"CHARLEY'S AUNT"

At ColDrmen Tonight

ANNUAL HIRING-DAY PLAY TO BE PRESENTED

Mystery Surrounding "Charley's Aunt" to be Exposed—Strong Cast and Majestic Productions

"Charley's Aunt," a drama which proved such a huge success as the older class play of last year, is to be repeated in full, and a good production. Saturday evening, an entire cast.

This is the first event of the kind held by a senior class, and it promises to be a very interesting and enjoyable evening. We expect the entire cast to be present, along with other seniors and a number of other students.

The committee has been working for some time and every effort has been made to make the social a gala event. The Greater College Meeting will be held at the First Church at 7:30. A vast amount of material has been turned out for the daily work and a special meal is to be served.

"Charley's Aunt" has already been seen in its deal, meet with a fair success, the young man of the drama has been greatly enjoyed, the cast of characters and plots being a success. The characters and plots are very good and have been cast with much care and other people also have already been engaged in the production.

The Brown Theatre Study was also engaged in the production and the Brown Theatre Study has already been seen in its deal, meet with a fair success, the young man of the drama has been greatly enjoyed, the cast of characters and plots being a success. The characters and plots are very good and have been cast with much care and other people also have already been engaged in the production.
No it's not, good Iowa offered the best.

Shepherd King at Des Moines

For the first time in the history of the modern drama a playwright has gone back 2,000 years or so to find material for his story. Wright Lordt, who is in appear at "Shep- herd King," in the Fort Dodge. The play begins in the home of David, the shepherd boy and harpist who succeeded that Paul the harpist "after a bitter struggle."

The play begins in the home of David, where the lad is shown tending his sheep. To him comes the messengers of King Saul, commanding his presence before the monarch, in order to seize his sheep and slay Saul has a daughter, and with her David falls in love. The play is not, as many unac- quainted, a religious effort, but it is a strong romantic drama, which has the need for the features of the story that make it so old as the hills.
