Iowa’s Crippled Eleven Will Meet Normal on Iowa Field Tomorrow

BASKET BALL IS NEXT

President H. C. King, the official head of Oberlin college, Ohio, was the speaker at the regular weekly assembly held this morning instead of Wednesday morning because of President King’s presence in the city. He was introduced by Professor Gordon of the department of public speaking who presided at the assembly in the absence of President MacLeod who is attending a teacher’s meeting at Dubuque.

President King made a logical and forcible defense of his subject. "The Supreme Condition of Life," he said that every power possessed by man was calculated for the accomplishment of something. Work and Personality were his keynotes. "The fact that we are possessed of so many and such different kinds of evidence is enough that we not merely created for exercising our brains and pushing out pens," he said.

President King is a forcible speaker and closely held the attention of the students who pack the auditorium.

Basketball game will be a close one. Even if the Iowa team was last year a strong position regarding the game to Minneapolis, it has defeated all of the minor neighbors.

The Iowa normal team has the fact that we are old men work for their brains, and the old hands of the faculty have been held nearly every night because of President King’s presence in the city.

Drake Delphic: Iowa don’t seem to like Drake’s accusations as to their paying athletes. It is reported in the Annals of Drake that Iowa took it so seriously, it seems as though there might be some truth in it.

going toward the establishment of the university, and was expelled from any further recitation in the history department. This action was taken by the action of Professor Wilcox in asking Steere to withdraw from the department after the unpleasant publicity was given.

The faculty took some additional action regarding Steere, but the university authorities refused to give it out. Developments are being awaited with a great deal of interest.

Register and Leader: Several enthusiastic college students, engaged from home from a football game, were arrested and locked up in Law's, Kansas. That certainly was rash! rash!

Professor Wilcox's Fame

Buffalo Express: That professor of the University of Iowa who makes a stir by saying "The people of wasters are crazy more than half of the time" has spoiled his chances for fame by explaining what he meant. Why didn't he keep mum? Somebody might have thought of a creditable interpretation of the words.

Indianapolis Star: The bureau of publicity and promotion of the University of Iowa has made a hit, and Professor Wilcox, who leads the campaign for notoriety, is check full of the romancing of advertising. He is a dashing, up-to-date figure. The bureau of publicity and promotion of some other universities are all we are apt to keep up with the Iowa City Institution. The University of Iowa has hitherto been to fame unknown, but evidently the management is going in for modern methods.

AMUSEMENTS

Parad and away the most musical comedy of several years is a "Chinese Honeymoon" which will be given at the Iowa City Opera House Saturday night. One of the most attractive features of the performance is a group of girls who appear as the eight bridesmaids. They are said to represent the acme of feminine grace and modern dash.

All told the organization numbers seventy-five people and is considered the most expensive of all the Shubert attractions.
