A roll, a rush, a clash, a short struggle—and the freshman sophomores class fight for 1905 was over. The contest resulted in a decided victory for the freshmen who outnumbered their opponents nearly four to one and who fought with the dash of Comanches Indians.

The fight took place yesterday morning on the south of the old college building. Too sophis had arisen and were about the course and erected a long telephone pole while the night watchman was not looking and placed themselves a huge safety pin together with a bottle of soda. Two hostile sophis. Kramer and Hansen did guard duties from across bars near the top of the pole and the remainder of the sophomores did duty at the base of the pole. They were thirty in number.

The freshman hosts convened on the field football and at 9 o’clock made a grand rush for the campus. They struck the ’07’s with a formation that would make any fying V look cheap and after fairly pushing the sophis away succeeded the pole and rode the sophomores therefrom in a spectator manner. A portion of the freshmen horde sat upon the individual sophomores and compelled them to do the pin from the pole and then chopped down the pole.

The不会再 sophomores afterwards made a desperate effort to save the coveted safety pin. He dashed into a crowd of freshmen and smashed it to his number for a time. He was finally surrounded however and relieved of the trophy.

President MeJohn had a conference yesterday afternoon with several of the leading sophomores and it is not likely that the fight will be continued.

The Crisis Passed

Last year when the friends of the university were struggling with the state general assembly for increased appropriations it was frequently said that the critical time in the life of the institution had been reached. Judging from the increased attendance at the university this year it is safe to conclude that the crisis has been safely passed.

The trying times through which the university has passed the last year seem to have had a good effect. The realization that something had to be done for the university has brought the alumni and friends of the institution together as never before. The results of their efforts in behalf of the half of the university are now being realized in the way of new students from every quarter of the state.

The registration thus far greatly exceeds the total for last year and there is still almost another week for registration. This is a very encouraging state of affairs and indicates that the people of Iowa have faith in the one state university.
