MAY DAY EXERCISES
FIRST ANNUAL GLEE CONCERT WAS SUCCESS
Program By Combined Musical Organizations Ficazes Large Audience.

The observance of May day by the combined glee clubs of the university in March, an annual concert at the armory last night was an unscheduled success. The university and girls glee clubs, the band and string quartet, assisted by Mrs. Barry Gilbert in a reading rendered a program of marked excellence and in every way appropriate to the day. Every selection was endorsed in the sincere appreciation of the audience.

The attendance was a matter of satisfaction to those who had undertaken the undertaking. It is estimated that about five hundred university and town people were present and as the expense was limited the receipts will net a good fund for the equipping of the Glee Club for the holiday trip past year. The treasurer's report, which was made public to day, showed a balance of more than a hundred dollars.

Credit for the success of last night's concert is especially due Dr. H. J. Prentiss as director of the University Glee Club and Mrs. Samuel H. Haynes, director of the Girls' Glee Club. Work of both groups was richly appreciated with special interest as being most representative of the university and since the task of training was the most difficult. Events of the evening at either club gave evidence of the hard work of the singers and the stolid direction of their leaders. The program of this May day concert follows in full.

SUMMARY OF THE UNIVERSITY HOME MEET

The first line on the track prospects for the state meet was obtained last week from the home of Iowa, Ames, Drake andNormal from the Grinnell-Missouri dual meet. However, just what events each school will win can not be prophesied with any degree of accuracy on account of the lateness of the season and the conditions under which the meets were held. The most notable performance was the smashing of the state record in the shot put by Conaway of Drake.

HOODOO AAP TO FALL OVER ATHLETIC FIELD

"Oh knows Ye" Jimmy Disperses Spirits and Brings Report Back To Town

"Jimmy", the Argus of the classic parlians of the university, has finally got "Oh knows ye all," tells a strange and fantastic tale, reporting it to the campus the other night.

It was early Saturday morning, April 23. Jimmy tells the story in Siberian bruges which by the way are very old. The duties of the time honored custodian of the university buildings begin at 8 a.m., and if you come up to the main walk of the campus in the long, bustling shadows of early morning, making sure that the Old Capitol was safe, Jimmy rounded the buildings with several wonderful sights. This was a sort of the hill were eighteen men in whose loins and outstretched clothes, walking like a gums. Some of the men had club and small hand guns, some had iron masks and armor of other descriptions and all were equipped with huge buck-skin gloves. Not a word was spoken as Jimmy slowly passed the campus toward the athletic field. Standing from tree to stone on hands and kness like a scolding Indian, Jimmy followed the spirits. He saw the last man disappearing over the high fence, tinted, and in a moment the whole scene was a� anomalous. For generations he had looked upon the place to be at last outwitted by spooks. But Jimhny was loyal, and brave and he made use of his head way to the athletic field. Summoning up all his courage he yelled, "Oh knows ye all, git out of there."

To Jimmy's eye the spirits suddenly became human and he recognized many familiar faces. One of the men who on the spot was transformed into a well known professor who approached him and tried to buy him off. After a "Yes I can't bire me, O knows ye," answered Jimmy. Then an angle promised Jimmy that if the spirit man approached the rate watchman whom Jimmy immediately called and said, "Consider yourself under arrest order this same individual.

Finally it was agreed that the ball game, for that was the purposed show for the spirits, could be continued if written permission were obtained from Prax. Now Jimmy thought he was steeped in the classic atmosphere of the university in all wise to create as a half breed and an old letter did service as Prax's permissa-

It was later learned that Jimmy had sprung up between the systems on page 9.
