JIMMIE IS HONORED; GUEST OF PRESIDENT

IOWA CITY, WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 30, 1910

JOHN III OF EIGHT TEA LULL IN ESS COLLEGE

Fpliance of Two Covered Cars to Be Reopened.

Workmen at the university have been busy by the past four or five months building a large new building called the Field House, and instruction in the gymnasium is to be continued even more strongly than in the previous years.

Women's Glee Club to Sing

The morning assembly promises to be one of the best of the year. The University Women's Glee Club announced that they would conduct an elaborate program. Violins, piano and vocal numbers compose a program which promises to be a real treat. The musical assembly already held have made good and this evening's assembly is to be more than up to the previous program.

The School of Music under the direction of Miss Mabel M. Proctor, Dr. C. R. Fisher has done much toward solving the problem of keeping up the morale of the university during these trying times. This will be the result.

The Board of Trustees is presented to everyone who comes to be expected that the singing by the glee club will be rendered this evening.

The Iowa City Band will take part in the concert.

The first game of the intercollegiate league will be held about April 16 and the remaining games will be played on the following schedule. Each team in the league will each team at least one league at least one league and should not have less than two league games will be played here.

The executive committee composed of the junior class presidents in all the colleges has drawn up rules in regard to eligibility of players, the number which is any player who is played the same as for all other news for the seniority are eligible. According to this rule players who have been çonditioned or "banned" may not participate in the intercollegiate matches.

The executive committee made a careful examination of the rules of eligibility and decided to prepare for the eligibility rules in regard to eligibility of players and for all other news for the seniority are eligible. Early Drill Started.

The first early morning drill was held yesterday at 6 o'clock. More men were out than is ordinarily the case and more real "Iowa" was shown in the work. The only people to register a shock on the new arrangement were the boarding house keepers, who with one accord denounced the news on the promotion of such an appetizer. Yesterday also marked the beginning of using Iowa field as a parade ground. "It was a great deal more satisfactory," said one of the males. "We are not so crowded and could go through the maneuvers much better."

Lena Joyce Hins is enjoying a visit from her mother, Mrs. Clara Hins. Miss Lena Hins, principal of Cedar Rapids Watercolor Schools, spent yesterday in Iowa City on business.

"The Fine Arts in Our Schools" gave a talk on this subject to an invited group last evening in the chapter house of the College of Liberal Arts.

Miss Lee, retiring chairman of the Hins committee, is visiting Miss Ada, Yvonne, and Clara. She'll return tomorrow, as her position requires.

Mrs. Hins, a charter member of the college, has returned to Cedar Rapids preparatory to flying.

Clara graduated from the college of liberal arts and received her bachelor of science degree. She is a lawyer of Waterloo and has been on the bench for several years.

She, her son, and Mrs. Lewis Shill, a former student in the university, are making good use of their various lines of activity. In addition to teachers. The building is old, shabby, and quite inadequate. But, nonetheless, efforts, all available staffs, are being made and they have and will continue and make up for the absence of the cultural and the social cooperation of pupils and alumni.

Perhaps the most notable feature of the school is the work in domestic science. In what was once a furniture room, a modern and fully-equipped housekeeping department is operating under the direction of a competent teacher.
