TONY MAKES A HIT

CLASS OF 1904 PRESENTS SENIOR PLAY

Marie Lynch Stars as Leading Lady in "She Stoops to Conquer"

Tony truly made a hit last night in the senior class play. "She Stoops to Conquer." This play, the crowning effort of the year in dramas at the university, won the applause it deserves. All the cast were good and to tick the stars would be difficult. H. M. Evans in Tony was a character that always brings applause and to this was added interpretation that brought straight curtain calls. Especially strong was the roving scene in the inn of the "Three Pigeons," where Tony was ably supported by his friends, Tom Twist, D. H. Welch, Diggery, H. W. Brunkley, Amishada B. Jackson, and E. B. Tiedball.

W. P. Halbarg a new man in drama last year who played the part of Young Marlow. He was a typical cavalier, gay with maids but shy with their mistresses. The difficult parts of Squire Hardcastle and his wife were taken by E. R. Johnstone and Iowa Madge Young. Their interpretation was to the liking of all the cast. Their interpretations were to the liking of all the cast.

Our Alumni Column
To the many alumni who read this issue of the Iowan, we have one favor to ask. Kindly keep us in touch with you. When you know an item of interest about yourself or others send it to us and we will gladly publish it. This year we have printed over 3000 alumni notes. Whatever praise our alumni column has won this year has been largely due to the assistance of the alumni. May we ask for its continuance.

Miss Montgomery will give her last dancing assembly of the year at the armory tonight at 9 o'clock. A full orchestra has been engaged and a pleasant evening is assured to all who attend. Miss Montgomery’s assemblies during the past year have been a pleasant social feature of student life in the city. This evening will please the assemblies for the school year.

The Battle Review

The annual Governor's Review of the battle was held on the campus yesterday afternoon before a large crowd of spectators.

The program consisted of review, dress parade, battalion drill and guard mounting. At the conclusion of the review the Governor presented commissions to the following officers:

The Law class of 1914 including the law faculty held a banquet at the Burkle Imperial last night.

Coach Chalmers is attempting to secure a trainer who will be here the entire year and aid in football and in the spring take charge of track athletics.

Mr. Carey W. Smith '06, of Santa, Ana California, the first president of the Zetagabian society addressed the annual meeting of the society yesterday.

It was erroneously stated in yesterday's paper that the Memorial of the class of 1904 would be an arch. This was talked of but it was finally decided to give the project up and a drinking fountain will be placed in the hall of liberal arts instead.

Professor Sims, head of engineering has made an arch the like of which has never been seen before. It is a dry sand arch made without cement and will hold a weight of 11,000 lbs. without crumbling. By altering the design of his plane he can increase the carrying power of the arch several thousand pounds more.

The Phi Beta Kappa chapter under the auspices of the local chapter, the Alpha of Iowa, was given in the liberal arts auditorium this morning. The program consisted of two musical numbers by Mohsberry's orchestra and the address by Dr. James Ward of Cambridge, England. The speaker gave a rather extended summary of the ideas of past and present philosophers. Although the thoughts of the lecturer were profound he held the attention of his audience to the end.
