In the first inning S. U. I. scored six in scoring seven points before Zinus was put out in trying to steal third. One brought in three runs. Then S. U. I. increased its score by two. In the third Opales lead with a two-bagger and at the end of the inning S. U. I. had three more runs. Neither side scored in the two following, but in the sixth and ninth S. U. I. scored two more, while Coe adds four in the seventh and eighth. Both Zinus and Smith were hit freely which, with the numerous errors were the principal features of the game.

The score by inning was:

S. U. I. | 7 2 3 1 0 0 0 1 0 1 1 4
Coe | 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 1

Struck out, Zinus 5; Smith 2. Two bases hit, Opales.

Freshman-Erodelpbian Program

The audience which assembled Saturday at Erodelpbian Hall to witness the play given by the Freshman-Erodelpbian was fairly good although the really excellent performer among deserved a much larger one.

The program was opened by an exhibition of wax works of a new and original kind. Ethel Charton representing the Gymnast; Grace Budge, the Newspaper Girl; Madele Butler Ruth Cleveland, June Perry, the University Girl; Mary Barrett a new and intelligent kind of wax doll while Elia Hill and Asia were produced in the ancient Greek fashion. After some excellent music by Mr. Toogood, the farce, "A Box of Monkeys" was presented.

The cast could hardly be said in praise of the manner in which the play was presented. Every actor without exception took his part with spirit and a skilful interpretation of the parts.

LocaI Solos:

Max Koechler, '65, spent Saturday and Sunday in his home in Daventry. Hon. Milo P. Smith visited the law department yesterday, and favored the students with a short talk.

Gruss Partridge, '89, who has been studying music in Philadelphia, has returned home for the summer vacation.

James Russor, ex-'94, visiting S. U. I. yesterday. His eyes still could not trouble him, the rest not having had the desired effect.

A serigraph received from President Schaefer yesterday morning announced the safe arrival at Havana of the members of the Bahama Expedition.

Bertha A. Williams '91, who has been spending the last two years in Europe, arrived at her home in the city Saturday evening. She came by way of Chicago where she spent a number of days visiting the World's Fair.

The Diplomatic class will meet five hours a week for the rest of the term, the lectures being in International Law, having closed last Thursday.
The end of the term approaches and as usual students are beginning to add to the regular work by extra preparations for the examinations that are at hand. At least three weeks of every term are made burdensome to students and professors alike, by this system to which all students must submit, irrespective of rank in scholarship. This becomes especially serious in the spring term because of the shortness of the term and because the students are tired with the year’s work.

To grind through a set examination can add nothing to scholarship and the prospect of it is no incentive to work for the better class of students, and the time consumed by it could be expended with real benefit upon regular advance work. Even in the higher grades in the public schools the old system of set examinations is going out of use. Then why retain it in the University where the students are older in years and experience? In other colleges by other modern methods which give better results while necessitating less drudgery. By this time in the term, each professor is obliged to begin regulating his work so that a number of reviews can be given, thus interrupting the advance work and curtailing it to a great extent. The professors are worn out and the great majority of students not materially benefited. So we are hurried in the regular work that time may be found for these reviews and examinations and thus deprived of much we might get out of the work if we went over it more slowly.

It is a well known fact that Dr. Hamilton has been engaged on some time on a biog- raphy of James O. Blaine. The author is Mr. Hamilton's literary executor and has the hearty cooperation of his family. He has known the inner and outer life of the man who was for years a leader in American political and public affairs. He has his papers and correspondence and to her were confided his papers, letters and all his biographical and dramatic efforts. Himself a writer of remarkable power, with a force and vividness of style which are the envy of his literary contemporaries, he undertakes to subject his one character dominating be- hind and other American Biography of the past decades. From the combination of a great subject and a great writer, a great book must result. The impression already manifest ed in the work shows that the demand will be great. It will be issued in one large, extra volume and newly illustrated by the best artists. The exclusive sole for the work for Iowa has been secured by E. W.
