Some Iowa Songs Which Will Be Used—Prof. A. G. Smith Speaks

The regular weekly assembly this morning was unusual in its nature. The first part of the hour was given up to the regular routine and the latter part was given up to a little rehearsal preliminary to the great Ames game on Saturday. Slips of paper containing lists of several songs of new Iowa songs adapted to old tunes were distributed and the assembled scholars tried them over. The first was practiced was highly successful and considerable volume and harmony were secured on some of the songs. The rendition of the songs will be perfected at the big mass meeting called to occur tonight in the hall of liberal arts.

Prof. A. G. Smith made the address of the day. He took for his subject 'The Right to Sing for Common Law.' He said this inclination was becoming more important every day.

"The disregard for a bridge sign and the frail and game laws toorms the moral tone of an institution," a salutatorian said.

The routine was given up to the regular football game through the college of liberal arts.

The university band which suited but he realized that all of the students who had observed the students of the university trying to carry a football game through the fence. By way of a suggestion beforehand, the band was one of the worst of the disparity of the disregard for common law or the right to infringe upon the fence. He said that the growth of this feeling of disregard has led to a lack of a plan for the Ajax and now the Iowa band.

Anti-Cribbing

The students of the University of Minnesota have proposed a plan for dealing with the cribbing evil. The plan is as follows:

That a general committee be formed having representatives from each college.

That this committee appoint a subcommittee from each class.

That all such cribbers be reported to the subcommittee of the class opposed to cribbing every offense be reported to the class committee.

That the class committee, in turn, report to the general committee, and the final decision on all cases be made by a majority vote of the all of these opposed to cribbing shall remain co-operative.

The executive committee of the board of regents will meet Monday afternoon.

SHOUT FOR DAWSON

G.O.P. STUDENTS WILL BE OUT TONIGHT

Glee Club Will Sing and Marching Club Will be Official Guides

University students will enter politics again tonight in helping to entertain A. F. Dawson, candidate for congress on the republican ticket in the second district. Mr. Dawson will speak in the Army gymnasium and the machinery of the republican marching club and the glee club of the university will scatter music and momentum during the progress of the meeting.

Both the marching club and the glee club had rehearsed last night in the hall of liberal arts getting in readiness for tonight's demonstration.

The republican marching club and the glee club have a treat store on the evening of Nov. 4. The glee club will sing at Cedar Falls, while the marching club will perform at Cedar Rapids.

That faculty member of the university who had been a long time in the sight of Secretary Lesaie M. Shaw will be the principal speaker.

It is very probable that the marching club will accompany the glee club to the parlor city. The band may also go. The glee club has a number of invitations to sing at other rallies in the second district in the near future and they may be accepted.

Band Will Go

The university band which made such a hit at the Wade games of last year has been invited to participate in another Wade rally at Macfayne last Saturday. The idea is a lot of enthusiastic Iowa City democrats and the whole band will leave here Tuesday afternoon to play before the glee club in the demonstration. A big Wade meeting is being planned for Iowa City at a later date in which the university Wade club will be one of the important factors.

Presidents May Come

President MacLean gave out today that the regular weekly assembly which is a tradition in the shape of a convocation in the opera house. The practice has led to the probable visit of presidents of state universities from all over the United States at that time. The annual meeting of the state university presidents will be held in Des Moines Monday and Tuesday and if possible it will be the right time to take it over the university.

The two members who speak at the assembly tonight with Mr. Dawson was formerly a lecturer in the college of law. He is now a deputy auditor in the war department at Washington D. C. and the faculty co-operation should be secured.

The executive committee of the board of regents will meet this afternoon.

AGGIES CONFIDENT

HOPE TO DEFEAT IOWA NEXT SATURDAY

Big Crowd of Rooters Coming Down From Ames—Have Money to Bet

If Ames does not win next Saturday's football game it will be the first time they have been before ticket takers didn't want Iowa colors in the dust. As an evidence of this fact the Ames men sent down $757 yesterday to be paid even on the outcome of the game. Some of it was taken last night and many signed their intention of covering sums today.

The recovery of the Iowa players and the spirit of determination seen among the Aggies has apparently convinced the squad to defeat the Aggies has been at Iowa and the Aggies are more likely to win than they have been before ticket takers didn't want Iowa colors in the dust. Concerning Oratory

The Iowa Alumnus says editorially: "The editor of the Michigan Alumnus, in commenting on the Michigan legislature, mentions two of the contestants as being "misunderstood" by their subjects; namely, Mr. Halliday, of Michigan, and Mr. Walter, of Iowa. The subject treated by the former was "Webster and the Compromise of 1850," and that of the latter was "Alexander Hamilton." The editor says: "It is the part of wisdom to choose a subject of more freshness and of greater present day interest.""

"We believe the criticism is a sound one, if the object of the orator is to go straight to his subject as to catch every helpful breeze blowing in the direction of the desired port he aims for the benefit of resulting to himself from a study of the chosen subject, it will not matter if the subject is old. The average judge in an oratorial contest can scarcely avoid being influenced in favor of an argument made upon a subject with which he himself is somewhat familiar—he catches the points quickly and remembers them, because they are more or less familiar; whereas, if the points made upon an unknown subject may slip by without notice, or they may be forgotten before the end is reached, even though seen clearly at the time."

Alumnus For Congress

The democratic nominee for congress in the Eleventh Iowa congressional district is Peter Van Oosterhout of Orange City, a graduate of the Iowa university college of liberal arts in the class of 93. Mr. Van Oosterhout was the unanimous nominee of his party at the convention held at Sioux City some time ago. His opponent on the republican ticket is E. H. Hubbard of Sioux City. The district has always been strongly republican and Mr. Van Oosterhout's chances for election are considered slim.

Julian W. Richards is a graduate of the state university college of liberal arts in the class of 76. He is associated with the literary bureau of the republican state central committee of Iowa during the current campaign.

University study is severe at this hour. Their organs are tuned to their climax. The meeting from the roof of the old building. The brick of the new is now covered with green. The trees of the old have boughs of new. The doors of the old are now opened and the walls of the new are looking at the public. The windows of the old are filled with light and the doors of the new are filled with air.
