VIDETTE-REPORTER

IOWA CITY, IOWA.

Volume XXIII.

With this issue the VIDETTE-REPORTER enters upon the twenty-third year of its existence. At no time in its history has it confronted a future so bright and promising. Established under a constitution which places the entire responsibility of its publication upon an editor-in-chief, who is responsible for all that appears in its columns, the VIDETTE-REPORTER is now rescued from its formerly homeless condition and placed in the hands of an executive who can take entire credit for its publication, must render an account of his stewardship. The editors have begun this year's work with a rare enthusiasm which promises to continue undiminished throughout the year; and their aim shall be to give the students of the State University of Iowa the best college paper in the west.

The VIDETTE is governed directly by the suffrages of the students, and upon their shoulders rests largely the responsibility of its success. While the editors enjoy the good will and sanction of the Faculty and Board of Regents, they are in no manner governed by them, nor do they depend upon them in any considerable degree for support. First and last, the VIDETTE is the organ of the students.

Every student in the University is not only urged to subscribe for the VIDETTE, but is expected to subscribe, since the paper is not a private concern conducted to enrich the coffers of a particular clique, but is the property of those students who have interest enough in it and the university to contribute to its support. The new constitution establishes a "VIDETTE-REPORTER Association," which is comprised of such students of the collegiate department of the University as are subscribers to the VIDETTE-REPORTER. Where two or more subscribe for the paper in common, the one in whose name the paper is mailed, has the privilege to vote. One copy of the VIDETTE-REPORTER will be sent to any address, for the school year for $1.50; if paid in advance, the subscription price is $1.25.

It shall be our aim to place the VIDETTE-REPORTER at the head of college journalism. This is the only truly college journal in Iowa, and it is furnished to its subscribers for less than one-half the amount charged for the monthlies and bi-monthlies of our colleges. The papers of other institutions yield a larger dividend, while the VIDETTE, by rigid economy, manages to pay for its publication. The editors receive no compensation whatever, and ask only that they receive proper credit for work done and time expended.

Under this management it is evident that we must have the support of the students. Without such support the paper must cease to exist. Aided by the students and the friends of the University in general, the VIDETTE will more effectively represent our institution in the kind and amount of work actually accomplished than any system of advertising can possibly do.

The editors ask your support and solemnly pledge you that their best efforts will be put forth to make the VIDETTE-REPORTER a true representative of the energy and progress manifested in the State University of Iowa.

HARRY E. KELLY,

Editor-in-Chief.

While the student has been busy enjoying himself or otherwise, the Faculty have not been idle and we note many improvements and changes since the close of the spring term. The removal of the engineering department to the first floor of the science building and the occupancy of the second floor by the botanists places Prof. McBride nearer his herbarium and his microscope farther from the jarring of the new thirty horse power engine now being put in place in the northern part of the basement. The entire second floor except one room is now devoted to botanical laboratory, lecture room, thesis rooms, work rooms, and herbarium---"the best and best arranged suite of botanical rooms in the entire west" in the opinion of Prof. McBride. Ten new microscopes will be added very soon to those already in use.

Prof. Calvin has fitted up a convenient room in the basement as a physiological laboratory where from dissection and experiments of various kinds may be carried on. This, together with the walls and cases fifteen new microscopes added to the biological laboratory increases the effectiveness of the department.

The north and west rooms in the basement of the north building have been floored and cleaned. The north room is to be used as an engine and dynamo room. A seven horse power gas engine has been ordered, also some new dynamos. The west room is the battery room and is being fitted with accumulators and cells of various kinds. Lighting and easy access have been secured by deepening the windows and by the construction of a spacious stairway on the north side.

Four thermometers have been received by the Signal Service Station, of which Prof. Velden is the voluntary observer.

The upper floor of the Armory has been divided into two comfortable recreation rooms with offices attached.

The library room was no longer large enough to accommodate the students using it and so a door has been cut in the lecture room adjoining. The lecture room now serves as a reading room and the old library room as a book room simply. A number of other changes have taken place, all manifestly aiming to make our school what it is fast becoming, the college of the west.

The military department of the University opened the 15th inst., according to orders No. 1, and at no time in the history of the institution has the energy of the old men of the various companies been so great, or were there ever seen before so many new men in line at the beginning of a school year. Commander Head has instituted a different manner of drilling the new men than that to which we have been accustomed. Instead of placing the new men immediately in the old companies, they have been divided into squads, which will be drilled until they shall have gained sufficient instruction, when they will be ordered to the companies. This we believe to be a great improvement over the former method, inasmuch as it will depend upon the ability of each new student to grasp the movements and exercises, thus affording a stimulus to strict attention and close observation.

The military staff announce with pleasure that the headquarters of the VIDETTE-REPORTER will be in the west side of the Science Building first floor, in the room formerly known as Prof. McBride's Thesis Room. Office hours from 2 to 3, on Saturdays.

Last night was the occasion of great excitement and pleasure for the Kappa Kappa Gamma in the initiation of two new sisters, Veda Schafer and Jessamine Jones. After they had sufficiently enjoyed the pleasures of initiation and the golden keys were pinned on which unlock the mysteries of Kappa hood, the doors were thrown open to the banquet hall where many delicacies were served, among which was noticeable a token of the goodwill and fraternal greeting of the Phi Delta Thetas. Miss Helen Orton arrived on the evening train, in time to participate in the festivities and add greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The improvements in the Library have attracted much attention since the University opened. New cases have filled the space in the book room formerly occupied by reference tables. These have been placed in the reading room, where they add much to the convenience of students. A plan of the book room, localizing each case and classifying the contents of each shelf, reduces to lowest terms the bother of hunting for books. Under the new regime, under classmen are excluded from the book room except Friday P. M. and Saturday A. M.

A meeting in the interests of Iowa Libraries was held, Sept. 1, in the State Library at Des Moines. Realizing the disadvantages under which they have formerly labored, the leading librarians of the state came together and the result of a most enthusiastic meeting was the organization of The Iowa Library Society a permanent association admitting to membership all persons interested in promoting the object of the society.

The call was signed by the following presidents:

Ada North, State University Library.
Mary H. Miller, State Hospital.
T. S. Parvis, Iowa Masonic Library.
Clara M. Smith, Burlington Public Library.
Clara E. Dwight, Dubuque Public Library.

That our proud situation is slowly but surely realizing its proper standing among our best institutions of learning the following figures plainly show: Total number in the Collegiate Department 250, Law 107, Medical 121, Homoeopathic 40, Pharmaceutical 36, Dental 130, making a total of 740.

It will be our aim to mail the VIDETTE-REPORTER at noon on Saturdays. If we are not on time this week you will pardon us, as there are many obstacles to contend against in publishing this our first issue.

The Constitution of the VIDETTE-REPORTER Association will be published next week.

The editorial staff announce with pleasure that the headquarters of the VIDETTE-REPORTER will be in the west side of the Science Building first floor, in the room formerly known as Prof. McBride's Thesis Room. Office hours from 2 to 3, on Saturdays.

The VIDETTE-REPORTER Association will be published next week.
It is a fact wherein we shrivel fruitlessly. We know only that it draws us with the alinement of becomings, of various manners, of green pastures and still waters.

Why blame the poet for dealing with anything but himself?... If, after all, he should turn out true. What is it, in the great lottery of unknown things, some lucky guess of his should draw the great prize?... Meanwhile his dreams and guesses decorate and cheer our gloomy existence; he puts his life, his character into forms of beauty, and thus bestows on us something as precious, perhaps, if not as positive, as a scientific discovery. It will long remain true, as it is the least inaccessibility of certain supreme summits of thought...)

...in conclusion, that poetry is not to be interpreted as philosophy... on the other hand, that the poet never refrains from the unattained truth, the unimagined beauty. Forever more in his restless head "One thought, two chances, one wonder, at the least..."

"What words in virtue can dignify."

Thus the attitude of the author of "Eulenspiegel" is far from being that of the agnostic thinker. That the poem is for the most part, pitched in the minor key of sadness, is perhaps true. It is sad, it is bad, because taking counsel of his own soul touching the deepest questions, he finds no answer. This inner silence is so appalling and so real, that it takes form and attains utterance:..."

Further for this, as for Dante, the way is marked for all by the gisborne sound of sobbing... Finding no satisfaction within, he turns to Nature, whose fairer aspects... are the picture of strength and beauty, drawn... Only the name of the poem, the thought, one grace, one wonder, at the least..."

"What words in virtue can dignify."

In accordance with the general grade of the University and the demand for more instruction among the several chairs, the regent, during the summer, has received two additional instructors in the university from the schools of LeMars, where he has won a high reputation in the superintendence for his ability and efficiency. He has been a member and an instructor of the Board of Examiners for the past two years, and is now Chairman of the Executive Committee of the State Teachers' Association... He has written papers on the above subject... The work is a great and much needed. He believes that the most prominent public school men of the State, and will receive their hearty support and encouragement in his work, which we believe will become a greater factor in Iowa education.

First Game of the Season.

Last Saturday afternoon witnessed the opening of the "foot ball" season with one of the most interesting practice games ever played by our team. The members of the old eleven challenging any eleven which could be obtained from the whole University, together with the bright warm sunshine, drew out an enormous large crowd. They were well repaid. The picked men were "hunters" and thought the score might be higher, but in the face of the old team, they were compelled to work for point every point they won.

The first forty minutes passed without any score whatever being made. The standers thought for a few minutes that the "regulars" were going to be "scoped," but the superior training of last year's work soon told and in a few minutes a "touchdown" was made from which a "good" was kicked.

The team has not yet been fully re-organized as yet but probably will be some time next week. The boys are busy "sizing up" new men, seeing if this one "is any good" and if that one "can play a little" etc, etc. The influx of so many new students has, as was hoped, brought some good material for the building up of this sport. The men at present have been satisfied with the material at hand because we have, there is no reason why we should not have one of the finest foot balls teams in the country. Even old players are especially anxious to make a short trip west of here before long.

Doings in Blazerdom.

Mr. Brande is an old student and the Vidette Reporter sends him its heartfelt congratulations. Every student of the University should subscribe for the college paper. It is not hoped that all will appreciate this fact, that subscribing for Vidette Reporter is not a matter of 81.25 and a question of duty, of college patriotism. Professor Jameson of the engineering department is very much elated over the accession to his department. Twenty-two young engineers have already joined the entering class. The Engineering Association held its first meeting on Tuesday evening. The Congregational society gave a reception to the students in their church parsons on Tuesday evening, Sept. 16th. The invitation extended to all and was accepted by many, and the time was passed very pleasantly by the students meeting old acquaintances and forming new ones.

Last Monday evening a very pleasant reception occurred at the Christian church. Great preparations had been made to make the social an enjoyable one, and those present freely appreciated the efforts of all. The parsons were beautifully decorated, and during the evening refreshments were served.

The Class of '90.

Helen Orton will pursue a post-graduate course study at Ann Arbor this year.

Miss Carrie Dorr, of '90, who has been spending the summer in Denver, returned home to Des Moines the first of this week.

Willis L. Hall is in Des Moines at present, employed on the Des Moines Leader.

Morris Evans is principal of the schools at Springfield, Iowa.

The following have entered the law department of this institution: Edith Proctor, Ira Orton, John T. Dayly, Cliff R. Musson, Henry W. Techentin.

E. W. Crellin is still at work on the capital grounds at Des Moines.

Joseph M. How is instructor in science at the Iowa City High School.

W. B. La force study medicine in Chicago this year.

Lillian Johnson is employed in the Ottumwa public school.

Kate Legler is employed as assistant principal of the grammar school of this city.

Medical Department.

The department opens with a larger attendance than ever, notwithstanding the fact that the two years course is a thing of the past. Our course is now as thorough as that of any medical college in the country.

Prof. Rockwood was one of the European travelers in quest of additional scientific lore.

Prof. Middleton took a jaunt down through Mexico. He came into the arena smiling last Monday.

Let all juniors take note of the fact that they are to meet at 3:30 p.m., on Monday, for an initiation to the quiz.

Wolfe has returned to his first love after visiting other medical colleges. He was too long for Kookoo or Chicago.

Ponder is now a married man instead of a marrying man, as of old. Lads, form partnerships and govern themselves accordingly.

No changes have been made in the faculty since last year, and those who were strangers to us last year have become like old friends with renewed energy.

Prof. Farnsworth’s failure to appear this week is excusable, on the grounds of enforced absence. He has a new son (in-law). On such a rare occasion we all smoke during the first lecture on materia medica.

During the summer Prof. Peck attended a Medical Congress at Berlin also one at Birmingham and visited London, Paris and other places. We are sorry to note that his health is so poor that he has been unable to open the course of lectures on Surgery this week. We all hope that he may soon recover his accustomed vigor and show his genial countenance in the lecture room and clinical amphitheater.

Prof. Litting spent the entire summer, except for a few weeks, at the Royal Hospital in Vienna. Being a passenger on the ill-fated steamer, City of Paris, he passed through some interesting experiences which he related at his first lecture. When the flag of distress was hoisted at 300 miles from land, the steamer began to form good resolutions and among these was one promising that if the Lord spared him to return he would be more strict with the students in the future.

The Junior class has completed an organization and elected officers for the ensuing year. Your correspondent has not as yet ascertained the names of all the officers, but will report more fully next week. The class numbers among fifty members, four of whom are ladies. Most of the members realize what they are in for have begun work with the “vim” so characteristic in all Medics. One thing certain, however, in order to win the battle all cushions must be dispensed with, lest a showy feeling induces them to indulge in the luxury of a cotton seat.

All must remember that it is next to an impossibility for a Medico to sail through the Medical Department of the U. S. U. on “lowery (cotton) beds of ease.” This may be appreciated more fully after undergoing the grapes and canmish charges of Prof. Litting’s quiz.

The middle years organized last week by electing the following officers: F. E. Sampson, Pres.; C. E. Biggs, Vice-Pres.; E. H. Wilcox, Secy. and Treas., M. J. Kenefick, Editor. At this meeting the following resolution was introduced and unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the barbacous custom of “passing down” Juniors has prevailed in the past, and

Whereas, such practice places the tender Juniors in jeopardy of life and limb, therefore,

Be it Resolved: That our brothers and sisters on the upper rows be permitted to “rote” in peace.

A couple of first years had the uninitiated, unadulterated gall, the monumental rudeness to bring cushions with them Thursday morning to sit upon during lectures. Rohlf and Monroe White led the charge for the cushions and in a few minutes two first years were in the pit with their soft cotton cushions to shred, ghosts of victory and tufts of cotton filled the air when the Prof. of Anatomy appeared upon the scene and sat down—but not on cushions—with a most fraternal feeling.

But Evans’ cushion: What of it?
Ask of the Middle men who far and wide With fragments strewned the pit.

Law Department.

J. B. CROSBY, Editor.

So far only one librarian has been appointed, Mr. G. C. Culkin.

Judge Wright’s lectures on legal ethics are largely attended by both classes. We acknowledge the receipt of our first subscription from Prof. Wamser.

Notes of interest and contribution will be thankfully received any time by the editor.

Mr. Jas. Hart, of Mt. Pleasant, will be with us Monday to resume his studies in the senior class.

Frank R. Miller is plentiful in a $400.00 libel suit against one of the Cedar Rapids papers.

Kozo Ishikawa has gone to Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., to take a course in political science.

C. Crisman, class 39, is now a member of the well-known firm of Crisman & Crisman, Mapleton, Iowa.

J. E. Nagle, of Clarion, Iowa, and A. U. Dennis, of Warner, S. D., are among the latest arrivals in the senior class.

Every possible effort is being made to procure a profession to fill the chair formerly occupied by Prof. Gilman.

We are proud to note the increase of the fair sex in the law department, this year’s being double that of last year, List of places.

At this writing one hundred and eight students are enrolled in both departments, there being fifty-eight juniors and fifty seniors.

We have made an effort to secure the location of every member of the class of 39, and present the following list as the result of our efforts:

W. E. Johnston received the Democratic nomination for Clerk of the Courts of Ida county, Iowa. He has a majority of about 200 to overcome, but will be greatly appreciated by the students.

Four dozen new chairs have been ordered, and will soon be placed in the library. They will cost a large-felt want, and will be greatly appreciated by the students.

Great praise is due Profs. McClain and Wambough for the cheerful manner in which they voluntarily do the work thereby performed by the professors.

We regret to announce the fact that owing to Judge Adam’s precarious condition in fever he will be on Mondays to deliver his course of lectures on domestic relations.

Yet another marriage must we chronicle, but we do so with pleasure. It is that of Ed. M. Neally and Miss Beardsley. No particulars at hand.

Burlington is their place of residence.

We received the following card yesterday:

“Polk & Gilman, Lawyers, 605 Lumber Exchange, Minneapolis, Minn.”

The junior member of the firm was one of the instructors in this department for the last four years.

The large attendance in the senior class may be attributed to the fact that this is the last year students will be admitted without having spent at least ten weeks in study in the junior year in some or other law school classes.

Further graduation in June last, Miss Mary O. Lloyd was united in marriage to J. C. Kennedy, formerly of law school 39, and now city attorney of Sioux City. The sign now reads Kennedy & Kennedy.

Some very important changes have been made in the library since last year. The re-arrangement of books is a great improvement over that of former years. The old, time-worn tables have been replaced by new ones that are remarkably artistic in design and durability.

Of last year’s Junior class, in addition to those who are departing from the S. U. I. formed partnerships as above: S. S. Wright is practicing at Tipton, Ia.; K. P. Perky at Lincoln, Neb.; F. F. Fischer at Spokane Falls, Wash.; Wm. Frien, at Denver, Colo.

Paul F. Harris has been quite ill with malaria ever since the term opened.

The arrangement whereby the Senior lecture room is to be used as a study room during the hours when not used for lecture purposed is most welcome of the new changes.

Fred Gilman, Ll. B., resigned his position as Resident Professor of Law just before the opening of this term. It is needless to say that Mr. Gilman’s resignation was entirely unexpected, even to the other members of the Faculty. For the last three years he has been one of the leading instructors in the Law Department, handling the more intricate subjects of Pleading, Real Property and Procedure, as well as a number of others. None feel his loss more than do the present Senior class, who have received his great practical worth. It gives us pleasure, however, to announce that Mr. Gilman is now a member of one of the best law firms in Minneapolis where he will have ample opportunity to use his vast amount of legal acumen.

The regular annual reception of the Young Men’s and Young Women’s Christian Associations was tendered to the students of the University on last Friday evening in the literary society halls. It has for several years been the custom for theیر delegates from the Christian Associations of the University to bring about an early acquaintance, mutually desiring, between the students of the various classes. This is an entering and laudable way for these organizations to inaugurate their year of good works; and that this is recognized by all is shown by the great and always general attendance. An opportunity to meet the freshmen is always received with pleasure by the upper class men. Especially the second year man eager to meet the ladies of the new class, as it is for them that he has been waiting these many months. And it is but right if he gets in ahead of the freshman, for it was just last Sunday he himself had put up with at the hands of the Sophs a year ago. He also likes the idea of receiving a formal ”knock down” (as initiatory to the
