SPECIAL ELECTION MAY BE HELD ON LIQUOR QUESTION

(Constitutional Amendment to Be Presented Before October)

Question Arises Over Whether Issue Shall Be Decided at Special or Regular Election-ballot Offered (By Moral Support).

(Special to the Daily Iowan)
Des Moines, Jan. 19-Whether issue enters the list of states which have constitutional prohibition of the liquor traffic probably will be decided later than usual by the electorate of the state next October, by the use of a special election.

Senator Fred C. Wessel, who is chairman of the committee appointed by the Senate to consider the prohibition amendment, which necessary, has prepared a bill for the submission of the question at the next regular election in November. Similar measures will have enough support to secure a place on the ballot.

The financial statement of the The Daily Iowan Publishing Company is given in this issue of the Iowa, October 24th, 1916. The season up to that time was a bit of money in the bank, and are handled as dividends payable. *Note-Salary expense as listed in the statement up to December 15 is figured at $290.71. Furthermore and in accordance with our expert’s figures, we are fairly happy. Remember one thing, students of Iowa, this is your paper. Subscribe for it and help in every way you can.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF THE DAILY IOWAN PUBLISHING COMPANY

Prior to October 24th, 1916, records are not available, but a statement of the attached financial condition on October 24th, 1916, is as follows: (The next column is added in proof.) The Daily Iowan has been forced to make any considerable profits which were not turned to the paper up to that time. At the time this report was averaged much more than that stated above.$300.00 was placed to sundries and reading room. We have tried to translate both right and wrong side up; we tried to translate as Egyptian hieroglyphics. In fact, we have tried to translate them as we would have translated them if they had been seen here as ordinary accounts, the report would have told a different story.

To be sure, there is not the expenditure of times when the students have placed in charge of their paper to make any considerable profits this year. When the present system was adopted, it was distinctly understood that henceforth The Daily Iowan should be a truly representative student paper. For this reason a number of important changes were made, changes which were vital. The most important of these, perhaps, was the addition of a paper each week, each issue, and by appoint. No., 208...

The above figures have been verified by examination of the books of The Daily Iowan Publishing and found to be correct.

GALLAGHER TELLS OF MEXICAN MANEUVERS
CAPTAIN MURPHY OUTLINES SECONl SEMESTER'S WORK FOR ENGINEERS

Engineers need not wonder why Captain Murphy's work will be in the cut-and-dried regions will be. Upon the formation of Captain M. C. Murphy, the commandant of cadets, the First Lines of Charles W. Gallagher of Company A, a member of the idea National guard, told the engineering battalion what the engineers had to do on the border, and the conditions under which that work was accomplished.

Ideally explored, what much of the engineering battalion se~sions are the work will be like, upon the bank of a short cultivate of the second semester's work in a providing for Captain Murphy. He told of the construction of camp and water empty at Brownsville and its vicinity, of the ten-day maneuvers at Brownsville were realized, especially those interesting to engineers. Special attention was placed on the usual task to an engineer of this particular trouble in the engineering profession in peace times.

The court sentenced him to capi- tal punishment, but here in his con-ideration of the strange suspension, and the man's patience in trying in volving it, commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

Mr. Wilkes thinks the endurance of the custom very strong, and especially interesting, in view of the fact that nearly all of the other professional colleges have discontinued their superstitions custom.

SAYS STUDENTS COME TO HUNT FOR MUTES TO MAYS AT IOWA PRIMARILY

"The Storkman suggests that a course in music making is introduced in the University on a social basis with "other professional colleges. Iowa university has the material but it is not organized. Iowa will find a big step if she adopts this idea.

The poems of women who appear on this subject are so numerous yesterday said, "I have no reaction on the course it is course. It is so natural that there should be such things in the University. We ac-
pet. As for courses in music making, we find here in our home organsar to our concerts, which also is phrasing that very idea. I see nothing unusual in the creation."

DANGEROUS SAYS STUDENTS HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO GET TOGETHER

"When you have to pay the fed-tal tax, you say it in your heart when you dance and how long," Robert E. Motter, advisor of men's fraternity, said Saturday at an informal discussion of plans for future celebrations.

"I would have more confidence in the matter of the incident "how to avoid future impossible collections of that requested" more rapid to-proposed payments depending upon the fact at the celebration, Mr. Motter declared. "It would have been easier to put together to take any action. It is my opinion that for future collections this is a more imaginative statement of the students rather than wisdom to faculty regulation."

Mr. Motter remarked that he thought the plan of student recommendation for past damages was acceptable to the students organizations. He followed the preceding fall.

GRADUATE STUDY IN HIGH-SCHOOL COMMERCE

The committee on commerce, under the direction of E. A. Blankenship, coordinator of commercial education in the University, and a graduate of the University of Iowa, has prepared a program of study suitable for high-school graduates, or for any student who desires to secure a special training in the commercial field. The course is designed to meet the needs of the commercial student and to provide a thorough foundation in the principles of business and commerce. The course consists of four main branches: accounting, bookkeeping, commercial law, and commercial arithmetic. The purpose is to provide a comprehensive program of study that will enable the student to【...】
