DRAKE GETS BETTER
SOME OLD STARS RETURN TO SCHOOL
Monlaw Thinks He May Be Able to Hold Iowa to a Low Score
Drake is getting more confident as the time for the Iowa game nears. Saturday approaches, and it is said that the team which has shown such poor form here before this season has all at once fallen into condition under Coach Monlaw, who, it is claimed, can see himself as a certainty confident over the game.

The Register and Leader says: "Coach Monlaw said last week that he hoped to condition the outlook for next Saturday and championships. Thus there will show Iowa some fast work. From the first practice that was shown by the Drake football team, sight and the appearance of the team, there is a good growth of last year's squad. Kirby and Browning's prospects have moved up about fifty percent. If the fast work of last evening is continued Iowa will have no walk away in the coming contest. Kirby and Browning had not been out on the field this year until yesterday. With the addition of these two men Drake has perhaps as heavy a team as there is on the state. Last evening's practice was the snappiest that has been seen on the local field this season. In the future the practice will be out for practice again and will be in for the game."

"Hard work is the motto of the Drake 1905 football team and the men plenty of it. They report for practice an hour earlier than usual and given a rigorous practice again at 7 o'clock. Like the football team, Drake has seemed to drop into line all of a sudden in response to the patients work of the coaches with the new men.

Cross Country Club
The Cross Country Club has started out in earnest. Notices have been posted to the effect that there will be practice runs every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. The first meeting was at 4:30. Cross Country Club, 40 Iowa Avenue

Drake Thinks He Made First Western Wilderness Trip
"What If It"
The University Assembly was, as usual, well attended. Professor Shaubmann made the address, which was an eloquent eulogy of the work of the Iowa pioneers, and a call for the same spirit that they possessed, in the present day life of our people. Professor Shaubmann in introduction described a meeting of 6000 pioneers which he had attended recently at the Iowa part of the state. Men and women who were present at the time, and as a result of the growth of the state from its beginning are and women who, "as the events of their lives and the communities of which they had long been a part passed before them," were inspired by a feeling that, "in the men that showed some of their humble, single lives had been a part of history, the history of a nation, the history of human progress.

After recanting the early struggles, privations and successes of these people, who were characterized by Governor Kirk as the "typical Americans," Professor Shaubmann closed his address as follows: "The leading ideals and ideals which made it possible for them to succeed in their day and in their time, will be made possible for us to succeed in our day and our time, and as we are success in solving the problems of frontier life by certain principles of character, so too, in our day will be able to solve the problems of life by the principles of character and virtues and virtues. It is for us to remember the independence, the self-reliance, the courage, the broad and liberal views of the pioneers. It is for us to remember these things and to apply them in the conditions of our own life. It is for us, in short, to keep the faith."

SUCH A FUNNY JOKES!
CORNELL IS STILL HOLDING HER SIDES
Something Entirely New in the Way of Humor is Dish-ed Out by Cornell
MONDAY NIGHT, Mr. Ed., who is so often tucking over the joke he perpetrated on Iowa, is sending over her second team to meet Drake Monday night in the football contest on the gridiron Saturday. This time Iowa and some of the other conference colleges have sent in to put out a team against Cornell, but this is Cornell's first experience in playing her own on the conference teams, and it is far as this time she likes it. It has been a week of permit-ting the right side of her to the cartoonist around campus.

"The extra general sense of humor" according to the above description, is HGR, who has been introduced as Register and Leader. If it is funny for Cornell to be defeated by a score of 50 to 0, it is funny for them to permit a final school to follow the course of the field and to have a cartoonist for Cornell management to openly violate its traditions if it is funny for Cornell to be ignored in the future bigger and better schools, then Iowa will agree that Cornell's outburst of grace is justified.

But there is another thing to consider. After the game Saturday, Manager Walter went to the Cornell manager wherever he is, (it doesn't matter) and secur-ed a statement from him to the effect that it was Cornell's first game of the season and that Iowa would win. To Iowans now it looks as if second-ly Cornell was to be defeated, and possibly it will fall upon. It is very prob-able that there was such little difference Cornell's first and second game that the teams didn't play as well as expected. In the future it will be the policy of the Register and Leader club to completely ignore Cornell in every particular. It is felt that games with Cornell might not prove good attractions for the spectators because of their one-sidedness.

Strict at Illinois
The University of Illinois looks notable action in the case of a number of last year's foot-ball players who were heard before a control board four variety ball players, who played on semi-professional teams during the summer, from university athlete-ics.

The board last summer adopted the rules of the conference colleges, which provides that a college may not play for salaries or profits, and a certain number of which receives money. It is generally known that Warner, Byers and Cool, violated these rules and were open to expulsion.

Five men were suspended from the university for a term of ninety days, and an action was taken by the council of regents.

THE SOCIAL AUTHORS
IVORY LANE, POLYGON AND WRITERS CLUB
Societies Choose New Members and Organize for the Year's Work
There are three societies in the university whose chief aim is original work and criticism in English literature. Polyc gon and Ivory Lane for undergraduates primarily, while Writers Club is made up largely of graduates, some senior and a few juniors. Both Polygon and Ivory Lane are considered as feeders to Writers Club.

To add something every day, to do it always a little better and then to do it better still—that's how I have grown from a small cigar store to the largest business of its kind in town.

Today my immense buying and selling power enables me to sell Cigars, Pipes, Tobacco and Cigarettes at one-tenth the retail price, and the last 90 per cent of the money is possible to obtain in any other way. I call this real business building and one of my greatest successes is the Buster Brown cigar, made in three sizes—Club House, Panatellas and Connoisseur at 5c each.
