singer in the college of liberal arts.
When he was found, John Fisher was reported as being in a serious condition with an ugly wound in the head where he was kicked by the percent horse.
The driver of the buggy immediately whipped up his horse, going down Clinton street at top speed. He was pursued by an increased crowd and later apprehended.
After a struggle, Fisher was given into the care of a local police of-cer and hurriedly taken to the city hospital. No charges were brought against him, and, after the faro of the crowds of people had subsided, he was released and allowed to get his buggy which had been taken from nearly twenty barns for safe keeping.

To Fight Diphtheria
In an aid to the war against diphtheria, the state board of health has adopted a plan of organization proposed by President Bowman which will enable the state board of health to report all new cases for diphtheria cases to date. Every month new cases have been reported, and it is believed that this method will help greatly in the spread of the disease.

Dr. Henry Albert, director of Battel, will draw his salary from the university instead of the board of health in the future.

The twelve hundred dollars formerly set aside by the board of health will be used for the state board of health.

WELCOME BACK to CAMPUS LIFE

It has been one of the fortunate incidents in the life of this store to be for more than forty years a witness of the campus life of Iowa's great university. Each new school year brings to us a host of new blood. Freshmen, they are for one short year. But from them we have seen developed the athletes, the scholars, the forensic stars, who have gone out a few years later laden with varsity honors. To these new ones, to those who return for further studies and work and a new series of campus experiences, we wish to join in saying, "WELCOME HERE FOR THE SCHOOL YEAR OF '11-'12!"

Freshmen, Cadets, Attention!

When you are required to provide yourself with a regulation military uniform, remember we are authorized expert tailors of the best-fitting and service-giving uniforms.

Clothes of Character

Old students know us and new students will soon come to know us as the house that sells Max Mayer CLOTHES OF CHARACTER. That term covers the last word in those essentials which differentiate our kind of clothing from the mass, which give to our patrons an individuality, an air of distinction sought after by every man of discriminating taste.

Featuring Strongest Known Lines

Our ready-to-wear clothing is the cream of the best that the ready-to-wear world knows. You'll find in our clothing the trade marks of Stein-Blitch, of Hershberg, and of E. Blimline, maker of College Brand clothes. You will find evidence also that clothes values here are always uniformly superior.

A Price Range from $10 to $30

We can always suit your demands as to-fit as well as price because our stock is always varied for all occasions.

High Class Tailoring

The tailoring department maintained in connection with this store has a long history of satisfactory custom work behind it. The patrons of this department are assured of expert service in cutting and perfection of style is guaranteed. Just now our new suitings for fall and winter, including the rich rough weaves so popular this season, are here for inspection.

Gym Suits—Athletic Furnishings

The Max Mayer store is athletic headquarters. You'll find the men who are speedy on the track and field are the fastest in the race toward the department of this store where we are always handling our stock suits, sweaters, and athletic furnishings of all kinds. In all this class of goods we are known for our low prices.

Latest Ideas in Haberdashery

Neckwear, Manhattan shirts, gloves, underwear, hosiery, etc., are authentically shown in late offerings here.

The Daily Iowan is appearing this fall under almost entirely new auspices, in a new city and a new editorial staff. It may be well for the editorial staff to announce its policy.

If, in the opinion of The Daily Iowan is a university paper, we believe it should represent the whole student body, in every college or fraction. This is something easier said than done. For many reasons, the staff of a college paper comes in contact with the most liberal and intellectual; and in spite of well-meaning efforts there often remains a tone, a diversity of sentiment and habit of judgment, which makes the college a study in itself. The Iowan, there for many years, is the only opportunity for the student to find a common old custom; the college spirit of the old days to which no thought. This is the theme in which there are just as many events of interest and importance in the colleges of liberal arts, just as much doing in the college of dentistry, just as much doing in the college of engineering, and in the difficulty lies in the finding out about it. Reporters from these colleges have to find their way to and from the college and have to do their reporting at a disadvantage in trying to pick up stories in strange surroundings. So if we say an event has happened here or there, some college, we can be suspected, and we say that it is our opinion rather than our fact.

Women must know enough to understand the news in the colleges of liberal arts, just as much doing in the college of dentistry, just as much doing in the college of engineering, and in the difficulty lies in the finding out about it. Reporters from these colleges have to find their way to and from the college and have to do their reporting at a disadvantage in trying to pick up stories in strange surroundings. So if we say an event has happened here or there, some college, we can be suspected, and we say that it is our opinion rather than our fact.

Again, we want to print all the good news that might otherwise escape rather than our bad news.

This season a feature is to be "write up" any venture to the limit of its news value; further, than that we haven't got the time or the interest to get everything worth knowing we solicit the aid of everyone concerned with the university. Our reporters are not numerous enough for everyone to see when he or she has an item of interest; falling in this case in the office or on the news box in the basement of the Liberal Arts Hall.

Randall and Ferson Follow Gregory to Eastern University.

Iowa legal lights are becoming prominent at George Washington University since the installation of for­ mer Iowa City Noble Gregory as head of the school. During the summer the Iowa law trained lawyers accepted positions with that institution, these being Morton L. Ferson of Iowa City and Frank Randall of Cedar Rapids.

Mr. Ferson, who left Iowa City last Wednesday to take up the de­ parture of his new position, was for many years a law librarian for the university, and through his position secured acquaintance with almost every law student at Iowa during the past eight years. At the 1910 pri­ morial he was a candidate for the Republican nomination for state attorney general, and for the past year has been engaged in the practice of law, and is the member of the firm of Walter and Ferson.

He resigned his position in the university at the time of the formation of this partnership.

Mr. Randall is one of the best known of the younger alumni of the Iowa law school, from which he graduated in 1909. He was for three years south of the Iowa de­ mestic laws, and it was during this period that he was engaged in and given of Superintendent Benjamin F. Randall and Ferson Follow Gregory to Eastern University.

Iowa legal lights are becoming prominent at George Washington University since the installation of for­ mer Iowa City Noble Gregory as head of the school. During the summer the Iowa law trained lawyers accepted positions with that institution, these being Morton L. Ferson of Iowa City and Frank Randall of Cedar Rapids.

Mr. Ferson, who left Iowa City last Wednesday to take up the de­ parture of his new position, was for many years a law librarian for the university, and through his position secured acquaintance with almost every law student at Iowa during the past eight years. At the 1910 pri­ morial he was a candidate for the Republican nomination for state attorney general, and for the past year has been engaged in the practice of law, and is the member of the firm of Walter and Ferson.

He resigned his position in the university at the time of the formation of this partnership.

Mr. Randall is one of the best known of the younger alumni of the Iowa law school, from which he graduated in 1909. He was for three years south of the Iowa de­ mestic laws, and it was during this period that he was engaged in and given of Superintendent Benjamin F. Shambaugh are Miss Florence Novak of Desmo­ ines, M. W. Price of Decorah, and David Williams of Kossuth County.

The research associates chosen are Prof. John J. Braithwaite, Prof. Harry Berry, and E. Van der Beck. As research as­ sociates, Prof. O. C. Clark, Prof. A. C. Garrett, Prof. L. B. Schmidt, and C. R. Arment were elected.

School of Music Spinghst Verjambrg Inquiries received by Professor Schoettle, director of the university school of music, from returning students in regard to the musical courses for the coming year indicate that 1911-12 will be the most successful year the school has had since its organization. Anticipating an increased audience Professor Schoettle has just added two new grand pianos to the school equipment, which now compares favorably with that of any musical school of the state.

The teaching staff for the coming year, as it includes Professor Schoettle, head of the piano department, and instructor in theory and harmony; Miss Profitt in charge of the vocal department; Mrs. Schoettle, head of the preparatory piano department; Miss Flanagan, assistant teacher of pianoforte. Mrs. Starbuck will give a course in the history of music, and Professor Schoettle will give a series of illustrated lectures on "Appreciation of Music" which is intended not only for students but more particularly for those whose time and opportunities for study of music are limited.

Alumni Data

Word of the death of Ross Wil­lard Rogers, a graduate of the 8, T. I. dental school with the class of 1896, comes from Fayette, Iowa. Rogers passed away at that place in August 31, as a result of complications following an attack of measles last January. He was married in December, 1896, to Miss Maude Hor­ton of Council Bluffs, Iowa. Dr. Ror­gers had been practicing his profession in Gorham, Kansas and Grand Island, Nebraska, since his graduation, and was making a prominent success until stopped by sickness.

(Continued from page 3) or Captains Hyland and Thomas are gone, and their places may be hard to fill. Business alternated with Thom­son last year, and gained experience which ought to be available half this season. Hyland's place will not be so easy to fill. The mighty Hylander was a fighting player, with lots of speed and a wonderful ability of picking holes and running through an open field. Beside this, he was en­abled upon to the kicking. Captain Murphy, the most reliable and sure of the backs when a short kick is absolutely necessary, may be shifted to fill and another backfield sought.

Curry at quarter is perhaps the best of the Iowa running backs and spectacular gains. After he hit his stride last year the Ida Grove star played a wonderful game, breaking twelve yards every time he carried the ball. His long runs while circling the ends or returning punts have turned every game, and his short cuts keeping the blawkees together and fighting back the Agile attack after Hyland's injury at Ann peppered the Iowans as much as the Indians did him.

The annual Y. M. C. A. banquet was a great success. The Y. M. C. A. employment bureau was a great encouragement to the student body of the University, and Secretary Williams of the Y. M. C. A. when asked yesterday to an Iowa newspaper, "We want to make our employment bureau a great power in the service, and to that end we want every fellow who wants work and every person who is in search of assistants, or has work to be done to get in touch with us. The Y. M. C. A. employment bureau is managed for the benefit of every man connected with the University, regardless of his creed, beliefs, or anything else. We want every man or girl to feel perfectly free to come to us if he desires work of any kind."

Clark in Van-Hill Game

George Clark, the former A.A.C. catcher who is now with Sioux City, in his last Tuesday at the Des Moines team of the Western league down without a hit or run. The collection, including several at Iowa, who failed to do much damage to Clark last spring, now feel confused. The big southpaw's work with Sioux City has been too good all summer that he has been sold to the New York Americans.

Handbook Is Out

The annual Y. M. C. A. handbook has made its appearance for the year charge and is being distributed to the students at close sale. The book this year has been in charge of Frank Hostetler, who has made it a success in all respects.

As usual, the handbook contains much information of value to every university student, but is especially interesting and useful to the freshmen, who know little about the city.

George Kellinger of Sioux City, who recently underwent an operation at the university hospital, is recovering.

It is in so very few cases that the chorus men are the champions—always an opportunity for advancement. The chorus man's week walk—or literally his skip—in life cannot be an exception.

Undoubtedly Mort H. Singer deserves credit. He has surrounded Mr. Winters with chorus men who look like young men who meet in real life, and not some of the chorus men in musical comedy. They look as if they might succeed, and possibly sometimes in the near future, "rise on wings of songs of their dead mates to higher things."

there has grown up during recent years what may very appropriately be called "The Iowa School of Research in Political Science," a group of men without any definite organization, but bound together by common ideals and similar methods of investigation.

This "Iowa School of Research in Political Science," which has existed in spirit for some time, met at a dinner given at the home of Professor Shambaugh on the evening of August 18th. The dinner was in honor of the appearance of two books written by members of the group, who are also graduates of the State University of Iowa. Mr. Irving R. B. Dickman, '88, M. A. '96, is the author of a volume entitled "California Cadder Pairs and Swastika," which recently came from the press of the Houghton Mifflin Company. Professor Charles E. Fisher, Ph. D., 1909, is the author of a biography of Henry Dodge, which the Historical Society has published in the "Iowa Biographical Series."

A majority of those present at the dinner spent the summer in Iowa City doing research work for the State Historical Society of Iowa. For instance, Dr. John C. Parish who is well known in University circles, was engaged in the preparation of a biography of George W. Jones, one of the first two United States Senators from Iowa. Mr. Jacob Van der Soelen spent last year at Harvard University, returned to complete a volume on the history of the Dutch in Iowa. Dr. R. H. Darway of Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, and Dr. John E. Bender of Ames prepared investigations along very practical lines, the former studying the question of employers' liability in Iowa, while the latter worked on the subject of road legislation in Iowa. Dr. Dan E. Clark began his study of the history of territorial elections in Iowa.

Two men, Professor Frank H. Garver, now of Montana State Normal College, and Mr. Clarence R. Amos of Iowa City, were occupied in the investigation of local government in Iowa, the former devoting himself to county government and the latter to township government. Professor Frank E. Horr of the University also brought to completion "a new book on "The Government of Iowa," which will soon be put on sale by Charles Scribner's Sons. Professor G. B. Clark of Drake University gathered materials for a volume dealing with the political history of Iowa during the period of the Civil War and Reconstruction. Other investigations along political lines were those of Professor L. R. Schmidt of Ames, who is preparing a monograph on Congressional elections in Iowa, and of Professor Paul A. Poore, of the University, who is making a study of the attitude of the people of Iowa toward the tariff from the time of the establishment of the Territory down to the present.

Mr. Henry J. Patterson of the State Teachers' College made research in the history of corrupt practices in Iowa. A history of the Iowa codes is being prepared by Mr. Clifford Powell, who is pursuing studies in the Graduate College and the College of Law. And although Mr. Kenneth Colgrove has been at Harvard University the past year and spent the summer in study in Germany, it should be noted that he has been making valuable contributions to Iowa and western history in his monograph on "The Attitude of Congress Toward the Pioneers of the West."

These men, with only a few exceptions, are graduates of the University of Iowa, and many of them have received higher degrees in the Department of Political Science.

Company I armorial opened the season last night with an open house for students. Doubtless Majestic hat has been in use all week for security ranking parties.

Miss Hamashima, one of the best known Japanese students in the university during the past year, who graduated at the end of the summer session, is traveling through the United States and will not return to Japan until the end of the year.
