Kenyon nominated by mock convention

Zeta Aggies name junior senator from Iowa

Landlord on Fourth ballot comes as a breath of relief to Blume, Chadlender, of Ames.

In a session that was marked by electric bursts of energy and an unparalleled exhibition of party enthusiasm, the delegates to the Zeta Aggie mock republican national convention assembled in the natural science auditorium last night and named Kenyon to represent the republican party in the national convention.

The charge of Senator Kenyon was accepted promptly by the delegates, or the mock convention, and the candidate got the fourth ballot and was named as Kenyon's successor.

On the first three ballots, Kenyon received only one vote each time. Then it seemed apparent that the convention was rapidly approaching a deadlock, the Iowa delegation suddenly switched its support to the junior senator.

Senators followed the will of the people and the nomination was won.

Senator Kenyon was nominated by the Honorable Hiram Chadlender, of Ames, alias R. N. Beebe, who consistently refused to support any candidate, and finally, substituted his own nomination in favor of the whole party to his particular portion.

The convention was opened by Chas. A. Corey representing the Dramatic club.

The meetings were conducted by Amos赴.

The speech was given by the Hon. Hiram Chadlender, and the speech was delivered in a mass meeting.

The first ballot, Roosevelt received 433, and Kenyon 2.

The second ballot was held this morning, and Roosevelt received 433, and Kenyon 2.

The third ballot gave Roosevelt 433, and Kenyon 2.

The fourth ballot was held this morning, and Roosevelt received 433, and Kenyon 2.

These men will make up the trip to the Drake relay carnival on Saturday afternoon and evening.

The Pandean players have been working on the play for a long period dancing efforts in the last vaudeville school records, but both are doing accurate information in the cast promises much for the future.
