THE SOLIDERS CREEK

I believe in peace, but in honor with honor and self-respect, I believe that war is a terrible thing that should be avoided, if possible; but I also believe that there are things in this world worse than war, peace without honor and self-respect is one of them.

I believe that the flag of my country stands for: Honor, Truth, Liberty, Humanity. I believe that the duty of every American to uphold the flag and what it stands for, and I believe that the duty of every American to stand by the flag and what it represents.

I believe in personal preparedness, by which I mean if it is ever necessary to protect my family, my home, and my country, I will be prepared to do so.

I believe that citizenship carries with it obligations as well as privileges, and I believe that military service is one of the most important of these obligations.

I believe in the benefits of military training; I believe that it strengthens the body, benefits the health, improves the mind, teaches obedience, discipline, and patriotism.

In short, I believe in military training because it makes for efficiency and better citizenship. —Amendment to Declaration.

A RHYTHM OF HISTORY

For those defendes of American tradition who condemn universal military service upon the grounds that it is out of harmony with the spirit of democracy as conceived by the founders of our nation, one who was probably the greatest of democrats will bear some illumination. John Adams, who was probably the greatest democrat, opposed to a standing army, namely, a body of men who avoids an iniquitous preparation on one hand and the danger and expenses of a large force on the other. In order to accomplish such an end he would maintain a small military force and such an organization of the physical strength of the country as would bring it into immediate operation whenever its services might be required.

In his seventh annual message delivered on December 7, 1818, Presi- dent Jackson recommended a classic position of the population for the purpose of military service. In pursuit of this idea divisions would be made according to age and citizens and 28 against it. The feeling was that the vote had not been large enough to be representative, and of officers declared that further consideration might be given to the matter.

"WHAT MEN LIVE BY."

While smiles in the Daily Iowan after last night's E. W. Duble's read the very familiar head lines "What men Live By." While he agrees to the righteous advice the article he insists that just as such, if not greater emphasis should be placed on "What men Should Buy While They Live." Read his ad in tomorrow's paper in which he explains the only way to buy a cash estate while you live.

Local news being carried by the Daily Iowan, the majority of those present believed that, because of the shortness of time between new and the close of the academic year, a period of five years at least for a week should be used in drill if any real good would be accomplished. They did not view the tightening of students' schedule as a necessary measure, but as the best means of promoting efficiency in both University work and drill in present students now serving duty by age, with the further re-
