STATE NORMAL GAME

BIG EXCURSION COMING TOMORROW

State Normal Team Will Bring Many Rooters

The State Normal team will bring many rooters with it tomorrow. An Excursion will be run from Cedar Falls and Waterloo. More excursionists will join the train at Cedar Rapids and another excursion will be run from Davenport.

The State Normal team is reported as much encouraged over the prospects Saturday because of Iowa's low score against Coe.

It is more than likely that the game tomorrow will be played at the fair ground as it will be impossible to get Iowa field in shape for the game. At present the field is a sea of mud and will require several warm days to put it into even fair conditions.

FOOT-BALL NOTES

"Now it's football.

The young fellow bushy as to hair and clothed in armour not unlike that of the middle ages, besides other harness, has the call from this time on to Thanksgiving day.

Though strenuous, it is fine sport, is football.

Your football player must have a well developed body capable of quick movements and long endurance. His mind must be alert. His soul must be full of enthusiasm and loyalty to his side. And all these qualities of his being must be trained to instant obedience. His discipline is as severe as that of a soldier.

True, there's a spice of danger. But the football player is fairly well protected. And the tendency of the rules is to limit the chances of unnecessary danger. The rules of 1903 provide for more open work and less mass plays. It is those same mass plays that usually do the mischief. You cannot pile flesh and bones into a wriggling pyramid without the chance of bruising flesh or breaking bones.

When the game is fairly played and is devoid of bulldozing and unnecessary roughness it is conducive of good results. It makes men out of boys. It gives judicious vent to surplus vitality. It develops the good qualities of citizenship.

"The battle of Waterloo was fought there," said the Iron Duke, pointing to a college cricket field.

Who knows how many battles for good citizenship are fought within the enclosure of a football fence?" (Des Moines News)

The team last night went through a light work-out which consisted for the most part of drill on defensive work, in which the team has been weak, in the first games.

The average weight of the Illinois team, in their first game was 179 pounds. The Iowa team averages about 166.

Atkinson the giant sub guard of last years team appeared at practice in uniform last night, the first time this season.

Gibbs the promising candidate for full, who has been laid up with a lame shoulder, is able to be out at practice again.

The team spent an hour at signal practice, in the Armory last night.

The rooters were somewhat surprised at the scores in the Minnesota, Macalister and the Chicago, Monmouth games. The former was 112 to 0, the latter 108 to 0. This makes it look as if these two teams might figure as candidates for the Championship of the Big Nine.

The Ames people still seem to feel that they have been slighted by not securing a game, with Iowa.

Manager Spangler will announce the place, for the Drake-Iowa game, some time in the near future.

The University Band

The band made its first appearance at the Coe-Iowa game. That the band has exceptional ability is shown by their good work after a single hours practice. Chief Musician F. R. Malsberry was trained in military work, in a three years enlistment in the 1st. U. S. Cavalry under Walker and Grillinberger, where he served as chief musician. Mr. Malsberry rose from a corporalship to a sergeancy and was honorably discharged in the Philippine Islands.

The band is materially helped by the presence of some talented new men and by the old experienced men.

New music has been ordered. It will be the intention to make it a parade band. Some new men are wanted particularly a snare drummer.

Conflict of classes still hinder some from attending but this will soon be rumored.

Laws of '05 Elect

The junior laws held an exciting election this morning. Electioneering has been lively all the week. But the ticket elected was a strong one. G. G. Garretson captured the presidency, A. O. Burmeister was chosen vice-president, and R. R. Ramsell secretary and treasury. The delegate to President MacLean is C. W. Benschhoff, and the law editor of the 1904 Hawkeye is D. W. Rich.

To Honor Beardshear

Prof. I. A. Loos will go to Des Moines tonight to attend a meeting of the friends of the late Dr. Beardshear of Ames. The meeting will be at the home of state Librarian Johnson Brigham, and the proposition of the erection of a memorial will be considered.

College Men Not Lazy

At the present time there is a labor contest on in the city of Minneapolis. The laborers in the flour mills made demands which the employers refused to grant. To enforce their demands the laborers struck. The union men were strong enough to keep out non-union labor and the strike seemed to promise success.

The mill owners offered two dollars for a six hour day's work. But the union was so strong that none dared work. Then several students of the University of Minnesota offered their services and it was accepted. The proposition of the union aroused the college spirit. They formed mass wedges and forced their way through the strikers to the mills, and now the mills are running at full capacity. The mill owners satisfied with their new laborers are threatening to bar union men in the future.

The labor leaders have appealed to President Northup, who has stated that his business is to educate, and so long as the employment in which the students engage is honorable he will not interfere. The strikers have met this with a threat to go before the legislature and with their influence cut off all appropriations for the university. This is the situation. How it will be settled is difficult to say. But one thing it has done is to give the lie to the oft repeated statement that colleges make men lazy. Today nearly half the college men in the United States spend a part of their time in manual labor. Some do it through necessity. Others do it in order that they may be independent, earning their way as they go. Thirty years ago this was not true.

The manager of the largest Asphalt Paving Company in the United States said last summer that over half their employees during the summer months were students. "I find he said, "that they can keep up with the other laborers. Moreover they are more valuable to us as their superior intelligence makes them saving of machinery, and capable of taking advantage of work, thus doing more work.

The college man of today can and will work. It is his nature. Moreover he is honored for it. In spite of the croakings of semi-educated demagogues, the American institutions of learning make men. They have theories; but they are practical. They can lead or go among the crowd and work with their hands. The American college men of today proves the old proposition that work is no disgrace.

DAILY IOWAN.

IOWA CITY, IA., OCT. 3, 1903.

DEAR FATHER AND SISTER:—

Everything is so new and strange to me, that I almost feel like a rat in a strange garret. However, I am sure I am going to like it here. Some of the fellows who have been here some time, look at me with a look that seems to say, "Why are you on earth?" and I overheard a couple of the fellows remarking that it would be a good plan to use a lawn-mower over me as I had too much color. Don't know just what they meant by it, but I may have occasion to practice boxing or give leg bail. Hav'nt decided which I will do if I am put to the test.

Expenses pile up so fast that I hate to ask for anything more, but you know I have no Fountain Pen. Shall I use a steel pen or buy a cheap Fountain, or get a good one? A lot of the fellows have the Parker Pen, or the "Lucky Curve," as the boys call them, and a few have the Waterman. The older fellows say, "Buy a 'Lucky Curve', for it is a little better and cleaner than the other kind, and besides, if you break it, it is repaired free of charge." They are sold by Irwin & Ellyson. As I am spending your money, I will do as you say. Please let me know at once.

Love to Sister. See that old Bill is well groomed. I miss him much.

Yours affectionate son
JOHN P. WILLIAMS.
