CHICAGO PLAN IS FAVORED BY MUMMA

The establishment of military training in the Chicago high schools was advanced by William E. Mumma, president of the Chicago Teachers' Association. Mumma, a prominent educator, is now in the first year of his term as head of the Chicago school system. The proposal is supported by many of the city's leading citizens, including business leaders and community volunteers. The plan would provide a foundation for the advancement of science, technology, and military education in the city's schools.

OLD STONE CAPITOL HAS NOTED HISTORY

When the Iowa legislature convened in 1846, the Old Stone Capitol was completed and dedicated. It served as the seat of government for nearly a century, until it was replaced by the new capital city of Des Moines in 1857. The building was designed by architect Cass Gilbert and is considered one of the finest examples of American Gothic Revival architecture.

STUDENT BODY TO HAVE OPPORTUNITY TO REPAY DAMAGES

Plans are underway for a new student body to have the opportunity to repay damages. The plans involve a voluntary contribution by students to cover the costs of the new facility. The initiative is part of the university's effort to provide a world-class educational experience for its students.

The Glohy, Vain Thing

Now is the current suit, the picture-back overcoat, the semi-military hat, and tobacco shell-pointed spectacles. A few years ago purity and 40-inch coats were the trademarks of the generation.

Three or four decades farther back into the past, “Old” thought it necessary to press the creases out of his trousers before setting out to perambulate a pretty, cowboy-choked hamlet to make his life worth living. And she, your mother, told you of “granddad” with his pressed boots, his four-inch oxford and knee-length coat. And perhaps she can show you a picture of great “grandad,” in knee trousers, buckled pumps and powdered hair.

Glancing still further into history we see the Roman senators in their toga, embroidered and elaborated. What is the answer? The same as that given by the monks who painted bald-faced faces and shaved their tracts—true, to make himself more attractive to the fatale of the species.

With what result? Your son will tell you when he looks at some of your college photos 20 or 20 years. Undergraduates

NO NEED FOR ALARM OVER BILL PASSAGE

"During a period of seventy years—that is, from 1844 to 1916—the records show that there have been introduced into the General Assemby of Iowa a total of nearly 250,000 bills and joint resolutions," says Prof. Fred. F. Slaughter, director of the State Historical Society of Iowa. "Of those approximately 18,000 passed both houses and were placed upon the statute books, while about $2,000,000 left the premises. To those who are alarmed at the tendency of the legislature to add the volume of the statute law at an ever increasing rate, it may be something of a relief to learn that there are actually fewer bills introduced in the General Assembly in 1915 than in 1812, and that the mortality of those preceived at the legislature is over 90 per cent.

For instance, Mr. E. W. Page, the investigator of the United States Tariff Commission, has reported that in 1812 there were 33,825 bills introduced in the legislature of the United States, of which 8,000 were passed both houses and were placed upon the statute books. In 1915 there were approximately 8,000 bills introduced in the legislature of Iowa, of which 2,500 were placed upon the statute books.

The bill that passed both houses and was placed upon the statute books in 1812 that has had the longest life is the act of 1839 providing for the appointment of a state auditor.
