Memorial Day Program.

Thursday evening the annual Zet-Irving Memorial Day program was given at the armory. A fair sized crowd, including the G. A. R. and W.
C., was present. Dean Currier presided.

The first number was a song by a male quartette consisting of Messrs.
Ruggles, Hearst, Kepler and Dorcas.
This was well received, and was followed by a declamation by C. H.
Stemple. Mr Stemple chose for his subject Ingersoll's "Dream of the War." He possesses an excellent voice and entered well into the spirit of his piece, but was several times embarassed by lack of memory. The production was well received by the audience, as it deserved.

The next production was a speech by J. G. McAlvin. This was clearly and systematically written, the subject being "Our Heritage." Mr. Mc-Alvin dwelt upon the constant struggle for liberty, its attainment by the Revolutionary War, its preservation by the boys in blue in the "sixties," and our own inestimable privilege and duty in maintaining this priceless heritage, ending with a glowing tribute to those who had so honorably maintained its integrity in the past.

After the quartette had favored the audience with another selection, R.
Dunlap delivered the oration of Hon.
R. G. Cousins on "Grant." The attention of the audience was held from beginning to end by the gentleman's fine interpretation of this masterpiece of oratory from one of Iowa's own sons. No one who heard the selection could fail to be impressed with the character and genius of our greatest general.

The last literary number was a speech, "Taps," by C. S. Aldrich. He said: "The Grand Army of the Republic has performed a most noble work. It has been tried and not found wanting by a war the most terrible the world has ever seen. But slowly the boys are dropping out.
One by one they fall by the wayside.
Taps will soon be sounded, and the last light go out. All honor to old soldiers while they are yet with us."

After a final song by the quartette the audience dispersed, well pleased by the effort the Societies had made to pay honor to the boys in blue.

The victory of John V. Crum at Berkley Oval, by which he is champion of America, is the cause of great rejoicing. The state will be honored by sending such a representative to measure strength with the best athletes of England for the championship of the world. He is a typical Iowan. Though not quite twenty-one and almost boyish in appearance, he is independent, ambitious, a hard and persistent worker and an honorable, self-respecting and high-minded gentleman. He is a first-class student and has no taint of the objectionable characteristics of sporting circles. He belongs to a fine family, is a member of a well-known fraternity, and is irreproachable socially. He owes his success to excellent training, conscientious effort and an indomitable spirit. The University is proud of his success and all Iowa joins in the sentiment.—Republican.

Our Team at Chicago.

The team which is to take part in the Western Mott Haven Meet in Chicago to-day, left for there Thursday evening, and is made up of the following men: Crum and Van Epps in the runs, Bloom and Garrison bicyclists, and Allison, the walker. The Chicago papers, in mentioning several speedy men, among them an alleged 94-5, and several 10 second men, give Crum the 100 and 220 yard dashes, and Whitley the 440 yard run. Our bicycle men are not included in their list of winners, but if Garrison or Bloom show the speed they did here on home field day, some points may be looked for in that event. A protest was entered against Crum again, on the charge that he ran for gate receipts against Collins, which charge he will have no trouble in clearing himself of, as he carried with him a large number of affidavits from prominent business men and students.

Zetagathian.

It is difficult to draw the audience now when the heat is so oppressive to witness a literary program, and the societies have not been well patronized for some time. The Zet program last night was as usual creditable.

Mr. Hanson opened in a declamation "Massachusetts on South Carolina." He displayed as usual a marked oratorical ability, and did quite as well in this senatorial production as would be expected of the winner of the oratorical contest.

The debate followed on the question, "Resolved, that the Bible should be excluded from the public schools." Affirmed by Moon and Carpenter, and denied by Hurst and Rowel. The debate was spirited, though the suddenness of the preparation had a marked effect. The subject was not thoroughly discussed on account of lack of time, but the debate was interesting.

Mr. Hurst followed in an oration on "The Triumph of Civilization," which was well written and delivered.
Extemporaneous speeches were made by Guthrie, Dunlap and Dorcas, all of which were good, and showed the superior training which is a characteristic of the Zets, especially in this line.

This closes the exhibitions in Zet hall till next fall. Since last September there has been almost an unbroken line of victories in contests, oratorically and debating, accredited to this Society. It is striking to what extent this has been true in the past, as proven by the history of the Society for years. Since a year ago last winter the Zets have entered six contests, five of which have resulted in victories for them and four unanimous victories. This year they have won three out of four contests, and lost the fourth by one point. No organization has more justifiable cause for feeling proud of their record, and no organization in the University has a better prospect of continuing it.

Yale's new Law school building is one of the finest and best among the structures of its kind in the United States. It is entirely paid for by money raised by Dean Wayland, who has worked most energetically to secure this building for Yale. The main dimensions are 73 feet by 88 feet. It is three stories high and is brick. In its interior arrangements the building is by far the most convenient, and its decorations are much the richest and most costly of any structure connected with the university.

The trustees of Baker University have made military drill compulsory for all able-bodied male students below the junior class. The drill can be elected for certain studies, one year's drill being equivalent to one term's work. We think this a move in the right direction and have often wondered why college authorities give so little heed to physical development of the students under their guidance.
Compulsory physical education is creeping into a few of the Eastern colleges, but as a rule it is unknown.
Students need guiding, restraint and compulsion in physical development as well as in mental. If left to themselves the ones so inclined by nature are apt to carry it too far and devote too much time so athletics, while those who need such training the most will neglect it almost entirely.
The well-rounded, fully developed man that American colleges are striving to produce can never be realized until physical development becomes a definite part of the education.—Advance.

Almost Ripe.

The college graduate is getting ripe now and will be picked in June with the other roses. He is writing or committing his "piece," reciting it in the woods or before a mirror, sticking in the gestures, or training that lock of hair on his intellectual brow. She is getting her sewing done; is to have a white gown, puff sleeves, pink sash, frizzes, roses in her belt, a high comb and flowers in her hair. The frost didn't cut down the prospective succulent alumnus or alumna.—Washington Press.

The Press is behind the times. All that is relegated to the past. The whole thing is accomplished by proxy.
A celebrity is engaged to deliver the oration. All the graduates have to do is to stand up in cap and gown of sombre hue and receive the bit of sheep skin that is due. This leaves the weeks that once were devoted to such old-fashioned uses as Mr. Burrell describes free for training in athletics or "sewing" an improved "cycling" costume which is entirely devoid of pink ribbons and a stranger to roses except such as bloom on the cheek.
These "succulent" young alumni are rather an interesting and enviable lot still. Whether the "new graduation" is an improved method or only a fad to pass away, time will tell.—

In Memoriam.

The members of the Law class of '96, of the State University of Iowa desire to express their deep regret and sorrow at the death of their classmate, J. E. Kerr, late of Grundy Center, Iowa.

We had learned to know him as a faithful student, a warm friend, an agreeable companion and a noble gentleman.

By his death his family has lost a worthy son and brother, an ardent co-laborer; his country a noble and loyal citizen.

In this hour of sad bereavement we desire to extend to his family our heartfelt sympathy and condolence.

Walter Camp's Resignation.

The Yale News has the following coming from Mr. Camp:

"My resignation is not in any way connected with this present excitement. I resigned because I felt that I had done my share for foot-ball and was entitled to be a spectator and rest in peace for awhile. I like the game, but I don't like quarrels. I wasn't here through the season at all last fall, so I can't comment fairly on any troubles arising out of the Harvard-Yale game. When I came back here in December I found everybody hot about it. I have always found Dr. Brooks very straight and square, and was at loss to understand many of the things I heard. I decided to resign when I found that the arduous task of revising the rules must all be gone over again this year, feeling that it would require more time and energy than I could afford to devote to it.

With regard to the present situation I have nothing to say except that certainly, unless some peacemaking is done, another game between the two teams might do as much harm to foot ball as the last one seems to have done."

Entered at the Iowa City Post Office as second class matter.

The Northwestern falls over itself in its haste to apologize for accusing Professor Trueblood, of Michigan, of spending the day previous to the Northern Oratorical League contest in the same hotel with the judges in this city. The editor of the Northwestern should have exercised a little more judgment before he made his accusations and no apology would have been needed. Those who are over hasty in finding an opportunity to make some accusation are invariably being forced to a humiliating apology. Northwestern, as well as every other institution in the League should only regret that they are not fortunate enough to have such a man connected with their institution as Professor Trueblood, whose interest in the success of his pupils is such as to warrant him accompanying them on their trips.

Grinnell also Rejoices.

The following is clipped from Wednesday's Scarlet and Black:

"The news of Crum's victory at Berkely Oval Saturday was almost as much a source of gratification to Grinnell as to Iowa City. When the news came a hundred or so with the three Iowa City men who were here gathered in the park, and yells of Haw! Haw! Haw! Hi! Hi! Hi! and cheers for John V. Crum, winner of the hundred, and two-twenty, at Mott Haven, alternated. We do not wish to take away the glamour of the glory that hangs over the University of the State at Iowa City to-day, but we do claim a share in that glory because, although he belongs first to S. U. I. he belongs to Iowa too."

The S. U. I. Republican Club met at Close Hall last night and elected officers for the coming year as follows: President, W. T. Evans; Vice-President, S. C. Smith; Recording-Secretary, M. H. Kepler; Corresponding Secretary, G. C. Lawrence; Treasurer, H. W. Hanson; Delegate to National League, F. H. Noble.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free, F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

"Johnson's Universal Cyclopaedia is a part of the necessary furniture of every home, school and office, and it is the greatest and best work ever published in this country or Europe. We have had the pleasure of examining this work, of which we have read so much, and have been led to expect a great deal, and we will state right here that it is certainly appalling to see the great amount of information it gives; the extensive number and variety of subjects not embraced in any other cyclopaedia ever published; of living and thrilling interest to every reader in all the varied walks of life, from the ordinary schoolboy to the greatest statesman and the most renowned philosophers and scientists in this and every other country. We state only a fact when we say that there has been better talent and more of it engaged upon this cyclopaedia than upon any other ever published in any country. We state a fact again when we say that this work has cost the publishers, A. J. Johnson Co., of New York, more money than any other similar work extant.

"A library, however elaborate otherwise, would be barren and incomplete without it. A college, an academy, or a public school, deprived of this prolific source of knowledge, must ever remain in the rear of those thus properly equipped. The family reared without any such advantageous instruction must take its place in society in a lower scale of intelligence than that which has had daily access to treasures of knowledge. In a word, all professions, occupations, and all spheres of society in the present age demand a book of universal reference—a want created by the habit of general reading and the spirit of universal inquiry. We conclude, therefore, by awarding to Johnson's Universal Cyclopaedia the merit of truthfulness, of unbiased fairness, of comprehensiveness, of inexpensiveness, and believe it to be fully abreast of the times and that it eminently meets the wants of the period."—Prin. Normal School.

TESTIMONIALS.

From Thomas Wentworth Higginson, Cambridge, Mass.:

It seems to me to be greatly transformed and improved. For Americans it is altogether the best Cyclopaedia now accessible.

From Wm. T. Harris, Commissioner, Department of the Interior, Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C.:

A great merit of the Cyclopaedia from the beginning has been that its articles were prepared by specialists, each in his own department. The new edition is a decided advance in cyclopaedia-making. A set of this work ought to be found in the hands of every teacher and in every school-house, and the pupils ought to be taught how to use it.

From Hon. Ainsworth R. Spofford, LL. D., Librarian of Congress, Washington, D. C.:

Johnson's Universal Cyclopaedia is found to answer more questions satisfactorily than any other reference work in the Library of Congress.

CYCLOPEDIA REVISION (?)

Davenport principals and others endorse what Professor Stratton has to say in regard to the so-called revised (1892) edition of the "International Cyclopaedia." From Prof. F. E. Stratton, A. M., Ph.

D., Principal of the Davenport, Iowa, High School.

DAVENPORT, IA., Jan. 8, 1892.

M. T. BROWN, Esq.: Dear Sir—I have examined the so-called revised edition of the "International Cyclopaedia," and compared it with corresponding volumes in previous editions of that work. I find that many of the changes consist in simply cutting out enough of the original matter to allow the supplement to be brought in to the body of the present work, and still keep the pages as they were before.

In some instances where a part of an article is rewritten the purpose seems to be to fill a certain space on the page, so that the old plates can be used for subsequent pages, rather than because the writer was impelled by a desire to furnish new matter. The uplifting of the old article, originally in "Chambers' Cyclopaedia," with the new, added for Alden's "Library of Universal Knowledge," with nothing to distinguish the former from the latter article, is of doubtful utility.

The omitting of the new and retaining the old verbatim, as is done in some instances, is surprising.

The late statistics appear to be confined almost entirely to the population as given in 1890. Some of the dates are correct in the old edition and wrong in the revised. Occasionally valuable matter that appeared in the former edition is left out in the new. Respectfully, F. E. STRATTON.

We have examined the two editions of the "International Cyclopaedia," and fully endorse what Prof. Stratton has said in regard to the revision:

From Prof. J. E. Lucker, Prin. of the Tipton, Ia., High School, who exchanged his International, 1892 edition, in part pay for the New Johnson.

TIPTON, IA., June 5, 1894.

MR. M. T. BROWN, 1708 Grand Ave., Davenport, Iowa: My Dear Sir—I have shipped you this day, well boxed, the set of International Cyclopedias. At present I am so busy I cannot look up the blunders in the International, referred to in my former letter, but, may at some future time. The Johnson's is a cyclopaedia an honest man can recommend. It is just what is claimed for it. Very truly, J. E. LUCKEY.

The new Johnson can be secured on easy monthly payments, or older Cyclopedias very cheap, if preferred to the new Johnson. Address, Manly T. Brown, Supt. Johnson's New Cyclopaedia, 1708 Grand Ave., Davenport, Iowa.
