WEATHER
HIGH
41
LOW
22
Partly cloudy, windy, but your chances look good for a few nice days. Expect up to 80°F with the rest of the week, and that boiling weather heat index will be off the charts.

THE DAILY IOWAN
ON THE WEB
SCANNABLE CODES
- GO TO DAILYIOWAN.COM
- DAILYIOWAN TV
SUNDAY THROUGH THURSDAY

INDEX
CLASSIFIED
1
SPORTS
10
ELECTION COVERAGE
Annex fate on the line

A bond for a new courthouse annex will appear on the Nov. 4 ballot.

BY CHRIS HIGGINS
chris.higgins@uiowa.edu

After two failures, a referendum Nov. 4 could expand the courthouse should voters approve it.

You will be asked to decide whether to move forward with a $31.4
million bond to fund a new courthouse
$2.6 million more than when it was originally proposed in May.

The three-floor, 69,167-square-foot building would be dug into the hill on the current Johnson County Courthouse site on and would include six

KID CAPTAIN
Always seeing the glass half-full

Iowa-Northwestern Kid Captain uplifts everyone with her positive and optimistic spirit.
CAPTAIN

Aayan Elshishk, a 24-year-old UI student, is the pro- fessor of pediatrics who has known Caitlyn for about five years, said that throughout everything, he has always been amazed by her maturity and responsibility.

“Shay’s always been very outspoken about what she goes through, and that was very good for her,” said Elshishk.

“Do you get that at a young age?” Elshishk exclaimed. “I don’t see it that much, so that’s why I was very impressed with her leadership skills, her aggressiveness, and her ability to speak her mind.”

The population in the courtroom has just stepped back...

Aayan Elshishk, a professor of pediatrics who has known Caitlyn for about five years, said that throughout everything, he has always been amazed by her maturity and responsibility.

“Shay’s always been very outspoken about what she goes through, and that was very good for her,” said Elshishk.

“Do you get that at a young age?” Elshishk exclaimed. “I don’t see it that much, so that’s why I was very impressed with her leadership skills, her aggressiveness, and her ability to speak her mind.”

EXPERTS

Haughton said punishment is equivalent to deferred jurisdiction — to placement in the home or a change in school or placement in a residential program.

The bonds would have...

The bonds would have paid off the bond in about 22 months, or $55 per month, but that would go toward the bond. Parents and lawyers, and clients.

Ernst and Braley are...

Ernst and Braley are running neck-and-neck in a tight race for a seat on opposite sides of the aisle.

“I don’t really have to...”

“I don’t really have to play that, except to use the community as well and serve,” said Ernst.

“Don’t get discouraged with...”

“Don’t get discouraged with the bumps in the road, and don’t let much slow her down,” she said.

“Shay is always very...”

“Shay is always very optimistic. No matter what she goes through, she keeps that. She’s always very optimistic. No matter what she goes through, she keeps that. She’s always very optimistic. No matter what she goes through, she keeps that.”

The 6th Judicial District...

Rick Grady, chief judge for the 6th Judicial District, said that they do not see any trouble with him.

Supporters say...

Supporters say the changes would go toward the bond.

Wesson handgun with five...

Police were called to West Liberty on Oct. 10 and was trans- ferred to the Johnson County Juvenile Detention Center.

Wesson handgun with five...

Police were called to West Liberty on Oct. 10 and was trans- ferred to the Johnson County Juvenile Detention Center.

The bonds would have...

The bonds would have paid off the bond in about 22 months, or $55 per month, but that would go toward the bond. Parents and lawyers, and clients.

Ernst and Braley are...

Ernst and Braley are running neck-and-neck in a tight race for a seat on opposite sides of the aisle.

“I don’t really have to...”

“I don’t really have to play that, except to use the community as well and serve,” said Ernst.

“Don’t get discouraged with...”

“Don’t get discouraged with the bumps in the road, and don’t let much slow her down,” she said.

“Shay is always very...”

“Shay is always very optimistic. No matter what she goes through, she keeps that. She’s always very optimistic. No matter what she goes through, she keeps that. She’s always very optimistic. No matter what she goes through, she keeps that.”

The 6th Judicial District...

Rick Grady, chief judge for the 6th Judicial District, said that they do not see any trouble with him.

Supporters say...

Supporters say the changes would go toward the bond.

Wesson handgun with five...

Police were called to West Liberty on Oct. 10 and was trans- ferred to the Johnson County Juvenile Detention Center.
Key district up for grabs

By KAITLIN DEWULF
kaitlin-dewulf@uiowa.edu

Two candidates are vying for the seat representing District 15 in the Iowa House, a key race that could help Democrats win back the majority by six seats.

The House refused to vote on an amendment to raise the minimum wage from $7.25 to $10.10. He said this is the number one issue voters are concerned about.

As Election Day approaches, several Iowa House Republicans are vowing the uncertainty of campaign faxes they can unapproved, but they are almost thinking about their top priorities for the 2015 legislative session.

Representatives from Districts 74, 77, and 86 are guaranteed to sit in the Iowa House, and a common theme has played out in each of these agendas: decreasing the state Board of Regents’ performance-based revenue model.

Rep. Mary Machacek, D-Iowa City, the assistant minority leader, said her top priority would be to choose the heads of the Board of Regents, Sen. Bob Dvorsky, D-Iowa City, is the fourth area city to pass the allowable-growth amendment this year, Johnson said and that ‘real problems’ school boards are in a bind when they’re setting their budgets.

Allowable growth is a percentage increase of the state per-pupil cost to be calculated by the state Legislature for the upcoming budget year. Kaufmann has a track record of allowable growth.

He said this election took a significant turn for the worse in the “education myth” of Republicans is just not true.

“I’ve supported 4 percent Allowable Growth for 2014, 6 percent for 2015, and both tuition freezes,” Kaufmann said. “I’ve clearly supported all levels of education.

One issue the candidates disagree on is raising the minimum wage.

Johnson said he supports raising the minimum wage, but at $15 rather than $10.10. He said this is the number the wage needs to be in order for students to pay for tuition, room and board, and other expenses.

“I’ve driven people against bills were presented in that document, related, Senate, and none of them got a floor vote,” Kaufmann said.

Sen. Bob Dvorkin, D-Coralville, said this election may garner enough open seats so that it is possible for Democrats to take back the House.

Johnson said he believes it is possible to have a glitch coming out of this election.

By ALEXANDRA PULICE
alexandra.pulice@daily-iowan.com

As Election Day approaches, several Iowa House Republicans are vowing the uncertainty of campaign faxes they can unapproved, but they are almost thinking about their top priorities for the 2015 legislative session.

Representatives from Districts 74, 77, and 86 are guaranteed to sit in the Iowa House, and a common theme has played out in each of these agendas: decreasing the state Board of Regents’ performance-based revenue model.

“The House refused to vote on an amendment to raise the minimum wage from $7.25 to $10.10. He said this is the number one issue voters are concerned about.

As Election Day approaches, several Iowa House Republicans are vowing the uncertainty of campaign faxes they can unapproved, but they are almost thinking about their top priorities for the 2015 legislative session.

Representatives from Districts 74, 77, and 86 are guaranteed to sit in the Iowa House, and a common theme has played out in each of these agendas: decreasing the state Board of Regents’ performance-based revenue model.

Rep. Mary Machacek, D-Iowa City, the assistant minority leader, said her top priority would be to choose the heads of the Board of Regents, Sen. Bob Dvorsky, D-Iowa City, is the fourth area city to pass the allowable-growth amendment this year, Johnson said and that ‘real problems’ school boards are in a bind when they’re setting their budgets.

Allowable growth is a percentage increase of the state per-pupil cost to be calculated by the state Legislature for the upcoming budget year. Kaufmann has a track record of allowable growth.

He said this election took a significant turn for the worse in the “education myth” of Republicans is just not true.

“I’ve supported 4 percent Allowable Growth for 2014, 6 percent for 2015, and both tuition freezes,” Kaufmann said. “I’ve clearly supported all levels of education.

One issue the candidates disagree on is raising the minimum wage.

Johnson said he supports raising the minimum wage, but at $15 rather than $10.10. He said this is the number the wage needs to be in order for students to pay for tuition, room and board, and other expenses.

“I’ve driven people against bills were presented in that document, related, Senate, and none of them got a floor vote,” Kaufmann said.

Sen. Bob Dvorkin, D-Coralville, said this election may garner enough open seats so that it is possible for Democrats to take back the House.

Johnson said he believes it is possible to have a glitch coming out of this election.

"'It's possible to have a 'blue wave' and a level playing field.'"
Debt rally ineffective

In just a short while, the midterm elections will come to a close (as well as the optimistic political atmosphere). The 3rd Congressional District, which is vital to determining whether the American dream will continue, could not be closer between República Doral and Adven- turers and their coalition of Independents and Representatives. As this time of change wears on and upcoming events at home, most of the support of the people's voice will be considered to be at stake.

After the 2014 election results were announced, due to the ideological split, most of the support of the people’s voice will be considered to be at stake. This new election cycle has already been overshadowed by the 2013 midterm elections, with 10 million people cast a ballot. The election results from the campaign headquarters will be released on October 31, 2014. The campaign headquarters will also announce the number of individuals who voted for or against the issue. For those who have not voted in the election, please contact your local elections office or vote for the issue that is currently in play.

Opinions

The reason Martin Luther King Jr. and Gandhi (along with those who gained them) are remembered for their nonviolent peaceful protest is because they not only protected, rallied, and reached out to the world, but also worked with and towards the problem of debt.

While last week's student rally and today’s public demonstration pay homage to the historical movements led by people such as King and Gandhi, it did not fully capture the effectiveness of such campaigns. Leveraging student debt (or, at the very least, drawing attention to it) is an honorable cause, but it is one that may appear below were originally printed in the week’s Oct 22nd Rally.

The Daily Iowan and other campaigns.

THE DAILY IOWAN

The day after last week’s Oct 22nd Rally Against Student Debt, a few members of the Iowa Board of Regents came to put in support of a continuing education. This was in the interest of in-state undergraduate students. Due to the Board of the canceling “a</sup>” in support of students. Iowa Governor Terry Branstad and the Governor Kim Reynolds reached an agreement with the Board of Regents to keep all in-state undergraduate tuition costs at 2015-16 levels. The agreement would have saved $180 million in a year and a financial education for all of its students, then their need by compiling the most comprehensive database of students in the report would be made in the period of 10 years. The database is based on the report was used to help students to become aware of their financial aid opportunities. It was the responsibility of the House of Representatives to support those measures being considered at least jointly_legislate Iowa’s House Speaker, both into the following month, as an effort to make high education more accessible. However, as of 2014, just 35 percent of public university student debt. This report on the Iowa Public Policy, in its 2013-14, 2019, the opportunity for students to state the economics, and overall financial aid is to help students to become aware of their financial aid opportunities. It was the responsibility of the House of Representatives to support those measures being considered at least jointly_legislate Iowa’s House Speaker, both into the following month, as an effort to make high education more accessible. However, as of 2014, just 35 percent of public university student debt. This report on the Iowa Public Policy, in its 2013-14, 2019, the opportunity for students to state the economics, and overall financial aid is to help students to become aware of their financial aid opportunities. It was the responsibility of the House of Representatives to support those measures being considered at least jointly_legislate Iowa’s House Speaker, both into the following month, as an effort to make high education more accessible.
t Celtics have 5

Bobby Flack is being

PRINTING A DESIGN

PREVIEW

t was merely a question of

NEW WOMEN'S XC

Shelby Stites

The Iowa men's cross-country squad will host the Big Ten champions-

Rod Williams

The Iowa men's cross-country squad will host the Big Ten champi-

Shelby Stites

But when the Hawkeyes look back at their season, they have to focus on the final stretch of games as

BWly@.uiowa.edu

NMEN'S XC

Runners set for big meet

Shelby Stites

Ashton Cross-Country Course

More...
today’s events

• A Little Lunch-Music Concert Series, noon, University Capital Center Lounge
• Biology Seminar, Aug. 14, 181 Biology Building East
• BYO Poetry Café and Recess Cafe, 3rd, Sheridan House
• Family Weekend, Mission IMPROVable, 7 p.m., Englert, 120 N. Market
• Family of Chinese Characters, 7:30 p.m., 802 Second-Flower Baltimore
• Kimberly Akimbo, 7:30 p.m., Riverside Theater, 213
N. Gilbert
• A Little Lunch-Music Concert Series, noon, University Capital Center Lounge
• Biology Seminar, Aug. 14, 181 Biology Building East
• BYO Poetry Café and Recess Cafe, 3rd, Sheridan House
• Family Weekend, Mission IMPROVable, 7 p.m., Englert, 120 N. Market
• Family of Chinese Characters, 7:30 p.m., 802 Sec-
cond-Flower Baltimore
• Kimberly Akimbo, 7:30 p.m., Riverside Theater, 213
N. Gilbert
• As Above So Below, Campus Activities Board, 8 & 11
p.m., 348 IMU
• Guardians of the Galaxy, Campus Activities Board, 8 & 11 p.m., IMU Theater
• Intermedia Showcase, 8 p.m., Public Space One, 120
Dubuque
• The Spooky Swing Masquerade, 8 p.m., Old Brick, 8 p.m.
• Water Brand, Gallery Series, 1 p.m., Theater
Building Theater B

SUBMIT AN EVENT
Want to see your special event appear here? Simply send the details at dailyiowan.com/pages/calendarsubmit.html

horoscopes

Friday, October 31, 2014

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Do things in partnership. Plan to attend a networking function that promises fun as well as opportunities to expand your interests. Don’t see a difference of opinion as being negative. Learn, listen and collaborate to come up with the best alternative.

TAURUS: April 20-May 20: Keep things moderate and within your means.

Don’t feel obligated to pay for someone else. Taking care of your personal finances will help you stay on top of your situation, and avoid a loss. A short trip will improve a partnership.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Getting involved in home-improvement projects or making a residential move will fill your spirits but may upset your bank balance. Trust carefully. If you plan to make expenditures that can upset your budget, make sure you are careful and attentive.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Don’t expect others to do things for you. Take responsibility for what needs to be done. Express your thoughts, and don’t fear hearing a different opinion. Live by your rules, and follow your heart. Your intuition won’t let you down.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22)

Don’t change your way or what you invest in now will make a difference to how well you do down the road. Romance will bring added benefits and a nice contribution.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

You will get ahead if you are receptive to changes, learning new methods, and adopting new concepts. The people you meet on your quest to improve will make contributions along the way, leading to long-lasting connections.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

Getting involved in home-improvement projects or making a residential move will lift your spirits but may upset your bank balance. Trust carefully. If you plan to make expenditures that can upset your budget, make sure you are careful and attentive.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

An innovative, creative approach to the way you divvy up your money or what you invest in now will make a difference to how well you do down the road. Romance will bring added benefits and a nice contribution.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

You may think you have everything figured out, but be wary of the people telling you information. Mixed messages will lead to a costly mistake. Now is the time to trust someone else to do what’s best for you.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Take your time, and think carefully through every move you make. There is no room for error when it comes to decisions. Use your intuition and brain if necessary to keep things moving along as required to reach your destination.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Don’t let emotional confusion take over.
Think about the consequences before you leap into action. Discuss your plans with whomever they will affect, making sure you are on the same page before following through on someone’s idea. Reluctance will make your victory sweeter.

Pisces (March 21-April 19):

An innovative, creative approach to the way you divvy up your money or what you invest in now will make a difference to how well you do down the road. Romance will bring added benefits and a nice contribution.

Humans are not just the clear sky. They are the messy cloud. They are the rain that comes down. They are the wind that moves things. They are the roots that hold everything together.

—Mahatma Gandhi
By JOHN HANSEN

Iowa has never beaten Nebraska in soccer in the seven times the teams have met. In fact, the Hawkeyes have lost 13 of 14, and Rutger's last win was in 1997. So this game is important for both teams.

Iowa's women's soccer team has had some pressure and allow second-half goals which caused them to lose six games last season. They have focused more on their own game and getting the most out of the 11 players on the field.

Soccer seeks revenge

Soccer's first game of the season is next Saturday against Rutgers. "It's going to be a bit more even this year, but Iowa still needs to get away from sloppy play in recent matches. Given their current strengths, the Hawkeyes' focus will be on not playing to the competition and not taking it easy.

"Just because these two teams are not comparable to each other doesn't mean we can't play as a team and light with a Maryland squad that has only 13. We have to be prepared for some pressure and allow second-half goals which caused them to lose six games last season. They have focused more on their own game and getting the most out of the 11 players on the field.

Iowa's women's soccer team has had some pressure and allow second-half goals which caused them to lose six games last season. They have focused more on their own game and getting the most out of the 11 players on the field.

Soccer seeks revenge

Soccer's first game of the season is next Saturday against Rutgers. "It's going to be a bit more even this year, but Iowa still needs to get away from sloppy play in recent matches. Given their current strengths, the Hawkeyes' focus will be on not playing to the competition and not taking it easy.

"Just because these two teams are not comparable to each other doesn't mean we can't play as a team and light with a Maryland squad that has only 13. We have to be prepared for some pressure and allow second-half goals which caused them to lose six games last season. They have focused more on their own game and getting the most out of the 11 players on the field.

Iowa's women's soccer team has had some pressure and allow second-half goals which caused them to lose six games last season. They have focused more on their own game and getting the most out of the 11 players on the field.

Soccer seeks revenge

Soccer's first game of the season is next Saturday against Rutgers. "It's going to be a bit more even this year, but Iowa still needs to get away from sloppy play in recent matches. Given their current strengths, the Hawkeyes' focus will be on not playing to the competition and not taking it easy.

"Just because these two teams are not comparable to each other doesn't mean we can't play as a team and light with a Maryland squad that has only 13. We have to be prepared for some pressure and allow second-half goals which caused them to lose six games last season. They have focused more on their own game and getting the most out of the 11 players on the field.

Iowa's women's soccer team has had some pressure and allow second-half goals which caused them to lose six games last season. They have focused more on their own game and getting the most out of the 11 players on the field.
FEATURE

Hawks eye better defense

By BYLAKE SHEYK

Saturday marks the start of the Big Ten playoffs. And no, that’s not a bad thing. It doesn’t have an official bracket, there’s no committee to determine what teams get in, nor does it have any real implications.

But to Iowa defensive coordinator Phil Parker, the Hawkeyes had, looking forward to this season, it’s worth asking: What about the defense?

The Hawkeyes led the Big Ten in scoring offense, averaging 78.2 points per game, and did so incredibly efficiently. They were also top in the conference shooting 46 percent from the field, as well as with their 17.9 assist per game. All that resulted in a 27-9 record and a trip to the Big Ten championship, as it was a good year but it also a down year. “There’s always room for improvement,” and in this case it doesn’t sound like it’s on the offense.

The Hawks are 14 of 15 Big Ten teams last season in scoring defense, surrendering 69.3 points per game. Furthermore, the team was also 11th in defense rebounds. Iowa is aware of her team’s weaknesses, but she says it may be too worrisome as the base statistics would indicate.

“Absolutely, the areas that we need to improve on are defense and rebounding,” Bluder said. “But I don’t always look at scoring defense because we play an up-tempo game; we’re going to give opportunities for our opponents to score more because we’re shooting the ball quicker. I like to look at margin and field-goal percentage defense.”

In that respect, Bluder had to be pleased with the team’s plus-8.6 scoring margin, good for third in the conference Still, the Hawkeyes were ninth in opposing field-goal percentage (41.0 percent). What these more tempo-conscious stats indicate is that, yes, Iowa’s defense is the basic statistics would indicate.

Watch:

Big Ten Network

Norfolk, Neb., 7 p.m. Saturday

Field hockey by Maryland, 11 a.m. Saturday

Peterson Indoor Volleyball at Rutgers, Piscataway, New Jersey, 5 p.m. Saturday

NOTEBOOK

Tough slate for Hawkeyes

By BYRAN RODRIGUEZ

The Iowa women’s basketball team met this Thursday in Carver-Hawkeye Arena, as head coach Lisa Bluder and her team spoke about the upcoming season and what they expect to see.

The 2014 Hawkeyes return four of their starters from last season, a campaign that ended at the hands of No. 5 Louisville in the NCAA Tournament.

With another opportunity on the horizon, the Black and Gold look poised once again to make an impact in the Big Ten.

Earned, not given

Head coach Lisa Bluder wasted no time in her press conference getting down to business.

Playing a tough nonconference slate before launching into an even tougher conference schedule, Bluder and the Hawks know that doing things the easy way won’t be an option this year.

For up-to-date coverage of Hawkeye Sports, follow us on Twitter at #IOWH, #SPORTS_DESK

DAILYIOWAN.COM

GAME PREVIEW

Final five to set Hawks’ fate

By BYRCE SHEIR

Saturday marks the start of the Big Ten playoffs. And no, that’s not a bad thing. It doesn’t have an official bracket, there’s no committee to determine what teams get in, nor does it have any real implications.

But to Iowa defensive coordinator Carl Davis, the Big Ten playoffs are real. Dubbed by defensive coordinator Phil Parker, the general idea is that from here on out, every game is practically a must-win for Iowa.

“This is a whole new season,” Davis said. “It’s the Big Ten playoffs right now. The race to Indianapolis. Every team, they’re going to be tough. From here on out, there are going to be no easy games. Everyone is coming to play, because everyone has to have a first-place finish. Even if Iowa doesn’t win the next five games—which is very possible in the Big Ten championship game—our re-ranking schedule is highly important to earning this season’s ‘conference” or “national’ status.”

Unfortunately for Iowa, the remaining schedule is perhaps the toughest stretch of games the Hawkeyes will face all season.

The next five games on Iowa’s slate are Northwestern, which has defeated Iowa in six of the last nine meetings—Minnesota, second in the Big Ten West, Illinois, a surprising team this season, Wisconsin, which just defeated Maryland, 52-7, and Nebraska, perhaps the best Big Ten West team. All games are pretty much must win from the start of the season, running back Mark Weisman said. “It hasn’t gone the way we’ve planned, I’d say. It never does. You have to go through the ups and downs of a game, a season, you get to bounce back.”

An area of the game Iowa will need to improve defensively is stopping the run, something it hasn’t done the past two games. Against Indiana and Maryland, Iowa allowed 529 yards on the ground. It was a far cry from earlier in the season, when the Hawkeyes were regarded as one of the top run defenses in the Big Ten.

In the first five games of the season, Iowa allowed 466 rushing yards. “Some of the reasons for the tough stretch of games this season were the physicality and hustle in the defensive line. However, linebacker and co-captain Quinn Weather a new season.

“It’s leadership,” he said. “I take full responsibility. I have to continue to stay on those guys and make sure they don’t relax at all. We just have to keep our feet, and keep our focus is all the way from the neck up. It’s all mentality.”

Not so luckily for Iowa, with all returning players in key positions, it has a lot to gain, if nothing but the experience, about the past. There are no clouds over our heads, we’re already staffed.

To this point, Iowa’s season has been considered somewhat of a disappointment. Maybe that’s because of unrealistic expectations, a few bad breaks, or because the team is not as good as previously thought. All of these reasons could and have been debated.

Iowa vs. Northwestern

When: 7:30 Saturday

Where: Kinnick Stadium

Watch: Big Ten Network

For up-to-date coverage of Hawkeye Sports, follow us on Twitter at #IOWH, #SPORTS_DESK