University Men Call It "Influence" for "Honest Adversary Approach"

"Compose My Stories With Thee" is "Harpo's" favorite topics.

The Midland, Iowa's little magazine of good literature, begins its third week with a full page of poems and short stories, featuring the works of local authors.

PRESIDENT OF VAUDEVILLE

NOTED ON RADIUM BROADWAY

A recent edition of the Des Moines News states that Miss Helen Shepley, who has been singing her popular vaudeville number "Merry Christmas," is being joined by a new member of the cast, Miss Marla Potter, who served in the chemical laboratory at the University of Iowa. The new addition to the cast, Miss Potter, has gained considerable recognition for her skills in the scientific fields.

Jones, D. L. (acuity)

In several places and alumni will gather together for a Iowa reunion. Here is a good chance for them to formulate plans to provide more student and alumni activities at the university. It is not al ready one of these reunion planning for your town, secure a list of the former students and alumni in your community from Tom Logan, W aterloo at the Abbon Bureau in the Old Campus and start now, look up to the former students and alumni in your town this spring. Remind them of their obligations to the university and your enthusiasm. Get them so interested that they will call you or write you for the names of other students or others who may some -day go away to school, and be sure to talk to them some person yourself. Let them know that the University is the proper place for them to enroll and tell them why. If they want information regarding courses which you are unfamiliar, write the registrar for it. It is no better way than this can you serve your University while enjoying the period of vacation which has been granted. And remember that it is the good men and women we want, the one - and - a - half, not the incompetent. The University has invested a lot of hard money in you. It is the job now to go back to school.

The eye of Christmas

The hayman, beaver-like, crowd moves in and out through the beauty filled streets. Here and there a few step aside to look at some of the industries or make an eleventh-hour purchase, but those places are quickly filled, and the street plans pass its way along. Everyone, kept up by the excitement of the event, is looking with a lighter step. All are pilgrims on their way back home. Next door opened door is the signal for a fresh burst of children's excitement.

Debaters, entertainers, happiness, and laughter are mingled at every house.

Arro w the race, the herd in pursuit.

On the hilltops the crimson or the green, the red or the yellow, the roofs of blackened cities hags and statements are in content, turning in their hands hundreds of books. Back of the battle lines where they cannot see the ran ging armies, where they cannot hear the cannon and the drumbeats are the real warriors, still waiting.

And for beyond in the country of Judea lies the village of Bethlehem. On the hilltops the crimson or the green, the red or the yellow, the roofs of blackened cities hags and statements are in content, turning in their hands hundreds of books. Back of the battle lines where they cannot see the running armies, where they cannot hear the cannon and the drumbeats are the real warriors, still waiting.

When to come back

A core member of the faculty suggests that it is The Iowa's duty to inform the freshmen positively that they are to return from vaca tion.

Courses begin at 8:00 o'clock, Wed day morning, January 16, and there are serious penalties to be paid by the erring student who misses classes.

1916 Will Be a JEWELRY CHRISTMAS

There has been more interest expressed this year in Jewelry for Christmas than ever before. We are glad to say that never before were we so well prepared for the Holiday trade. You will find here a wide selection in expensive and inexpensive articles—gifts which the recipient will cherish for years to come.

Diamond Camino and Pearl En Vallettes are the most popular styles. We are showing a splendid department.
