UNIVERSITY EXHIBIT

COMMITTEE WILL MEET NEXT WEEK

Not Yet Known How Extensive It Will Be—Extent of Funds Not Yet Known

The question of how extensively the University will be represented at the exposition at St. Louis next summer will in all probability be decided next week. Professor Calvin, chairman of the committee to arrange the university exhibit is in receipt of a letter from F. J. Sessions of Cedar Rapids telling him of a meeting of those directly interested in the school exhibit in Des Moines next week. Mr. Sessions has charge of the distribution of the funds provided for the exhibit of Iowa educational institutions.

Professor Calvin said that nothing much has been done toward the arrangement of a suitable exhibit for the university because it is not yet known just how much money the university will get for it.

Practically every university in America is planning to send exhibits to the St. Louis Exposition. The facilities for such displays are especially good, and already the various institutions have reserved a large amount of space.

The University of California has appropriated $4000 for its exhibit and has received a further sum of $1000 from the state. With this amount at hand an elaborate display is being planned.

Miss Paddock Here

Miss Estella Paddock the state secretary of the Y. W. C. A., is making her annual visit to the University Association. She led a very interesting and helpful meeting at Close Hall last night at 6:30, and will speak again tonight at the same hour. Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock she will be at home at an informal reception at Close Hall to all University girls, especially association members.

Miss Paddock will address the regular Sunday devotional meeting at 4 o'clock, and it is hoped that a large number of the girls will be out to hear her, both Sunday afternoon and tonight, as her talks are very helpful and inspiring. She is being entertained at the home of Professor Fairbanks.

Professor Gordon has been chosen one of the judges at the contest preliminary to the Northern Oratorical League contest at Iowa State Normal. The preliminary will take place tonight.

The Baconian Club meets on Friday evening, February 26, at 7:30 in the Physics Lecture Room. The paper will be read by Mr. C. J. Lambert on the subject: The Physiology of Sleep.

ENGINEERS BANQUET

ANNUAL FUNCTION GIVEN LAST NIGHT

Sumptuous Feast of Food and Words—The List of Speakers—Big Attendance

"If You're not an Engineer Why You Needn't Come Around" was the song for the Engineers last night at the Burkley Imperial. It was the occasion for the annual banquet of the Engineering Society of the University of Iowa, and it was a banquet in every sense of the word. There was a feast of good things to eat and a feast of still better things to here afterwards.

Everything at the banquet was arranged appropriate to the Engineering department. The tables which extended clear across the big hotel dining room were arranged in the shape of two triangles. Within these triangles stood a leveler and a transcript and the banquet table was further decorated with compasses. Perhaps the most novel feature of the banquet was the menu cards consisting of a miniature drawing board upon which was held with thumb tacks the cards bearing the menu and program of toasts.

The list of speakers included mostly faculty members and was headed by President MacLean. It would be impossible to tell even a fraction of the many good things that were said for the engineering department here. The work already done and the work yet to be done were talked of. The good things to be done by the legislature for this department were discussed and the poor old shed, just as if it had not already been sufficiently abused came in for additional roasting. One of the significant good things heard was the reference made by President MacLean to the fact that many of the members of last year's graduating class from the department were not able to be present at the commencement exercises, so great was the demand for them at the work upon which most of them were about to enter. Toastmaster Crane presided in an excellent manner. The list of speakers included President MacLean, Dr. Andrews, Dean Weld, Professor Smith, Professor Magowan, B. J. Lambert and S. H. McCrory. Professor Sims was to have given an address but could not be present. He wired his regrets from Des Moines, and these were read by Toastmaster Crane.

Miss Ruth Fleming has completed her course of study in the University and gone to her home in Omaha. She will return for commencement next spring. Miss Fleming has been popular here, and a member of Delta Gamma.

TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT

INTERCOLEGIATE DEBATE AT MINNEAPOLIS

Sketch of the Iowa Debaters—The Judges Chosen—Mayor Hayne Will Preside

"Tonight's the night" at Minneapolis. For the millionth time the protective tariff policy of the republican party will be torn to pieces and brought to life again. This time the operation will be performed by three able representatives from the State University of Iowa on one side and an many from the University of Minnesota on the other side. The three Iowa representatives Ray Files, O. R. Davis and R. R. Randall will uphold the protective tariff policy for Iowa and Isaac W. Choate, John P. Devaney and Raymond P. Chase will attack it for Minnesota. The Minnesota debaters have the affirmative of the question: Resolved that the United States should now abandon the protective tariff.

Mayor Haynes of Minneapolis will preside over the debate and Professor Ely and Dr. Sparling, both of Wisconsin, and Judge John Brinley of La Crosse, Wis., will act as judges.

Following are sketches of the three men who are to represent Iowa:

Ray Files comes from Iowa City where he was born in 1882. He prepared for college in the Iowa City High School, where he took an active part in debate. Besides being a member of the junior team which won from the senior team of the same school, he led an Iowa City team which defeated the High School team of Cedar Rapids. He entered the State University of Iowa in 1901. In his freshman year he was a member of the Zetagathian debating team, being victorious in the intersociety contest. The next year he represented his society in the Wisconsin University Preliminary Debate and in January 1904, was leader of the winning team in the Minnesota Preliminary Debate.

Odin R. Davis was born at Eldora, in 1879 and was graduated from the Eldora High school in 1896. He entered Grinnell College in 1897, where he took an active part in forensic work. In 1899 and 1900 he was a member of the Young Men's Debating society at Eldora and entered the State University in the autumn of 1901. Mr. Davis has taken an active interest in debates since entering the university, having led the junior class debating team of Irving Institute in the intersociety contest in the spring of 1903 and the Minnesota Preliminary Contest this year. He was the unanimous choice of Irving Institute as her representative against Minnesota University.

Get Out And Train

The advice given to the candidates for places on the track team through the news columns of the IOWAN yesterday by one who is deeply interested in the welfare of the team is good advice. There is no need of laying down because the dope artists have figured out that the state meet is already won. It must be remembered that figures regarding the probable outcome of a meet in which a large number of men representing a large number of schools participate are often deceiving, for there are any number of conditions that may materially change the final result.

Even if Iowa were assured of a victory over the other teams that will compete in the state meet there is need of good hard systematic training. In the meet with Minnesota the Iowa brawn will find a harder task that at the state meet. Minnesota has the record of having defeated Iowa at a track meet only last year. She also defeated Iowa at football last year although the collection is unpleasant. It would be a stroke in the right direction to begin the reversal of affairs this spring. Iowa has any amount of good material if it is properly taken advantage of. The trainers are willing to do their part and the men to whom the honor of victory will go should certainly be willing to do their part.

Lest we forget, we say it yet: "Get out and train!"

The IOWAN has every confidence in the three young men who are to uphold the Hawkeye banners at Minneapolis tonight. They have prepared well for the contest with the Minnesota orators tonight, and there is little doubt that Iowa honor will suffer at their hands. Unfortunately it is Minnesota's turn to win but all signs fail sometimes, particularly when they bode ill for Iowa
