THE SENIOR SOCIAL.

"CHERRY SISTERS" GIVE A CHARMING ENTERTAINMENT.

The "Cherry Sisters" appeared in Iowa City, last evening, in the Old South Building Roof Garden. The theatre was filled with Seniors and their friends who had received special invitations. The boxes and dress circle were filled with the select of the class, and even the gallery was crowded.

After the opening selections the wire netting was stretched across the stage to protect the actors from odorous vegetables and rubbers.

The "Sisters" even eclipsed their former appearances in Iowa City, and the audience was visibly moved by the pathetic selections, only to give place to shrieks of laughter at the humorous numbers. Clever hits and roasts were meted out to popular Seniors.

After the entertainment many of the audience remained to meet the "Sisters," and partake of the refreshments that had been prepared. The committee has been at great expense in getting both "Sousa" and the "Sisters," and such a combination produced an effect seldom equalled.

"Professor" or "Mr."

Considerable diversity is manifest among the students at the University as to the titles that should be used in addressing their instructors. The proper names are certainly prescribed both by college tradition and the University Catalogue, and the tendency to confusion of titles is due to a slight looseness of the old students, and to the uninformed or perhaps unimpressed state of the new students.

A full understanding as to what constitutes the proper appellations would, we believe, be pleasing and beneficial to both instructors and students. The occupant of a chair in the University of Iowa is surely not to be blamed if he flushes a bit at a callow undergraduate's dubbing him "Mister." A young instructor with cultured sensibilities may be expected to entertain a full appreciation of a student's interest in addressing him as "Professor." How painful to the perpetrator must have been the realization of the dense ignorance exhibited by the student who, in search of a certain instructor, inquiringly gushed to a professor of many year's standing: "Oh, mister (Professor), do you know where Professor (Instructor) is?"

People like to be called by their right names. The title of professor is bestowed by cultured people only upon those who have earned it. The common consent of educated persons has decreed that music teachers, montebanks, teachers in secondary schools, aeronauts, horse trainers, artists from Paris, and the like, have no valid claim to the title of "Professor." Few intelligent persons manifest a desire to belong to such a noble array of professors by brevet. Especially in a University town, a student may cause much needless annoyance by wrong use of the titles of address.

By the traditions of the elders and the dictum of the University catalogue, professors and assistant-professors are entitled to be called "Professor." An Instructor, Fellow, Demonstrator, or Assistant, is to be addressed as "Mr." When a professor or instructor in the possession of a doctor's degree, he may be addressed by the appellation of "Doctor."

The members of the Faculty that have doctor's degrees have their individual preferences as to the word of address. As far as we have been able to learn, a majority of them prefer the title of "Professor." Instructors equally honored with the doctoral degree will usually prefer the title of "Doctor." But in such cases the student has a clear option as to which title he shall use. He cannot go far wrong here.

A little reflection will convince any student that these considerations are founded upon good grounds, and that politeness and respect for college tradition and authoritative dictum will recommend care in the use of "Professor" and "Mr."

The oratorical contestants met and chose the following men to be judges on thought and composition. Reverends Robert MacIntyre and Frank Gunsaulus, of Chicago; Hon. Robert Cousins, Washington, D. C.; Professor Frank Noble, of the English department at Grinnell; and Miss Florence Mitchell, of Cornell College. Substitutes—Professor Dodge, of the English department of the State University of Illinois; Hon. J. B. Dolliver, Washington, D. C.; and Hon. Beveridge, Senator of Indiana.

The saurian received from Kansas not long ago is called Platycarpus coryphaens, Cope. It is a fine specimen, measuring about fifteen feet long, and with the lost parts, would probably have measured twenty feet in length. It will not be open to inspection for some time, when it will be placed in a case in the hall on the first floor of the Science building.

$100 Reward. $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Charley E. Blaney has been responsible for a number of funny skits, but his best is said to be "A Hired Girl," which will be seen next Saturday night, at the Opera House. The piece is a satire on the servant girl question, but there is also a well defined plot which brings out the troubles of a German professor of music at Vassar, who had foolishly contracted a secret marriage before coming to this country. Having been wrongly advised that his wife was dead, he married again, and thereby places himself in the hands of an unprincipled schemer who had been his chum at college. The hired girl helps him out of some of his difficulties, but succeeds in involving him in many more. Among the leading members of the company are Chas. F. McCarthy, as the "Girl;" Edith Murilla, Gus Pixley, Lillian Maynard, John R. Cumpson, Mat Reagan, Shumon Sisters, and the now famous Page Sisters, accompanied by their band of pickanninies.

J. C. Monnett, C. '02, is meeting with a large degree of success in his practice of law at Langdon, North Dakota. An extract from the Cavalier county (N. D.) Republican, reads as follows: "An order from the supreme court of the state has been received by Attorney J. C. Monnet reversing the decision and vacating the judgment of the district court, in the case of Alvah P. Webster vs. John McGauvran, as sheriff. This is the fourth consecutive case wherein Mr. Monnet has appealed to the supreme court and reversed the decision of the district judge. It is something unusual for an attorney to secure so many consecutive reversals from the decision of the same court."
