Freshmen Strong in Defense and Offense.

Husky First Year Men Score on "Varsity in Hard Scrimmage."

The first year eleven of Iowa are giving the "morev avore work to do than any team that has thus far met Iowa ever. They are doing, on the first few minutes of scrimmage last evening, the freshmen made steady gains in the whole line and held the field for a touchdown. Kent made a sensational quarterack run several minutes later for the "varisty a touchdown.

Kirk, the whirlwind fullback and line halfback, was in the front line and the grand stand to applaud steadily, soon after, when by good interference got away from the "varisty eleven and ran to within a few yards of the goal and would have scored another touchdown, but for the unitary appearance of "Bump," Mannger Jones' dog, who gets in the fullback's way and causes the player to take a hard tumble. Kirk was forced to quit the game for awhile and the varisty took a break and held the freshmen for downs and then went down the field for another touchdown. Many of the heavier first year men were taken out and substitutions in both teams made. Another touchdown followed for the "varisty several minutes later.

The freshmen showed strong defense from time to time with good tackles. They were strong on the offensive, making good end runs several times and breaking through the "varisty line time and time again. The varisty was undoubtedly very much weaker in its lineup because of the absence of such men as Chalmers, Redwood, Rockwood and Atkinson. But the freshmen were weaker at times because of the substitution of lighter players.

The freshmen, however, are a very good team this year, because of the abundance of good, available material. Many good men's places must be filled, but they hold the field and hold well. Iowa in her pro-1905 team, and has reason to be, nevertheless, because a very successful season is promised.

While out in uniform last evening, but did not play, was taking good care of himself so as to stand some chance of entering the Chicago game. Truper, who has been on the hospital list for some time, was in the scrimmage all the time last night. "And if I am not letting him inured feel and not participating in any rough and tumble scrimmage. He is a big man in the Chicago game and may do so Iowa certainly needs him in that game.

KATHERYN JEWELL EVENTS SPEAKS.

Miss Katheryn Jewell Evertts addressed the assembly this morning. She took for a general subject, "A Do Near," and particularized by a defense of the college fraternity. She presented the charge against college fraternities as usually made, i.e., that they interfere with the best ends of education. Then stated that this was a serious charge and not wholly unjust. In regard to fraternity practices she had no defense, but the principles were right, and if students would only live up to the ideals of the fraternity evils would not creep in to mar the good they were accomplishing. Their vows made the doing of good obligatory. Nothing but good would result if ideals were followed. Miss Evertts' many friends are always pleased when they can see and hear her at 8. U. I.

THE STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

To Whom Shall It Go?

In the state, the championship can only arise with Ames, Drake and Iowa. The "Big Four," as they have been called, are the best aspirants. The playing of the machines before the Methodist school of Des Moines will be the deciding factor. The game will be played on the field of the Methodist school. The game is to be played at 4:30 on Saturday afternoon.

PROMINENT ALUMNI HIGHLY PLEASED.

Robert Filehinke is an alumnus of the school whose interest in the welfare never wanes. The following appeared in Monday's Register and Leader:

"I believe that the State university has launched upon the opening a new and most prosperous era," said Robert H. Filehinke, who returned from a few days' visit at that place yesterday. "The entering class seems to be larger and more representative than it ever was during my time of college. It appears to me that instead of going east to school, as a large portion of the Iowa youth did before the war, the university has been opened as an institution of education equal if not superior to any college in the country. While in Iowa City this fall I met a number of freshmen whose elder brothers had attended eastern universities. In most cases they had been given their choice of colleges and had decided upon the home university.

"From what I can gather from talks with the coaches and from watching the practices of the boys, the prospects for a great football team are brilliant. Everything seems to be going off without a hitch and the mid-season game is to be played in front of the grand stand to applaud steadily, soon after, when by good interference got away from the "varisty eleven and ran to within a few yards of the goal and would have scored another touchdown, but for the unitary appearance of "Bump," Mannger Jones' dog, who gets in the fullback's way and causes the player to take a hard tumble. About the Hospital.

During the past summer the hospital has been much improved both in looks and conveniences. New cement walks have been built on the south while on the west a fine lawn has been constructed. This is narrow and is intended only to accommodate the persons driving to the hospital. The interior has been fitted with a new elevator and a house telephone system. An electric bell system has also been installed and each room and ward now has complete service.

Students are given special attention when they need medical attendance. There is also a special rate for stu­dents who go to the hospital. There is no physician's charge and all genera­lal nursing is free.

Miss Wilkinson, who has had charges of the University hospital, has been spending her vacation in Mug­land, and today sails for America. She will be back at her work in about two weeks.

THE "05 IMMORTALS."

Last June a number of young men belonging to the Semi­tars and Fes, members of the Class of '05, formed themselves into an association the names of which appears in the above headline. It seems that this is not a sort of miniature hall of fame; but an association for the purpose of keeping the memory of the members alive in each other by correspondence.

The following is the membership:

Bay Fies, Iowa City. Junior law and in graduate college. Secretary and treasurer.
J. H. Goodwin, Butt, Iowa. Junior law and in graduate college. Treasurer.
Dwight Griffin, Iowa City. Gradu­ate college, football coach.

J. E. Ehlke, Kansas City. Mo. Student of Kansas City law school.
Fred B. Steudler, Washita, Iowa. Licensed with his brother at Washita in hardware and furniture business.
Robert T. Swes, Council Bluffs, Iowa. Student of history, Reid Oak high school.

DAILY IOWAN HAS IMPROVED.

The Daily Iowan, the official news­paper of Iowa, has been brought out of the畴s considerably by the new management. It reaches Drake with a new editor and a house telephone system. An electric bell system has also been installed and each room and ward now has complete service.

Planes to sell at A. M. GREER'S.

"At Pinye Ridge", which will be at the Children next Wednesday evening, October 4, is a strong, well written production that has a story to tell and tells it well. The interest is intense, the tone of it breezy as the pine hills of Tennessee from which it takes its name, and in which it is located. There is a love story in the main thread, that leads the listener along without pause or lack of interest. It is held in rapt attention at every turn of the play.

The plot is sustained to the fall of the final curtain and no character enters by too much if such a term may be used. Mr. Higgins has so well balanced his scenes that one part contrasts with some other to the advantage of both. Fine new settings of this beautiful drama, are to be shown and all its opportunities are well utilized to make a worthy and adequate entertainment.

The Irving-Philomathians combine won a decided victory in the election of officers for the Junior class of the College of Liberal Arts yesterday afternoon, securing a comfortable majority for every candidate on their ticket. The officers elected are as follows: President, W. D. Riley; vice president, R. W. E. Wilson; secretary, D. E. Ham; treasurer, Daniel Butcher; class delegate, Remley Glass.

Mr. S. T. Walker, at one time editor of the Normal, departed from earth this summer. Mr. Walker was a strong editor, a fine scholar and a gentleman. Take him all in all he was a man.

of 1889 and is now acting captain in the U. S.

The appointment was given without Miss Yule's solicitation and upon the ground of superior work done in the department.
