Religious Leader Lectures Tonight

Fred B. Smith Will Speak Under Auspices of Y. M. C. A.

Fred B. Smith, auditor of the John-Mannville company of New York City, will speak to the students and towns-people of Grinnell tonight in the natural science auditorium under the auspices of the T. Y. M. C. A. Smith gave a dinner given by the advisory board of the university last night, and will speak from 8 to 9 o'clock this evening.

Mr. Smith, who visited the University in 1913 with Raymond Robinson, originally lived on Lone Tr-ee.

He is the organizer and leader of the American Baptist agency and is chairman of the committee on inter-church information. A part of each year he devotes to religious work without salary.

From now Smith will be in Des Moines in a conference.

Child Research Bill

May Fail Legislation

The house appropriations committee of the state legislature has recomded that the child research bill be rejected, and in that manner that cannot be well described here.

New Library's Fate

Hanging in Balance

The fate of the new library building is hanging in the balance. This is for the reasons that the legislature, by war of economy, may refuse to grant approaizations to the building project for Iowa and Iowa. It is possible that the appropriation may be materially reduced.

The house appropriations committee yesterday, after an all but futile effort to get the $20,000 appropriation bill to pass, added a provision to the $20,000 bill for new buildings to the campus City, Ames, and Polk Falls schools.

The objection was just that the new construction should be undertaken at this time unless it was abolutely necessary.

Could Have Won Second Place With Austin Out

B. M. A. T. Council of Students

Mary Alice Hatcher, at the Delta Phi, Prot, Prof. Johnson gave to Grinnell Friday afternoon. At 3:00 o'clock from the V. M. C. A. to the conference of students and town leaders of the college. The conference begins Sunday night.

Second Place With Austin Out

"We would have won the second place in wrestling with mas," E. G. Johnson declared yesterday, "but Austin had come out this year for wrestling. He would have made a good first man or second in the 155-pound class which would have given Iowa in second place in the conference.

"Austin is a good little man and had a fine first place in his class," Professor Johnson added. "But he was not in the best condition."

LET'S ALL BE THERE!

Numerous members of the class of '26 are preparing to attend the class reunion that will be held at the State University of Iowa in a very short time, and for months, and at that time we will face their active cooperation with the old Gold. The best of luck to a graduate may almost be found in the interest which he gives his University before he becomes graduated. This year’s opportunity is being given the senior class more than to become enfranchised, and to become acquainted with each other and the University. Thus, when they leave, they will carry with them a finer sense of loyalty, a keener sense of honor, and a truer realization of what is expected of them in the future that has ever been known.

A Virginia editor threatened, to publish the name of a certain young man who was being hunted and urging a girl in a park unless his subscription to the paper was paid up in a week. Poor kid was called up and paid the next day, while two and one-half in advance.

The Dean of Women at Washington College has published the following statement of general conduct in giving part from the newspaper and if a letter is of interest they will be published.

WHAT MEN LIVE BY

There will appear in this column, among other things, lines written and spoken, letters from home and friends. The following is very good:

Noblesse Oblige must be the motto of the group who have the extra equipment. Said a senior will forbear, “I have always believed that the college desires should be able to send his children to college. I am a foreman but I cannot do it, even if they help support themselves.” Unidentified multitudes the world over are living on tradition and love. Lines come in the field and in the schools, they drag themselves out of habit and into new. Every and again there occurs a pathetic cry from an old grizzled veteran—”If only I had the same!” The old soldier said it. It was a sentence.

Will college men and women answer the challenge of the music here? Will they pioneer the new education in the Far East and Latin America?

It costs a penny a minute to be out of step with tradition. Griffith, the German graduate at the University of Illinois, Ted Profesor, has already three cents. In the chapter, and thirteen cents on the books. The proceeds will be used for a “huge German piano” by the instructions and profit. German professors at Iowa are not very fashionable this year.

Several of the leading universities are distributing examinations for members of their faculty. Other large schools the seniors are fighting for this option. At least the seniors will take their exams without fighting. In some cases, what has gone under the idea of having an examination week at the close of the semester.

The Pan-Pacific council at Illinois has offered a scholarship to the fraternity, holding the highest average for the semester. A chapter of H. K. I. was installed in the University of Arizona, this month.

The tradition of the college dance in the last college dance is thus:

Lillian Anna who plays Ophelia with the Koller’s Co. is really a Swedish Princess and a graduate of the Madison of the Sacred Heart College, Paris, France. Peter, who is the favorite of the Company is a graduate of Yale and was for several years a prominent member of the dramatic club. Joseph Moonville, is a graduate of the Leland Stanford University, Adelphi Admission of Yosum. Georgiana Wilson of Bardston, Everitt, and many more are in the first of our old grizzled veteran. If only I had the same!”

The students will provide the funds for the flagstaff that he made a serious mistake.

Two hours, instead of two days, ought to be time enough to get $12 or $12 from 1,500 students for a project of such obvious merit as that backed by the regiment. And, we have to look to invest and invest 150,000 dollars of, of course, we don’t always have the time with $2,000 or the flagstaff. It is the last to the Order to Arms.

THE KIDS KNOW

Do the children in the elementary schools know what the Univeristy? It appeared so yesterday morning when five or six small boys were seen in the street standing in front of the building and in front of the university. They had been put on very hastily and it was, I hope, that the boys were not to be wrong. It was the usual

RESOLUTIONS PASSED
AGAINST N. S. FRAT

One of the interesting features of the meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at St. Louis last week was the passing of a strong resolution against high school fraternities and sororities. It was recommended that these fraternities and sororities be abolished by law. The vote was uni-mixed unanimous. The argument against the fraternizations was that it prevents the students undermines their studies unnecessarily.
There were practically no arguments given in favor of having fraternisities.

In the vertical line of the hussars, therefore, war has engendered a most healthful influence, but in modern times conditions have completely changed, so that war is not to kill off the weak and unfit but the brave and the strong. War, therefore, will probably become less and less frequent and the problem of social discipline will become more and more difficult. When danger from without ceases to threaten a nation, then care begins to prey upon the weak, necessity leads to increased corrupt, the grafters, the bodgers, the robber appear on the scene, and the traitor and the predatory interests prey upon the people.

Discipline is the capital value of all education, and other forms of social reconstruction after the war has all been prepared to meet their difficulties. All these things are based on the theory that discipline and education are necessary to the success and prosperity of the nation and that when wealth is equally distributed and the other features are the same, but manliness has been bred in a school of hardships and struggle and its ideal is to do the work which it will furnish and "easy economy."
