INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE: Trues Contra Suites
Twentv-Two Men Will Contend For Places on Teams.

The tryouts for the intercollegiate debate next year will be held in the auditorium of the Hall of Natural Sciences next Monday evening. The plan of speaking will be given promptly at 9:15 before five judges, Professors Gorton, Kay, Pierpont, Blum and E. A. Wilson.

The twentv-twvo men have already entered the contest for places. Each speaker will have eight minutes in which to present his argument. All contestants are expected to allow only nine minutes for their preparation and are to be in the library to speak twenty minutes before the judges.

Those who will speak in the meeting of committee on 15 are: Asa, Brown; Cray, Conning, Ginn, Estes, Fiebiger, Brown, Cost, Allen, Crossland, Guyett, Riddle, Brown, Sales, Les, Lincoln, and Wood,. Perry, Cross, Perry, Moore, and A. T. Kentell.

In the afternoon the same set of judges will hear the speeches and the following form will appear before the committee: At 2:24: Morses, Flatbush, West End, New York, Seventh, Harvard, Jesse, and Hill.

In these two special events, two teams of one and two alternates will be selected.

Two weeks ago a new committee was appointed by the representatives of the various professional school subscriptions to prepare a plan for an organization bringing the students of the professions in the university closer together in one association. According to the tentative plan which may be adopted the coming week members will be selected and a hstorial address be given in the spring.

The Newman Society was founded at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign, and its members have organized an annual event in celebration of Henry James's birthday. The society aims to promote the appreciation and understanding of James's works through various activities and discussions.

The Newman Society will host its annual event on James's birthday, with a variety of activities planned. The event will feature lectures, discussions, and readings of James's works, as well as a special exhibit of rare and significant Jamesiana. The society invites members and non-members alike to participate and deepen their understanding of James's life and legacy.

This annual event serves as a way to honor the contributions of James and his impact on literature. The Newman Society encourages all those interested in James's works to attend and engage in the celebration of his birthday and the rich tradition of literary appreciation it fosters.
