UI reconstruction stays local

INDIANOLA, Iowa — In some ways, it’s the end of a Democratic Party era. Still, in other ways, it could prove to be just the beginning.

Former Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton dangled the beginning pieces of presidential bait in front of some of her most vigilant supporters on Sunday in the closing minutes of the final Harkin Steak Fry in Indianola.

With a massive America flag spanning more than 20 feet, drums of bay-stakes, the state’s green rolling hills, and fellow party powerhouses surrounding her, Rodham Clinton shed all claims that she was ready to jump into presidential politics — at least for the time being.

“Well, it’s true. I am thinking about,” she told the estimated audience of 10,000. “But for today, that is not why I’m here. I’m here for the steak.”

Between screams from the crowd — that at times hinted that guests were at a concert rather than in America’s Heartland in the middle of September — the all-smiles Rodham Clinton told stories of how retiring Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, and fellow powerhouses rounded off her preparation for the all-female party for the retiring senator but also as a platform for hopeful Democratic candidates this November.

“With the right people in office and the right hearts and a willingness to work, our government can do good things for people in this country,” she said.

THE construction boom related to the 2008 flooding has opened up the doors for more distant, possible out-of-state contractors to be more competitive with local workers, but Iowa companies still remain in the majority.

Such massive demolition, restoration, and rebuilding projects created a surplus of work for construction companies around Iowa, said Rod Lehnertz, the director of planning, design, and construction at the University of Iowa Facilities Management.

As a state agency, Lehnertz said, the university is required to publicly bid all of its construction projects and select the lowest bidder.

“We are by state mandate required to award to the lowest responsible bidder,” he said. “So if a contractor from outside the borders of Iowa comes in and bids on a project, if they are the low bidder, they would be awarded that contract.”

Lehnertz said an out-of-state contractor having the lowest bid is usually not the case but that is becoming more common because local contractors have an increasing amount of work and are not as often bidding on projects. Currently out of the 221 construction projects the UI has going, 86 percent are held by contractors in Iowa and 14 percent by out-of-state companies.

INDIANOLA, Iowa — In an open field strewn with folding chairs and hay barrels, Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, and goodbyes to his fellow Democrat at the 37th and final Harkin Steak Fry in the warm company of an estimated 10,000 supporters.

A humble and appreciative Harkin took the stage at the National Balloon Classic Balloon Field in Indianola to thank all who supported him over the years.

“I stand on the shoulders of giants — you — my fellow Democrats and my fellow Iowans,” he said. “You trusted me. You worked your hearts out for me.”

Harkin’s departure signals a turn for the Democrats and, for many, a need to keep a Democrat in his U.S. Senate seat.

“The right people in office and the right hearts and a willingness to work, our government can do good things for people in this country,” he said.

Crisis Center event aims to prevent suicide

The annual suicide prevention walk entered its fifth year.

By CHRIS HIGGINS

dehiggins@uiowa.edu

Several hundred people gathered at Devil’s Trudgeon Recreation Area on Sunday for the fifth-consecutive Out of the Darkness 5K. The Johnson County Crisis Center led the fifth-annual walk to raise suicide awareness as well as money for prevention. The walk falls under the banner of the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention.

“We had record turnout tonight and a record amount of money raised,” said Kent Neblett, the community intervention director for the Crisis Center. “I think that the momentum is building, and that more and more people are finding out about the event and are really rallying behind it.”

Neblett said 220 people registered for the event, $11,000 was raised during the walk and more than 300 people a year. One person a day is committing suicide in the United States every 27 seconds worldwide. The 5K Devils’ Trudgeon-5K walk in the nation occurred Aug. 30, 2010, and more than 260 communities will host one this year.

“I think our best kind of hope is that people are wanting to be aware,” Neblett said. “And we’re trying to wake people up.”

According to the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention statistics, two people commit suicide in the United States every 27 seconds worldwide. The 5K Devils’ Trudgeon-5K walk in the nation occurred Aug. 30, 2010, and more than 260 communities will host one this year.

“We usually bring a quite a bit of money the day of the event,” Neblett said. “Our goal is $15,000 and I’m sure we’re going to make that and exceed it.”

By the time of publication, the total amount raised during the walk had yet to be determined.

The number of suicides in Iowa has risen over the past five years, according to the Iowa Department of Public Health, and 445 were reported in 2013. The rate has risen from 11.7 to 14.4 cases per 100,000 people.

“The one-year anniversary of the downtown Iowa City gift-card program showed an increase in participation.

One year after starting the Iowa City Downtown District, said the gift-card program has grown. “Businesses started to promote it, and that caught the interest of other businesses,” Bird said. “That made them want to jump on board as well.”

Downtown District Director Nancy Bird said people have purchased $35,000 worth of gift cards. Some are continuing to climb, she said, but when it first started in 2013, the program had a slow start. “It just took time for people to see the value,” Bird said. “It was a slow burn.”

Bird said the gift cards are also being purchased for families who come to visit the city and give their loved ones gift cards as presents. “There have been a lot of cards bought from out-of-state,” she said. “People buy them and give them to their families for when they come to visit. It’s a good gift for out-of-state people who don’t know the downtown Iowa City area.”

Bird said Active Endeavors, 135 S. Clinton St., has been with the program since the beginning. Active Endeavors manager Dave Steed said having the cards has been beneficial for business.

“They see a lot, and it’s been great,” he said. “It pote people into the downtown area more. It’s another avenue to get people in the store and to buy our product.”

Drew McLaughlin, the manager of the Bread Garden Market, 225 S. Linn St., said he thinks the cards are helpful for the district as well.

“It makes people want to buy a gift card to use in downtown Iowa City,” he said. “It keeps things local and promotes the downtown area.”

Quoted

- "We have to get better as a team. We’ll look at everybody. Everybody is competing every day. We just have to play better as a team and we have to coach better, and that starts right here." — Iowa Head Coach Kirk Ferentz
- "First and foremost, it was won between the ears. … They believed that they could win the game and they went out and physically followed up with that." — Iowa State Head Coach Paul Rhoads

IOWA GAME BALL

QUINTON ALSTON

IOWA STATE GAME BALL

SAM B. RICHARDSON

The senior middle linebacker led the team with 10 tackles. Alston also forced Iowa State’s Nealy to fumble the ball at the goal line at the end of the first half, allowing Iowa to enter halftime with a 14-3 lead.

Richardson played masterfully, completing 25-of-37 passes for 255 yards and 2 touchdowns. He also engineered an 11-play, 51-yard drive at the end of the game to set up Cole Netten’s game-winning 42-yard field goal.

THUMBS UP

RUN DEFENSE: While the Hawkeyes front seven didn’t get any sort of pressure on Iowa State’s quarterback, the unit did limit all Cyclone rushers to just 82 yards on 26 carries. Iowa remains just one of eight programs in the country to have not allowed a rushing touchdown this season.

THUMBS DOWN

BIG PLAY OFFENSE: Iowa had just one play from scrimmage that went for more than 20 yards — a 33-yard catch and run from tight end Ray Hamlin.ore, Derrick Willies and Damond Powell, two of Iowa’s big-play guys, weren’t even targeted against Iowa State.
I DON'T LIKE THE WORDS "ROSS" AND "EMPLOYEE" FROM NOW ON. WE ARE ALL "TEAM MEMBERS." I'LL BE THE TEAM MEMBER THAT MAKES THE DECISIONS AND YOU'LL BE THE TEAM MEMBER THAT WHEN THINGS GO WRONG, I DO. BUT OTHERWISE, WE ARE ALL EQUAL.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Discussions will count, but be careful not to divulge personal information, especially when dealing with peers and colleagues. Focus on downtime and planning trips and activities with someone you love. Use your energy wisely and your mind intelligently. Arguments will erupt, and false information will lead you astray.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Stop dwelling on imperfections and dissatisfaction. A positive mindset is required to be successful. Too much of anything will be frowned upon, so keep your life simple, moderate and balanced. Personal improvements will bring you the highest returns.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Emotions will surface, making it difficult for you to contain the way you feel or what you want. Tread carefully — someone may take advantage of your vulnerability. Don’t believe everything you hear. Ask before you print or share information being offered in meetings.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You'll experience trouble getting along with others. Arguments will erupt, and false information will lead you astray.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Financial prospects look good, and increasing your income through an unexpected source is likely. Move forward with optimism and enthusiasm.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You can make smart financial gains if you watch your way people treat you is about to take place. Be a hero. A quick response and resourcefulness is your ticket to freedom. Once you've made up your mind, stick to it until you finish what you started.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be aware of one or more variables that may cause a questionable purchase. Unexpected personal conditions are heading your way. Keep your emotions in check, and stay levelheaded in order to avoid arguments.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): This is an auspicious time to take charge; be a hero. A quick response and resourcefulness is your ticket to freedom. Once you've made up your mind, stick to it until you finish what you started.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Ignore emotional changes that some- one you love. Use your energy wisely and your mind intelligently. Arguments will erupt, and false information will lead you astray.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A change in the way people treat you is about to take place.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Avoid altering anything in your life for the time being. You will have difficulty making the right decision and confusion will set in. Consider long-term effects instead of what's unfolding in the moment. Look at the big picture.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): You'll experience trouble getting along with others. Arguments will erupt, and false information will lead you astray. Pull in the reins, and refrain from getting into a deep discussion about something you know little about.
Iowa women’s volleyball swept by Minnesota on Friday night. The Hawkeyes entered the weekend at 4-2, but the Golden Gophers defeated Iowa 25-18, 25-15, and 26-24 in Minneapolis.
