Professor Stephen H. Bush discourses on "The Big Eight Situation," action in the Big Eight. He believes that division should be done away with. He states that the Big Eight is not an organization of equal division, but is a means of making the conference stronger. He believes that the Big Eight should be reorganized to include teams from other divisions.

Professor Bush suggests that the Big Eight should be divided into two groups of four, with each group consisting of teams from different divisions. This would allow for more competitive games and would make the conference stronger. He also suggests that the Big Eight should have a commissioner to oversee the conference and ensure that the rules are followed.

Hawkeye Going Fast

The sale of the 1913 Hawkeye so far has been a record breaker, as orders received from men who have been here a number of years. The management fulfilled the promise made and the student body showed its appreciation by stepping in and taking the extra books at once. There are, however, still about one hundred subscribers who have not yet called for their books. The management is especially anxious to close the matter up and requests that all call for their books, tomorrow. The books will be on sale all day at the north east of liberal arts building, second floor.

The departments are still holding some books for subscribers, and these can be obtained by calling. If for any reason the department quarters are not open, call at plate of dispensers in the library.

much to say about pure amateurism.

It is becoming the article, Professor Bish writes: "Whatever may have happened, the Big Eight Committee has decided that everything we have before us now is a new plain duty. Let us not try to escape facing the facts by the expression of an idea which no longer applies, but clear up our athletic atmosphere by applying only tests that will work. We can then secure the cooperation of our students, do away with the need of truing, and face so much better our more serious difficulties."

Up the River Again

Another of those popular boat camp canoe trips will be taken up the Iowa river Sunday morning. Here, Jones, who led the fleet the last year, will again take charge and deliver a speech while the boats float down the stream. This will be the last trip to be taken with the Jones, as he leaves now to take a position at Council Bluffs.

The party is scheduled to leave the boat house at 6 o'clock sharp, Sunday morning. From there the canoes will be paddled to the University. The Country club house, where they will be loaded together, and after a light breakfast, floated with the current, while Dr. Jones delivers his lecture. All are cordially invited to take part in this trip, that the only condition is going furnish their own boats.

Send your shoes to us to be repaired instead of discarding them and purchasing new ones. Ladies are generally the most particular about how their shoes are repaired, but we can please the most particular, as we use nothing but the best of material and with the aid of modern machinery, we are able to turn out work that looks like new and wears as well.
