The foot ball team left Friday night at 10:20 for Kansas City. It was a late hour before they reached Columbus Junction, and later still before they were able to begin their short night's rest in the swinging and swaying upper berths which they were obliged to occupy. They were awakened early Saturday morning and several of them were sea sick from their ride. Others were weak and in bad condition. Manager Chantland estimates their loss of strength and vigor as being at least 40 per cent. It was in this weakened condition that our team lined up against the glowing vitality of the Kansas University men.

The whirling V tells the story for Iowa. It was a revelation to the Kansans, whose efforts against it were unavailing. They heaped their bodies up in front of it in order to stop its accelerating momentum; they attempted to tear it to pieces; they bucked it and jumped on top of it, but like Phoenix rising from the fire, it went through the Kansas team like a Kansas cyclone and insured a substantial gain of ten or twenty yards at every whirl.

Kansas' play was the pounding, bucking, shoving V and it was a powerful one. With a dull crash and a scraping sound of canvas rubbing against canvas, the Kansas team would strike at our solid center with a force which too often was not overcome.

Both teams were sharp and a trick new to either one became old after the first attempt at its execution. For instance, the fake V trick of S. U. I. was immediately discovered by Kansas and the criss-cross of K. U. which gave them a touch-down within two minutes after the opening of the second half, was not attempted again with success.

At 2:40 o'clock the teams lined up in the following order:

S. U. I.	POSITION.	K. U.
Bailey	le	Dobson
Elliott	lt	Jewett
Woolston	lg	Fredericks
Stiles	c	Coleman
Fickes	rg	Huddleston
Sanford	rt	Wendell
Kallenberg	re	Piatt
Pierce	qb	Williamson
German	lhb	Champlin
Ferren	rhb	Kinzie
Larrabee	fb	Hogg

Dave Holbrook was referee and W. H. Bloss, center rush of the Washburn (Kansas) team, was umpire. Iowa had the ball and gave the Kansans a taste of the game which they had never before enjoyed in the shape of the whirling V. German was thrown out for twenty yards. A repetition of this act gained fifteen yards more. In the third rush Kallenberg's left knee and shoulder were so disabled that he had to be carried from the field. Harlan took his place and played a gritty game, though not as scientific as Kallenberg would have played. Kansas now got the ball and used their effective V rush through our center and gained three yards. Two downs without a gain. Champlin gained five yards and made a bad fumble. Sanford broke through the line, got the ball, and with two men on his back, made a gain of about eight yards. Iowa made gains by the pushing wedge, and in the third rush, German, who had the ball, lost it to Kinzie, who made a run down the clear field to the Iowa goal and made the first touch-down. Hogg kicked the goal. K. U. 6; S. U. I. 0. Iowa had the ball and Elliott made a gain of seven yards right through the center. Iowa lost the ball on four downs. Kinzie fumbled and the ball was secured by Stiles in a wild tangle of the two teams. The whirling V again came into play and by slow and steady gains the ball was brought to within seven yards of the Kansas goal. For the final struggle the ball was given to Elliott for a rush through the center. He made it as he always does when it is entrusted to him to do, and carried part of the Kansas team along with him, making the first touch-down for S. U. I. Larrabee kicked goal. 6 to 6. Kansas lost the ball on three downs, but Iowa did not. German and Woolston were tried for end plays, but were downed. German, however, soon made one of the prettiest runs of the game, going through Jewett and Fredericks for forty yards. He slipped and fell, and with a sure touch-down in sight the first half was declared to be over by the shrill sound of the referee's whistle.

Upon resuming play Kansas opened Iowa's eyes by easily scoring a touch-down by means of the criss-cross. No goal. K. U. 10; S. U. I. 6. Ferren and Dobson collided with their heads in the first rush, but both continued in the game with blood-stained handkerchiefs over their wounds. Iowa got the ball and German, aided by the magnificent interference of Bailey and Ferren, made a run of fifteen yards. Kansas got the ball on three downs and bucked the center ferociously, but Stiles stood like a stone wall. Hogg punted and Larrabee got the ball. The whirling V was played again and by a series of rushes Larrabee was pushed over the line for a touch-down and he immediately kicked a goal. Score, S. U. I. 12; K. U. 10. By the wedge Kansas worked Kinzie over the line and as no goal was kicked the score stood S. U. I. 12; K. U. 14. Larrabee caught the ball and with a quick move put it in play, and before Kansas was hardly awake to the play he had the ball within ten yards of their goal, where he was tackled by Fredericks who had been in hot pursuit. Captain Kinzie claimed that the ball was not in play. His objection was not sustained and he withdrew his men from the field within ten minutes of the end of the second half. Play was called and with no interference Bailey made a touch-down, Larrabee kicked his third goal and the game was ended.

NOTES.

The team attended the theatre in the evening and heard Joe Jefferson in "The Heir at Law." They occupied a lower box and were the objects of as much comment as the famous actor of the evening.

The Kansas City Times says: "The honors of the day were carried off by Stiles, Iowa's center rush." "Larrabee, the son of Iowa's ex-governor, gave Hogg an excellent lesson in goal kicking."

Stiles, Elliott and Sanford had no trouble at all in breaking through the Kansas line.

The Journal says that both Fickes and Woolston played a good game at guard, but that Bailey and Elliott were the particular stars of the rush line.

Owing to counter-attractions at the opera houses in the city there were only about 700 people at the game. Expenses, however, were nearly covered. The team feels greatly indebted to Manager Speas for the hospitable manner in which he entertained them.

Credit should be given to Captain Pierce for the success he has attained in coaching and training the team. He has played during the year as quarterback, and has chosen to give to others than himself those plays which distinguish a man in the eyes of the audience. He has played a good hard game all year and much of the team's success is due to his work.

Mr. Kallenberg, too, has been a great help to the team by setting the example of training and hard work before them. He has been unfortunate in receiving injuries at critical times, but has always been enthusiastic in his work and has inspired the men by his presence.

VIDETTE-REPORTER,
Iowa City, Iowa

Entered at the Post Office at Iowa City as second class matter, Sept. 17, 1891.

Our victory at Kansas City is a less surprise to us than to the University of Kansas. Up to Saturday the southern team had played seven games this fall, won them all, and scored 136 points against 36 by their opponents. Kansas had beaten Missouri and Iowa had beaten Nebraska, hence said the Kansas University Courier of last week: "The game between Iowa and Kansas will almost show the strongest team of the four states, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas." We are, therefore, justified in saying that the men are deserving of the highest praise for the victory.

The team's record since the beginning of this term shows five games played and three won. In all the five we have scored 112 points against 68 by our opponents. The showing is good.

Not all the students avail themselves of the opportunities offered by the University library. We shall never know the number of good books there are in the library until we go there and investigate for ourselves. It is personal work and investigation that counts. If we cannot find time to read all the books which we would like to we can at least glance through them and thus become acquainted with the general contents and with the author. We have made a good step in advance if we know where to find a thing. Modern education demands not that we shall know every thing by heart, but rather to be able to find the required knowledge. It is a pleasure to be acquainted with the great minds of the world.

By systematizing our work we will be able to spend at least two hours a day in the library. Every student should do this. It is a good rule, and by spending two hours every day in the library at the end of the year we will be surprised to know how much we have accomplished, not because we have worked so much harder, but because we have systematized our work.

M. H. Lyon, '92, sprained his foot Friday while practicing in the gymnasium.

Jack McCaffrey, formerly of '95, has gone to New Orleans to regain his former health.

S. U. I spirit was up to a high pitch last Saturday evening as was demonstrated by the hearty yells which rent the air when the good news was received from Kansas City.

There will be an important meeting of the Junior Annual Board to-morrow (Wed.) at 3:30 p. m. in Room 4, Central Building. Reports will be expected from each editor, and important business will be transacted. Let every editor be present.

HARL MYERS, Man. Ed.

At the Seminary in Pedagogy last Saturday morning Miss Julia Rogers, '92, with a class of little children illustrated in a practical way the more important methods of primary teachings. Miss Swanson was also present and gave some valuable suggestions on primary teaching.

Mrs. Clara Coe Enlow, whose death occurred about ten days ago at Clarence, Iowa, was a graduate of class '80, and well-known in Iowa City. Her husband, J. S. Enlow, was the valedictorian of the law class of '81 and died in 1884. Since his death Mrs. Enlow has been engaged in teaching and was connected with Epworth Seminary at the time of her decease. Her earnest Christian character made her influence a power for good, and she will be greatly missed and truly mourned.
