RECAPITULATION

BY A. R. COOK

The state college games in the state this year have seen some desperate playing, but less than last year, when Cornell defeated Drake and Ames to the Grinnell and the State Normal.

There is also less uncertainty about the ranking of the teams than last year, when Drake, Ames, Cornell, and Simpson all claimed rank in the state after the State University.

The teams as a whole have been stronger than last year, each having improved in some respect. Cornell is the only exception to the general rule of improvement.

Ames the Leader

Ames will be generally conceded the leadership of the state colleges this year, with a rank not far below the State University of Iowa. Coach Ristine has done excellent work with the Cyclones this year. On defense, his pupils have made the greatest improvement. In the Grinnell game, however, this defense was none too good and a week later Simpson gave the Cyclones a large bit of bad blocking. The Ames schedule has been light this year, the cyclones having had almost no hard games.

Drake Team Strong

Dr. McMillan developed Drake one of the strongest teams that Drake has had for several years. Drake succeeded in defeating both Cornell and Simpson, which have given her trouble in recent years. Drake is entitled to second place among the state colleges.

Grinnell was consistent

Grinnell has played the most consistent game of any team in the state. Defeated several times, she played throughout the season with the placd that is her college's greatest tradition. Her victories over Simpson, Cornell and Coe entitle her to third place.

Simpson's Fast Pack

Simpson set a fast pace in her early season games, rolling up large scores on Still, Morningside and Des Moines, and defeating Missouri with a clean score board, bettering Drake and Grinnell in this respect. With the Drake game, results began to go against her, though coaches Reid and her players are certainly entitled to praise for the strong game Simpson played against Ames. Simpson secured three safeties, one each on Drake, Iowa and Ames, the last being a nail carried over for a touchdown and fumbled.

Coe's Strong Team

Coe College improved greatly this year and is entitled to place fourth position with Simpson. Fred Bryant has done excellent work with the Coe team the past three years, 1903 seeing the best results of his labors.

NORMAL STRONG AT TIMES

The State Normal team was probably its strongest the day it defeated Cornell. The next week, its offense bowed before the secondary defense of Coe.

OSINEL'S EARLY STRENGTH

Cornell showed strength early in the season in its Coe, Iowa and Chicago games, but later suffered many reverses.

MORNINGSIDE'S AWAKENING

Morningside college of Sioux City, waked up this year under the coaching of Sweeney, the Michigan punter, and developed a creditable team. Morningside will undoubtedly come in time to take a prominent position in state football.

Des Moines Did Well

Des Moines had a creditable team this year as usual. Des Moines' athletics are rapidly rounding into shape so that strong teams may be looked for from the Baptist college.

PENN'S GOOD TEAM

Penn college had a good team, several of her players being excellent individual performers. Her record this year was creditable.

OUTLOOK FOR THE FUTURE

The Woodbine Normal this year was a good one, as is usual with Woodbine.

EDWARDS COLLEGE

Elizabethtown college produced a very creditable team this year. Its prospects for continuing its good work next year are bright.

ALL-STATE COLLEGE TEAM

The selection of an All-State college eleven from the colleges of the state outside the University, Iowa being taken as representative of the whole state, is more difficult this year than it has been for the three years that I have made this selection.

The competition is much closer. Places on the second team, even, have been very difficult to decide upon. Having seen all of the teams play, some of them twice, having consulted many others who have watched the games closely, and being ad-viced by the athletic directors or the coaches at the different colleges, I have made the best selections possible with justice to all.

SHIPMAN FOR CENTER

For center, Shipman of Grinnell, Burrows of Drake, Dreher of Ames and Burress of Coe are candidates. The place is awarded to Shipman, who has played a strong, handy, consistent game. In the Iowa game, he outplayed the Hawkeye center in the Review of State Football

In this issue, the DAILY IOWAN presents its annual review of State college football under Roy A. Cook. The preparation of the article, including the selection of an All-State college eleven, has necessitated considerable travel during the season, and considerable labor and expense at its close. The task has always been a pleasant one, especially this year, when the state college teams have played stronger, more consistent football, and the number of good football players has been noticeably greater.

In the selection of an All-State college team, the State University of Iowa is not considered, being taken as representative of the entire state.

There is no State in the west, and none in the east outside of Pennsylvania, where the colleges of the State are so strong as they are in Iowa. Their elevens merit consideration from all lovers of football. The All-State college eleven selected by Mr. Cook is a very strong All-Star aggregation.

The College Teams

A feature of the state games played on Iowa field this year has been the clean and quicky games played by the visiting college elevens. This feature has been much remarked by un-

Kennedy of Simpson is chosen as being the strongest both on offense and defense, the best all-around football player of any of the tackles considered. He is given the captnacy of the All-State college eleven, as having been the best captain of any of the eleven, constant in his appearance to his men to keep up their game, and using excellent judgment on the field. Watters who is also chosen for tackle is an excellent, ground gaining and a good defensive player. Nelson of Cornell and Saylor of Morningside are given second honors.

Warden and Coon

Warden of Ames played a strong defensive game in most of his contests and carried the ball well. He is chosen for end with Coon of Cornell, a fast, aggressive player. Jordan of Drake, Mattison of Ames, W. Lyons of Drake, Benson of Grinnell and Strange of the Normal are close competitors with Warden and Coon.

Ball for Quarterback

Ball of Coe, Daniels of Ames, Van Liere of Grinnell, White of Simpson and Mattheus of Cornell are likely quarterbacks.
