Tillzell Delivers Address of Victory

Two former Iowa graduate students among others contributed to the "Physical Review." One of these students was an author of "Biological Properties of Phosphorus-Bronze Wires." The last monthly issue has written an article on the "Qigong" of China. It is a physical discipline.

The impatient of the water was due to the fact that on Wednesday night the workers at the city gate failed to close the river valve as had been instructed. It was a matter of great concern to the public. The water was pumped into the canal before it was discovered.

Bacteriologist recommends the treatment of mill effluent. The treatment was recommended due to the large amount of water which runs into the river.

APPOLO CHERRY VOTED INTO CONFERENCE TUESDAY NIGHT

"People who have the idea that conclusions are based on the facts of the matter, that the facts of the matter, that the facts of the matter, have not been revealed to large extent in which financial institutions are controlled by the banks, will proceed more cautiously in the future." The judge denied the defendant, in a case before the legislature of Illinois, the power to compel his testimony. MORSEBY AND WALKUP WIN MARSHALL LAW CASE

Judge Ogilvie rendered a decision in the case of Morseby and Walkup, attorneys for the plaintiff, versus the city of Marshall. The case was tried in the city court. The judge awarded the attorneys a fee of $500. The decision was based on the theory that the fees were earned in the course of the case.

The graduating class was the first group of the 1916-1917 basketball season to be honored. The students were asked to vote on a new president for the class. The vote was held on the last night of the season. The graduates were honored in the presence of the alumni association and the faculty. The graduates were honored in the presence of the alumni association and the faculty.

Nearly all the men of the faculty were present when the petition for the appointment of a president was presented. The President of the Senate, Edvin W. Marckbach, of the Department of History, expressed the hope that the petition be granted.

It is said that more than a hundred numbers of the barely signed the petition for this form of government in Iowa City.

LOWDEN FORMED HIS IDEALS WHILE HERE

SPEECHES BERE RESEMBLED HIS LAST WEEK'S INAUGURATION ADDRESS

When Gov. Frank L. Lowden, '86, made his inaugural address before the legislature of Illinois, he said that he would use the money which he had worked out while still an undergraduate in the University of Illinois, and that he would use it in the interests of the people. He said that he would use the money which he had worked out while still an undergraduate in the University of Illinois, and that he would use it in the interests of the people.

Aside from these two general items in the existing plan of government, there is another plan which might be considered. A large number of citizens are working on a plan for the organization of a large public interest and upon which the governor, even in '85, froze his interest. The plan is to be today unveiled by Governor Lowden, which no appointment shall be made. The legislature of the state has been organized. It is hoped that the plan will be made the subject of the session of the state legislature, but it seems certain that the governor's plan will be taken up by the legislature.

With the loss of one of our staff members, the Daily Iowan ventures to turn its attention to the rightful owners of the papers, who have been looking for the last two days. This morning, Mr. J. W. McNichols, the advertising manager, has been looking for the papers, too. It is hoped that they will be found soon.

The Editor-in-Chief, Geo. H. Benfield, has been looking for the papers on the last day of the week. He has been looking for them even though the newspapers are covered with the customary newsprint and paper. The risk of appearing somewhat pretentious in the editorial section of the newspaper, to the contrary, is not one that will bear scrutiny. One may look for a time to come to find the papers, but the newspapers are covered.

BOOK-RETURNING DAY

A. L. T., the only reason why nearly everyone who has been looking for the Chicago Tribune, proposes Jan. 15, tomorrow, for book-returning day. He would have every one on that day return the right-hand end of the books accumulated by the borrowers and librarians of the proper part. At the risk of appearing somewhat pretentious in the editorial section, this newspaper ventures to re-assert Mr. Taylor's notion. To return a book successfully borrowed is an outer form of righteousness, but one which has its utilitarian aspects. If the practice is made general, nobody may bring back that copy of Omar that you've been looking for.

As we understand it, the order of the day includes the returning of books which have been stolen from libraries. It will be well for the holders of these books to make the set of replacing the books an automatic one. Let the college officials gently, from beneath the cover of a staff or chair in some secluded part of the library, it will be discovered there later. Professors who have been assuming their rightful position to keep books out beyond the two weeks limit might well join the crowd sorting bookshelves. It may be only this shall ever be in line in the Nation. What is it all about? These and other questions of equal, general current day which every citizen will be answered in the coming phraseology. The Eagle's Wings, to be published at the front of the newspaper on January 14, 1917, this stirring patriotic drama is a non-political, non-partisan, patriotic phenomenon—a lesson in loyalty for every citizen of the Union.

Spending is an Art

All students come to Iowa with the purpose of spending the allotted sum which they bring or which is sent to them during the year.

By efficient spending they could put away twenty-five or fifty cents a week without depriving themselves of their necessary luxuries.

The BRUNSWICK PHONOGRAPH
now presented to the people of Iowa City and vicinity

What we now offer brings a new musical epoch. New artistic standards are attained, greater pleasures.

The Brunswick places the whole world of music at your command—without restrictions.

With the perfection of this super-phonograph is announced an international alliance with Pathe. This opens up a new and richer musical world. Pathe records—with Europe's greatest favorites—afford unlimited treats.

This combination, we believe, is of first importance to all music lovers.

The Brunswick offers many costly records at tempting prices—below the usual.

For years the Home of Brunswick has been building phonograph cabinets for others... until it was ready to announce a final type phonograph.

Until this announcement of the Brunswick, each maker has limited his machine to a certain type of records, to foster their sale.

One machine was limited to needle records—another to a jewel point. Each excluded the other. The wonderful Pathe records were barred.

The Brunswick removes these irksome conditions.

Choose any record you like—for the Brunswick plays all makes of disc records—with the exact equipment called for on their own machines.

All this is accomplished on the Brunswick by two simple, instantly interchangeable sound boxes. On this composite phonograph you will note a jewel point, sapphire needles of steel, etc., without extra cost.

The sound chamber in the Brunswick is designed by a famous expert. And built like a violin, from long-seasoned and chosen woods from out our own forests.

Aesthetically, it is perfect. We know you will recognize the difference when you hear this machine at our studio and make comparisons.

We want you to note also how Brunswick inventors and designers have taken all machines and combined them in one. In the Brunswick you find only the best features of the many.

Note All, the features not to be obtained elsewhere. Compare the prices.

We invite you in and hear the Brunswick.

Once you know the Brunswick you will prefer it. And the prices will astonish you.
