HAMMOND IS WINNER
GIVEN DECISION OVER FORUM IN DEBATE

WALKER DID WELL
SO SAYS RUS C. BUTLER, OF CHICAGO

Oration was a Credit to Iowa University—Some Thought He Should Have Won

In a letter to the DAILY IOWAN Rush C. Butler, ’98, a member of the Hammon Club committee discusses the effort of Henry G. Walker, Iowa’s representative as follows:

I have heard nothing but expressions of high approval of Mr. Walker’s oration. Several who have read all of the four and some who have read all of the eight ounces of it preferred it to all others. One or two representatives from other institutions and a more effective delivery, which assisted them in impressing a larger percentage of the people. The production on the minds of the judges. This was not in any way as reflecting upon the final markings, for, on the whole, I consider them just, rather to show the absolute necessity of an oratorical delivery which will interest and hold the attention of the audience.

But I have digressed. The purpose of this letter was only to state that the Alumni and friends of Iowa who were present at the contest were proud of her representative. He acquitted himself with great credit and is deserving of the many words of praise which we have been hearing ever since his oration was delivered.

I might also add, that being a member of the Hammon Club committee in charge of the contest, which was not liberty to disclose the markings of the first set of judges, but safely say that I know the case and will cause all the friends of the University to feel an additional pride in the Hammon Club committee.

May her representative next year be as worthy.

Yours very truly,
RUS C. BUTLER ’98.

Special to the DAILY IOWAN

D. Whiting, ’97, John Hopkins, and B. W. Humphrey, and the Hammond Law was held last night in the General Lecture Room of the College of Law. The team work of the Iowa team continued its triumphal march tonight by taking a brilliant and game from the Iowa team, V. M. C. A. warriors on the field of the latter.

The variety men had clearly the best of the struggle from the start and had it not been for the fact that they had many fouls called on them giving the Des Moines men many free throws for goals, the contest would have been even more one-sided. As it was the final score was 23 to 16. Sixteen fouls were called upon the variety men for the night. Des Moines scored 12 of her 16 points. The team work of the Iowa team was remarcable. At times they ran the ball across the field almost at will. Iowa was also safer on field goals. Ross who went in for Iowa in the second half, started the natives by throwing three successive baskets from field scoring six additional points. Kingsbury threw three baskets from field.

The matter of arranging a spring baseball schedule was taken up again by the staff of the Iowa Press. The schedule printed in the Iowa Press of yesterday was adopted. There will be some adjustments to be made in the schedule.

All of the representatives to the meeting made claims of strong teams for the season soon.

To add to interests of the full debating strength The Daily Maroon, complains result within the societies from the University is representative from the University is representative of the full debating strength of Iowa.

Let the societies form one debating league similar to that at Wisconsin and other universities, fairly representing all debating interests in the University. The result within the societies will be that with so many more possibilities of debating honors in each society, the interest and rivalry will be increased, raising the debating standard. The result for the University will be that it can turn its full fighting strength into every debate. Every team that goes out will be an Iowa team in fact as well as in name.

School Politics

The university has just passed through a period of strenuous politics. The fight in the athletic union which threatened the disruption of things generally, has been suddenly settled, and everything is running along as smoothly as ever. The threatened difficulty over the ownership of the DAILY IOWAN has been avowed and peace reigns again. It is fortunate for the university and every one connected with it that these matters have been satisfactorily adjusted.

There is nothing like a certain amount of politics in the school to arouse interest in school affairs; the danger comes in too much politics. The membership in the Athletic union has been materially increased because of the little fight that took place within its ranks and the interest of its older members has been greatly augmented. It is certain that the students feel a deeper interest in the IOWAN since they themselves own it, than before. On the whole it may be said that Iowa's spell of politics has resulted advantageously.

Minnesota university has an athletic fight on hands that is apt to result seriously. It has reached the point where efforts are being made to throttle out some of the officers supposed to have been duly elected. Even the girls are taking up the fight and have a candidate in the field for a place upon the board of athletic control. It is this kind of school politics that is dangerous and which should be avoided if possible.

EXCHANGE

The merchants of Evanston have offered a full set of house-hold furnishings to the first coed who by taking advantage of the map year season wins a husband in her own proposal.

Minnesota's track team has begun work with more than fifty candidates. Prospects are said to be better than ever.

The Daily Maroon, complains that misfortune is following the Chicago debating team. Sicknes has removed two members of the Chicago team which was to complete against Northwestern.

The Illini appears repeatedly without a single line of editorial.

Conserving Debating

Why not get together on debates? This question, asked so often in the past, and frequently voiced by THE IOWAN, boils up again of its own accord at this time. The Oratorial Association is composed of the five men's literary societies in the University. Why not the Debating League?

Under the present system the Debating League is composed of Irving and Tegotzschak, and has the control of the Minnesota and Wisconsin debates. Up to this time Philomathian has been refused admittance to the League, and Philomathian is now conducting the annual Illinois debate. To add to this confusion the Debating League of the College of Law, just formed, and composed of the Forum and the Hammond Law Foremen, is seeking to secure another outside debate. Thus no debating team that goes out from the University is representative of the full debating strength of Iowa.

Let the societies form one debating league similar to that at Wisconsin and other universities, fairly representing all debating interests in the University. The result within the societies will

HIGH SCHOOL "FRATS" MORE MARKED

State Principals' Club at Annual Meeting Discusses Them - Are Increasing

Shall fraternities exist among high school pupils? That question has been brought forcibly to the attention of the high school authorities during the past year or two. There seems to be an ever increasing tendency on the part of high school students to ape the methods of the college frat and this tendency has recently become more marked than ever. The matter was considered of sufficient importance to be brought to the attention of the meeting of state teachers in Des Moines during vacation. Notwithstanding the fact that the greater part of the teachers there assembled were in favor of scorning the question some insisted that it was necessary. Principal George Edward Marshall of the Sioux City high school introduced the question there stating that the society of his school had been bornfully torn up by the existence of not less than three organizations and in fact has barred him from the school but they still exist elsewhere. He declared that it would be his policy to see that the high school sprat, to forbid any member of such an organization from receiving any honors athletic or otherwise. The greater part of the educators concurred in his position. However it was suggested that it might be possible to make the frats in agencies for good by making a high standard and scholarship a requisite for admission.

MUST young people select their life partner and their occupation on a sentimental basis rather than by deliberate judgment. The best profession is 1st.
