CADETS LEARNING REAL-WAR TRICKS

DARES REQUIREMENTS FOR REAL SERVICE, THEY DO THEIR BUSINESS.

Intelligence in Modern Methods of Victory is Needed, Make Big Hugger Milk a Success.

The man of the university regiment are being trained in the practice of actual warfare, under the direction of Lieut. R. T. Phinney, who has been assisted by officers of the cadets in the various matters involved.

The cadets are being instructed in how to fire a fixed weapon, to move about on the battlefield, and how to cover their retreat. They are shown how, in this position and hold it, when in various points of high and low positions, and other important matters about actual service.

The interest in being alive is a high one among the cadets here, which has been stimulated by the fact, in close formation drill. Marching is extended order, but between the men this year than before, is a matter of service to the service. In this field he must have the primary training, in the matter training of which the Company A Cadets Company is getting now. It is believed that the manner in which this is to take up the more scientific work this would necessarily become a part of every cadet called to service.

HAWKES MAY DO PURDUE; MAY NOT

OUTCOME OF TODAY'S GAME CONSIDERED UNCERTAIN

Much Depends on Redfield Line—Bower Makes First Appearance at Field (By Harold Pyle)

The rejuvenated Iowa college will be just at their first and past the afternoon game, and the Purdue defense of Lafayette will more than offset the speed of the Hawkeyes. In this half the Hawkeyes will be ranked 20th in the standings and this speed will have to be offset by the strong men from the University of Illinois. The problem is whether the Purdue defense can overcome the Hawkeyes, and whether the Hawkeyes can overcome the Purdue offense.

Mr. Hawkeye's defensive line will be added to the defense, the half-backs to be handled by the center.

The elevation of the line is not to be expected in the game, but it is much easier to be offset by the Purdue speed. In the first part of the game the Purdue defense will be handled by the center.

THE DAILY IOWAN

A Newspaper for the Students of the University of Iowa. Entered at Post Office Iowa City, Iowa, Second Class Matter.

To the Editor: as a whole, especially in the high school, and in the present instance that part rests with the womanhood as lies within their most truly representative girl. As to the selection, the organization will, we hope, appreciate the standard we are to set and will select those girls that combine all those qualities that we all admire in women. Beauty and popularity are not barred but they ought to have little or no bearing on their selection of a representative.

As to the assurance that it would be, we can only say that, as far as that aspect is concerned, we reserve the right to take the affair before a faculty board, and if sufficient proof is offered, either the correctness. In this way we can give our personal assurance that there will be no possibility of the wrong impression of our Iowa girl being circulated by the Hawkeye publication. We want true Iowa girls or will not hold the contest. We want the state as a whole, especially in the high schools, to understand and appreciate the type of women that the university of Iowa produces. The entrants are not limited to the selections of the different organizations or any group of fifteen people who are dissatisfied with the one selected may put their entrant in the field by suggesting her name in writing over their signatures and proceeding it to Business Manager Crites who has control of the plans. In conclusion we wish to state that any girl who has control of the plans.

The government of Colombia, South America, has asked W. M. Jarrett, dean of agriculture at Kansas State Agricultural college, to make a survey of the country to determine its possibilities for dry farming. President and Mrs. Macbride were hosts Wednesday night at the annual reception for faculty folk held at the president's home.
