 Iowa City, Iowa

Entered at the post office as second class mail matter, October 11, 1901.

With this issue THE DAILY IOWAN starts Volume Three. That the University of Iowa can support a daily has been proven. It has passed the experimental stage and from now on should aim at perfection. The new management will spare neither time nor money to make this a successful year, but to do it we need the help of all, student body, faculty and townspeople.

The saddest thing in college life is the fact that the same crowd never meets twice. Those who are on the campus today miss many familiar faces. It makes one a little lonesome, as he thinks of the new friendships to be formed and doubts if they can ever be as good as the old ones. Several of the instructional staff, whom we knew and honored last year are gone. To Dean Boerner, Judge Wade, Professor Richards, and Professor George, THE IOWAN speaking for the student body, wishes them the best of success in their new fields. Their places have been filled by able men and when that edge-wise feeling wears off, we will give them all the loyalty we rendered the old.

It is with pleasure that the returning students have marked the material prosperity as shown by the new buildings and the acquirement of more land. While buildings and grounds do not make a great university, they are essential to the complete and adequate development of an ideal institution of learning.

It may be all sentiment but some how the new miniature fire gongs do not appeal to one like the old bell on Central. It may be a necessity. But it can never appeal to one, who years afterwards dreams and lives over his college days again, like the old bell. We are glad that its mellow tones will be heard at least once a week.

This issue of THE IOWAN will reach many who may not have been on our subscription list. Read the paper carefully for a week and if you do not like it, it will cost you nothing. If you do give us your subscription and your loyal support.
