THE CHICAGO GAME.

COMMENTS FROM LEADING NEWSPAPERS AND FOOTBALL COACHES.

"The game was practically a victory for Iowa. Losing the chance to kick goal was on a technicality. In the second half the ball was in Chicago's territory. Iowa won because of thorough team work. Chicago could not tackle. Iowa was superior in everything but punting."—Dr. Knipe Iowa Coach.

"Taking everything into consideration, Chicago did quite well. The defense was all right excepting one or two of those end plays. On offense the men did well, considering they only one day's practice. Iowa has a strong team. They tackle well."—A. Alonzo Stagg, Athletic Director, University of Chicago.

DES MOINES LEADER

Chicago, Ill. Oct. 7.—(Special).—The football team of the University of Iowa practically defeated the University of Chicago in a tied game today, the final score being 5 to 5. Iowa demonstrated her superiority over Chicago in all points, and a number of unfortunate accidents was all that kept Iowa from making a larger score. Chicago played upon the defensive through the entire game, and the light backs of old gold eleven carried the ball repeatedly through the beef and brawn of Chicago.

It took Chicago eighteen minutes to make her first and only score on a twenty-five-yard kick by Henry.

After ineffectual attempts to break through Iowa's line or round her end Chicago punted and Iowa received the ball five yards from goal, but lost it on a offside play. Here occurred the finest rally of the game. In two downs Chicago carried the ball within two feet of the Iowa goal, but the Hawkeyes held firm on the last down, and Griffith punted out thirty yards. After two downs with no gains, Henry made place kick.

It took Iowa five minutes thereafter, by repeated line smashes, a twenty-five run by Morton, and lastly a fifteen yard run by Edson, to make her touchdown. On the punt out from goal, Edson failed to heel the catch, and the score was 5 to 5.

In the second half the ball was never outside of Chicago's territory, except in the first five minutes after the kick-off. Iowa's light backs went through Chicago's line and around the ends for repeated gains, but Chicago succeeded in evening matters by kicking when she could get the ball. Five minutes before the end of the game the ball was in Iowa's hands four yards from Chicago's goal, but the latter made a desperate rally, held three downs and sent Hamill, now desperate, through the Iowa line for three gains, and the game ended with the ball on Chicago's forty-yard line. Chicago was unable to use Kennedy on account of his bad knee, but Iowa had Middleton out with a broken shoulder, and Griffith and Williams left the game in the second half, owing to badly sprained ankles received two weeks ago.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Chicago's goal was in constant danger all during the second half and only the sturdiest defense a line of the capability of Chicago's could put up, saved the Maroons from having the defeat registered against them. Iowa started too late and when it got dark Chicago began trying for end runs, hoping one of the backs, Hamill or Henry, could manage to elude the Iowa ends and score, but they came dangerously close twice, the alert ends of Hawkeye team nailed them and the game closed a tie so far as figures go, but a victory for Iowa so far as the honors of the game are concerned.

CHICAGO TIMES-HERALD.

In the West the most striking feature of the contest was the tie between the University of Chicago and the University of Iowa. Critics had expected a fairly close score, but that the maroons should practically be defeated was not even dreamed of. In fact, the only man whose thoughts seemed to be running in that direction was Coach Stagg himself. The game over, Stagg's fears were more than realized, and the Hawkeyes left with what virtually constituted a victory.

It was the running open plays, those which delight the grand stand that won praise and almost the game for Iowa. Solid interference, formed by placing nine men on the side of the line, let Morton and Edson get started on several occasions for long gains. Twice Morton eluded the left side of Chicago's line, and sprinted forty yards before he was caught Edson did the same trick and was downed by Holste away back of the line.

PENN GAME.

TAKES THE PLACE OF THE DRAKE
GAME OCTOBER 14TH.

The football game with Penn College scheduled for October 11th, at Iowa City has been postponed by the Board of Athletic Control to October 14th, to take the place of the Drake game which held that date until Drake's manager cancelled the game immediately after the Holland decision by the Rules Committee. This leaves a light term after the Chicago game until the Rush Medical game the 21st. It is possible that a game with Notre Dame may be arranged to take place somewhere in the interval.

U. I. U. on Holland.

In a recent issue of the VIDETTE-REPORTER, the S. U. I. paper, the Holland (Drake) case of professionalism was reviewed.

If Holland is a professional, his sentence is just and he should forever be barred from participating in amateur athletics. However if there is a possibility of his innocence and there seems to be some doubt as to his guilt, he should be reheard, for two reasons: First as it stands now the honor of Drake University is under a cloud, and second, Holland, if a professional, by participating in the State Field Meet, acted a lie, and a man's reputation once gone is gone forever. If Drake and her athletic backers are using professionals to further their ends, why give it to 'em, but justice, not spite, should govern our actions.

Drake certainly is acting the baby by severing all athletic relations with Grinnell and S. U. I. However, we hope to see the latter named colleges struggle along. They doubtless will manage to exist as they did for years before Drake University gained prominence in athletics.—U. I. Collegian.

S. U. I. LECTURE COURSE.

REVIEW OF THE PROSPECTUS OF THE LECTURE BUREAU.

The annual announcement of the S. U. I. Lecture Bureau for the year 1899-1900 was issued the latter part of last week. The lecture bureau in presenting it, addresses the faculty and students of S. U. I. and the citizens of Iowa City:

"In presenting this year's course we wish to call attention especially to some important changes which we have made in the method of management. In response to a general demand we have secured two excellent musical numbers instead of one, and have done this without decreasing the number of lecturers. It will be readily seen by referring to our list of attractions that we have the strongest course of musicals and lecturers ever offered to an Iowa City audience."

The course offered is—Russell H. Conwell, October 28; Fadettes Woman's Orchestra, November 16; Rev. Robt. McIntyre, December 7; George Kennan, January 24; Temple Quartette Concert Co., February 18; Prof. J. B. DeMotte, March 8.

The musical numbers of the courses have always been appreciated by the bureau's patrons and the course this year makes an excellent provision for two musical numbers by the Temple Quartet of Boston and by the Fadettes Woman's Orchestra.

"The Temple Quartet of Boston," says the bureau,— "is unquestionably at the head of American male quartettes, the best in the world. Of all similar organizations it is the best known and most popular throughout the entire country, and this statement in no wise disparages the fine work of several well-known and justly popular quartettes. The Temples are a veteran organization, the oldest in the country, and the high standard they set for themselves at first has never been lowered. The club is today prepared to do the best work of its career and will retain its high position in popular favor."

"The Fadettes Woman's Orchestra of Boston, Mass., is at once the representative, unrivaled and unequalled organization of America's young women musicians. They proudly point to ten years of phenomenal success, from a practical business standpoint, on musical lines, and are now, as always, under the direction of Mrs. Caroline B. Nichols, an able and artistic leader, who has brought the orchestra to its present high position in the musical world. They command the highest commendation and endorsement from the most captious critics, who pronounce them "The Woman's Orchestra par excellence." Each player is an artistic professional musician and soloist, and under skillful direction the result is every where apparent in the splendid ensemble and brilliant rendering of programs that comprise both classical and popular selections."

Russell H. Conwell has been one of the most popular lecturers at western Chautauqs and lyceums for years. "Although he is not an old man, Mr. Conwell has been in the lecture field more than thirty years, during which period he has delivered here and abroad over three thousand lectures. He is today one of America's most popular platform speakers and almost the last of the stars who made the platform brilliant in the days of Gouch, Beecher and Chapin. He is in constant demand in all parts of the country and cannot respond to one-half the calls he receives. His large income from his lectures has been wholly devoted to the benevolent work of educating the poor. Mr. Conwell has for many years supported the "Conwell Academy" in Worthington, Mass., for the free education of young people fitting for college."

George Kennan and Robert McIntyre are popular in Iowa City, both famous lecturers having appeared before in Iowa City.

The VIDETTE-REPORTER of Nov. 30th, 1897 says of Kennan's lecture on the Mountains and Mountaineers of the Concories, "The audience paid the closest attention to the narratives of one of the few men who have visited these as yet unknown regions. The speaker was not oratorical but by his straight forward yet extremely pleasant manner of relating his own experiences and observations, he thrilled his hearers by the tale he told, without oratorical effort."

Prof. J. B. De Motte gives his illustrated lecture, the last of the course, on March 8th. He has three famous lectures all profusely illustrated and appears to be accomplishing a vast amount of good on the lecture platform. Dr. G. Walter Barr, the Iowa author, says of him in the Keokuk Constitution-Democrat:

"His character may be summed up in the words: great acumen, wonderful diplomacy, supernatural ability to read men and women at sight, the scientific spirit which abhors carelessness and inaccuracy, intense love of family and friends, philanthropy limited only by the lack of desire to be helped, depth of philosophy of the German school and the breath of knowledge and view which come from his early struggles and vicissitudes."

Fall Field Meet.

The fall field meet which will be held at Athletic Park next Friday afternoon promises to furnish some excellent sport. There are a number of men in the University this year who have made records in high schools and else where which compare favorably with our University records. These men are likely to set a pace for older members of the track team which it will be difficult for them to follow. The event which arouses most interest is the relay race. This is a new departure and is substituted for the mile walk which was thrown out by the State Inter-Collegiate Association last spring. The teams will be composed of the different classes. Any class of any department being eligible to enter a team. The points will count the same as for any other event multiplied by four. Entries for any event may be left with J. G. Griffith, C. A. Brown or at the Secretary's office at Close Hall.

Our Team's Fortune.

The practical winning of Saturday's game with Chicago firmly establishes Iowa's position as a competitor for the Western Championship. Now that we have proven our ability to more than hold our own in contest with one of the first teams in the country, it will be doubly difficult for us to win our games with other Universities and Colleges during the remainder of the season. Every team that meets us will play to the limit of their endurance and ability to score against the first team that tied Chicago in 1899. Our home goal has not been crossed this year, and the team is determined if possible to prevent such an occurrence. From the Penn game next Saturday till the final battle with Illinois on Thanksgiving day will be the severest struggle in the history of an Iowa football team. The schedule is a heavy one, comprising as it does with Ames, Grinnell, Rush, Nebraska and Knox, all of whose teams have been able to hold their own against us in numerous preceding years and with Illinois as yet an untried foe.

We can have little doubt of the final issue however, when the splendid work of Saturday fresh in our memory. The causes of our present success are not far to seek. With the impetus given to football enthusiasm by the victories of the latter part of last season, everybody, townsmen, students, faculties and management have been encouraged to work with an energy more than ordinary for the success of this year's team and, let us hope, the beginning of permanent success for Iowa. Early and persistent training under Coach Knipe, fully in sympathy with the best and newest ideas in football combined with forty earnest candidates for the eleven has done the rest. That our team, not relying to much on past success, will continue to improve and vanquish its rivals, we remain confident.

The Lecture Course.

A notice of the lecture course for 1899-1900 appear in another column. The Bureau announces that this year it has adopted a system of reserving tickets to entirely obviate all the inconvenience and waste of time attendant upon the system formerly in vogue. Season tickets will be reserved for the whole course.

The method of reserving will be as follows:

The holder of the season ticket will present it to be reserved. In return for it he will receive an envelope containing one reserved seat ticket to each of the six entertainments of the course. This envelope will be sealed and labeled "one reserve." Neither the management nor the holder of the ticket knows what seats these tickets entitle him to until he opens the envelope, but both may be certain of this much: 1. That his seat will be in a different part of the house at each of the six entertainments; 2. That his seats for the six entertainments will average as good in point of location as these held by any person in the audience. In a like manner two or more season tickets may be reserved together, holder receiving a sealed envelope labeled "two reserved," containing tickets for two adjacent seats for each of the six entertainments. All season tickets will be reserved in this way and the best seats in the house will be given. The reserving will occur at a time and place which will be fixed later.

The method insures fair play to all and injustice to none. This improvement will, we dare say, meet the instant approval of the patrons of the bureau.

Anything that does away with the old frost-biting cold-catching standing-in-line system in vogue in past years is a mark of progress. We believe that Secretary Converse and his associates are to be congratulated upon this idea.

"Musical Union."

The first rehearsal of the Musical Union for the production of Handel's "Messiah" will be held Wednesday, Oct. 11th, at 7:30 p. m., Auditorium of Close Hall. All who wish to join this Grand Chorus, please be at the first rehearsal. We wish to have 124 singers.

The State Press office contributed to the enthusiasm Saturday night by blowing its steam whistle for an hour or two while the bonfires were blazing and the President was ringing the University bell.

Miss Leyde, the physical director of the Y. M. C. A. will be at the Ladies' reception room at Close Hall all day Wednesday to give physical examinations to all those who wish to enter the classes.

One of the most knavish acts of petty larceny ever known in University circles was committed by a student at Close Hall Monday morning. The account of the Chicago-Iowa football game was cut from one of the daily papers.

Max Mayer has very generously presented the members of the football team wish silver headed canes in honor of the Chicago game. Coming as they do from one of Iowa's leading athletic supporters, they are much appreciated by the team.

W. Y. Dilley, L. '99 is in the city visiting friends. Mr. Dilley landed in New York, October 3, after spending the summer traveling in England, Ireland and on the Continent. He left W. C. Barclay, C. '98 in London about the middle of the summer. From there Mr. Barclay took a trip through Scotland on a bicycle, and is now taking a similar trip in Russia.

About eight o'clock Saturday evening the celebrating procession of students marched out College street to President MacLean's. The students built a bonfire out of some loose cement-laying apparatus about the place, the President made a rousing speech interspersed with cheers for Knipe and all the boys, and the jubilation ended with the students marching through the house to shake hands with the President.

The Review of Reviews for October contains the first complete account of the remarkable Hearst architectural competition for the University of California, which came to an end September 7 with the award of a first prize of $10,000 to the eminent French architect, E. Benard, and of four other prizes amounting to an equal sum to American competitors. The article in the Review, which was written by Mr. H. S. Allen, of San Francisco, is illustrated with perspective view of the prize plans, a portrait of Mrs. Phebe Hearst, whose munificence made the competition possible and portraits of the distinguished architects who served on the jury of award.
