Defense of Marriage Act, and the other case, which deals with the constitutionality of Iowa's marriage law, was heard the same day.

Stress

According to the American Heart Association, stress is a major cause of heart disease. Stress can cause high blood pressure, which can lead to heart attack and stroke.

Iowa Supreme Court

The Iowa Supreme Court is scheduled to hear arguments about two same-sex marriage cases related to gay marriage on Oct. 29. The court has a “menu of options” regarding the Defense of Marriage Act, and the other case, which deals with the constitutionality of Iowa's marriage law, was heard the same day.

Iowa Flood Recovery

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has approved funding for the Iowa Flood Recovery program. This program will provide grants for individuals and families who have been affected by the flood.

Call Center

Iowa Catholic Relief Services (ICRS) is offering a call center to help individuals who were affected by the flood. The call center is available Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. (CST).
Iowa can take some pride in the recent success of its men’s basketball program. Current junior guard Anthony Clemmons was selected as the Big Ten Freshman of the Week after a strong performance against Illinois State in Carver-Hawkeye Arena on Tuesday. The Hawkeyes will return to the court next week, and they are expected to receive another top-25 opponent. Clemmons logged 19 points, four rebounds, two assists, and one steal in the victory, helping Iowa overcome a slow start and win by a 77-63 score. Clemmons is averaging 14.7 points, 4.5 rebounds, and 3.3 assists per game, and he has established a relationship with his teammates. The Hawkeyes are now 10-2 in the Big Ten, and they are looking to extend their winning streak.

Iowa is one of three Big Ten teams with at least one player on the All-Big Ten Freshman Team. The others are Minnesota and Purdue. The Hawkeyes are currently 11th in the Big Ten standings, and they have a chance to improve their position in the coming weeks. Clemmons is emerging as one of the conference’s top freshmen, and he is making a name for himself in the league.

The Hawkeyes have had a solid season so far, and they are looking to continue their winning ways. With Clemmons leading the way, Iowa is on track to make a run for the Big Ten title. The team has a tough schedule ahead, but they are prepared to face any challenge that comes their way. Clemmons and his teammates are working hard to achieve their goals, and they are confident in their ability to succeed.

Iowa head coach Lisa Bluder has been pleased with the progress of her team this season, and she is looking forward to the rest of the year. "Anthony has been great for us," Bluder said. "He has worked hard and has improved his game significantly. He is a key player for us, and we are counting on him to continue to grow and develop as a student-athlete." Bluder is looking forward to seeing what Clemmons and the Hawkeyes can accomplish in the rest of the season. With Clemmons leading the way, Iowa is well-positioned to make a run for the Big Ten title. The team has a tough schedule ahead, but they are prepared to face any challenge that comes their way. Clemmons is emerging as one of the conference’s top freshmen, and he is making a name for himself in the league.

Iowa head coach Lisa Bluder has been pleased with the progress of her team this season, and she is looking forward to the rest of the year. "Anthony has been great for us," Bluder said. "He has worked hard and has improved his game significantly. He is a key player for us, and we are counting on him to continue to grow and develop as a student-athlete." Bluder is looking forward to seeing what Clemmons and the Hawkeyes can accomplish in the rest of the season. With Clemmons leading the way, Iowa is well-positioned to make a run for the Big Ten title. The team has a tough schedule ahead, but they are prepared to face any challenge that comes their way. Clemmons is emerging as one of the conference’s top freshmen, and he is making a name for himself in the league.
Place an ad
Phone: 319-335-5784
Email: daily-iowan-classified@uiowa.edu

Sell your car

The Daily Iowan Classifieds
www.dailyiowan.com
319-335-5784 or 319-335-5785

The ad will appear in our newspaper and on our website.
Cory Clark is redshirting this season behind Matt McDonough. But he made a statement when he beat the nation’s No. 2-ranked wrestler at the UNI Open.

Iowa 125-pounders Matt McDonough and Cory Clark wrestle during wrestle-offs on Nov. 10 in Carver-Hawkeye. McDonough won by decision, 3-2. (The Daily Iowan/Rachel His)