VOTE ON SELF GOVERNMENT

The woman in the University will have a chance to vote on the question of self government on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Self government is an excellent modern method of governing students affairs if properly carried out. In the past its success, if any, has been the hearty cooperation of every student coming under its jurisdiction, but first, and most important, it must be fully understood by every student. Self government has proved of much value both to the students and to the members of the faculty because both carried out its part of the contrast. In other words, where this has not been the case, the plan was a failure.

The Daily Iowan is of the opinion that, under favorable conditions, people can and should of self government. We believe that the plan would be a success at Iowa because the women fully understand what self government is and what must be done in order to make it a success. Every woman in the University should vote on the most important question when it comes to election on Wednesday and Thursday. However, we urge that every voter know just what the plan consists of to its minutest detail, and that no person cast a vote merely because the pro-position seems to sound good and some friend advises that way.

UNIVERSITY OPINION

Note-The Daily Iowan will gladly accept your contributions from all students and faculty members. The daily newspaper is the only organ of student opinion in the University and every student is responsible for the somewhat balanced comment. The university -satis- heartless motives toward improved to the minds can only be agreed with by those who would themselves seek a marriage of convenience. The ap-parent criterion of that better was the person whose total losses on dollars and cents to the extin- guishment of all motives that are wel- lied, and truly human. Such an extreme criterion in the many cases was certainly not quite fair. The speaker failed to give us a reason for his belief, however, for the thousands of girls who are engaged to a profession of acceptable to women and who are as careful about their dress as are the girls behind. Neither did the speaker give a reason for his refusal to marry an estimable, wealthy woman, of whom parents approve to accept a poor, less prosperous lady. We know as many of each class as he. It does not follow that an engagement is proof of any of the unsound, bandit-like things with the prevented from impeding concerning true affect. With the respect for the kind of wealth in this article was considered by the speaker relative to his position to the speaker had been bitingly dis- appointed in his relations with whom. We do not wish to think, though, that such an otherwise worthy man looks upon the clothes of his female relatives as necessary sólo for matrimony.-A Senior.

WHAT MEN LIVE BY

There will appear in course from day to day, statements from various sources and persons, before and of friends of the Uni-versity, but where is an exception to self and institutions.

To the Editor:

The reference in Friday’s “ Iowa” to the letters of Professor Bolt is responsible for this somewhat be- yond comment. The university -satis- heartless motives toward improved to the minds can only be agreed with by those who would themselves seek a marriage of convenience. March number of Midland now out

CONTAINS POEMS BY WILLARD WEBBEL OF KANSA S AND R. E. ALEXANDER OF NEBRASKA

The March number of the Midland was not publishable. This month another group of poems by Edwin Ford Plot of the department of English appears. Earlier poems of his have been favorably commented upon by “Current Opinion” and other eastern magazines. The present poems deal with the boy and girl in the home circle. They are beautiful andmeasureable interpretations of the group. The last poem of the group, “The River Once More,” is a description of a dreaming scene in the early springs. Many readers will feel that is it Mr. Piper has reached the highest level of dramatic intensity yet displayed in any of his poems.

The other contributions of poems come by Willard Webbe of the department of English of Kansas universities and by R. E. Alexander, head of the department of History at Lincoln. Mr. Webbe was recently elected a member of the Poetry Society of the United States. His poem, “Box of Voyces,” exhibited by the Midland this month was read at the annual meeting of the association, and received several votes as the best presented.

Mr. Alexander’s poem, “A La Belle France,” is a distinctly masterful interpretation of his poems.

BUSINESS NOT LIKE WAR
From sold at one time that business is like war.
Perhaps it was at one time, but there's been a reformation.
War means cruelty, bitterness, deception and destruction. Victory sits on ruin.
Modern business needs cooperation.
Secrets have become commonplace.
Oppression is absolute, almost.
Stealing is rivalry in service.
Attacks are in bad order.
Exploitation, as well as convention, forbids a rightful act.
Competition must on every hand. What one man does, he plucks from others.
Business thrives best in an atmosphere of cooper-
tivity and of mutual help.
The man who loses his spirit should not advertise.
He is in discord with the new-day trend. The boss he lets men know of him the better.

THEY DON’T BECOME SUMISSIVE HORACK
Contradict Other Assertions Also Made by Professor Ross in Recent Talk

Professor P. E. Horack of the political science department does not agree with Professor Ross statements regarding the status of the modern woman.

“From personal inquiries among my colleagues shortly after Dr. Ross made his speech,” he said, “I find that the women do not become more emancipated in the years of marriage pass. Why should that? As a woman becomes more dependent on her husband that is in direct that she should grow submissively.”

As far as the areas of the modern woman is concerned, it is hardly fair to draw conclusions from the past times, since there were not the opportunities that there are now. Women had to spin their own clothes in that day. But even so that they dressed much better in silks and notice them as they do now.

Professor at the University of Iowa who is studying on the modern life of women, profesor Horack and Dr. Ross do not differ when it comes to a modern woman has more leisure, but their views did not emphasize that fact. Instead their time was spent in solving the new social problems and in “swapping pick lines.”

The woman of that type is an anticipation of the future.

SHAKESPEARE IN RUSSIAN

"The German forces will be driven out of the country by the tremendous powers of the newly formed array. "Bolsheviks, president of the Russian Union, is head of the party and may be listed among the moderates. Roshchin, a member of the ministry, is a constitutionalist of Kadett, No. 2 in politics today in his views, and is scored with the new wave.

WILL End Jewish Trouble

"I look for the abdication of the czar to have an important effect on the relations between Russian and the United States. Treaty relations can now probably be established. The Jewish question which has been before-governed agreement will give no more trouble. There will no longer be a Jewish question in Russia."

The news from Russia caused much discussion among professors who are studying and teaching modern government and world politics.

"Such a war as this is not to result in demonstration of the government involved," Prof. Benjamin F. Bingham, head of the department of political science, commented, "but revolution is not at all surprising. Similar democratic movements may be expected in Germany and Austria, whose people will demand greater voice in the government."

SLANG AND SCIENCE

INCREASE LANGUAGE

Even Babies Have Words With Definite Meanings, Dr. E. E. Faris Asserts

"One" means "water"—not in French, Spanish, or Chinese, but in "baby talk." Babies have words of their own invention which contain the sounds of the English language and some not in English. But words like "water" or "baby" occur, in 180 such words have been recorded, of course, all babies in the language.

So Dr. E. E. Faris of the department of psychology declared in a paper on "The Psychology of Language," read before the Baltimore club Friday night.

The popular conception of language development is in opposition to this, the professor Faris said.

People believe that a thought comes first and that a word is then found to express it. In fact, the word appears first, without meaning. It finally takes on meaning through use.

Speech the psychologist regards merely as a physical act, a gesture or form of behavior. The psychologist is not interested in speech itself but rather in the intellectual processes by which words acquire meaning.

Spoken words developed after communication had been established through gesture without sound, Dr. Faris said. The language, once it came gradually extended itself. Through both speech and sign are developing. As science adding new words and new meanings, slang uses new words to express old thoughts in new ways.

SPORTS HEAD FRESHMEN

IN BASKETBALL GAME

The Sophomore of the University high school was from the freshmen in a basketball game at the armory Thursday night by a score of 7 to 4. A charge of ten cents was made to help pay for the victory which the high school purchased.

The lineup list as follows: Freshman, John Thomas, center; Kasiewski and Thomas, forwards; Trappe and Nicola, guards; Sophomore, Walsh, center; Bunsen and Hruby, forwards; Goodall and Huestings, guards.

FINISHERS REVIEWS

Ernest J. Ashbaugh of the extension division has returned from a two-day's survey of the school building conditions in Waverly. The field work has been completed, but his report has not yet been made. Professor in the Waverly survey Mr. Ashbaugh made a ten day survey of instruction at Waverly City, the report on which has yet to be tendered.
