MUSICA SPEAKS TO LAW

Friday night Captain Morton C. Muma spoke before the Marshall Law society on the subject of "Court Martial." He treated several prominent cases among which were the Pullman case of Colorado and the Grafton case of the Philippines. Captain Morton C. Muma has been placed in the reserve court of the United States. He revealed the crevasse of what is known as a "court martial" and put it in perspective by both the civil and military courts and was decided in favor of Graham, who was acquitted by the court martial because he was tried by the civil authorities. There is now a standing order to the effect that the military authorities shall use the utmost despair to try a military officer before the civil authorities if the case can be tried in court martial or the express opinion of the military counsel of the case is that the case will be taken by the civil authorities. At the recent session of the commanding officer of Fort Des Moines, the law for the apprehension of court martial defendants were cut in thirty minutes after the shooting.

WISCONSIN WINS TWO

Children's Tactics
Such an attitude as that taken by certain institutions in threatening to withdraw from the Western conference if their radical demands are not granted is unbecoming and unwise, open to the just condemnation of all sport lovers who advocate clean and pure sport.

Children threaten by these unwise actions to their future action in case their demands are not granted is no better a way of seeking the end of the controversy for which the conference was organized. Illinois and Minnesota appear to be engaged in a contest to see which of them is the more intolerant, and it does not seem that the conference was formed with an eye to the good of the country in its general interests. The conference was formed with a view to the good of the country in its general interest, and it does not seem that the conference was formed with a view to seek what is called a "winning" position. Most Brilliant of Parties in the Sixth Pan-Hellenic

Decorations Called Best Ever Seen at Formal Here

The Sixth annual Pan-Hellenic, which was given Friday evening at the armory, was generally conceded to be one of the most successful social functions that has ever been staged at the university. The decreations of the party, which were designed by a prominent Des Moines firm, were exactly the feature of the party. A rather attractive group of green and white with a seating of sky-blue was made to represent the Greek temple of lris. It had been a Pan-Hellenic custom that the representatives of the various fraternities shall lead the grand march in turn. This year it was led by P. A. Walters and Deborah Wiler. Dusky's orchestra furnished the music for the程序 of dances, and the usual party perfection was achieved.

Among the list of out of town guests present were the following: Clara Laberg, Gertrude Deschen, Carlotta Williams, Blossom Lynch of Cedar Rapids; Kelia Dayton, Hazel Nelson, Orlina, Twinn, Home, Glencoe; Laura Yates, Mary Frank, N. D.; Ruth Gulliver, Cedar Falls; Hortotilla Kline, Bolster; Margaret Calder, Florence O'Callahan, and Ovena Horn, Des Moines.

Cloaks, Gowns, Robes: Versa Williams, Virginia; Frister Burton, Glencoe; Edith Addison, Nevada; Mary Dwight, Fortuna; Helen Beaver, comparatively.

The program included:

Mrs. Kenneth McCallum, Mrs. W. C. Stewart, Mrs. Carl Sproul, Mrs. J. C. Newsham, Mrs. A. C. Smith, Mrs. J. B. Leach, Mrs. J. Z. Poyntz. The committee made up of one representative from each fraternity consisted of:

A meeting of the basketball students of Appleton Science was held on Friday afternoon for the purpose of stirring interest in engineer baseball.

Prof. A. G. Ball, of the athletics department, gave a talk on spring sports—track work and football, in particular. He reminded the players that when well taken and no dog will result in an increased interest among the engineers in university athletics. Football material is available on the engineer team this year, and there is little doubt that the program of St. Paul will figure prominently in spring sports on the campus.
